The CLASSIC YEAR
of
The DOME
Presented by
The Pittsfield High School
Class of 1987

Classic students, classic ideas, all of these made the school year of 1986-1987 a classic year. As a tree changes color in the classic season of autumn, so will the class of '87 grow and change from their years at PHS. Their spirit will shine forth and brighten the world, while their accomplishments will serve as an inspiration for future students at Pittsfield High School.

Randy Sacco

August 10, 1968 - December 31, 1985

In losing Randy we lost someone loved by everyone who crossed his path. He left us with an indelible memory of his kind words, his patient listening, his gentle disposition, and his contagious smile.

He was truly a special person. He gave so much to so many and asked for nothing in return.

Randy was an inspiration to all who knew him. He was a young man who loved people and loved life. In an essay giving his goals for 1986 he wrote, "My philosophy to obtain success this year is to have a healthy and positive attitude, a feeling that I can conquer anything I strive for." It was this positive attitude that made him so special. We can take his words to heart and use his life as an example for us all.

Our love for Randy and our pain and sorrow in losing him is impossible to describe. After we have shed our tears we will continue to hurt — but together we will heal and once again will laugh as we laughed with Randy. His memories will last forever as will our love for him.

Also, I know Randy would want to thank my Mother and Father for the love they showed him and the example they've always set for all of us kids. He loved them dearly-as do all of us.

Excerpts from the eulogy composed by Randy's brothers and sisters and delivered by his brother at the Funeral Mass at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church on January 4th, 1986.

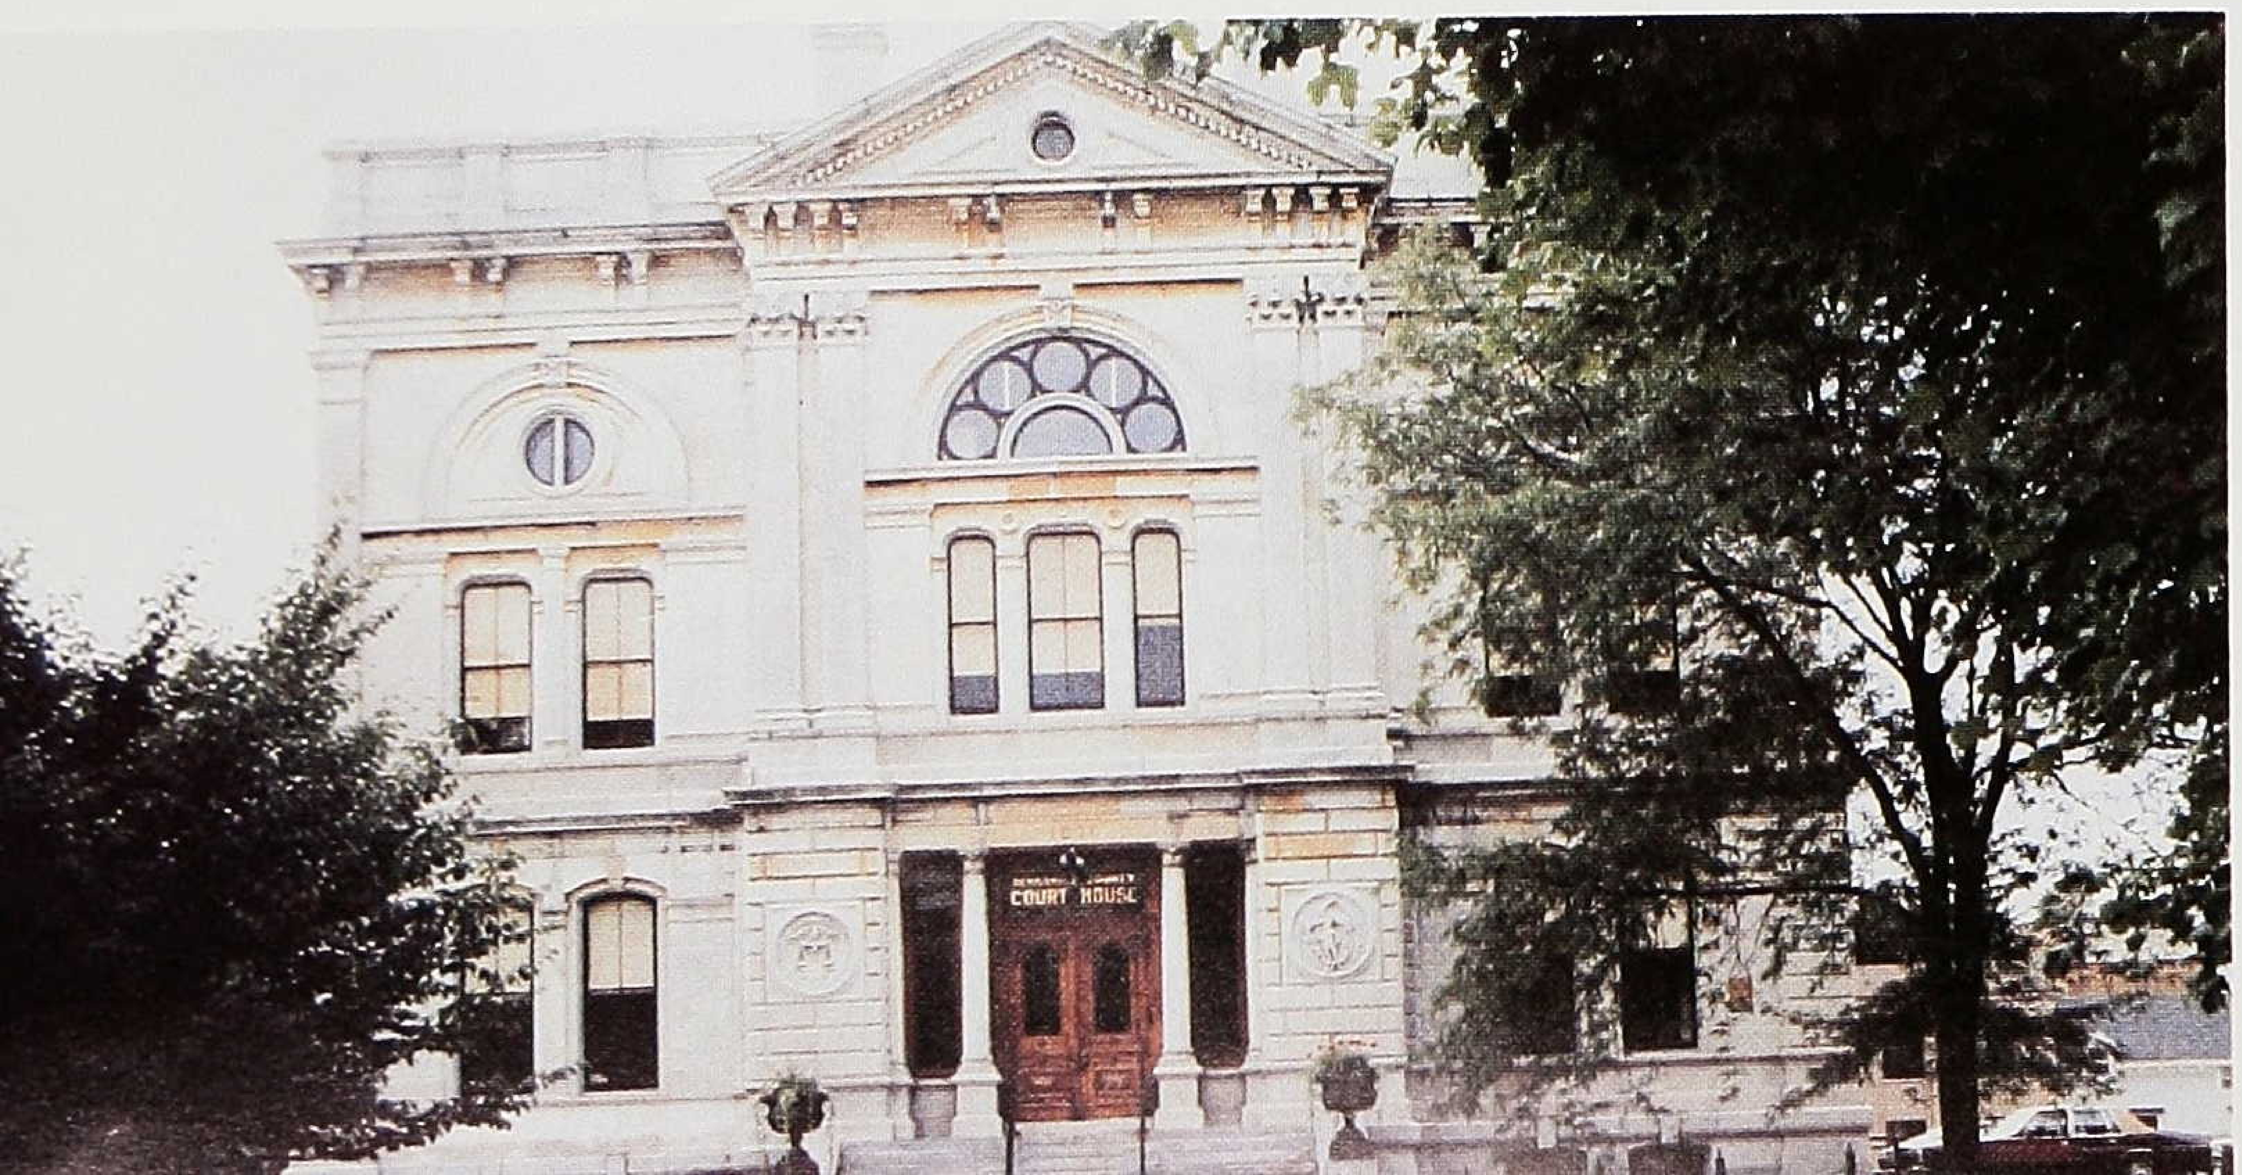

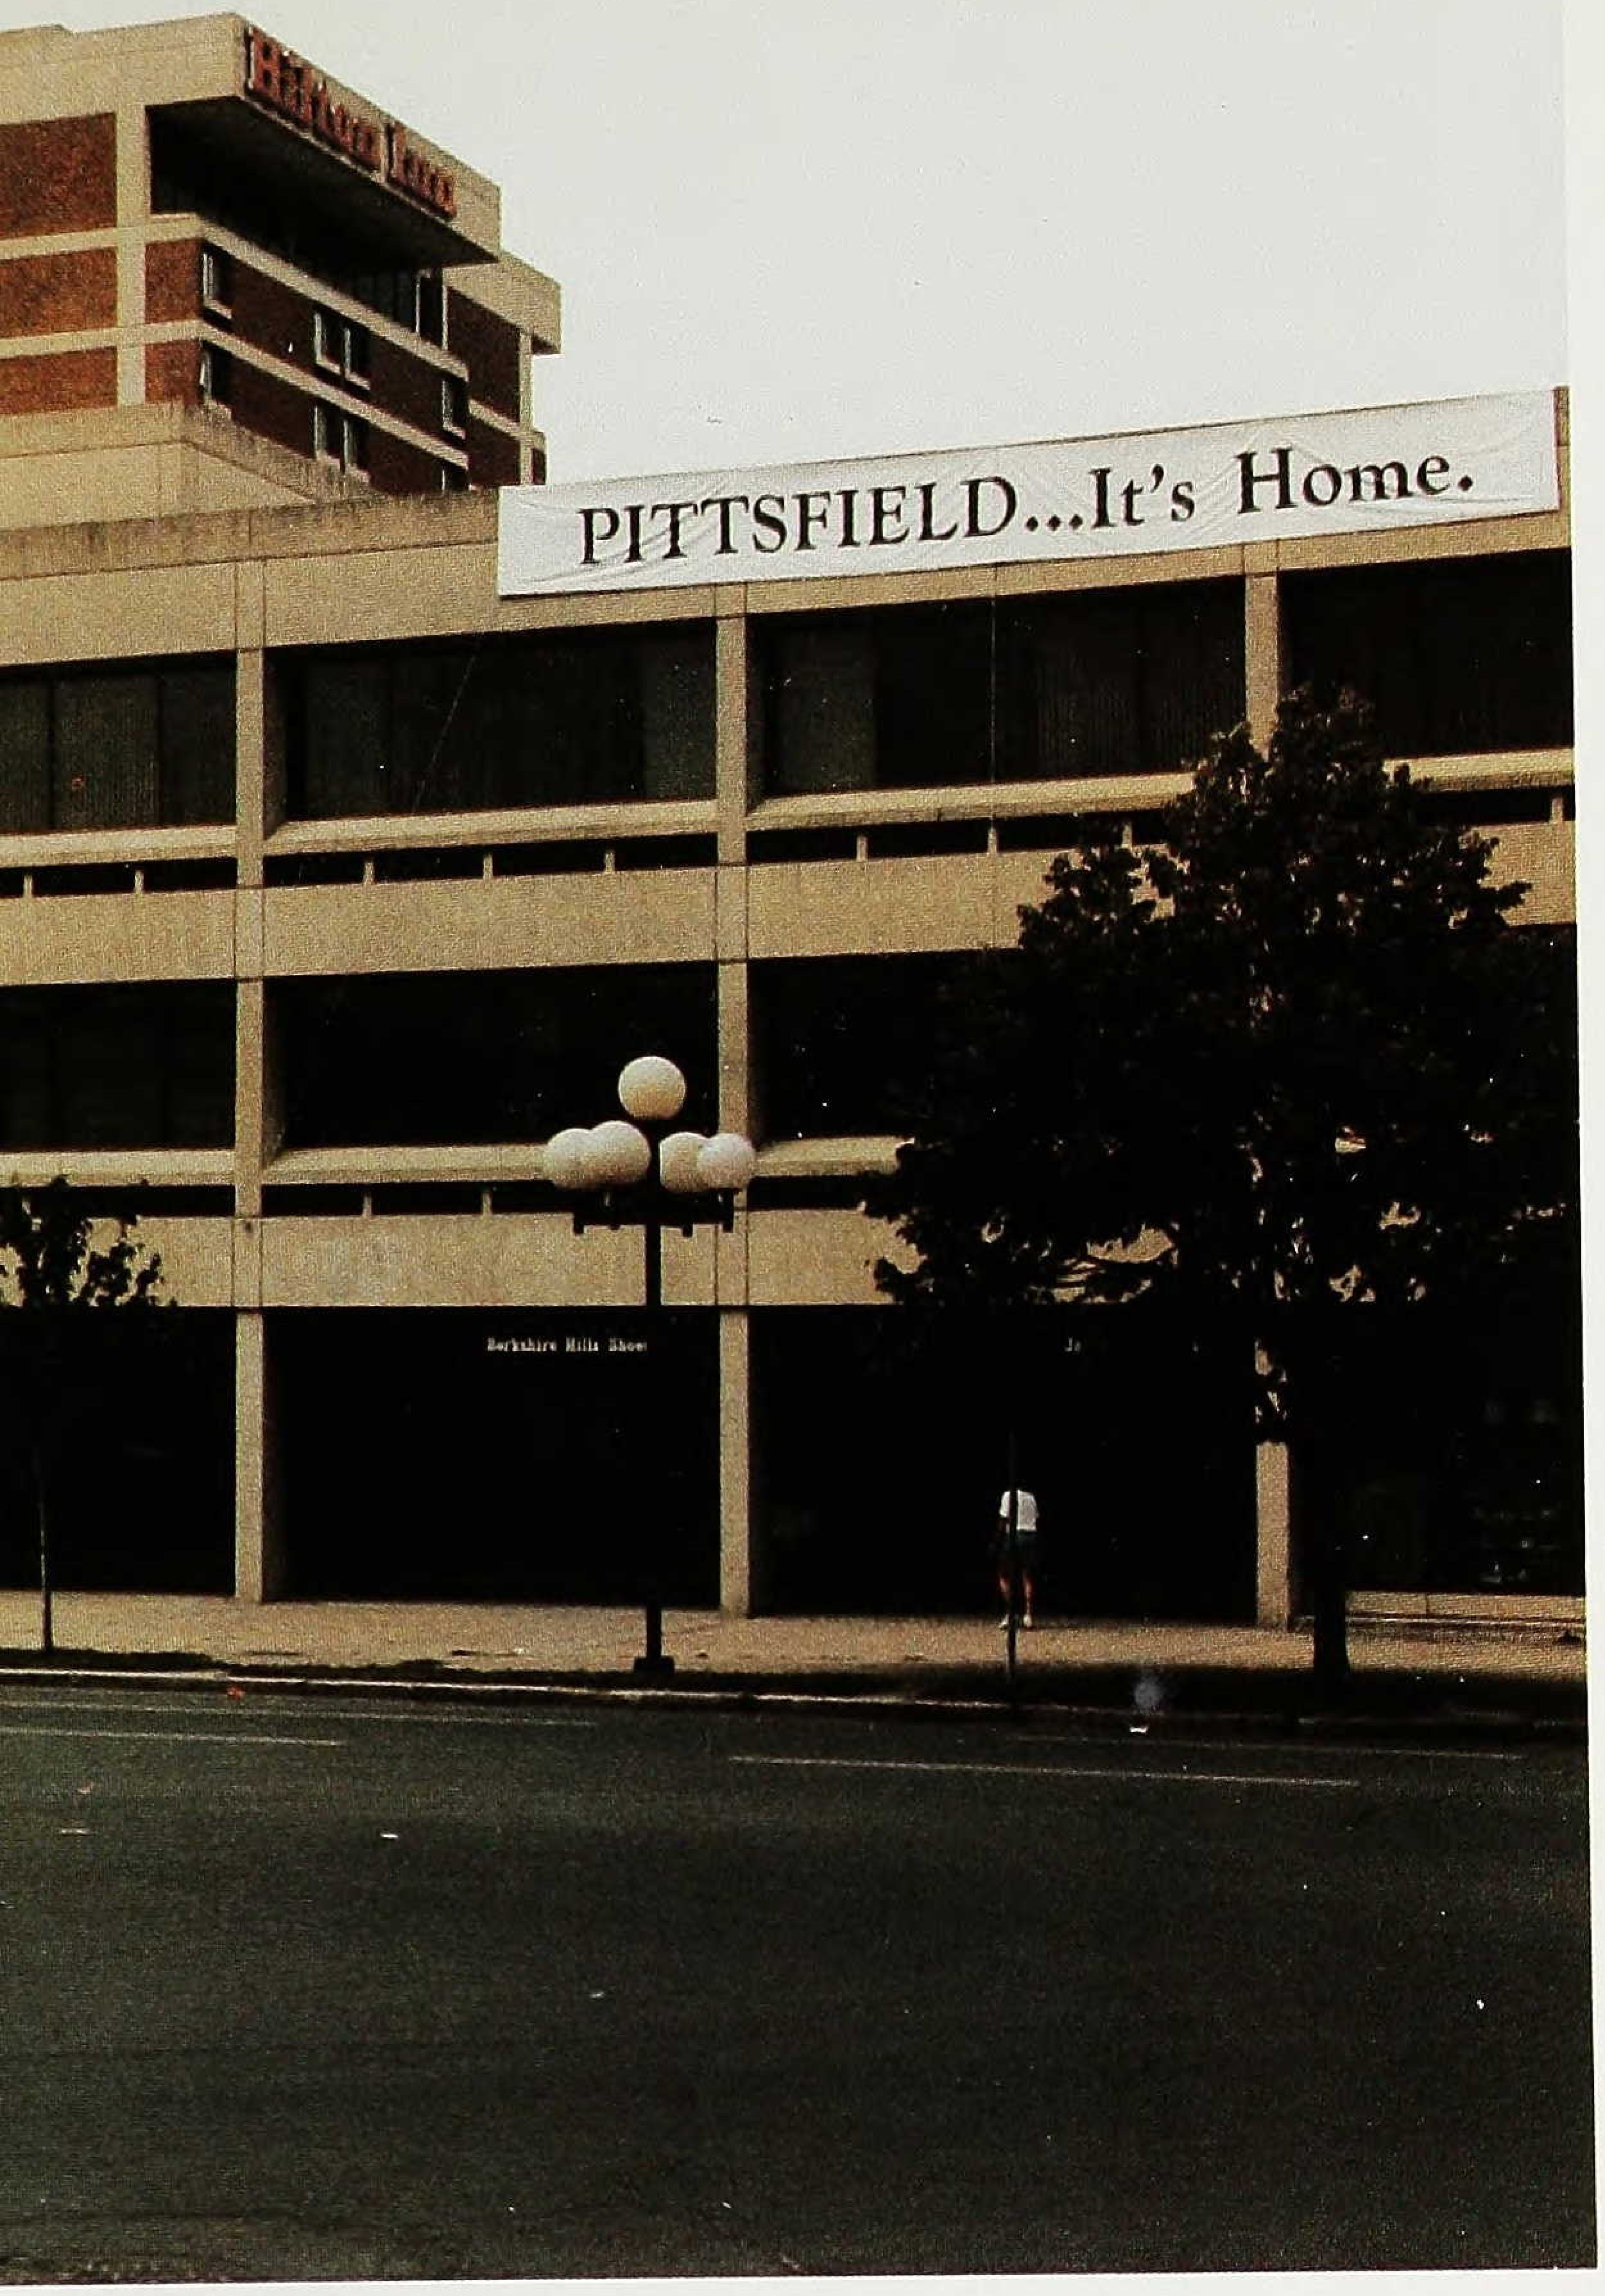

A classic moment in the history of Pittsfield was marked by its 225th anniversary and the celebration of a four-day festival in 1986. After the "Splendid 100," a volunteer group, was honored, a four-foot heart-shaped birthday cake was cut, launching the festivities. Natalie Cole joined the celebration by performing for the audience of 12,000.

The next day a time capsule containing letters, photographs, newspapers, baseball caps, a tee shirt, tapes of currently popular music, and, most importantly, a copy of our very own yearbook -The Dome was buried in Park Square. It is not to be opened until Pittsfield's tricentennial. The finale of the anniversary was the Ethnic Fair which offered international foods, arts and crafts, and entertainment.

Dear Class of 1987,

Four years ago you arrived at Pittsfield High preceded by a reputation for being an excellent class. During your time here you've lived up to that reputation. I've watched you grow, in every way, from the youngsters you were when you entered as "lowly" freshmen to the sophisticated young ladies and gentlemen of the "Class of 1987."

To your officers, I say, "It was a pleasure to work with each of you."

To the homeroom representatives, I say, "Thanks for being so dependable and reliable."

To each committee chairperson, I say, "A job well done."

To each individual committee member, I say, "Thanks, not only for doing your assigned task, but for the spirit with which you did it."

To every member of the class, I say, "Go out into the world and live up to your reputation."

To Randy Sacco, I say, "I miss you, as I'm sure everyone does."

I have truly enjoyed being your advisor. It is an experience I will always treasure. As the years go by, I'll keep track of you by reading the paper to learn of your accomplishments. Congratulations on your graduation and Best Wishes for a future filled with success and happiness.

Sincerely,

Mary L. Maston

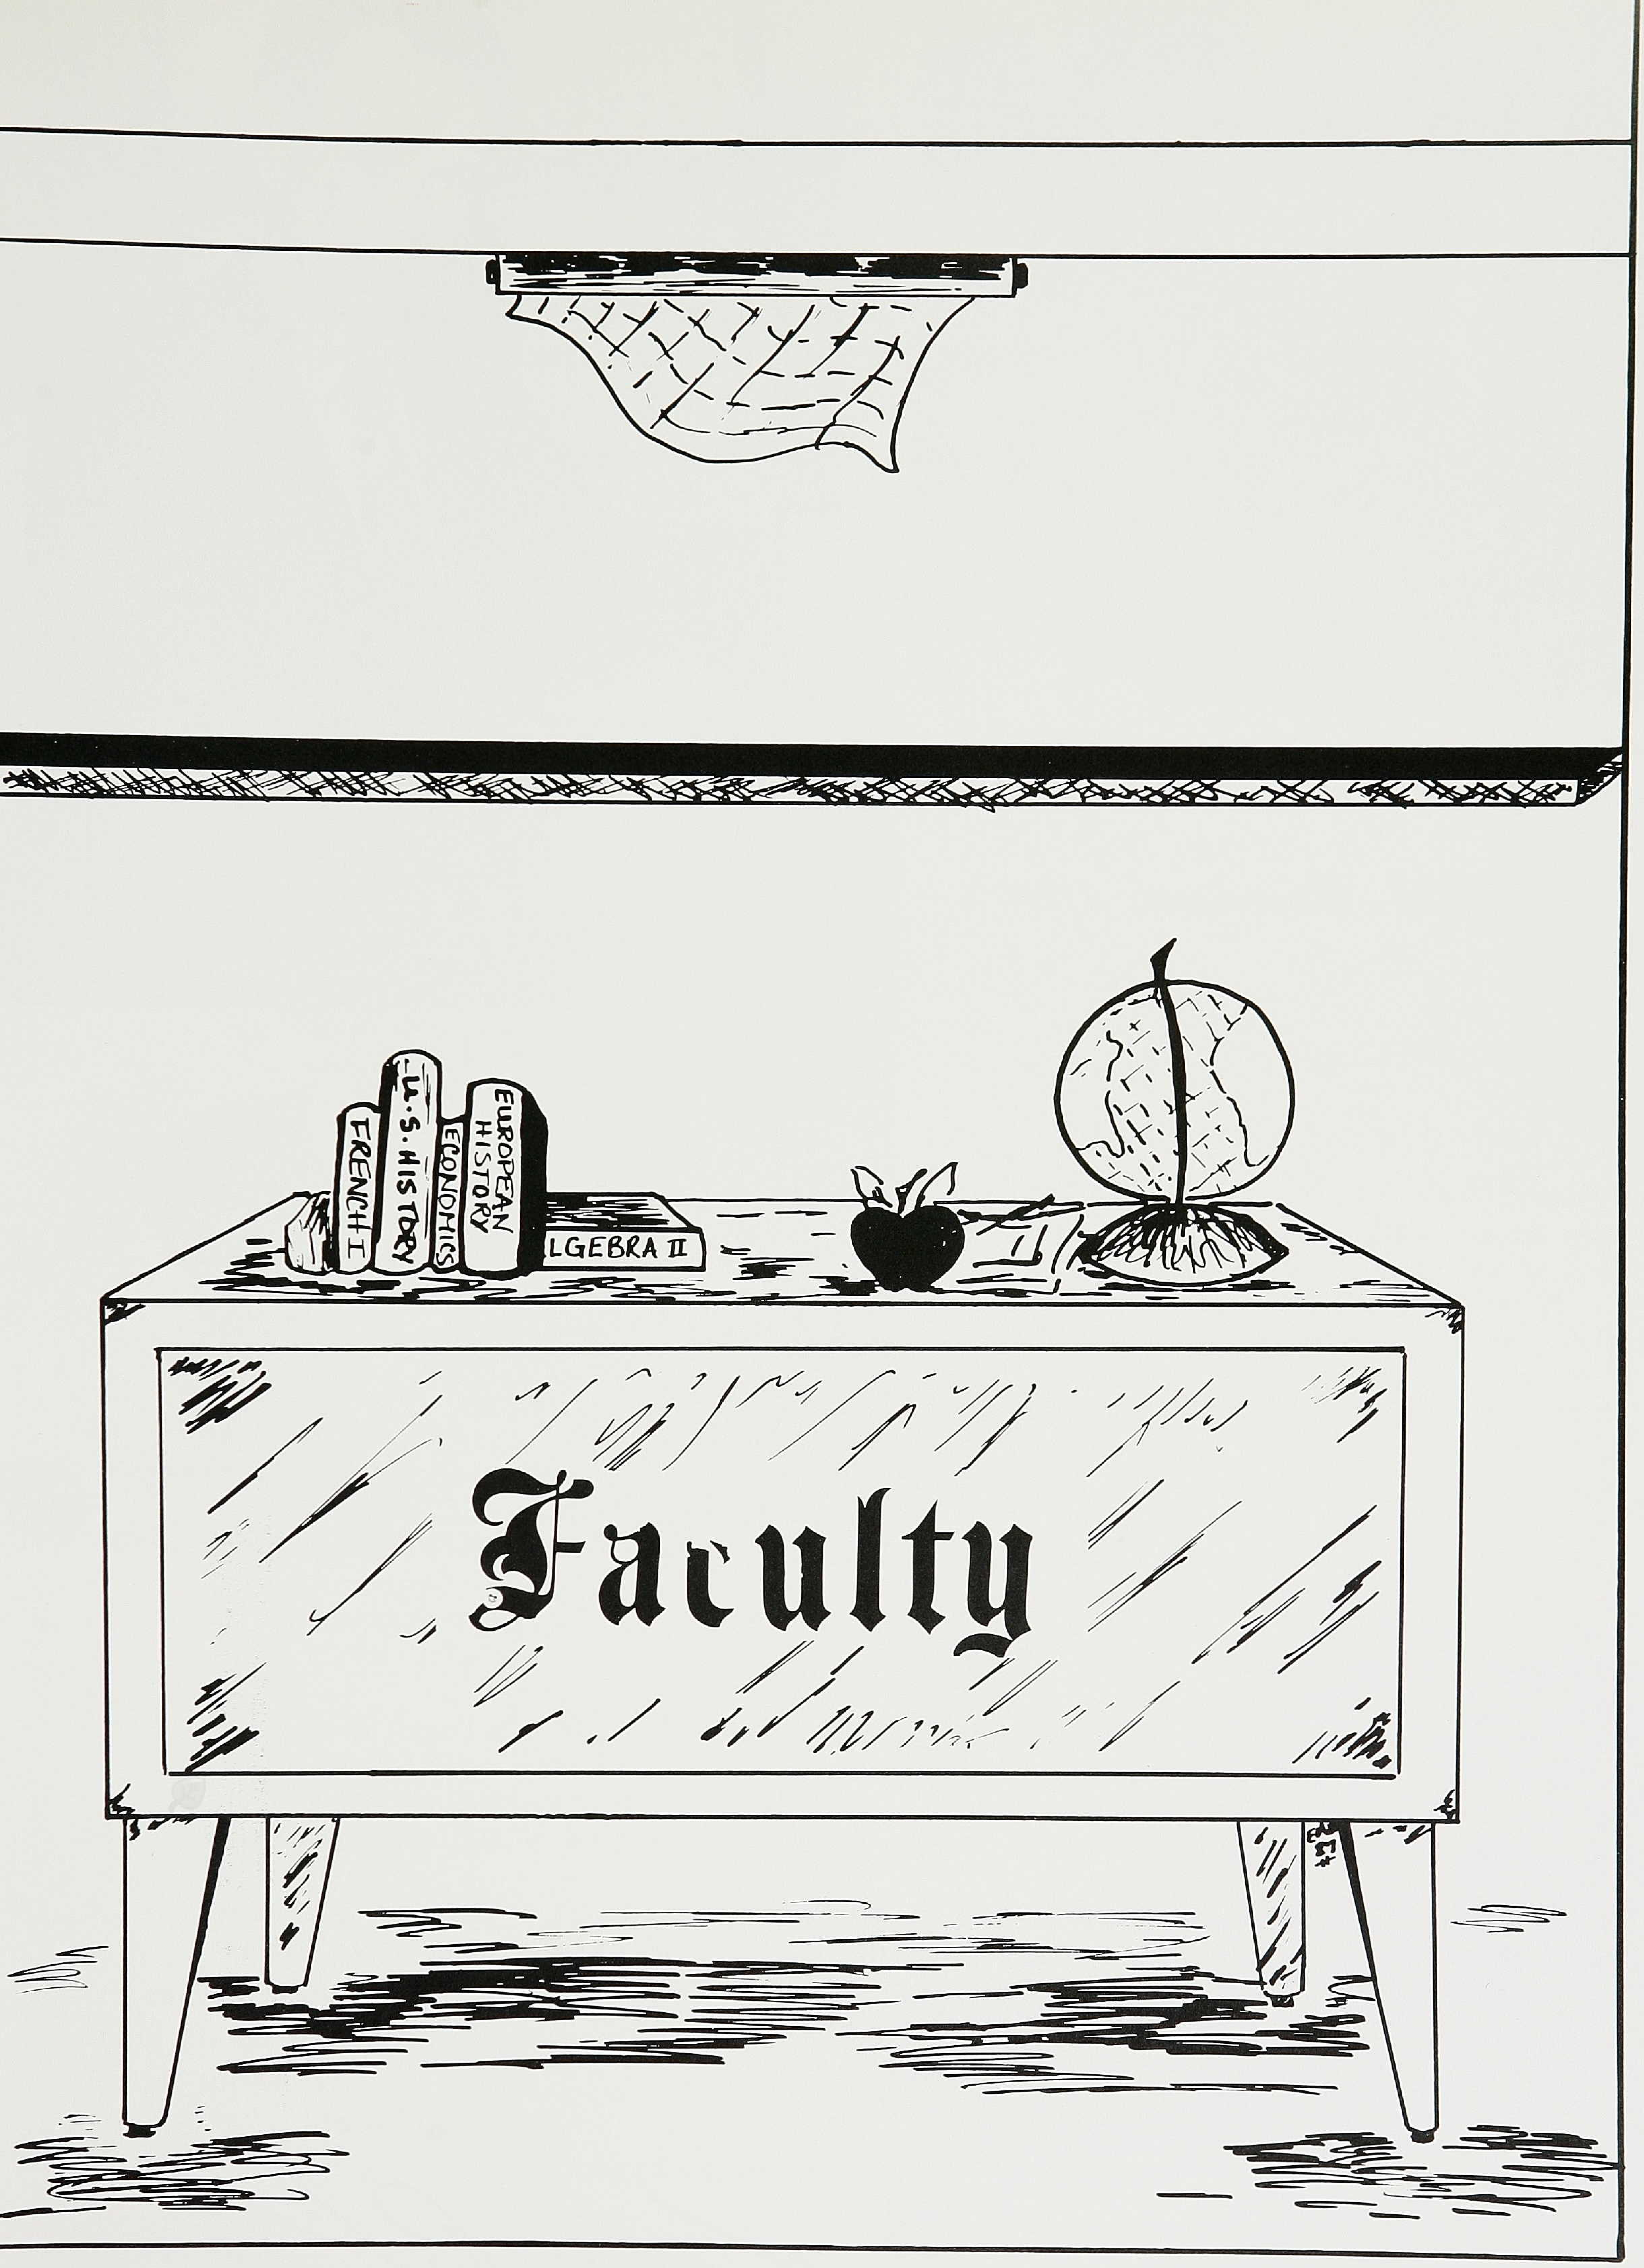

Dear Miss Maston,

On behalf of the Class of 1987, we, the class officers, would like to thank you for all your help and support over the past four years Your time and devotion helped to make this a class to truly be proud of

You have helped us with everything from fundraisers to dances and guided us through it all - from our year as frightened but optimistic freshmen right up until our long awaited senior year. You reminded us often to save for our senior year and because of that we were able to truly enjoy our last few months at PHS.

As we leave high school and go our separate ways, we will remember our years at Pittsfield High often and will be grateful to you for always being there - as both an advisor and a friend.

Sincerely,
The Class of 1987

TO THE CLASS OF 1987

There has never been a time when public education has been more closely examined. Many reports have scrutinized pupil testing results, financing of education, length of school year, teacher performance and more. However, there are few agreed upon definitions as to what constitutes a good education and how it should be measured.

One of the best ways to assess the quality of a school is to evaluate the quality of its graduating class. You have measured up. You had many Merit finalists and Letter of Commendation winners. Your PSAT scores were higher than in previous years. Members of your class excelled in Math, Language, Computer and Art competition. Your classmates achieved All-Western Massachusetts and All-State Orchestra and Chorus status. This class did well in athletics, winning city and regional championships.

Your classmates served the community by conducting blood drives, participating in scholarship fund raisers and volunteering thousands of hours in hospitals and rest homes. Members volunteered as Special Education aides, academic tutors, peer counselors and SIDE instructors.

I have known many of you since elementary school. I have watched you grow from childhood to young adulthood. As a group you have conducted yourself in an exemplary manner and have exhibited refreshing enthusiasm and loyalty for Pittsfield High School.

I thank you for your contributions.

Sincerely,

William P. Coan

The Dome of the 80's

A break with tradition

The idea of a four year book has been bouncing around for several years just waiting for the right series of events to make it happen. When Michael Messer and Mrs. Beauchamp got together to plan the 1987 Dome, the possibility was discussed. The magic combination seemed to come together and a totally new yearbook was in the works.

From 216 pages in the 1986 book, the book grew to 320 pages and took on the new dimensions of a nine by twelve format. For the first time, Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors have their own portraits included in the memory book. Special sections were added to include students' outside activities and jobs. New classes were highlighted as well as some of the ongoing programs.

Because the photography staff had its own darkroom facilities, it opted to develop and print all black and white photos at school. This assured total control of quality, size and cropping by enlargement. It also meant rapid processing, at times developed and printed immediately following the event. If the photos were not satisfactory more could be taken thus avoiding disappointment which could occur when photos are sent back weeks later by a lab. In addition to the yearbook work, the photography staff took the responsibility of keeping the lobby bulletin board full of many important happenings as well as candid shots taken around the school of as many students as possible. The lobby photo sales helped to defray the expense of costly photographic equipment.

The advertising staff did such an outstanding job that not only was it possible to begin the 1987 Dome with 48 color pages but also to publish Senior Week in 16 pages of full color with an additional eight pages featuring seniors. For the first time, the Dome has been printed in sufficient numbers for sale to the student body and the public in general. What's more, the overall cost per book has been lowered because of the volume produced.

By expanding the book, the staff hopes to have been able to include all those memorable people, places and events that have made your four years at Pittsfield High School an enjoyable interlude between the fear of Freshman year and the confidence and pride of being a PHS graduate.

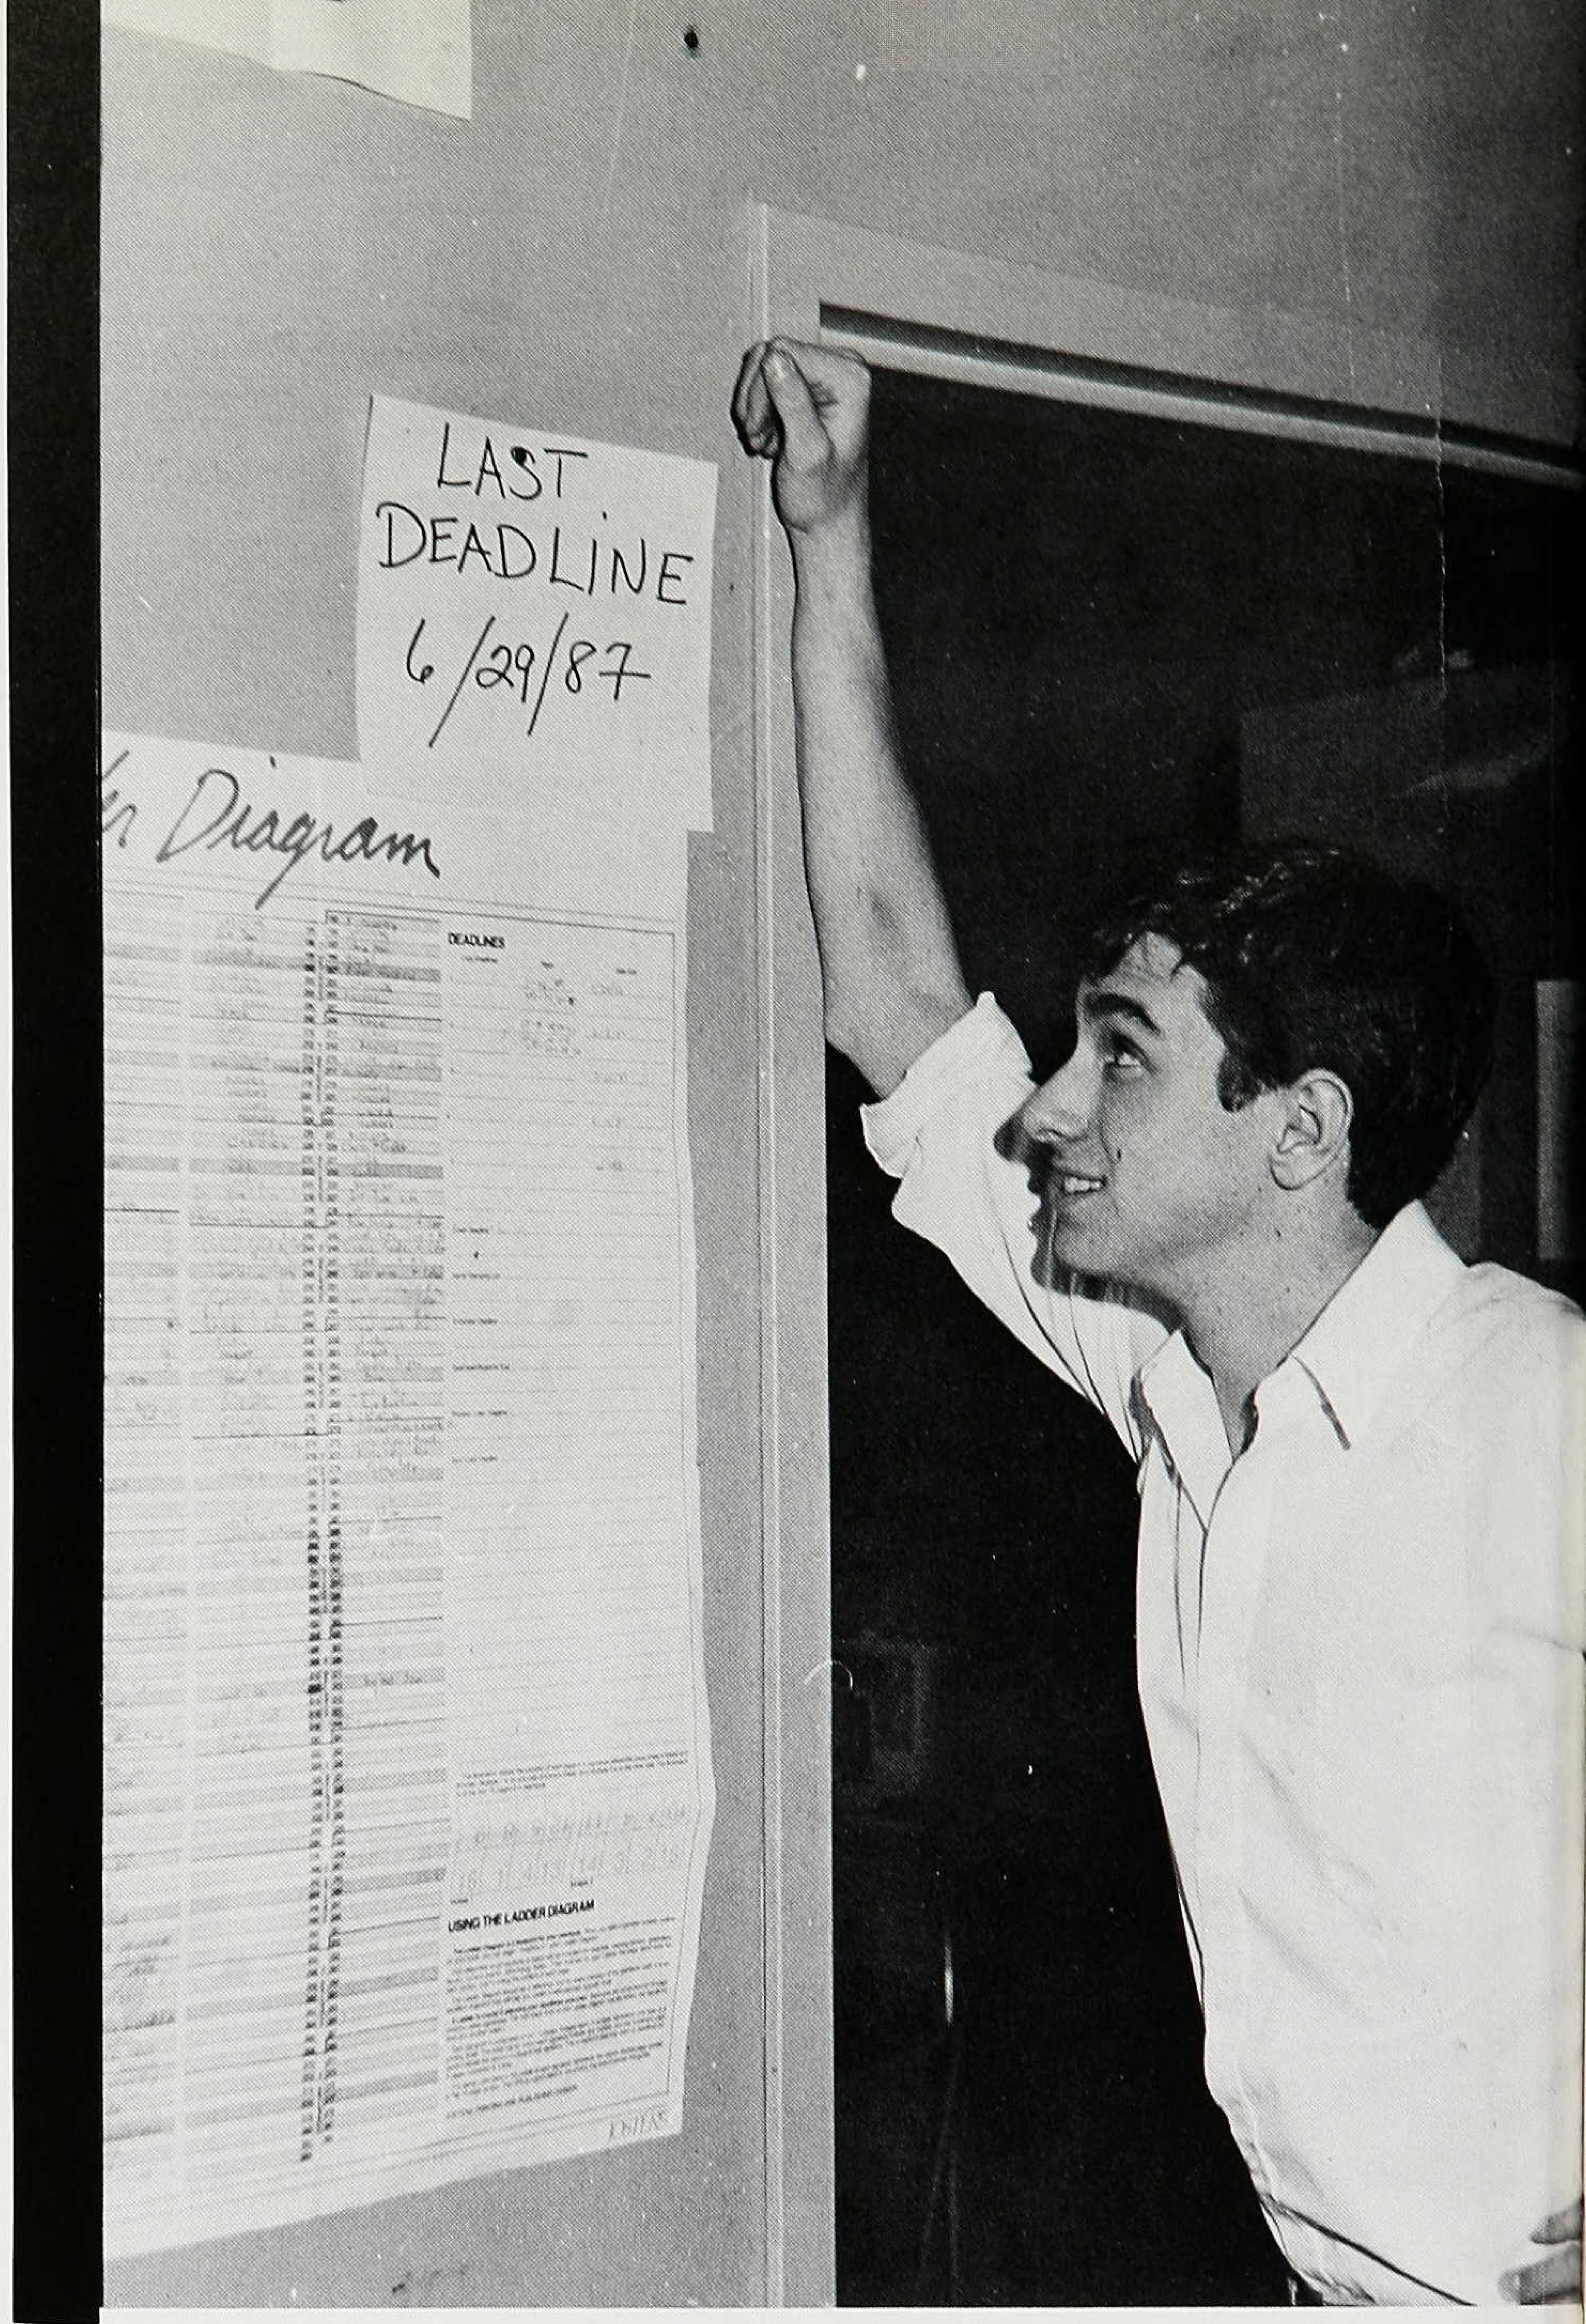

Many thanks to everyone who had confidence in our ability to accomplish this endeavor to create a new and exciting Dome of the 80's. Without their support it could never have happened.

ENJOY!

Behind the Scenes

Getting it Together

The job of the Editor in Chief began in the Spring of 1986 and will continue until graduation has taken place, all the graduates have departed, in fact all the underclassmen have left for vacation. In addition to planning the yearbook and consulting with adviser Mrs. Beauchamp, Michael Messer's responsibilities ranged from staff coordinator to print runner. He took orders, gave orders, settled disputes, faced disappointments and worried about deadlines. He revised the master plan many times with additions and subtractions of planned and unplanned events during the course of the year. Michael's dedication and cool reserve kept the lid on many a hot situation. He now knows the meaning of "survival of the fittest."

Editor in chief Michael Messer focuses on the final deadline.

Gigi Karras and Thea Politis confer.

Layout Co-editors Gigi Karras and Thea Politis seldom saw home before six o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Their job consisted of selecting, cutting and pasting all photographs, which were used in the book, on mounting boards. They created the headlines, determined captions and set down the articles when they returned from the printer. Meeting the deadlines required their total dedication to the task.

Greg George and Elizabeth Brazeau combine efforts.

Marla Malarski and Megan Evenchik phone reminders.

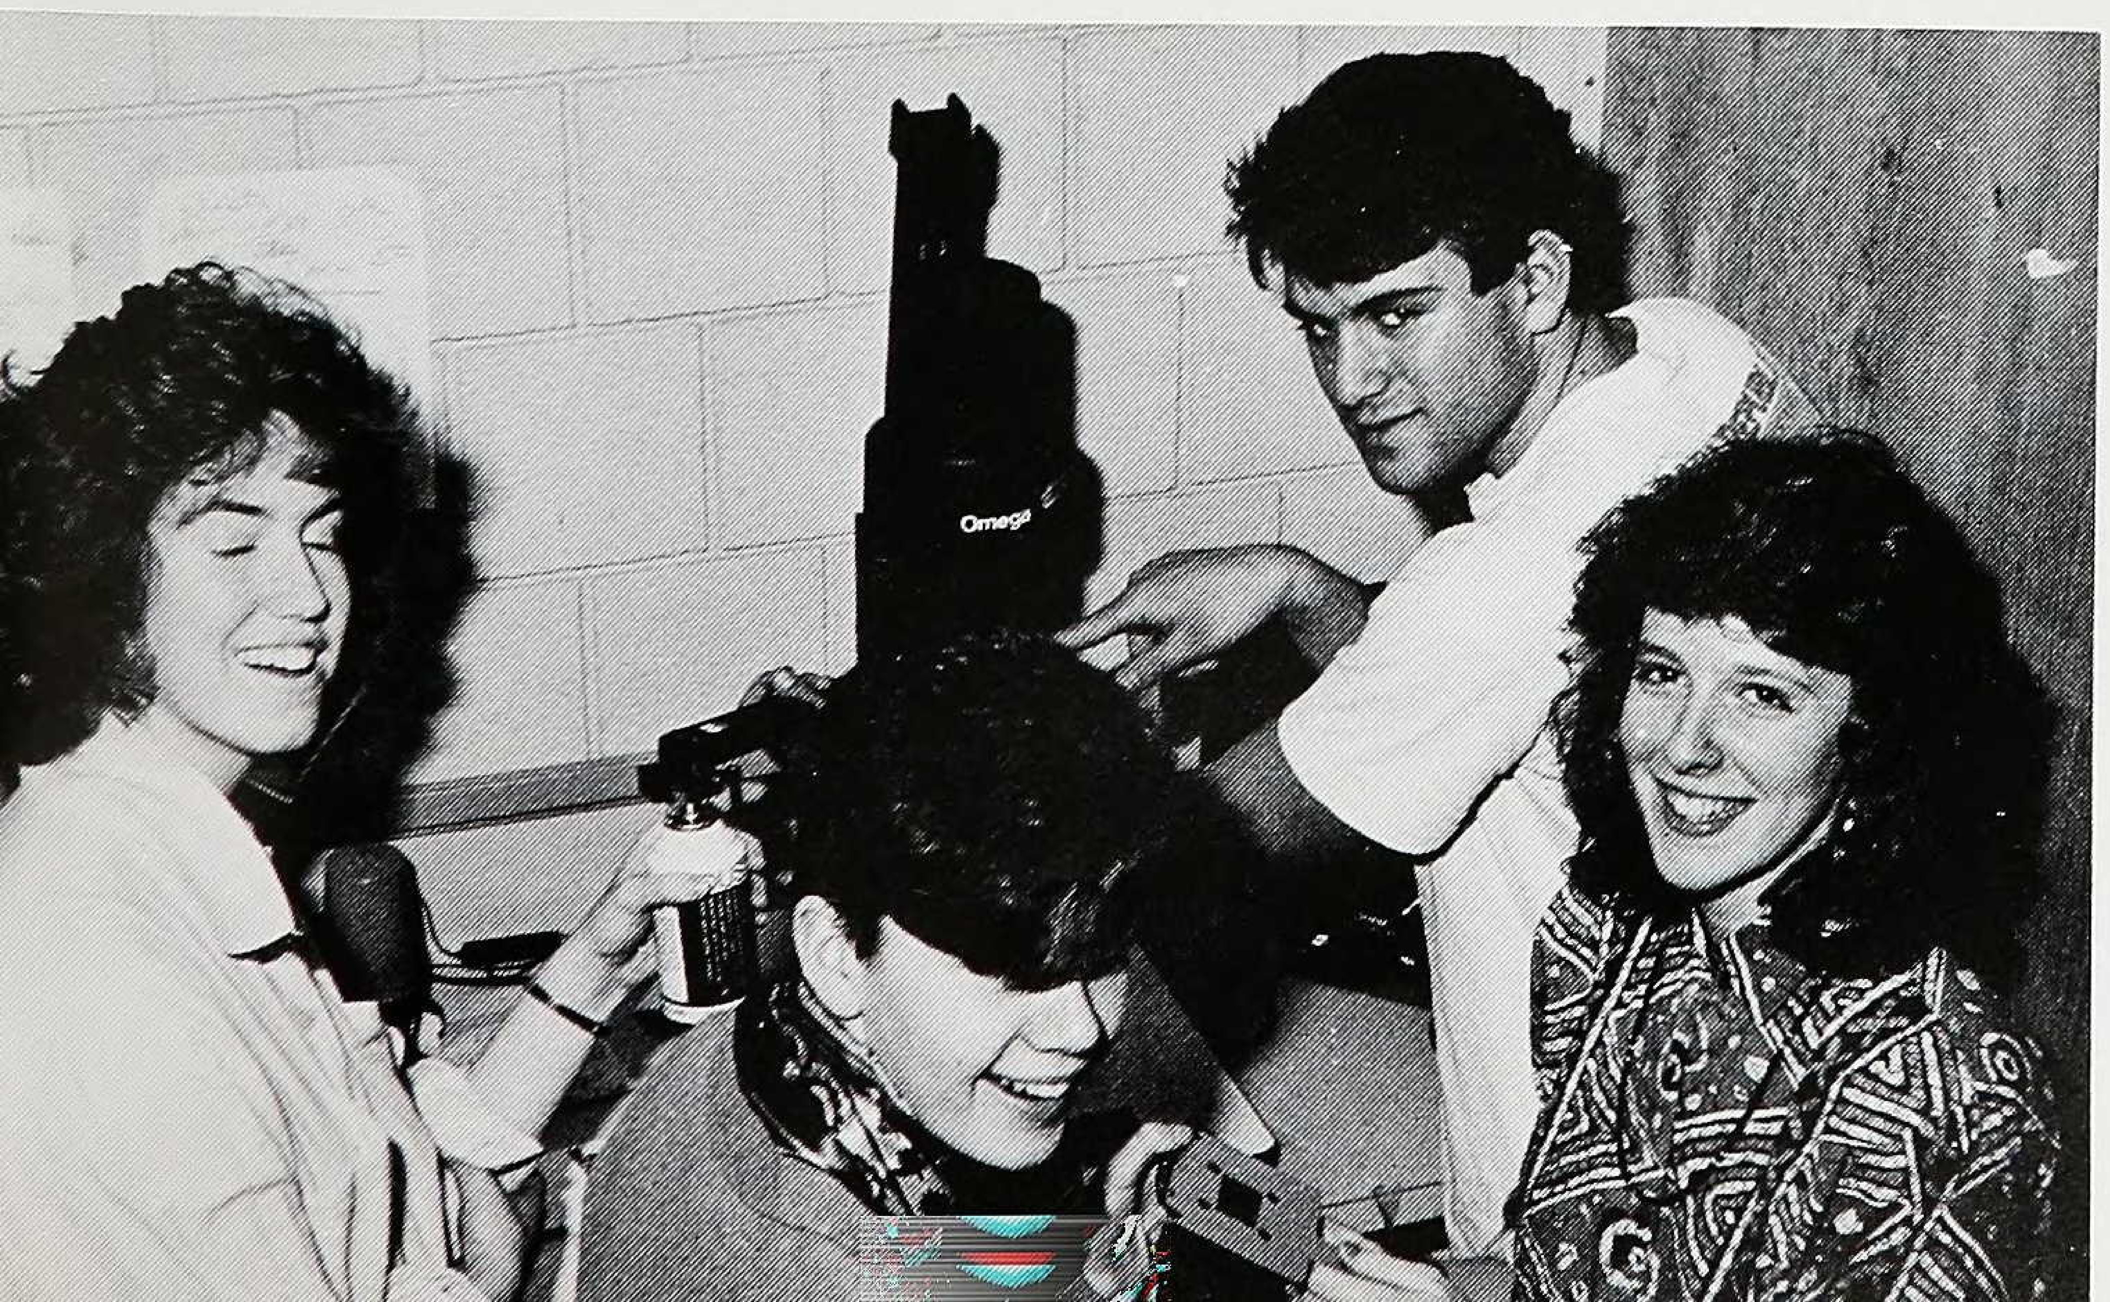

Computer Editor Greg George was our man on the "Apple" during his off-season from sports, taking on the monumental task of typing the articles included in the yearbook. Underclassmen John Ruscio and Brian Cornell took over for Greg when track season began. Art editor Elizabeth Brazeau displayed her talent in the creation of the divider pages throughout the book.

Senior Editor Megan Evenchik and Marla Malarski had the dubious pleasure of phoning all the seniors during the summer to remind them to have their senior portraits taken. They checked with Kanter Studio and called students who had missed appointments so that they could be rescheduled.

The student photographers were pressed into service on a regular basis, sometimes without much prior notice, to record current events, including community affairs such as the ground breaking ceremony at the Hilton at which Governor Dukakis was the guest of honor. Editor Noah Elkin was in charge of handing out photographic assignments and Editor Laura Case, who will major in photography in college, was in charge of the darkroom. She and Mrs. Beauchamp developed and printed all the black and white photographs in this book.

Sports Editor Sarah Brezniak found that liking sports and knowing her teams helped a great deal when she found herself with deadlines approaching and games still to be played. Sue Dahrouge was a member of her staff. Both girls were grateful for all the input volunteered by individual team members, which helped to complete the coverage with accurate statistics and added depth for the write-ups.

Melanie Thistle, Christy Koch, Noah Elkin and Laura Case check darkroom.

Sue Dahrouge and Sara Brezniak examine trophies.

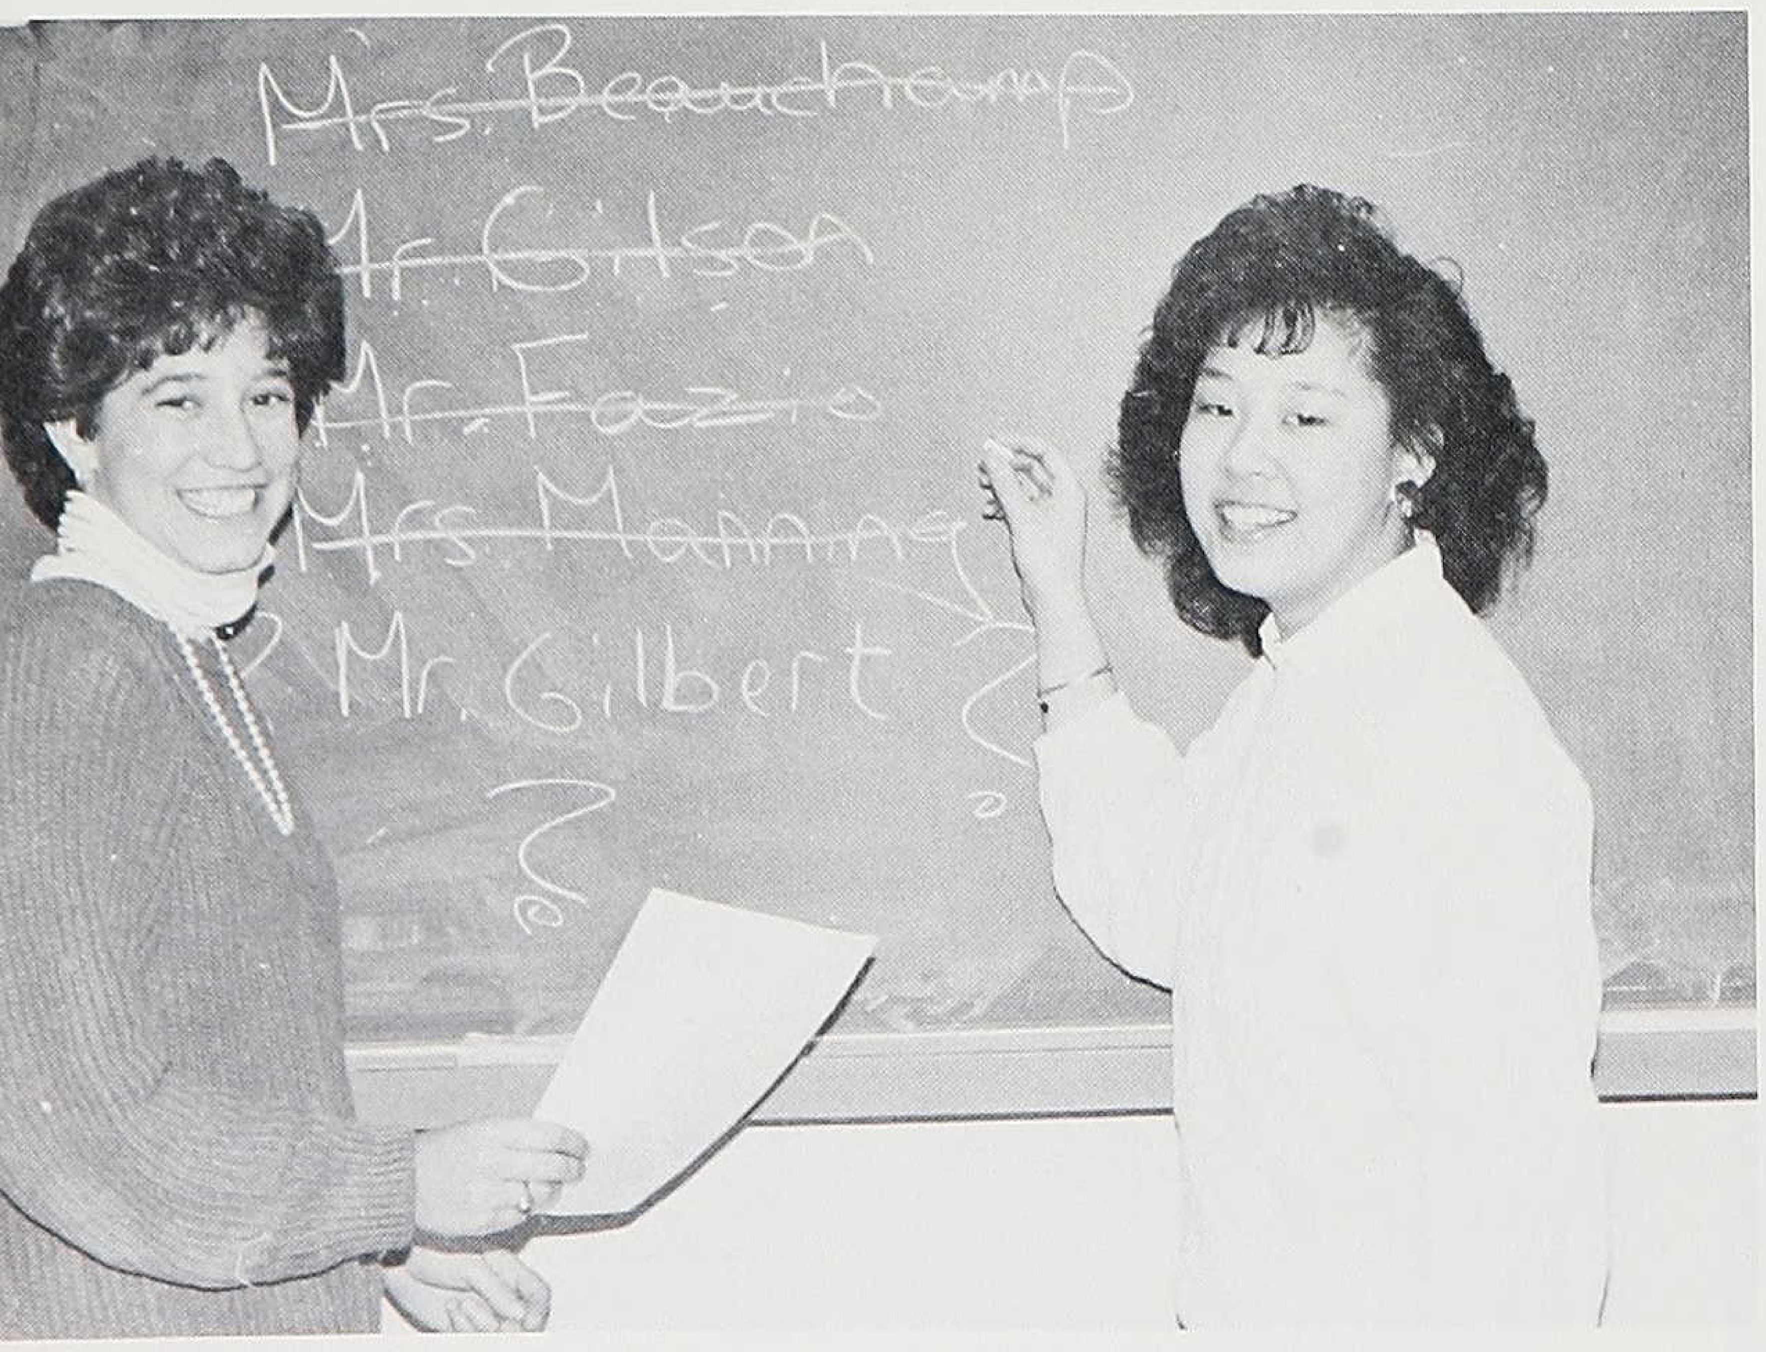

Sharon Young and Linda Fuchs take a break.

Activities Editor Sharon Young kept the staff alive and busy with her announcements of coming events. She worked diligently to document the happenings and to be sure that the photography staff was assigned to cover each event. Sharon, a truly organized individual, often stayed late to assist any staff members who needed to complete a project before leaving. Linda Fuchs, a member of her staff, was also involved in seeking out and putting together all the things that make a school year exciting.

Haven Parchinski and Debbie Rulnick share a lighter moment.

Literary Editor and proofreader extraordinaire Debbie Rulnick, in her quiet and unassuming way preserved the sanity of the entire staff. Sometimes from scratch, often from scribbled notes, Debbie made the book come alive as she put her literary skills to work to portray the events that were photographically covered. A latecomer to the staff, Haven Parchinski pitched in to help Debbie with this monumental task. Junior Steve Rossetti volunteered to do much of the proofreading while Debbie worked on articles that were needed.

Rebecca Abramson and Nancy Soohoo check them off.

Faculty Editor Rebecca Abramson and Nancy Soohoo found that there were many more faculty members than they had imagined. Finding them and scheduling them for portrait sittings was their main assignment. This, however included sending reminders and seeing that their names were correctly spelled before and after being sent to the printer. They also helped the layout staff to arrange the photographs by department on the mounting boards.

Advertising Editor Lisa Mastroly and her enthusiastic staff surpassed our fund raising goal of $10,000. Competing each day for individual prizes, the staff solicited ads from the local businesses and professional people during an 8 day blitz after final exams in June of 1986. Without their tremendous effort, our new format book would still be just a dream.

First Row: Jeanna Mastradicosa, Toni Radke, Nicole Bernardo. Second Row: John Ruscio, Amy George, Brian Cornell. Missing: Nicole Pothier, Stephen Rossetti, Bryant Frazier.

Another innovation this year was the addition of underclassmen to the yearbook staff. These apprentices helped out in various capacities from sales promotion to actual hands-on work for the book. Their experience will be invaluable in next year's production.

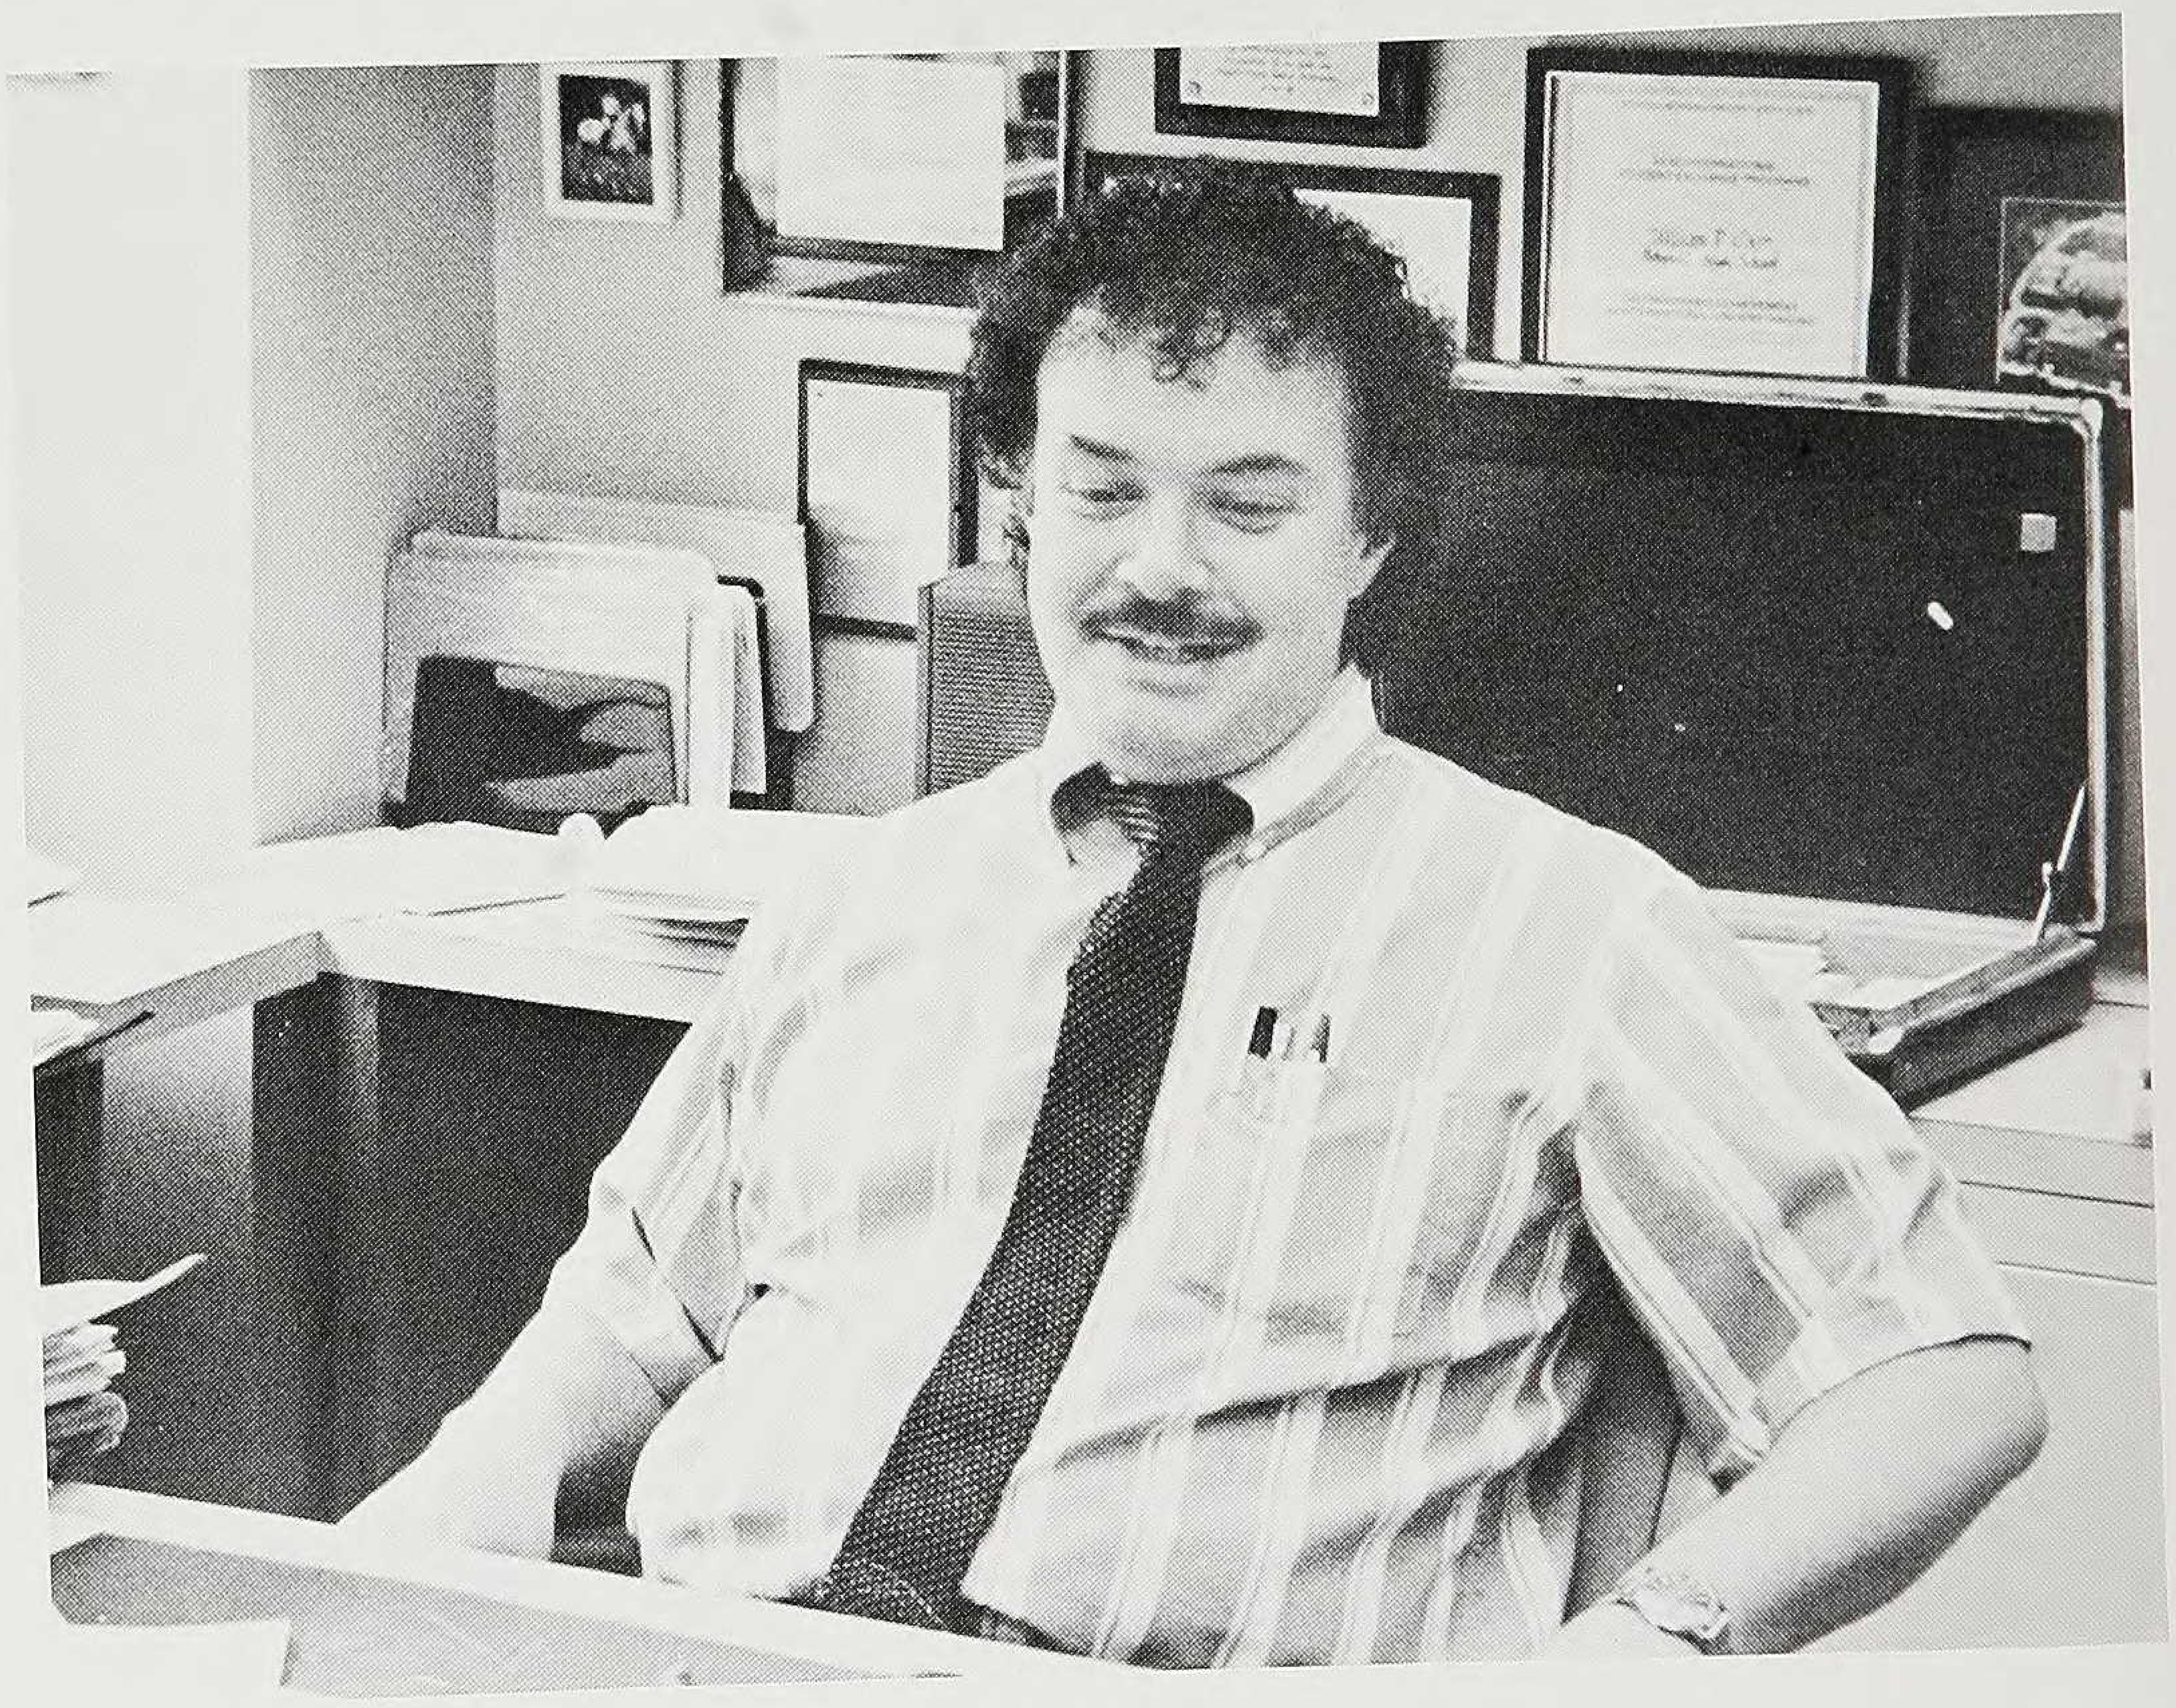

The entire yearbook staff hopes that each graduate and undergraduate will enjoy this book of memories as much as they have enjoyed getting it together page by page.

Mrs. Beauchamp shifts gears preparing for her sixth period French class.

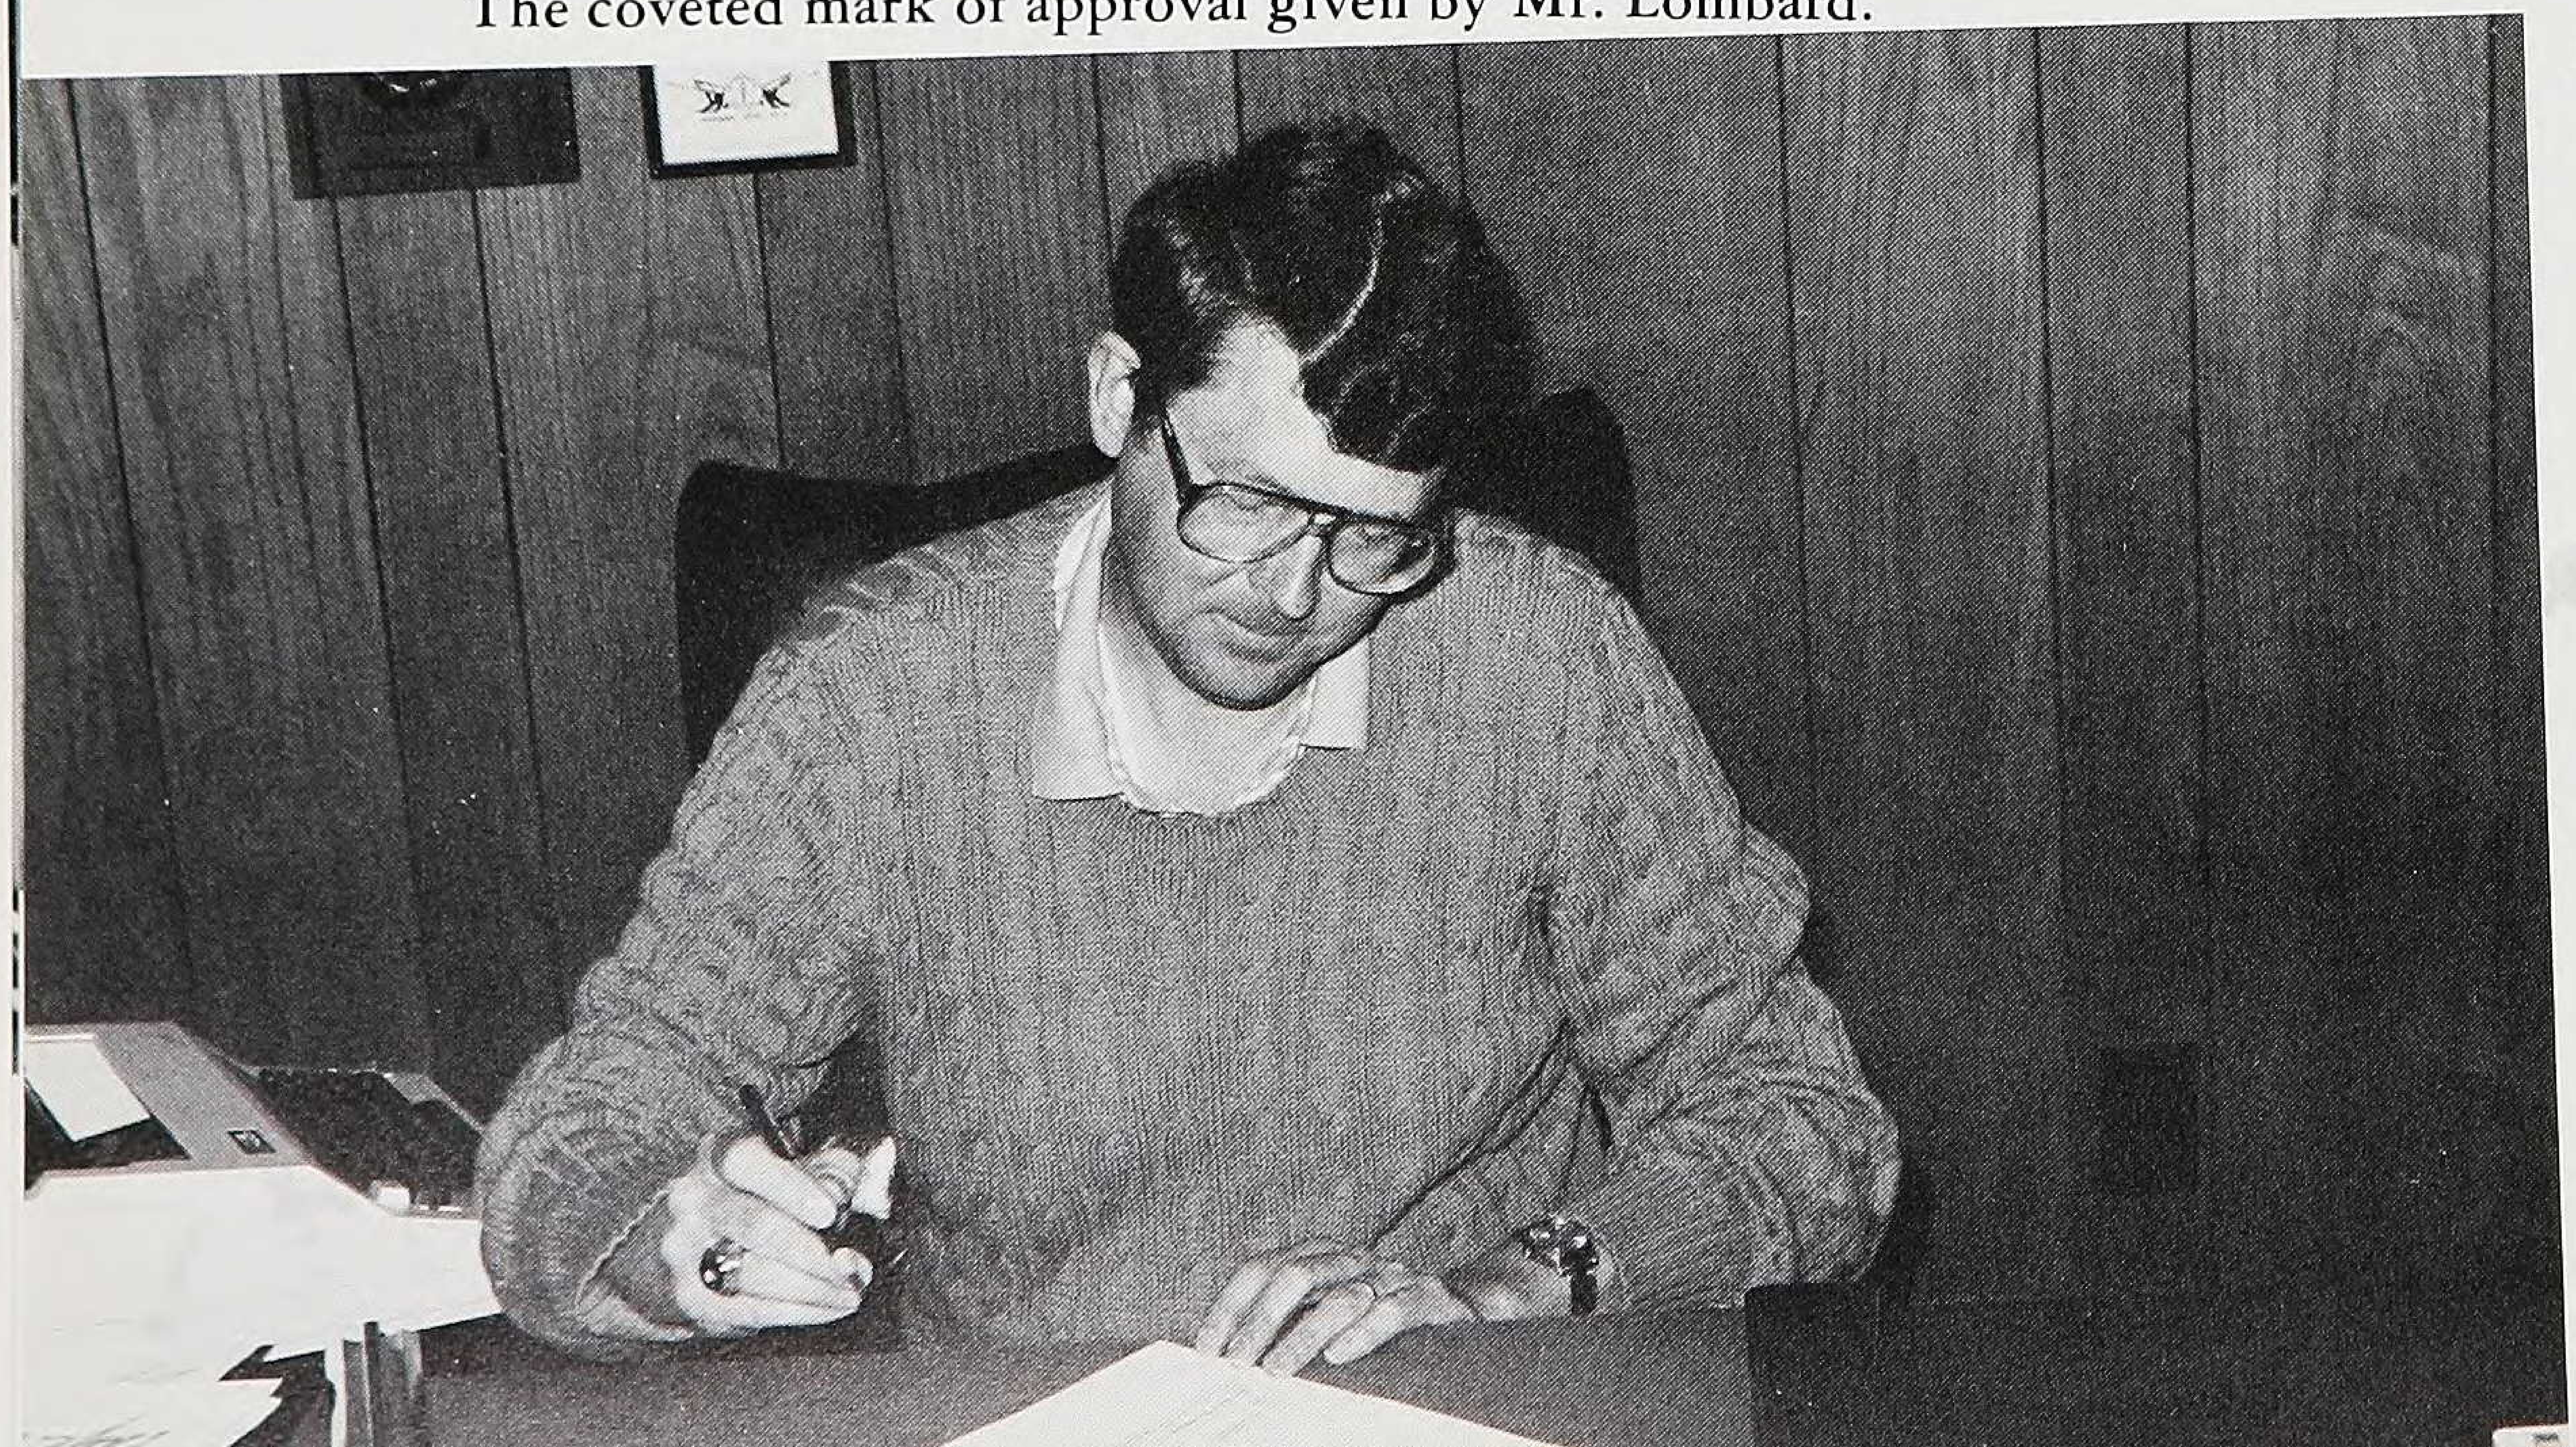

Mrs. Shirley Beauchamp, our adviser, devoted many after-school hours to complete the 1987 Dome. Her professionalism and leadership eased the transition from the old style senior book to a yearbook of the 80's. The proceeds from the advertising blitz she organized enabled us to expand the book by 100 pages including an additional 24 color pages. Mrs. Beauchamp pitched in wherever help was needed. She assisted in layout and photography as well as editing and typing copy. Without her perseverance, this yearbook would still be a dream. At graduation, the Class of 1987 presented Mrs. Beauchamp with a plaque recognizing her many contributions.

As business adviser, Mr. Tom Dillon had the monumental task of keeping track of all the monies earned by the various fund-raising activities carried out to subsidize the cost of publication. His job began in June of 1986 when a very successful advertising staff delivered in excess of eleven thousand dollars in ad contracts from local businesses. Mr. Dillon took charge of sending the patron letters to the parents of the graduating class and also kept tabs on the general sales of the book. With the help of his computer, he then billed those who requested deferred payment. His magic with finances provided the confidence needed to produce the "new" Dome.

Billing over, Mr. Dillon breathes a sigh of relief.

The coveted mark of approval given by Mr. Lombard.

Sometimes forgotten is our Jostens' representative, Mr. David Lombard. From the first staff gathering at his house to choose the cover, paper, and endsheets, to the glorious day in June when the last 64 pages were handed to him, Mr. Lombard has been available for consultation in person or by telephone. He discussed at length the content, position, and choice of the major components that make for a good annual. Every question posed was handled with dignity and honesty. Always upbeat, Mr. Lombard offered moral support when morale was dragging and deadlines loomed. His kindness and understanding made our task so much easier.

Leadership, Scholarship, Community, Character

NHS does its part

The National Honor Society is a group of classic Seniors recognized for their superior scholarship, character, leadership, and citizenship. The primary goals of the N.H.S. are to raise money for scholarships and to serve the community with various volunteer work. This year the N.H.S. raised money by sponsoring Senior Service Day (volunteering Seniors "worked" for underclassmen) and holding a Toga Dance. Society members also participated in two very successful blood drives and a phone-a-thon sponsored by the American Heart Association.

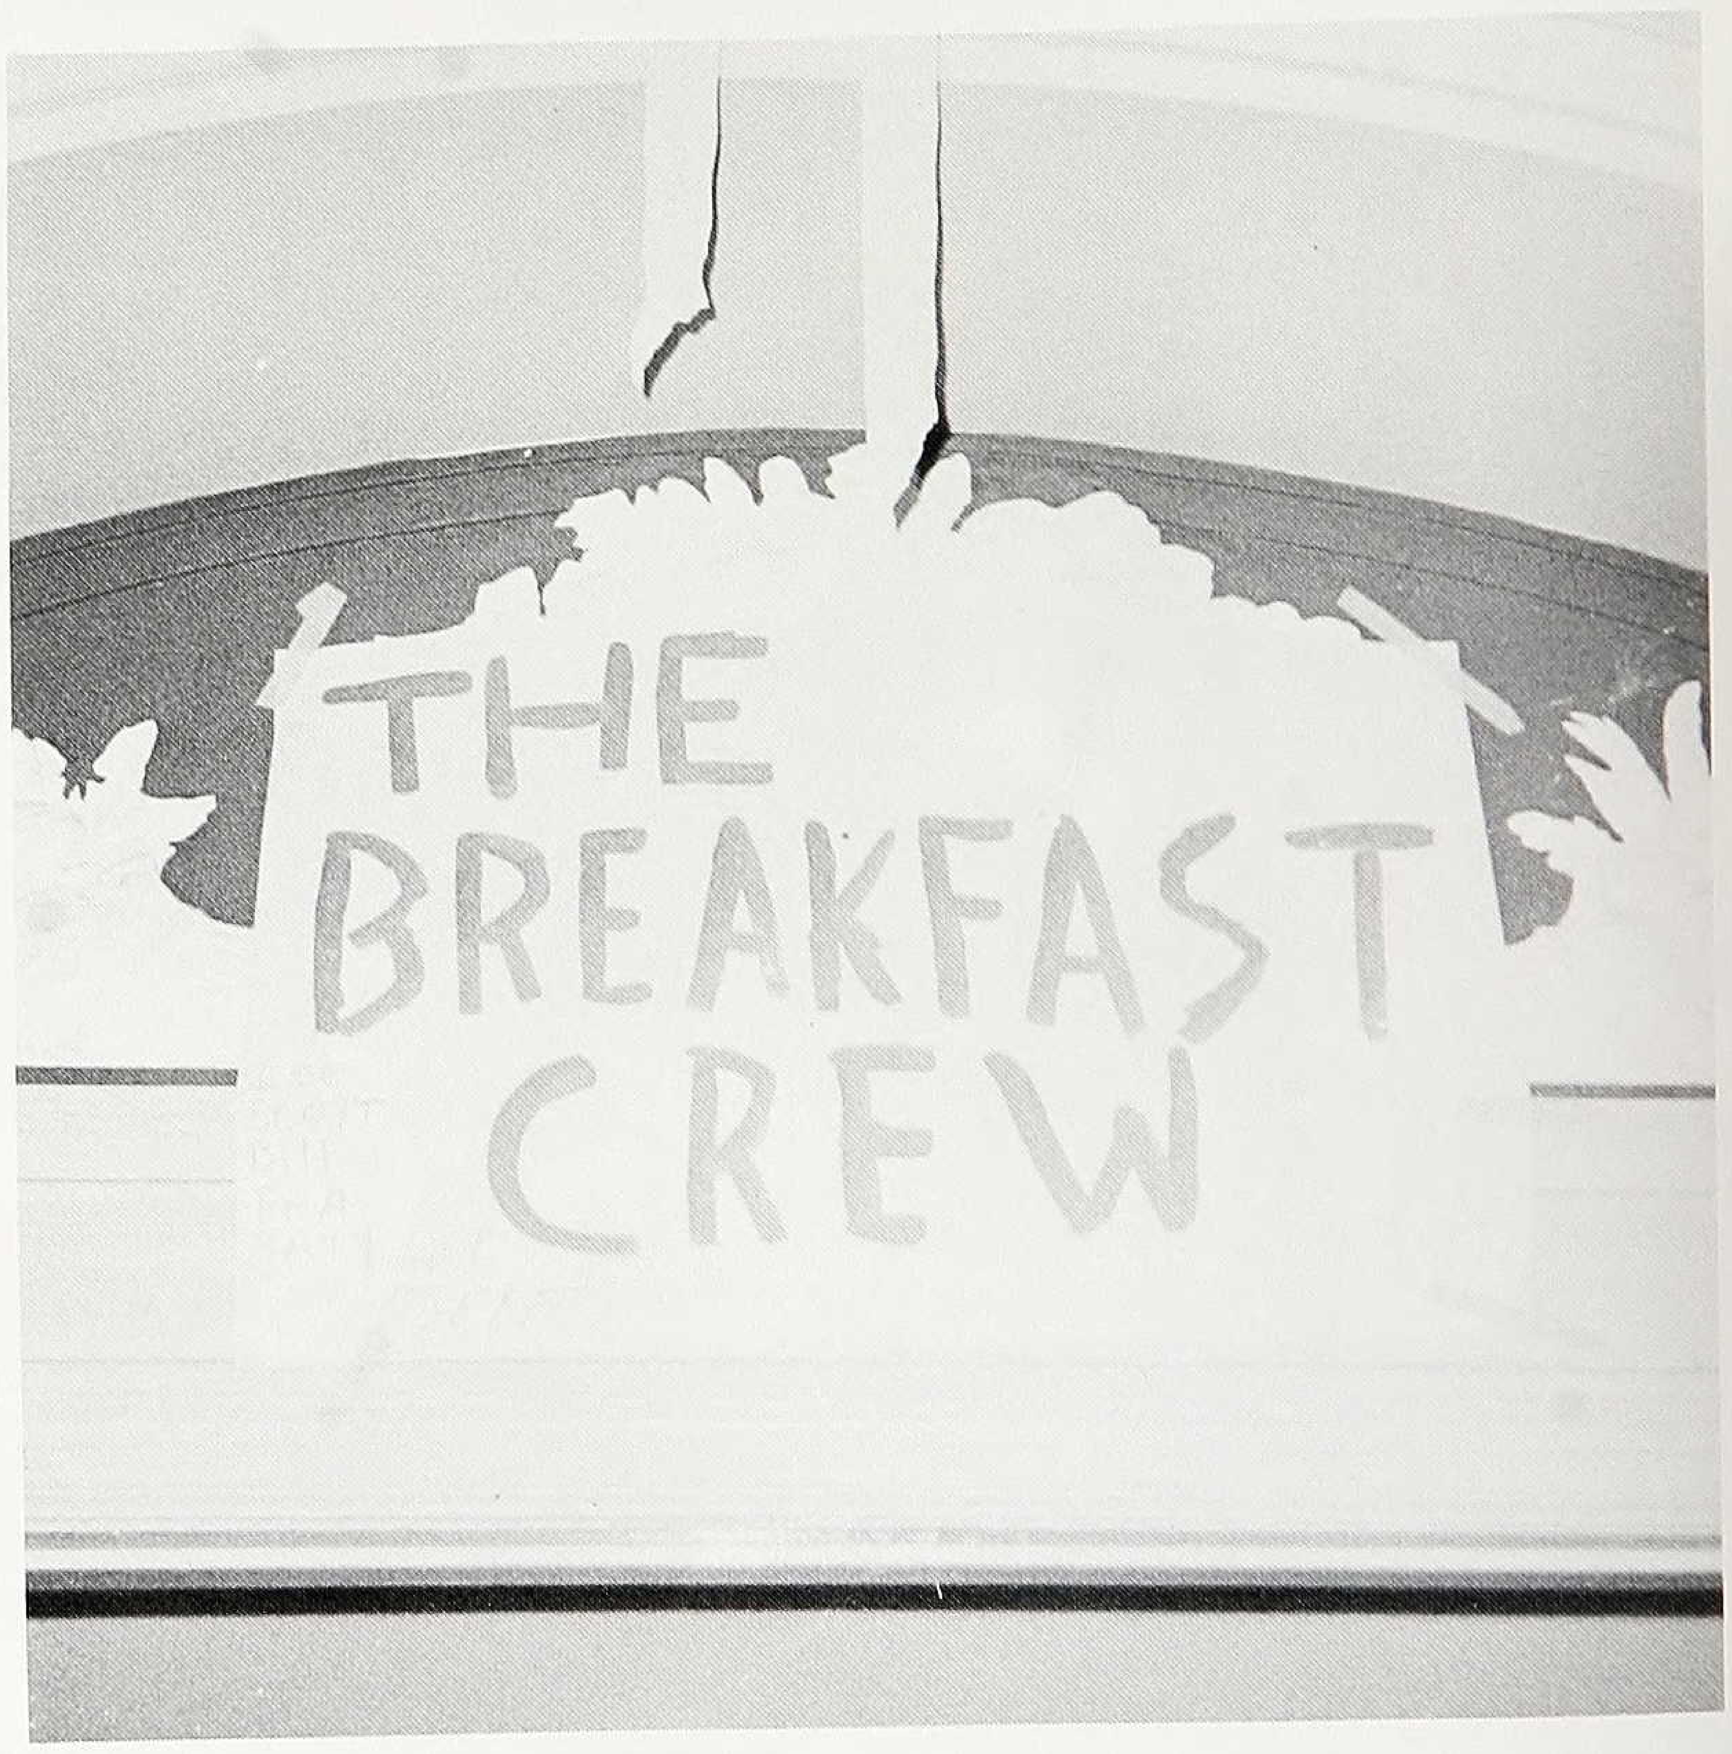

Cindy Mazzeo expresses the joy of giving blood.

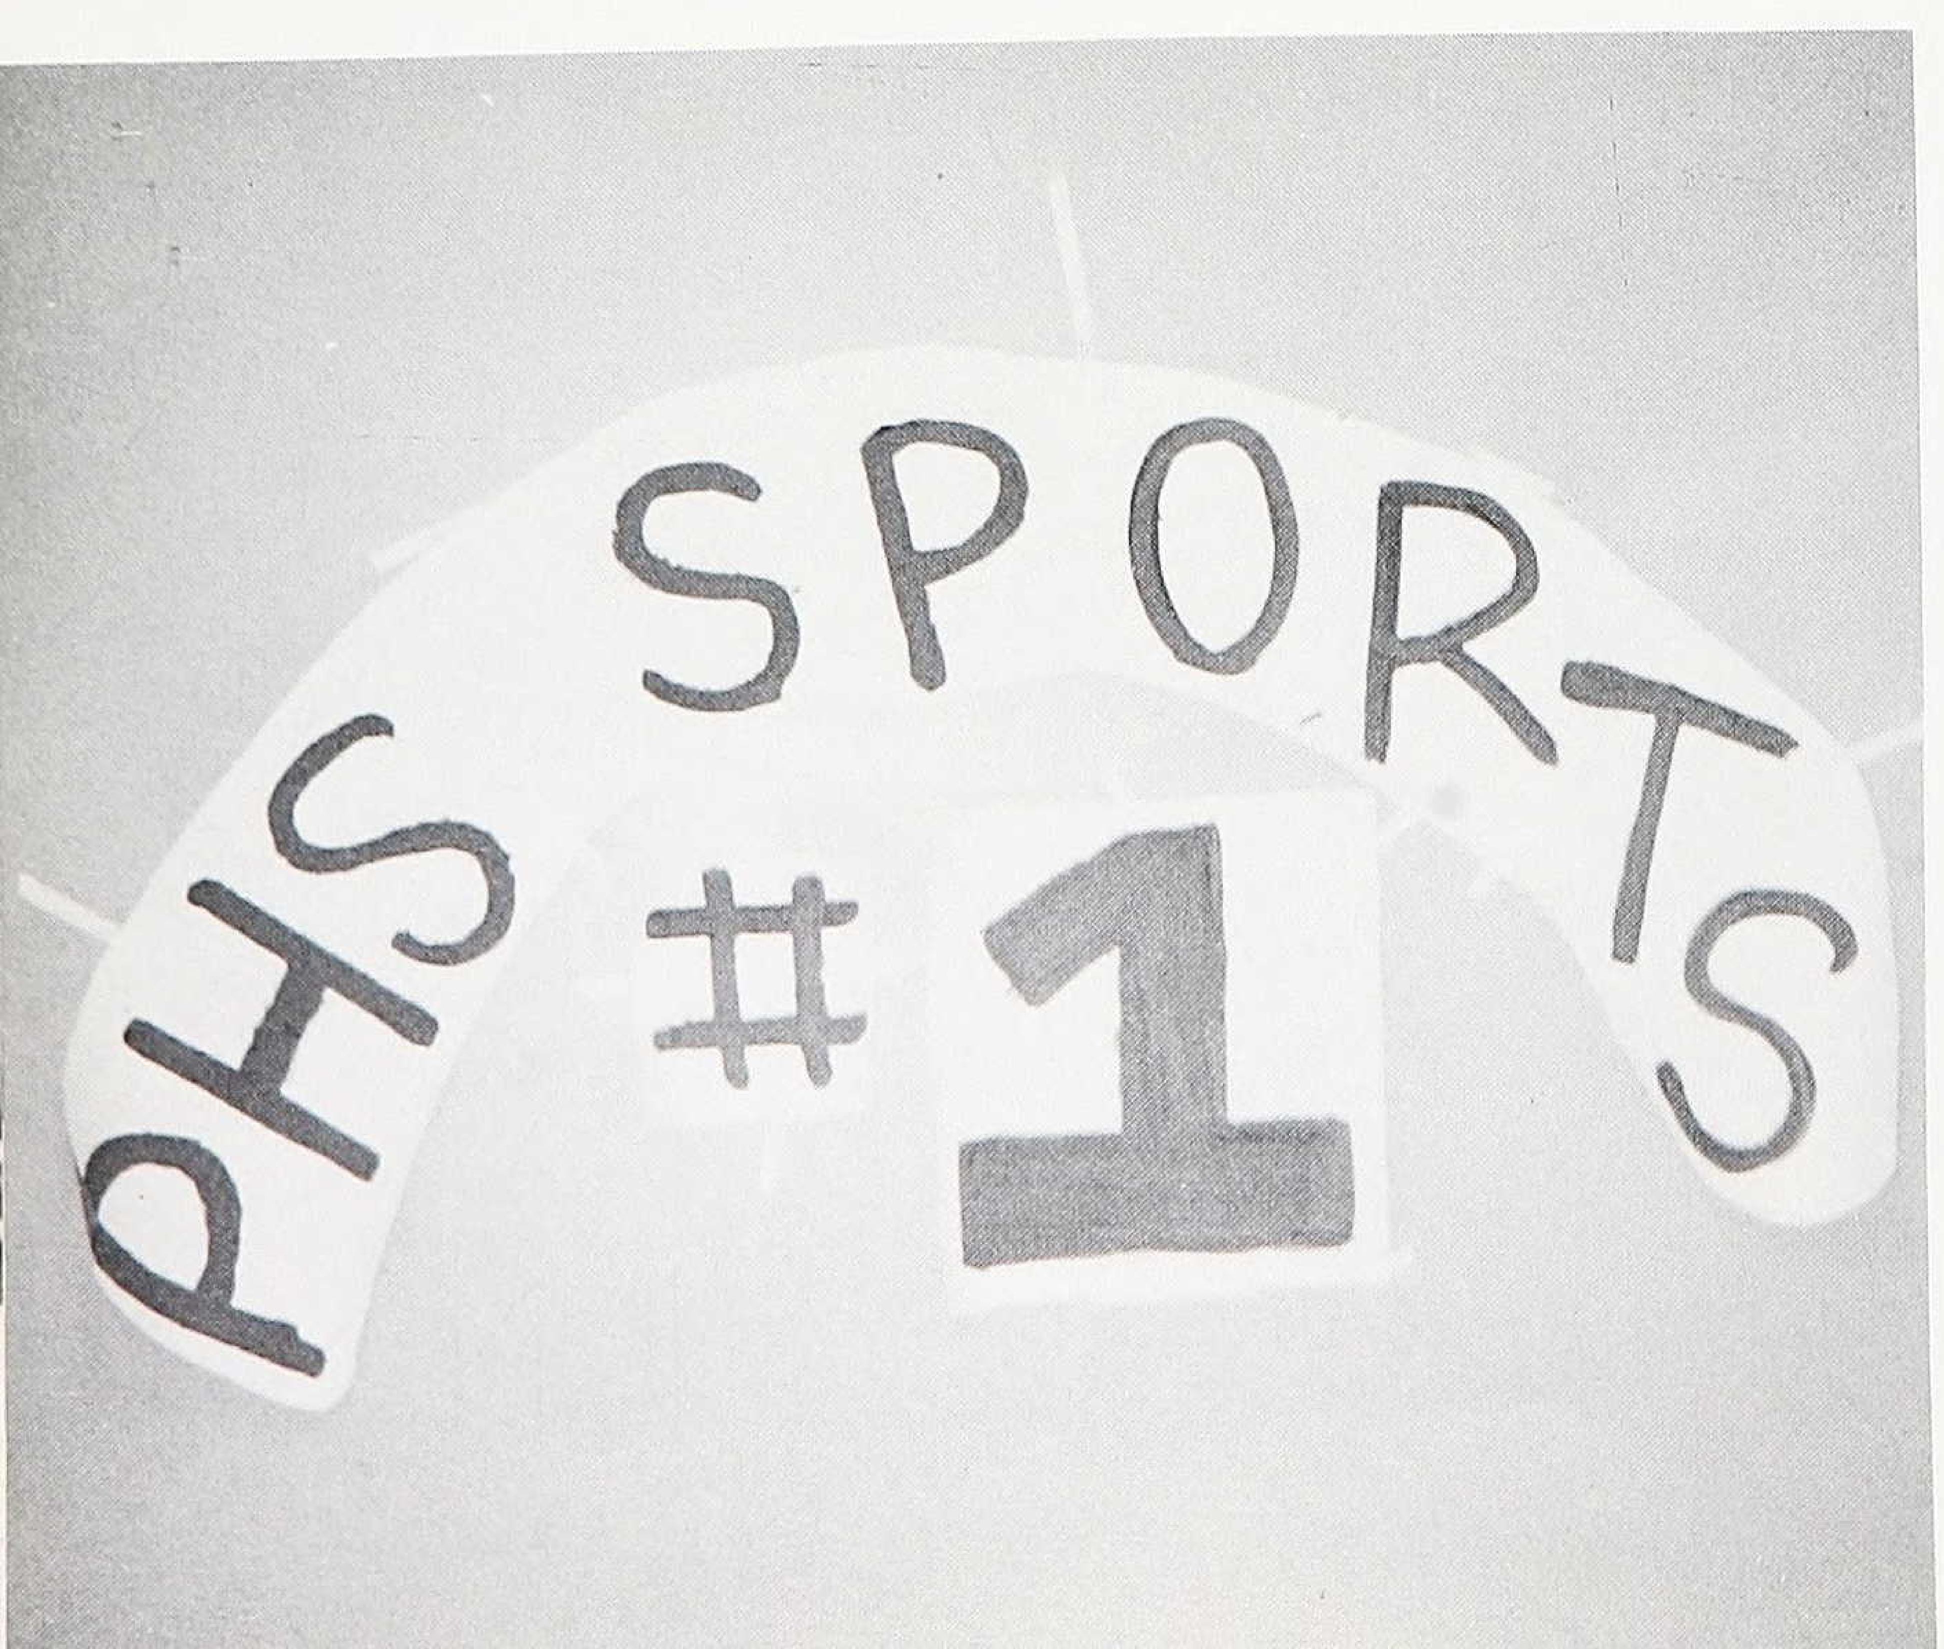

Signs of the Times

The Spirit Moves

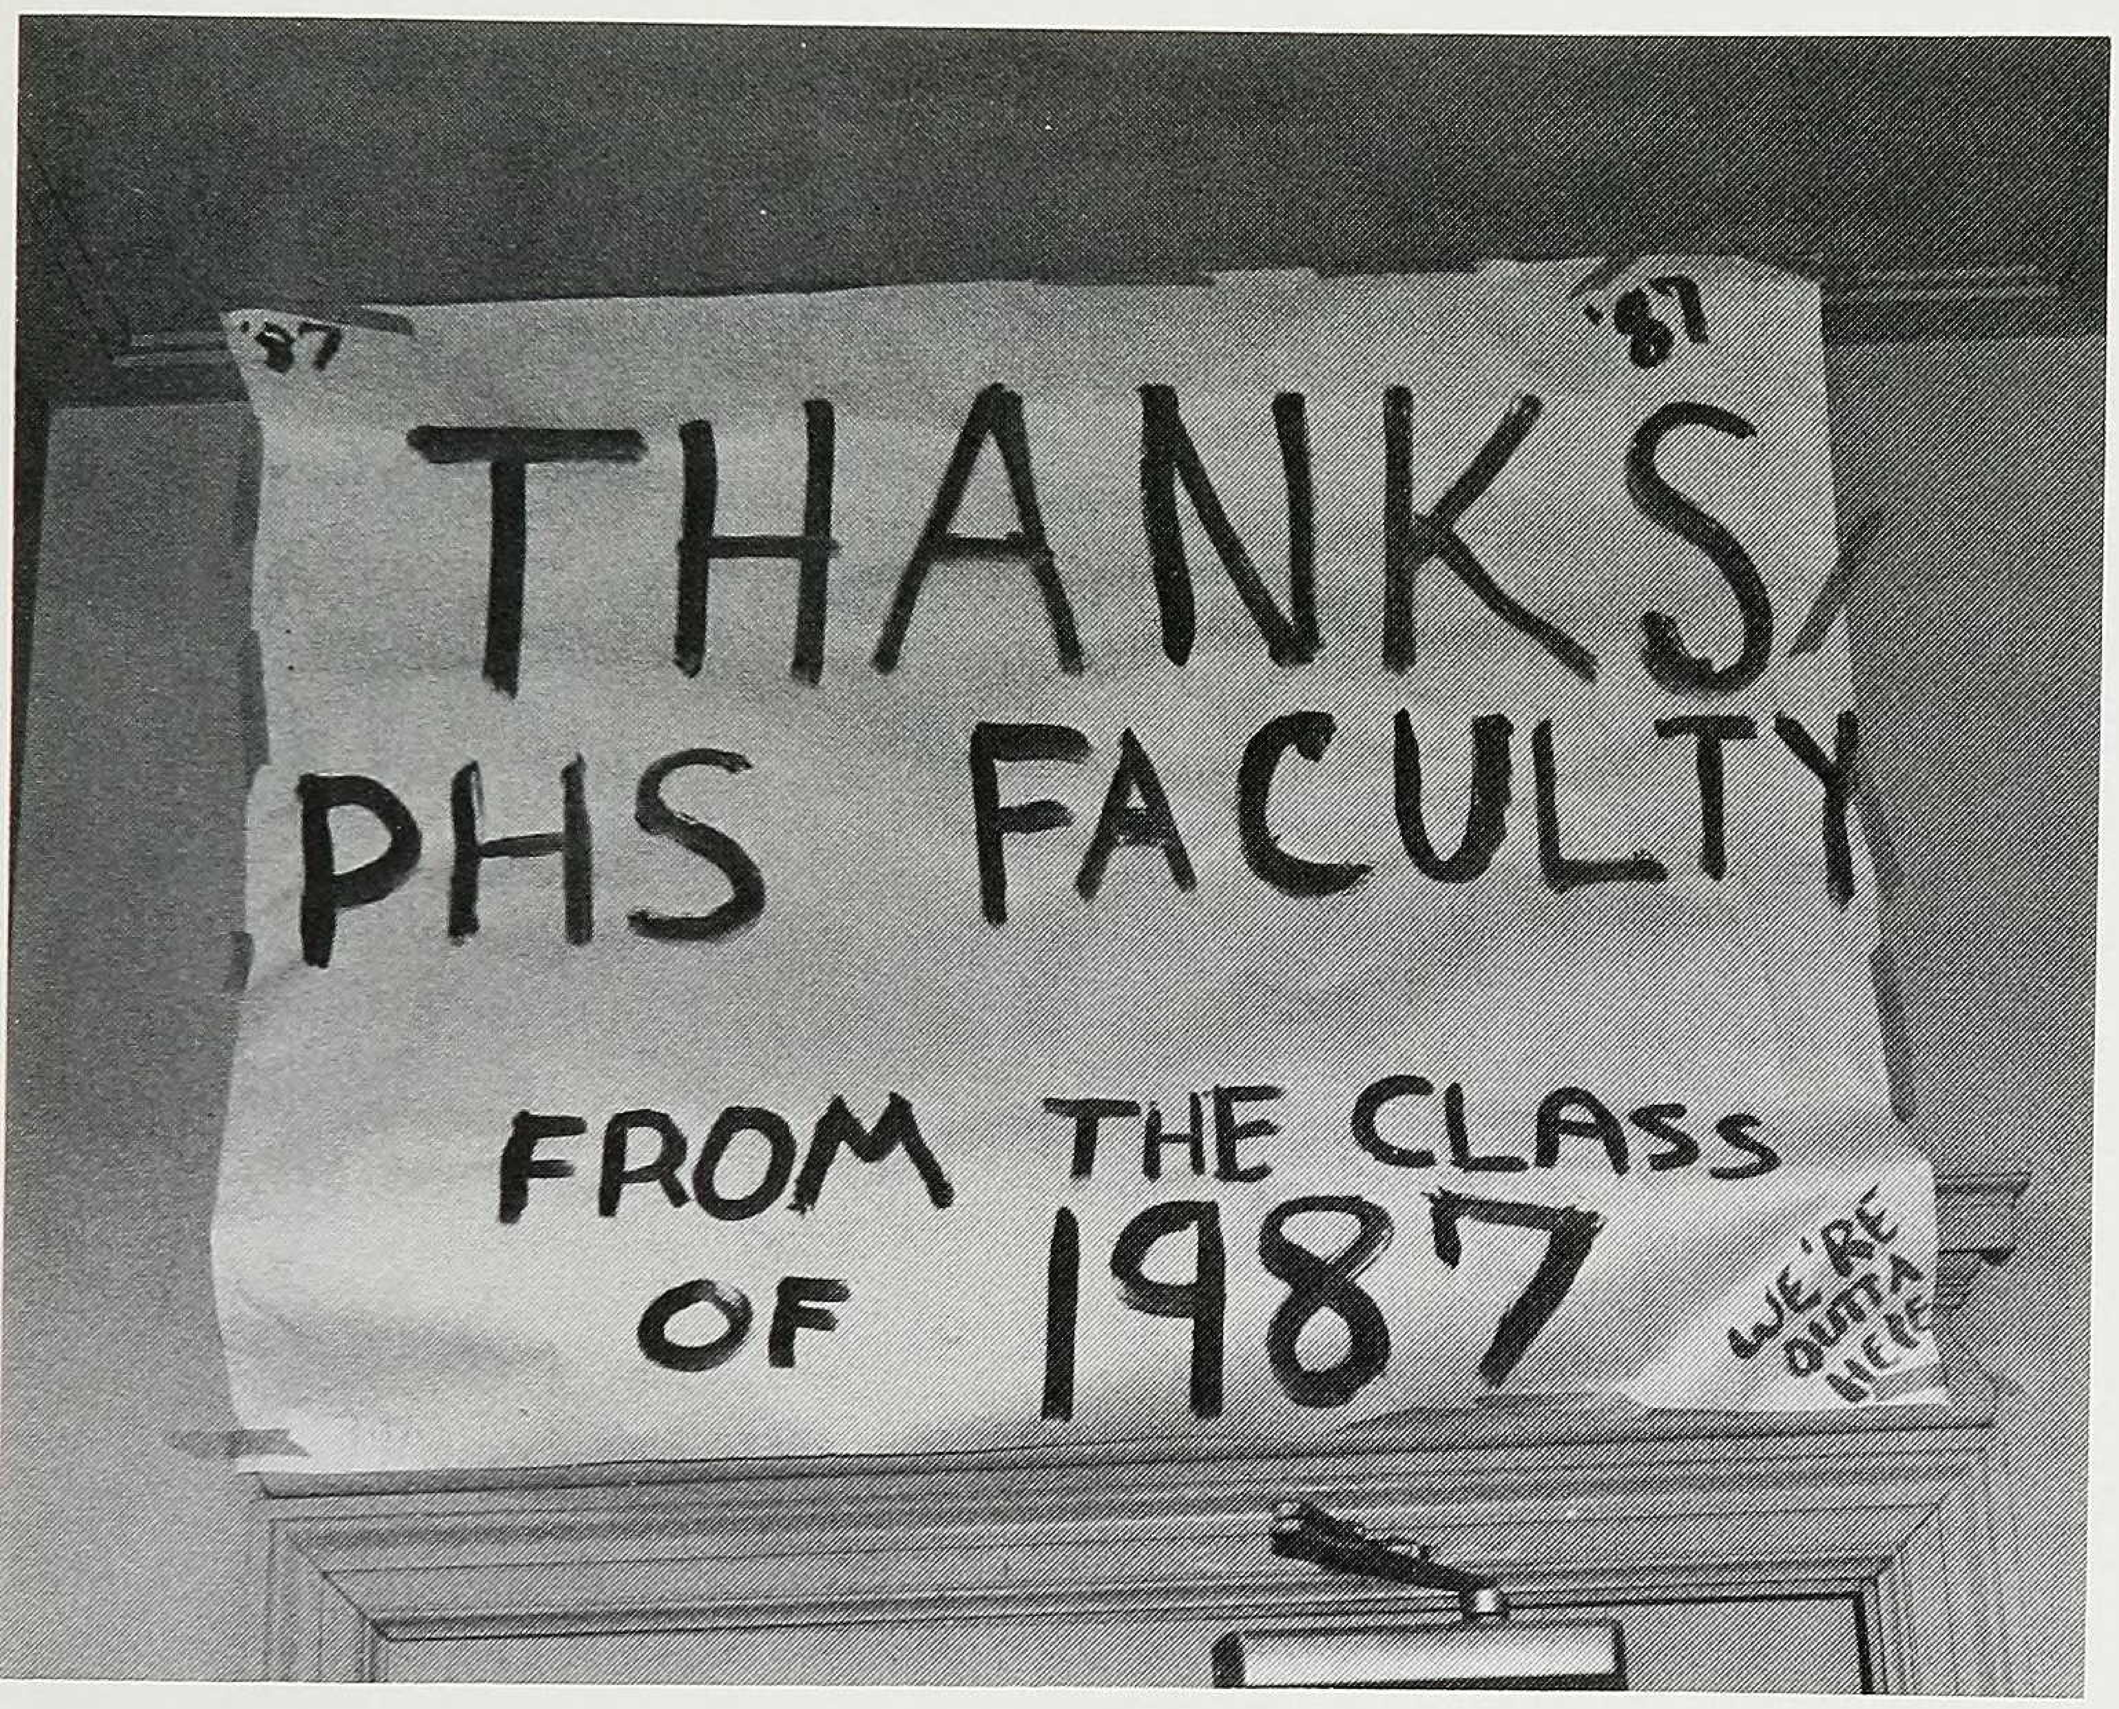

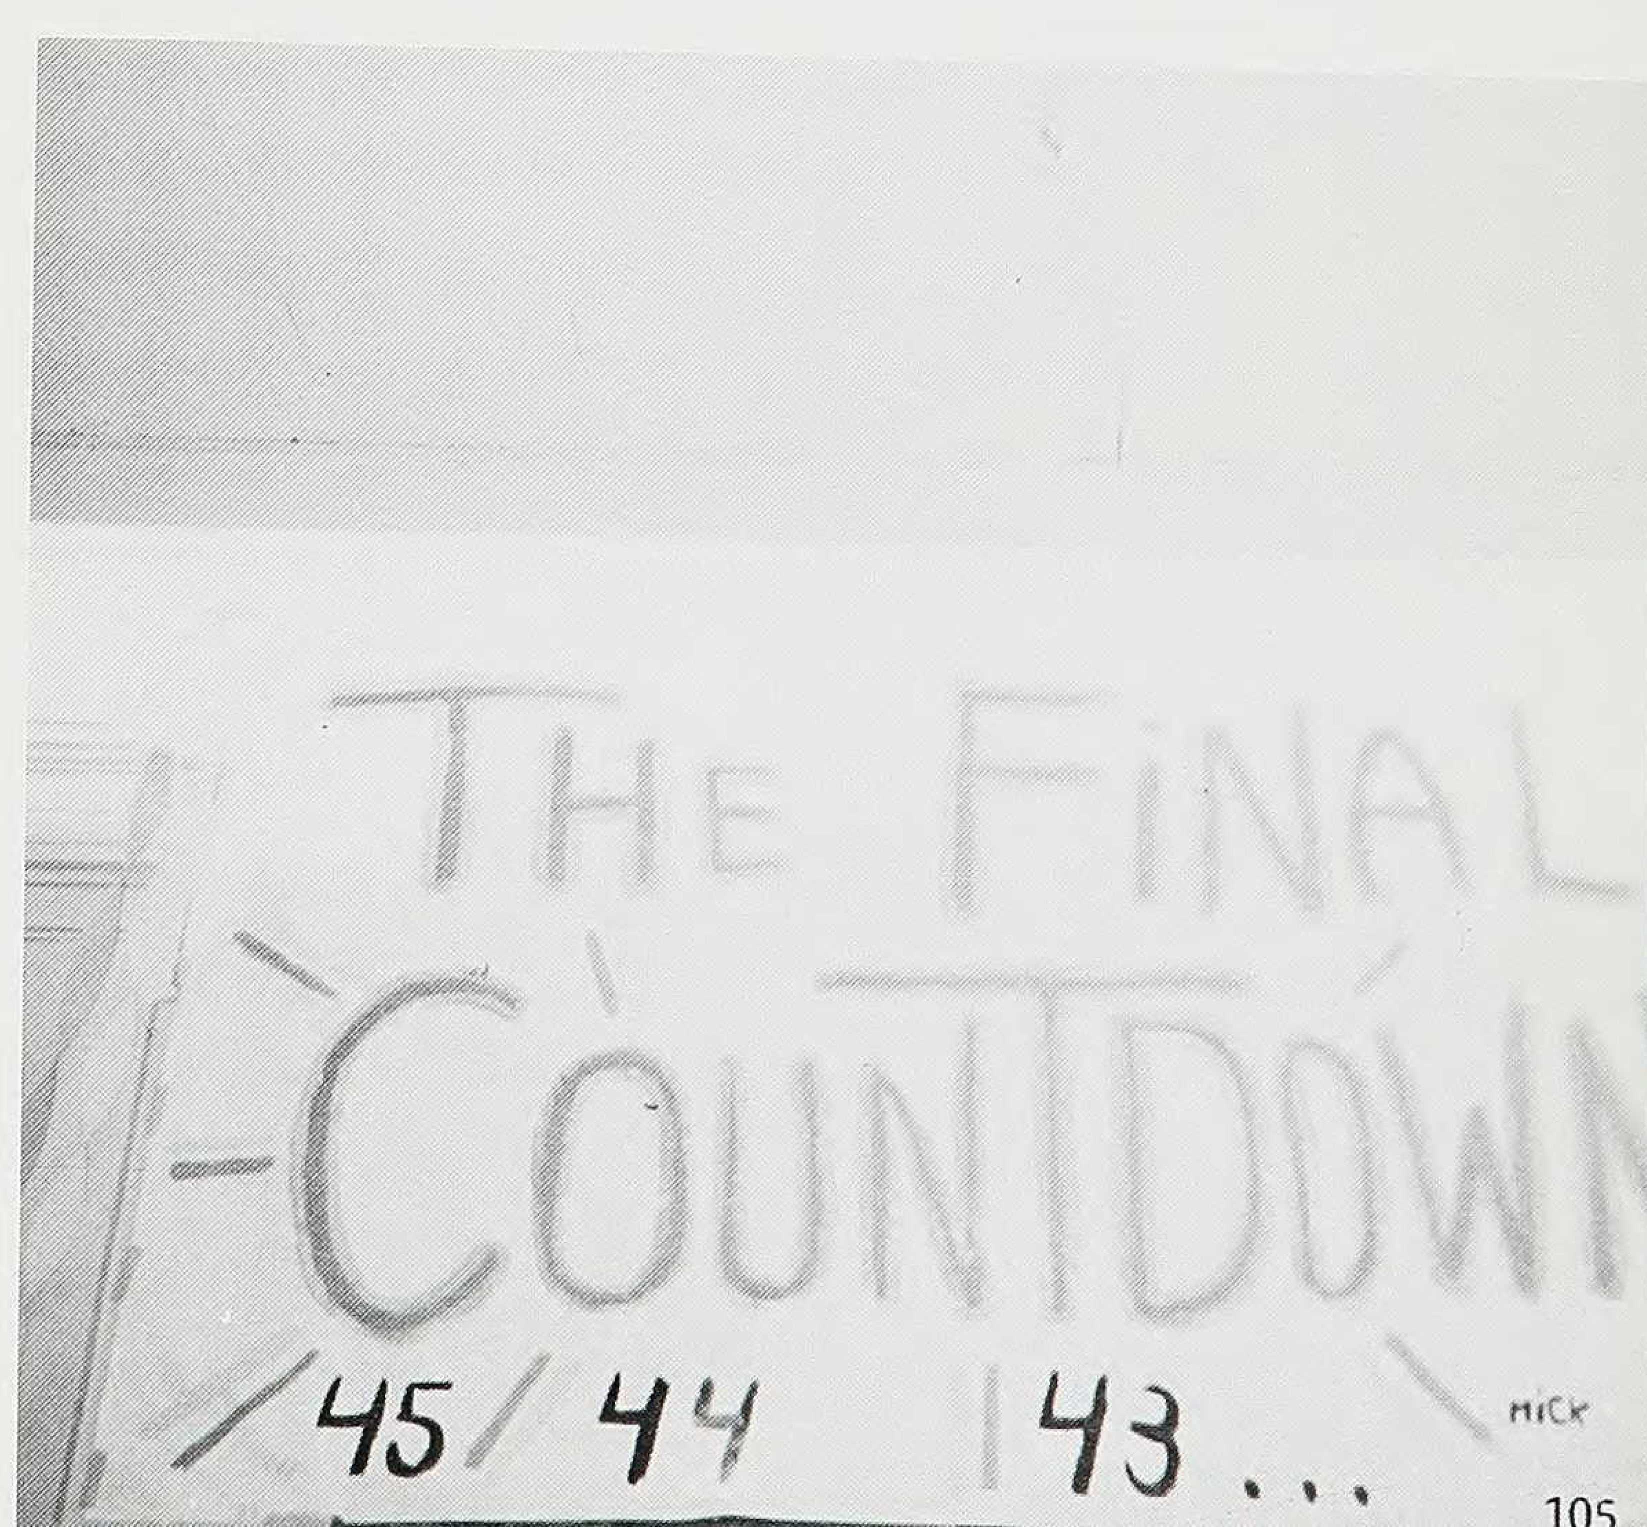

Spirit Week was launched in the classic spirit of spring during the weeks of March 16th through the 27th. The entire school united to deck the halls and to brighten both the lobby and corridors in an effort to overcome the winter doldrums and prepare for the rites of spring. Each class competed with one another by decorating a designated area. In order to bolster the competition, prizes were awarded for the best decorations exemplifying school spirit and individual class pride. The sophomore class won the competition with the juniors and seniors sharing a close second. Students and faculty alike enjoyed the festive atmosphere as all prepared for spring break.

Our music department not only boasts a chorus and concert band, but also a jazz band and orchestra. The four musical units directed by Mr. Lively, Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Ogulnick display their talents at Open House, Winter and Spring concerts. Later in the year the audience at Honors Night and graduation are treated to selections by the chorus and concert band.

The chorus participates in various functions in the community. During the Christmas season they carol through the streets, joining with others to help in the Tree Lighting Ceremony at Park Square.

The concert band sets the beat at pep rallies, football games and several local parades as well as the Quincy Christmas Parade.

The high caliber of these musicians is obvious as fifteen members of these organizations have competed at Western Districts, four members advanced to All-State and one individual advanced to All-Eastern.

Proteus Plays Again

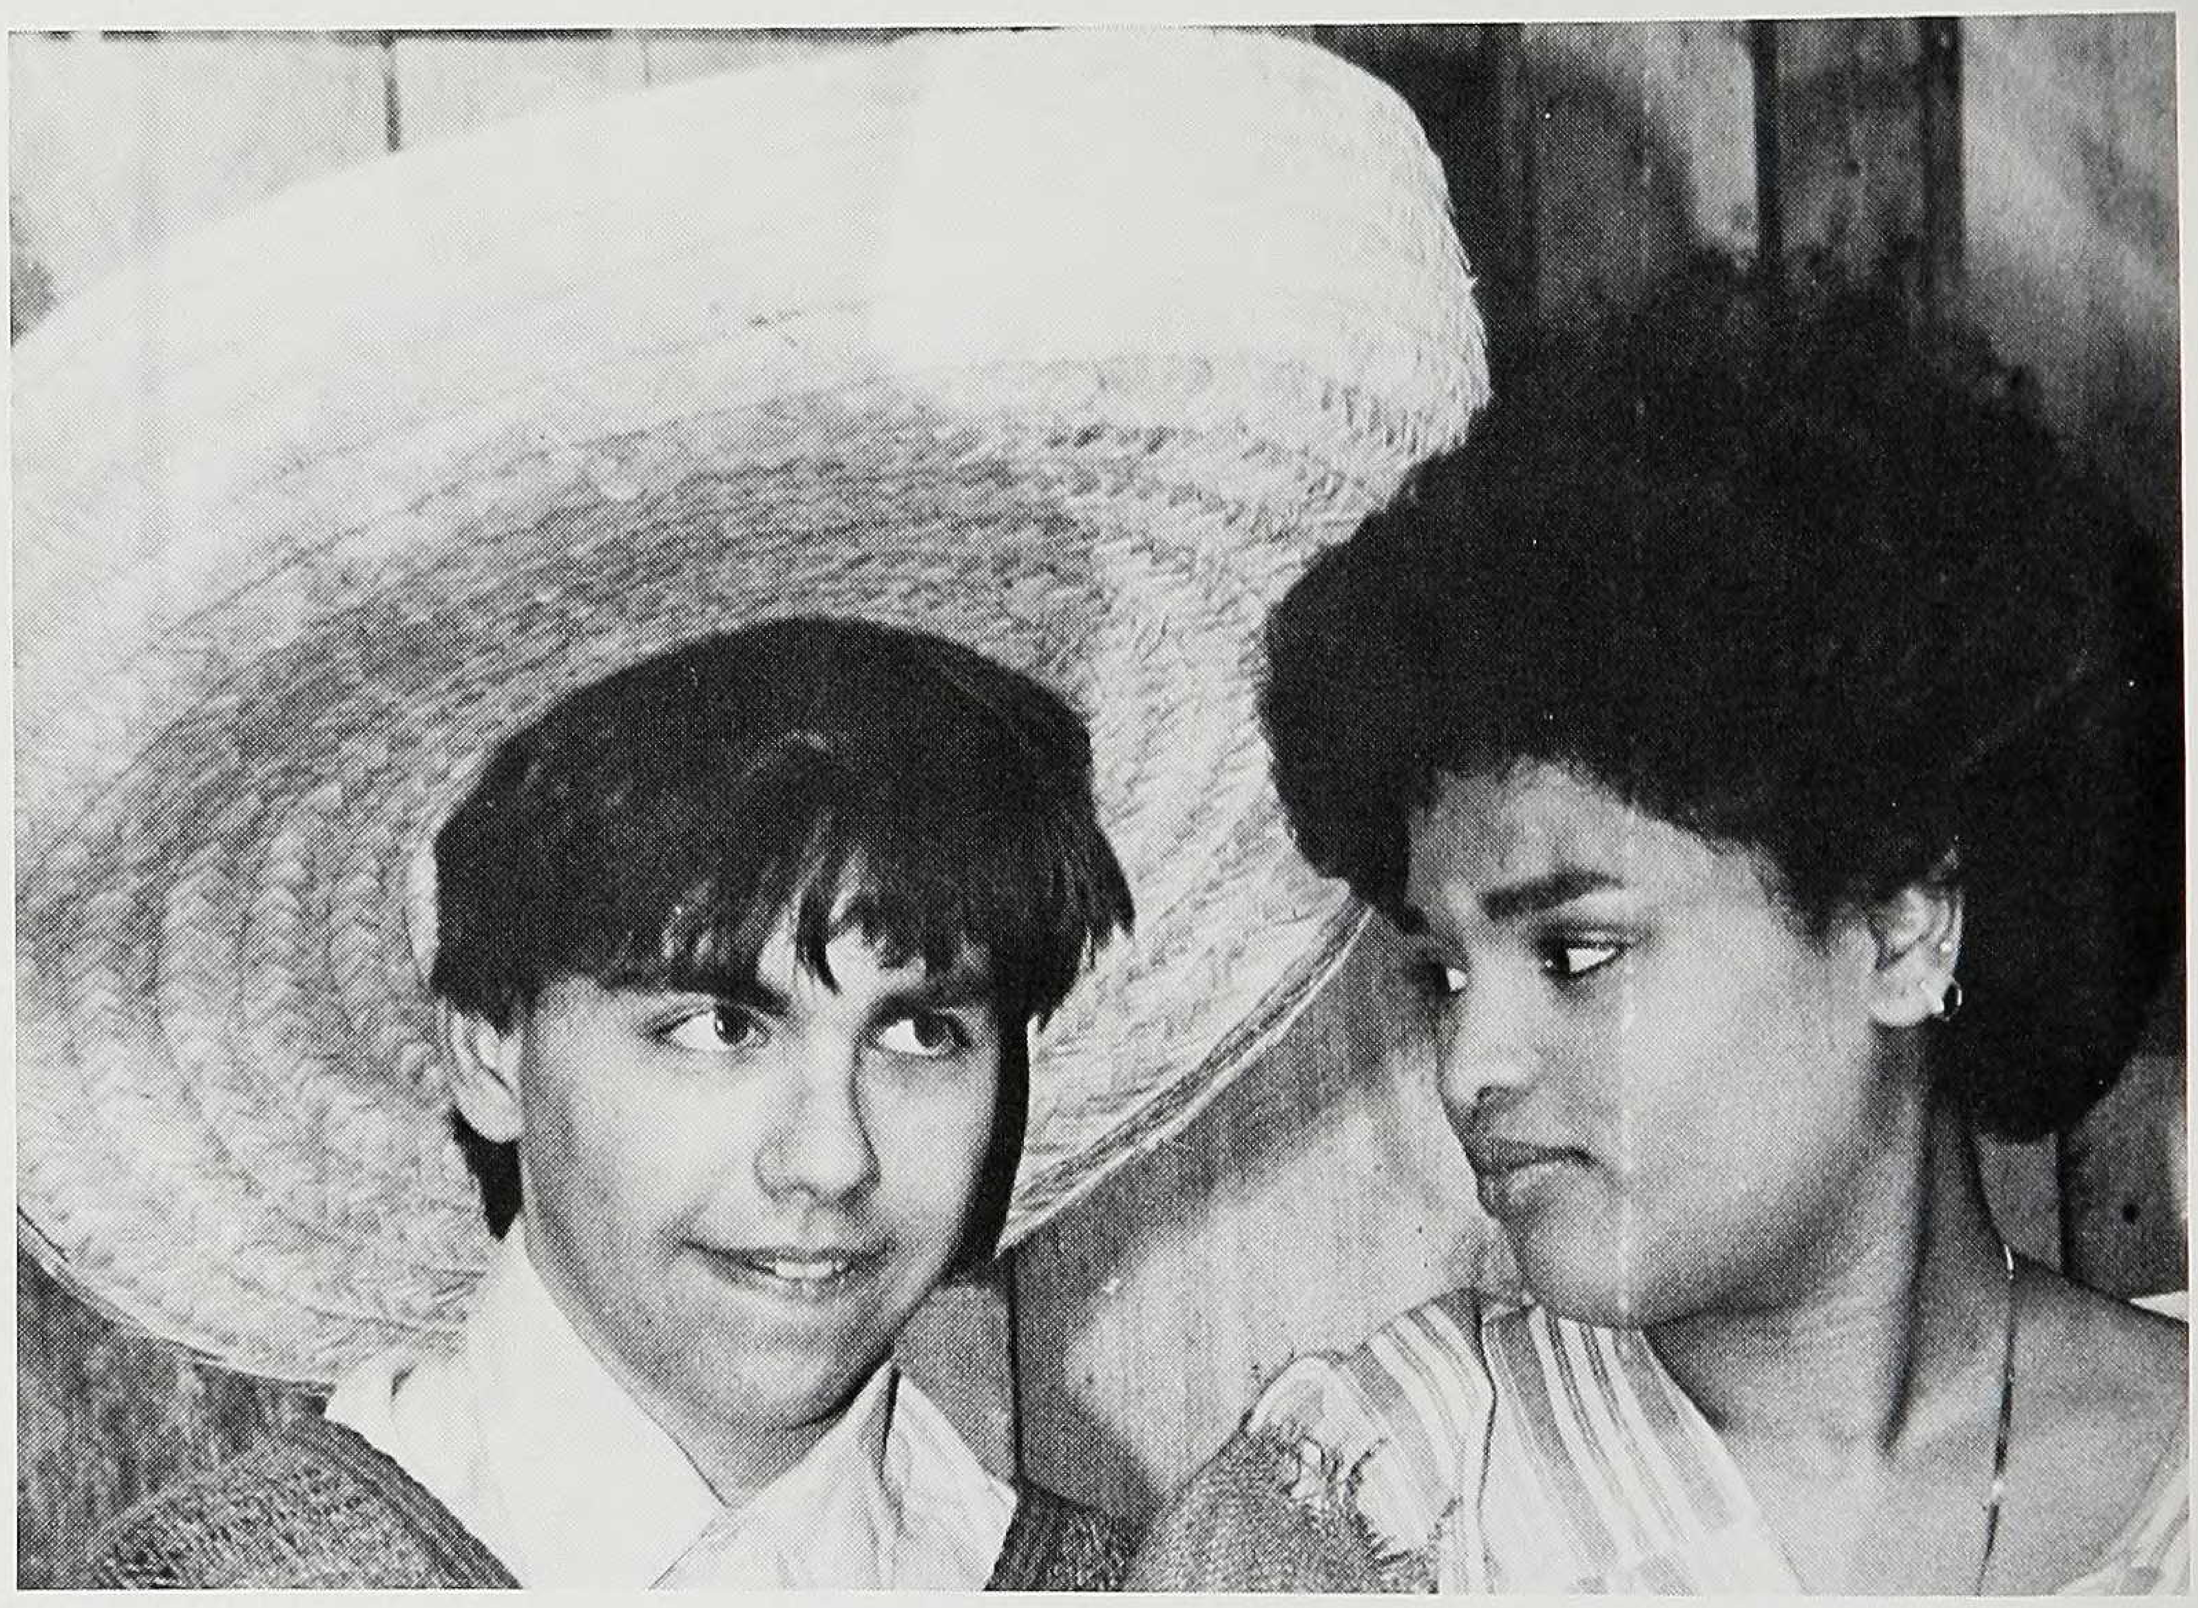

Spring production goes West

Mr. Hammann and his group of talented actors and actresses granted a sneak preview to several fortunate seventh period classes. His second production this year went West and included a cast that spoke with a convincing western drawl.

"Wild Oats," James McLure's hilarious comedy based on an 18th century restoration comedy by John O'Keefe, switches the locale of the action from the drawing rooms of restoration England to the saloons of the Old West. It transforms the characters from scheming servants and useful gentry to music hall girls and stalwart cavalrymen.

Everything from mistaken identities, reunions with long-lost relatives, to love interests, an evil landlord, a lusty colonel and a lustful preacher all make for fast-moving entertainment. Judging from the audience's hearty laughter, they were enjoying themselves as much as the thespians who performed.

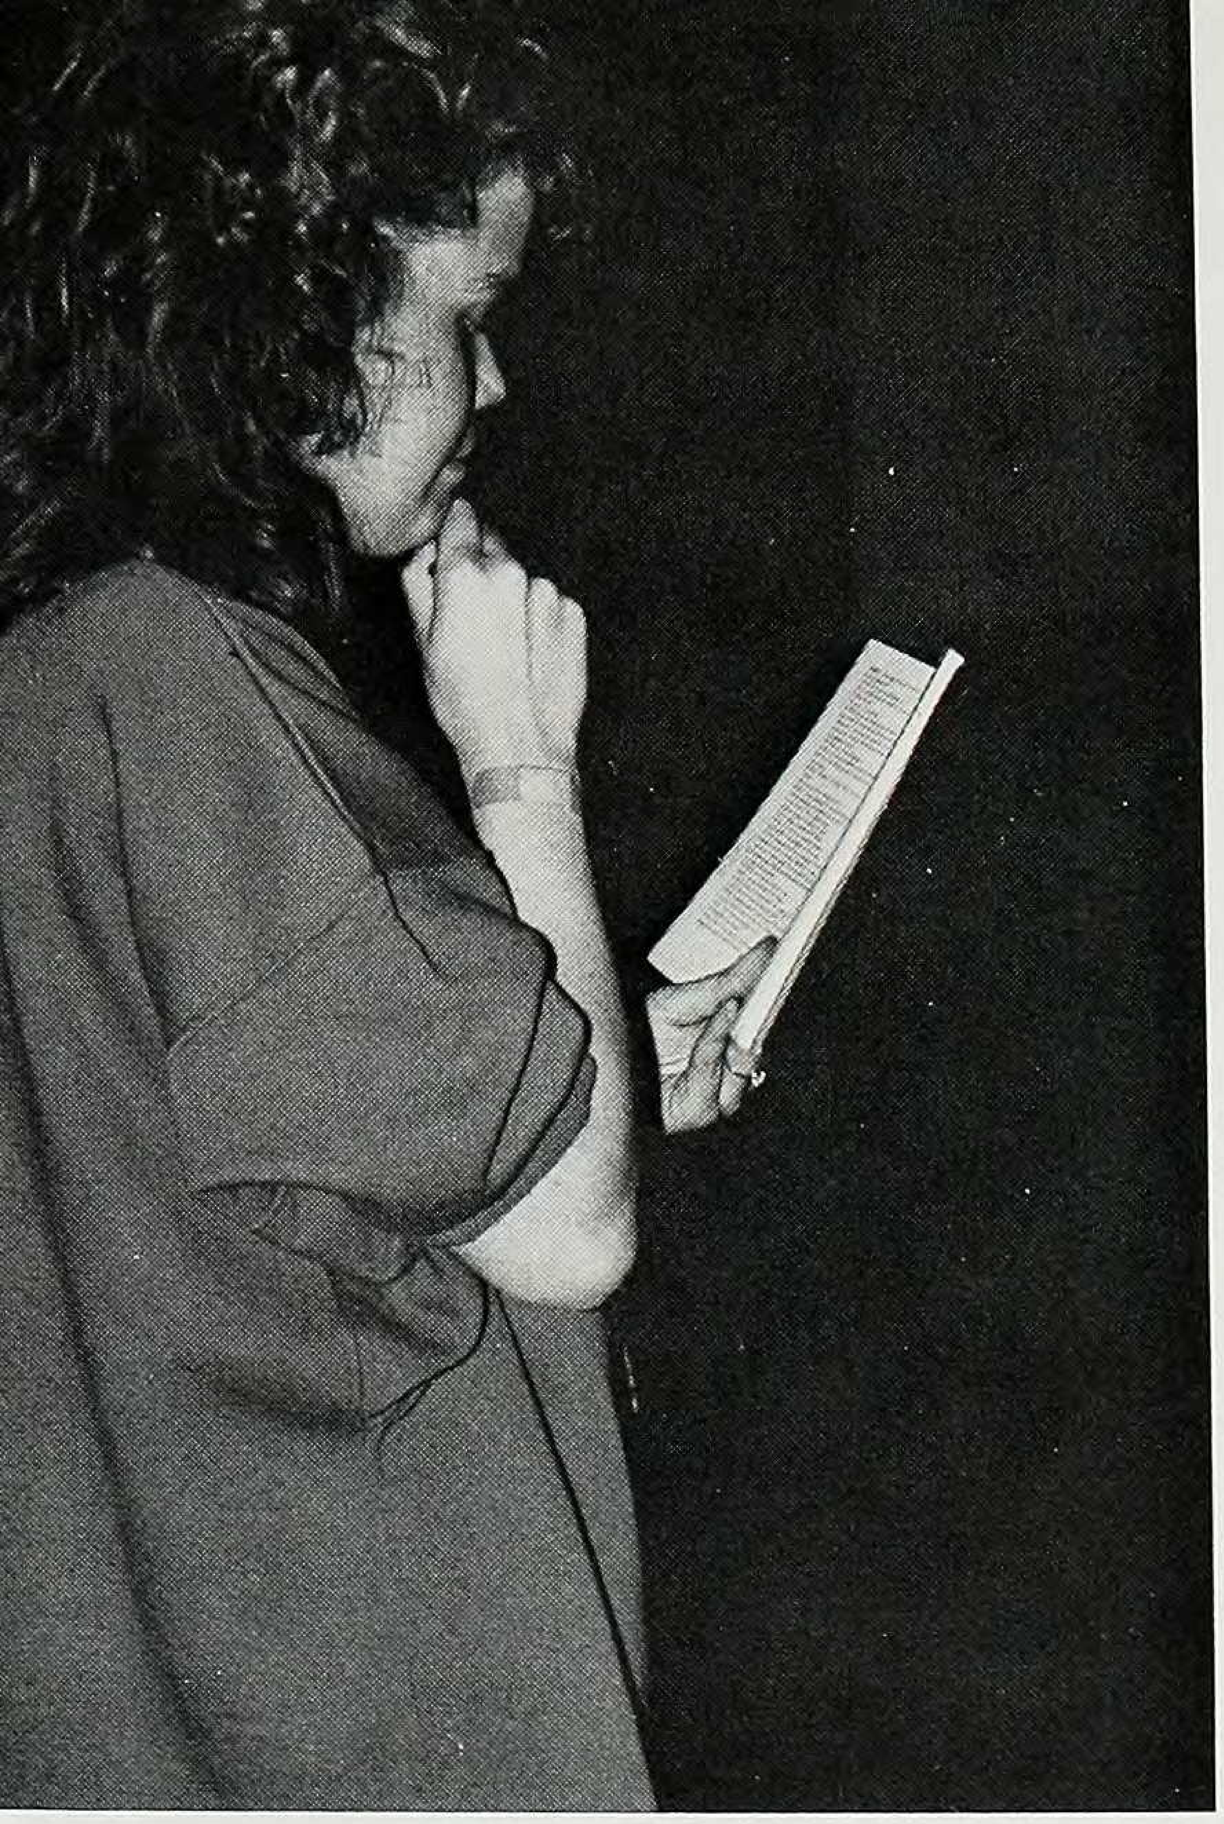

Outstanding sets constructed by Mr. Hebert's class accentuated the rough-hewn character of the Old West.

Voice Speaks

Valuable Source

"Vocational Voice" is the seasonal newsletter that focuses on events in the Pittsfield High and Taconic vocational departments. It allows the students to display their talents and also offers encouragement and praise for their efforts. The "Voice" concentrates on vocational students and helps to supply information about career choices. "Vocational Voice" is an informative and interesting newsletter that gives the vocational students the recognition they deserve.

PHS

was represented by eight students in this classic battle of the wits. The competition consisted of taking six tests, delivering both a prepared and an impromptu speech, being interviewed, and participating in a high-pressure Super Quiz. This year's theme was the Constitution, and the Super Quiz questions reflected that theme. The Western Mass competition was held at PHS, where the home team took everyone by storm. Due to this victory, the team advanced to the state finals, which were held in Wayland, Mass. on February 9th. The team placed ninth, and brought home many individual medals to honor the school.

"Jobs For Baystate Graduates will lift you into the future . . ." The exhibit created collectively by JBSG members won a gold medal at the annual career conference.

In this year's class of Jobs For Bay State Graduates' seniors laughed and learned a lot together. The purpose of the program is to help seniors in the transition from school to work. In the classroom, they work together to clarify their career goals, polish their interviewing techniques and discuss how to survive on the job.

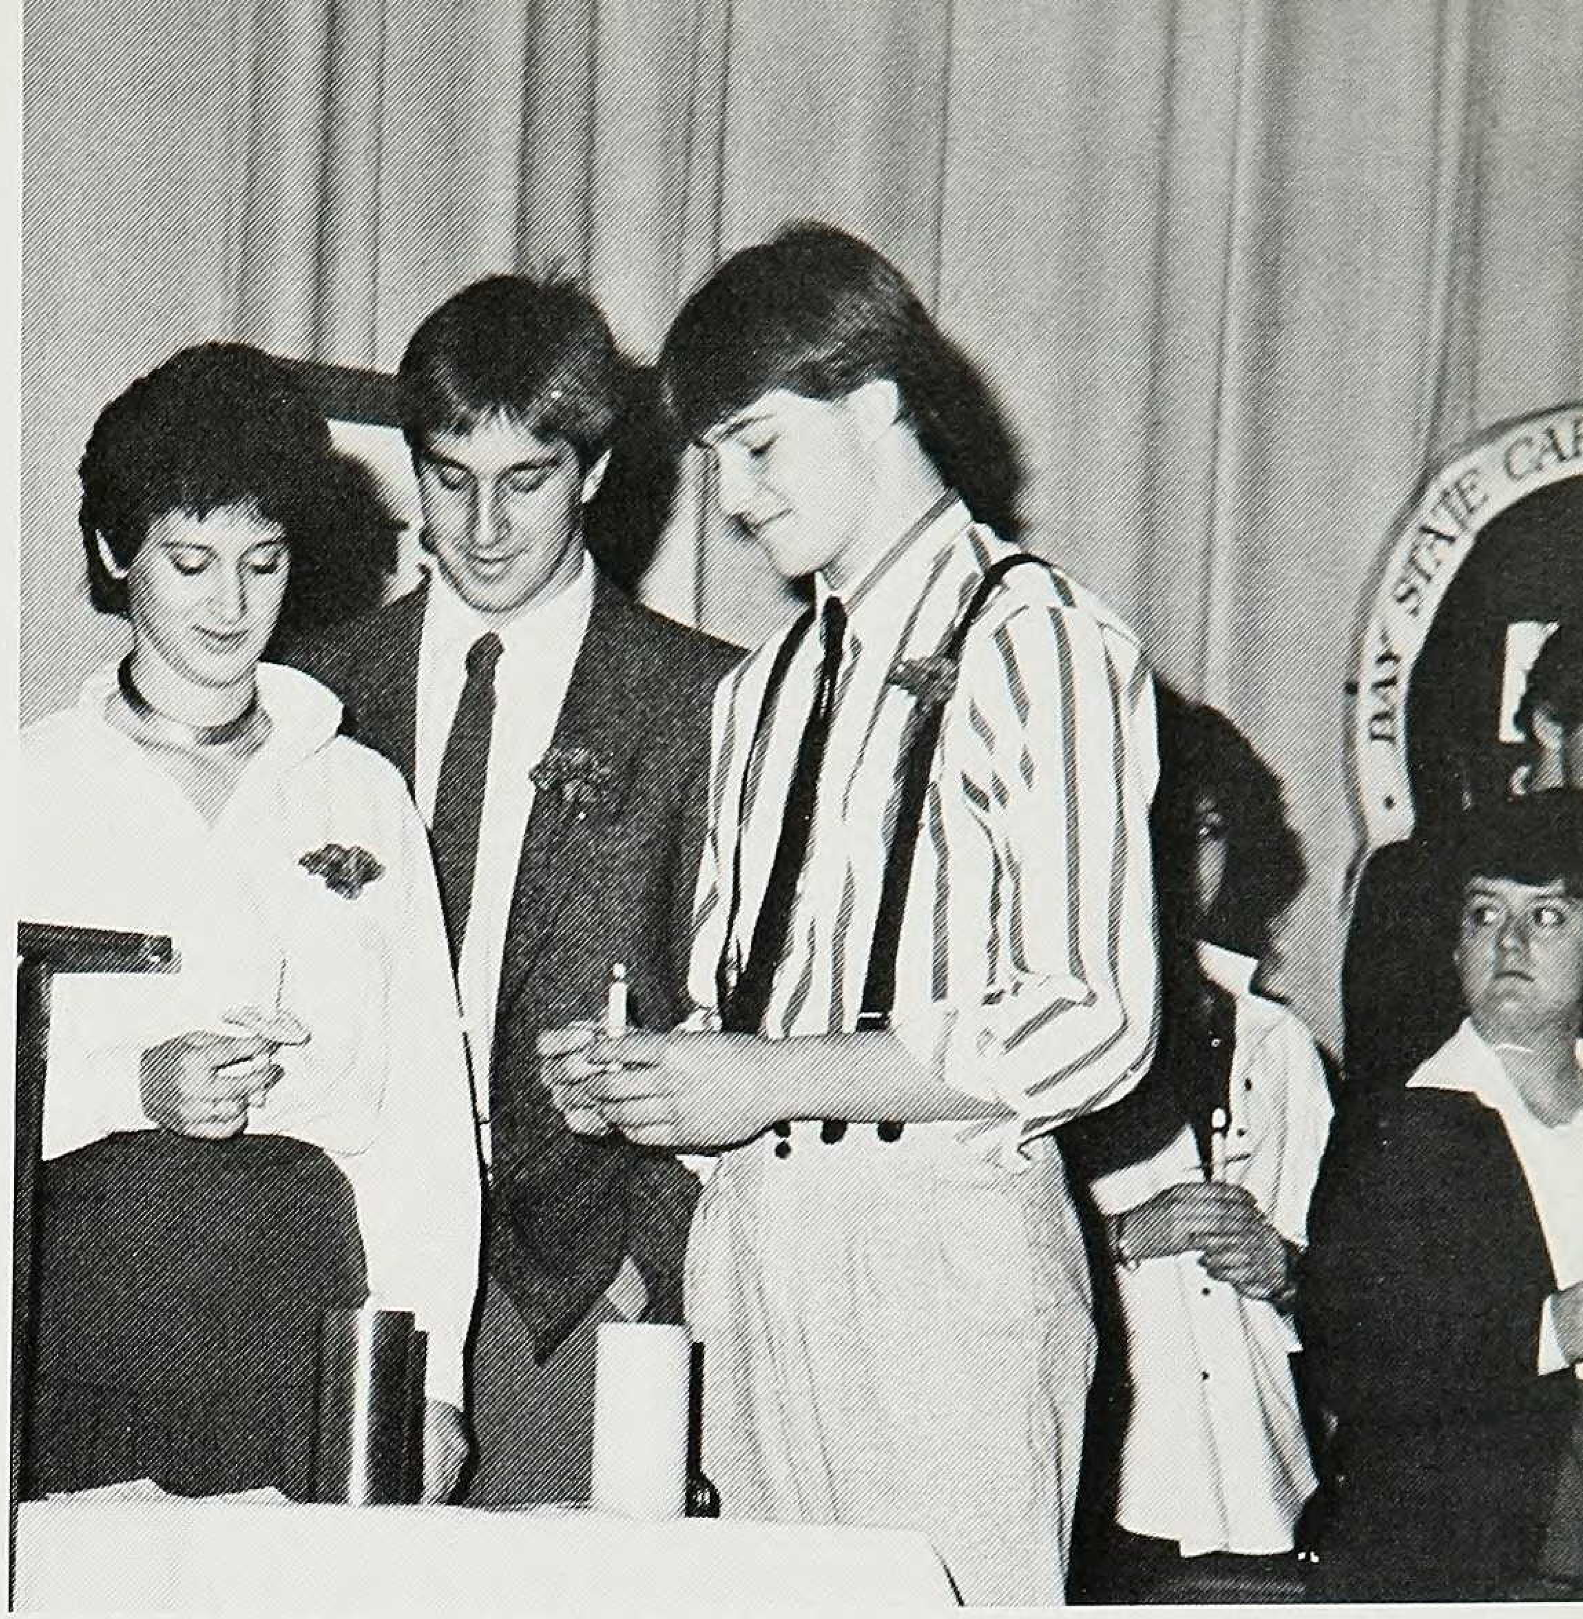

The Bay State Career Association is a "club within a classroom." As members,they become more aware of their career, social, leadership and civic responsibilities. At the beginning of the program year, they are initiated into the Bay State Career Association with a formal ceremony.

They end the year with their accumulated efforts being tested and rewarded at a Career Development Conference at Chez Josef in Agawam.

Six To Victory

30 To Win

The Math League consists of a classic group of students who represent each of the four grade levels. The club meets six times during the school year to participate in a half hour, six question examination. Although the tests are at an advanced level, they are designed so that any student with a clear understanding of mathematics has the ability to correctly complete the exam. The tests are proctored by the advisor, Miss Murphy. The sum of the top six scores from each test are then entered in competition with other schools in New England. Pittsfield High School often wins this annual competition.

Quiz Team Retires Trophy

The PHS Quiz team, under the leadership of Mr. Carty, had a classic year in both the county meets and on television. WRGB's Answers Please was the scene of three dominations by the PHS team, which consisted of Captain Rob Gaucher, Jim Brennan, Jeanna Mastrodicasa, and Becky Lee. They retired the trophy and, due to their excellent performance, qualified for the finals in June. The team's only defeat was on WWLP's As Schools Match Wits, where the team, made up of Rob Gaucher, Jim Brennan, Noah Elkin, and Andy Grimshaw narrowly missed a victory. In the county meets, very few losses were suffered, and PHS won the championship.

SADD Awakening

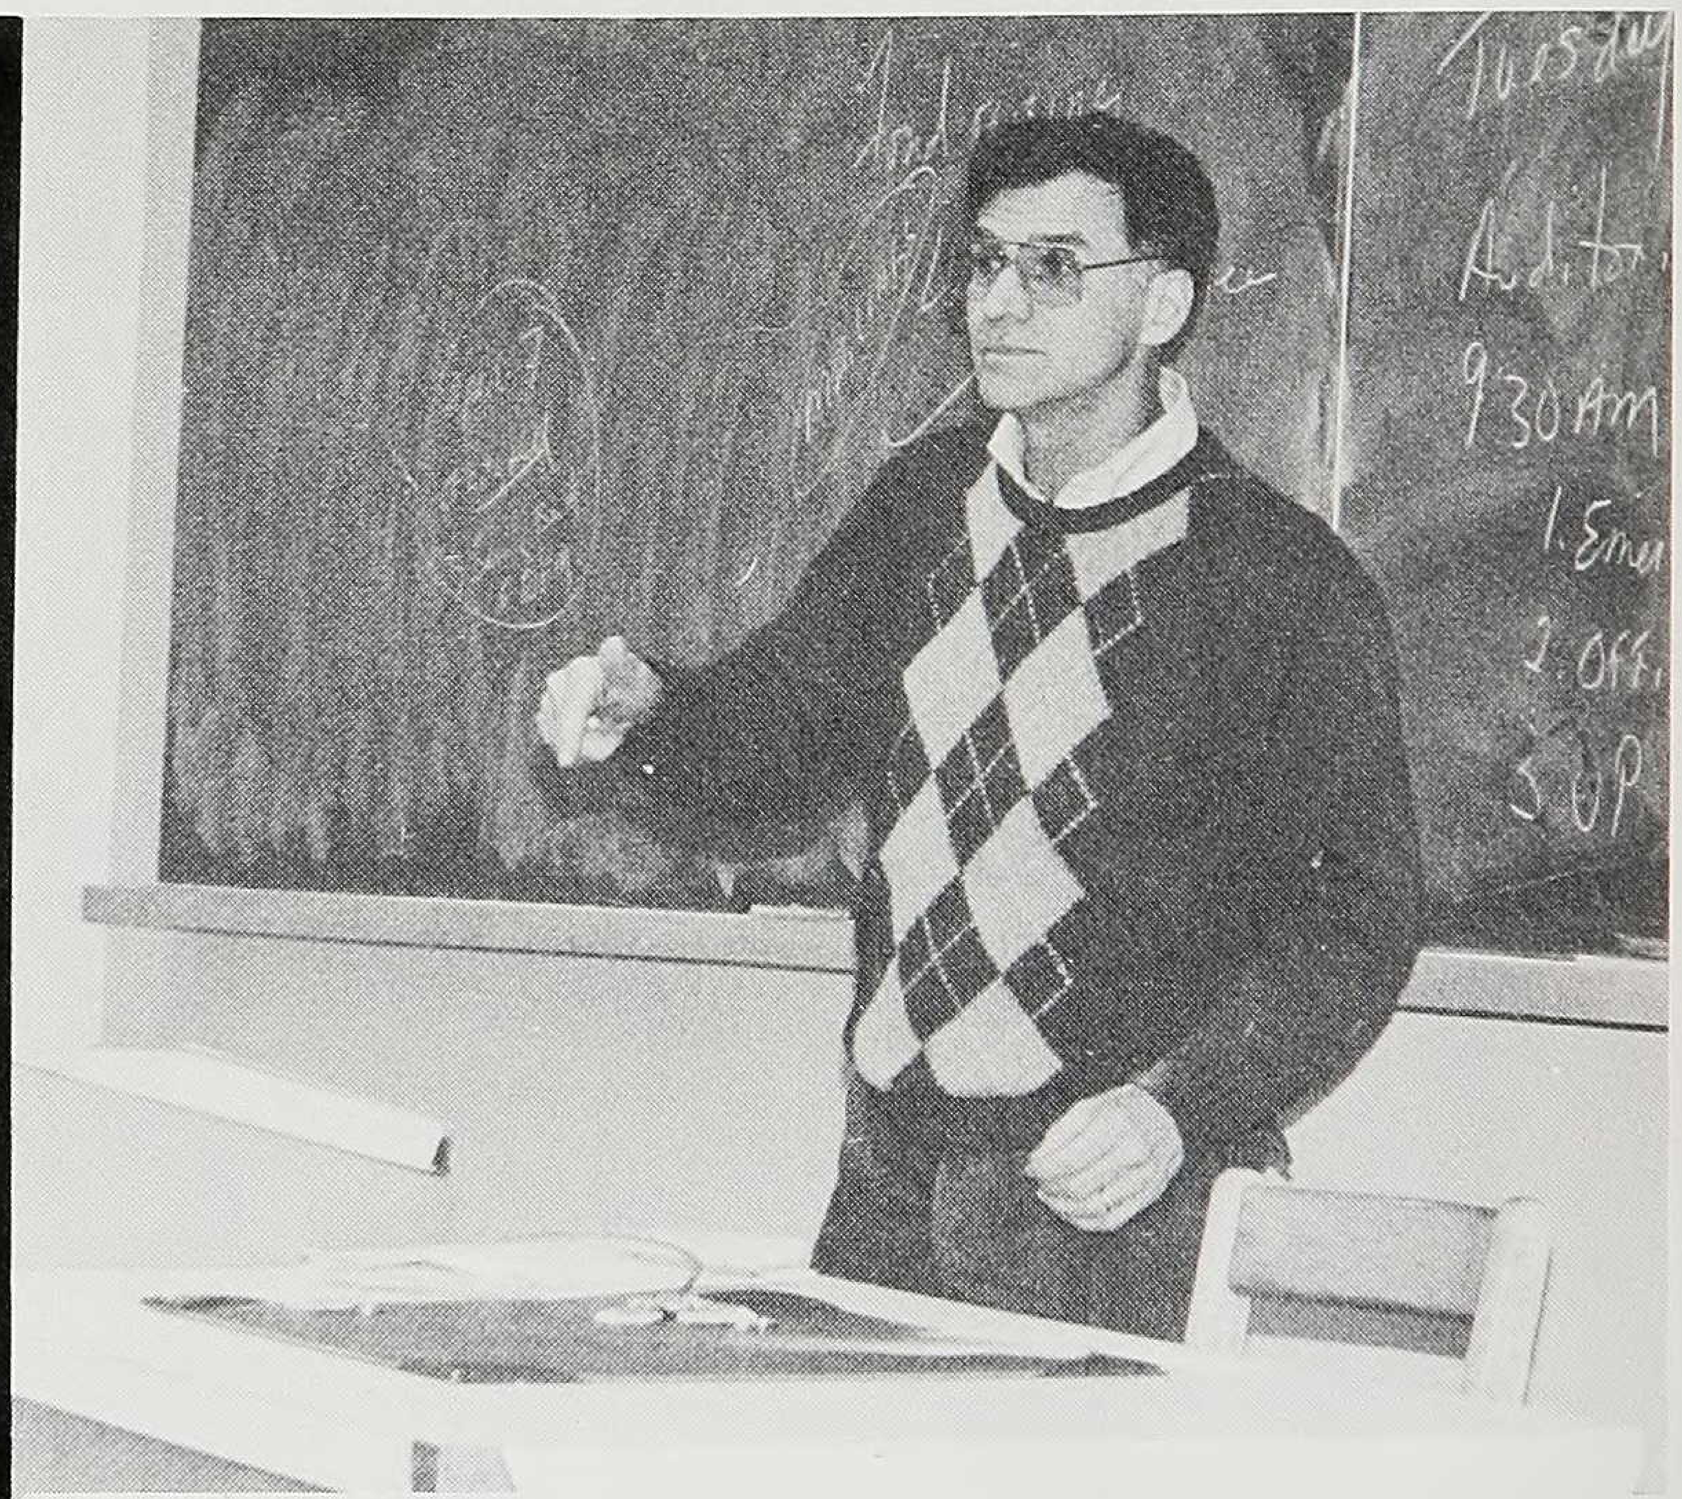

Public's Eyes Opened

SADD, an organization that expresses its cause through alcohol awareness and peer council programs, was created to alert high school students of the dangers of drinking and driving.

The chapter at Pittsfield High School has brought attention to their program by issuing their well-known "Contract For Life," and key chains bearing the solemn fact that "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk."

SADD is also responsible for organizing the Prom Awareness Day on May 26, devised to make upperclassmen think twice about using and abusing drugs and alcohol during the Classic Senior Week, a time when celebrations are abundant.

They spread their message by exhibiting a car at Park Square, which had been involved in an alcohol-related crash, a jolt to the minds of young people in our community, hopefully preventing a tragic end to a happy week. Trite but true, "Gasoline and alcohol do not mix."

Mr. Pellerin makes his point clear.

Students in S.I.D.E. are also involved in after-school activities.

Peer Counsel to cope.

Shane Emerson, Tom Doyle, and Heidi Brahmer review new information.

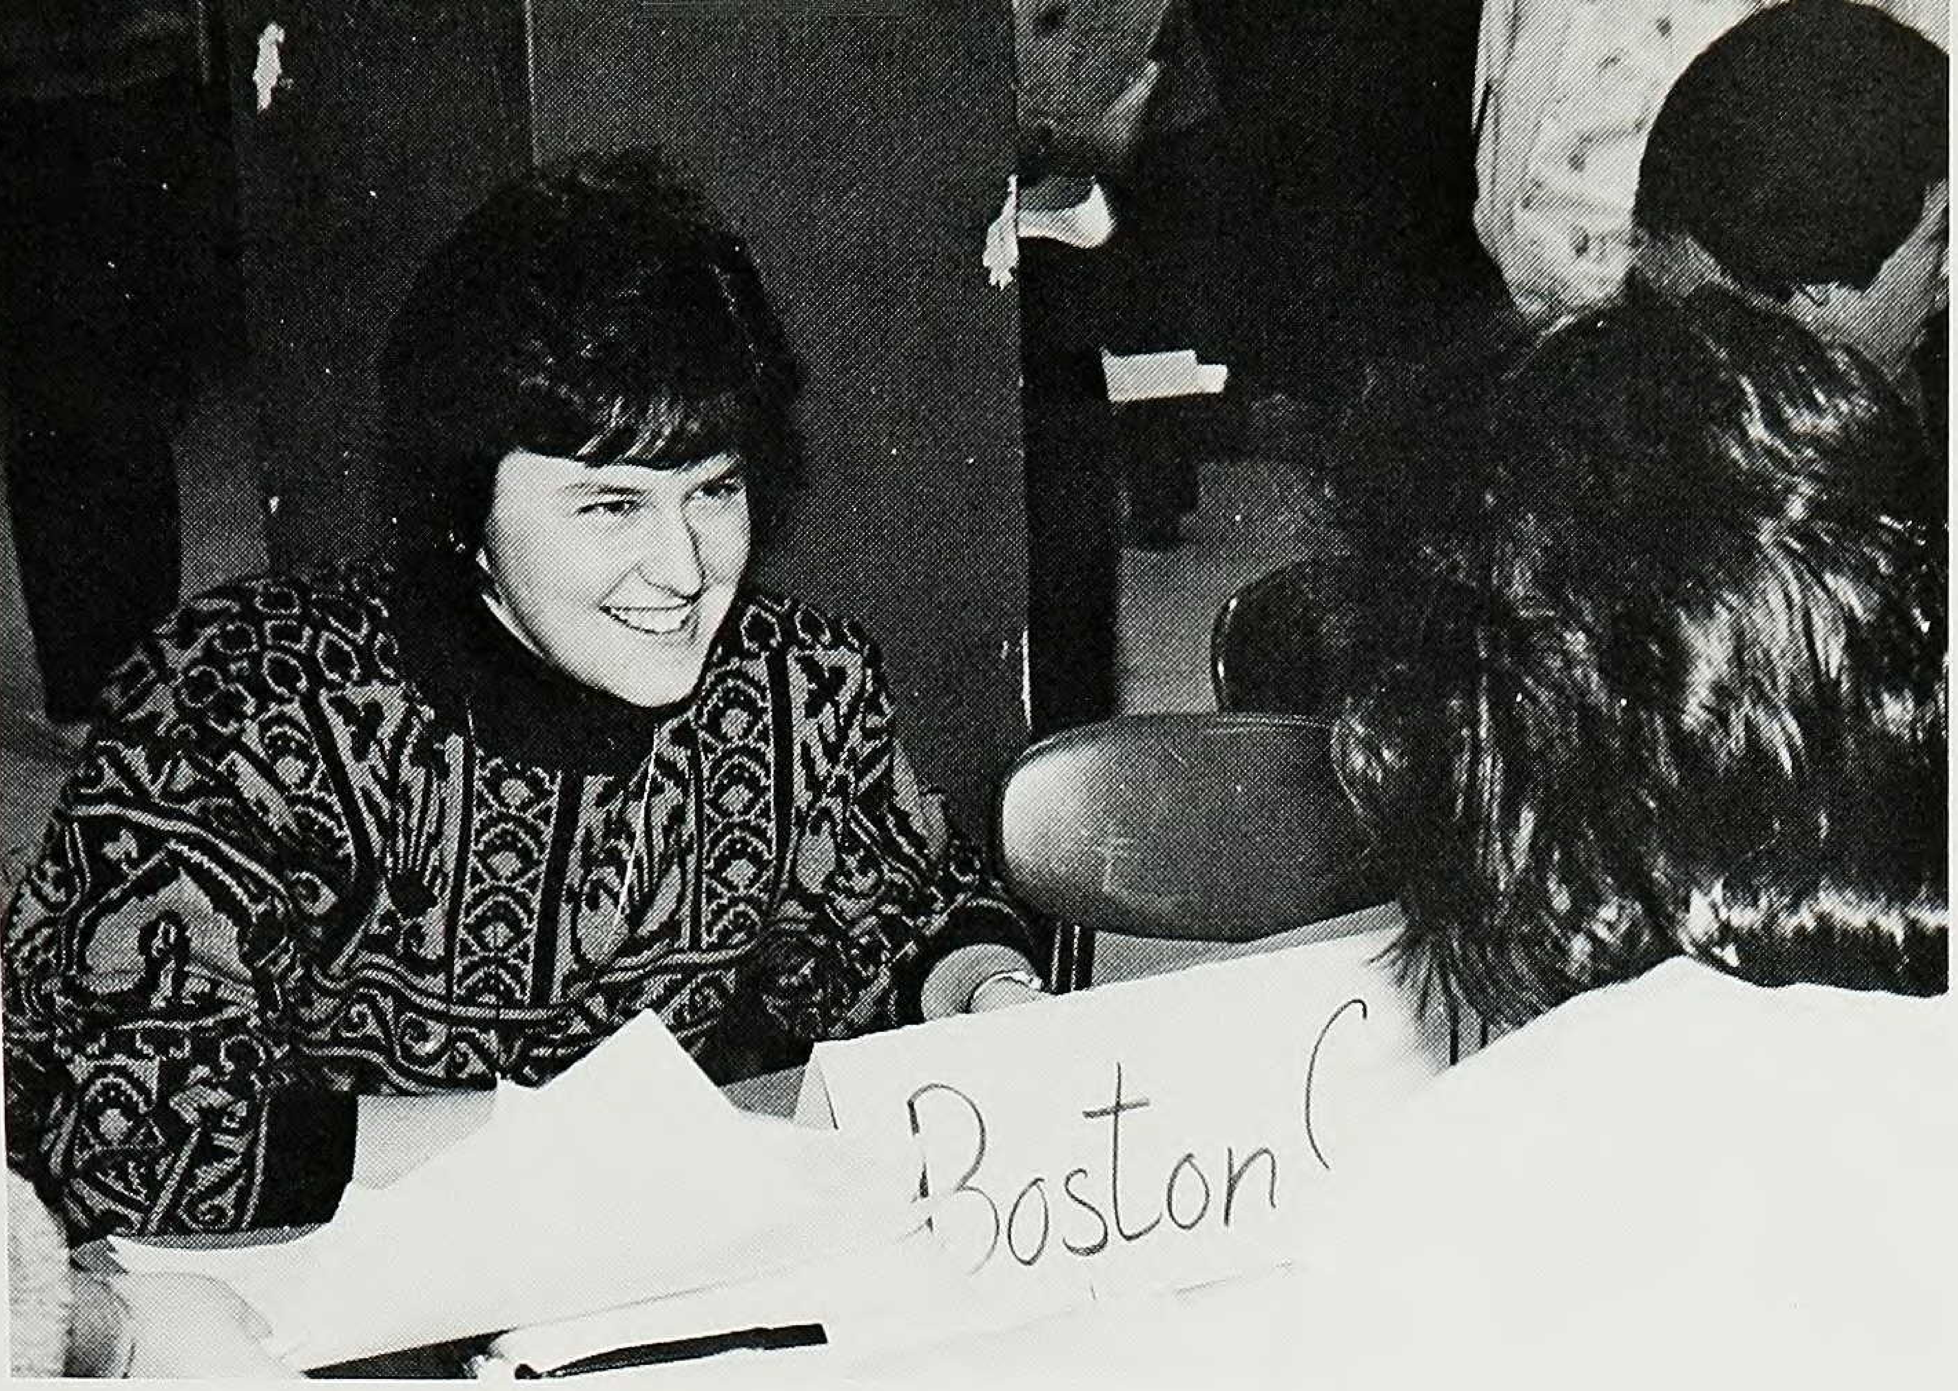

New Team on Scene

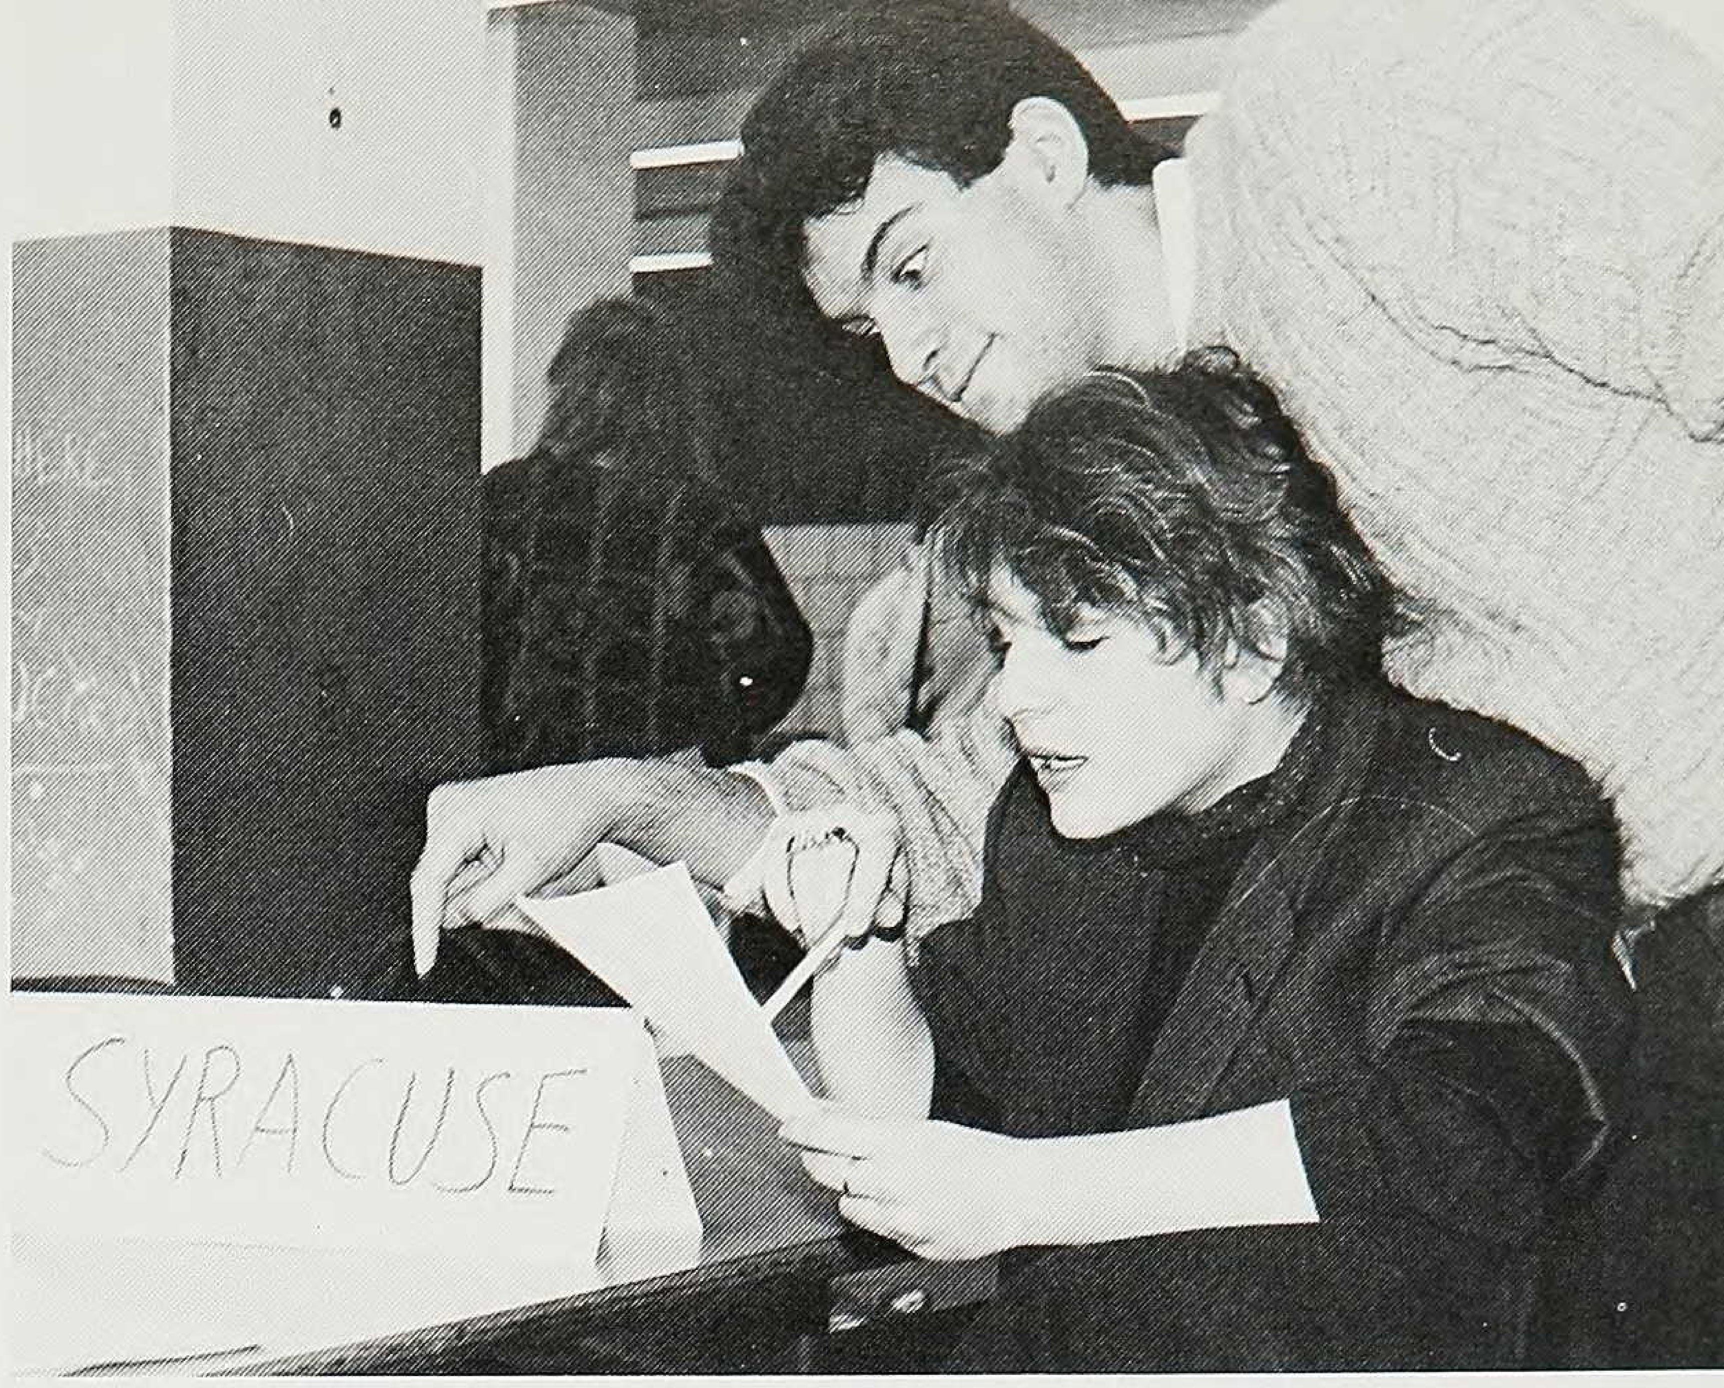

The Peer Resource Team is a classy new program this year at the High School. The program utilizes a select group of students to counsel other students that might need help coping with their problems.

The training for the program is very intense. It consists of four days of training at the University of Massachusetts and fifty hours of training at P.H.S., by noted professionals in the counseling field. The peer counselors are trained to handle many different problems that may occur, such as problems with family, friends and drug and alcohol abuse.

There are many problems that come about, and if the peer counselors are faced with a problem they feel uncomfortable dealing with, the many advisors are always willing to help.

The Peer Resource Team works with other programs, especially S.A.D.D. and S.I.D.E. The team has helped out with many problems and is definitely an asset to the school.

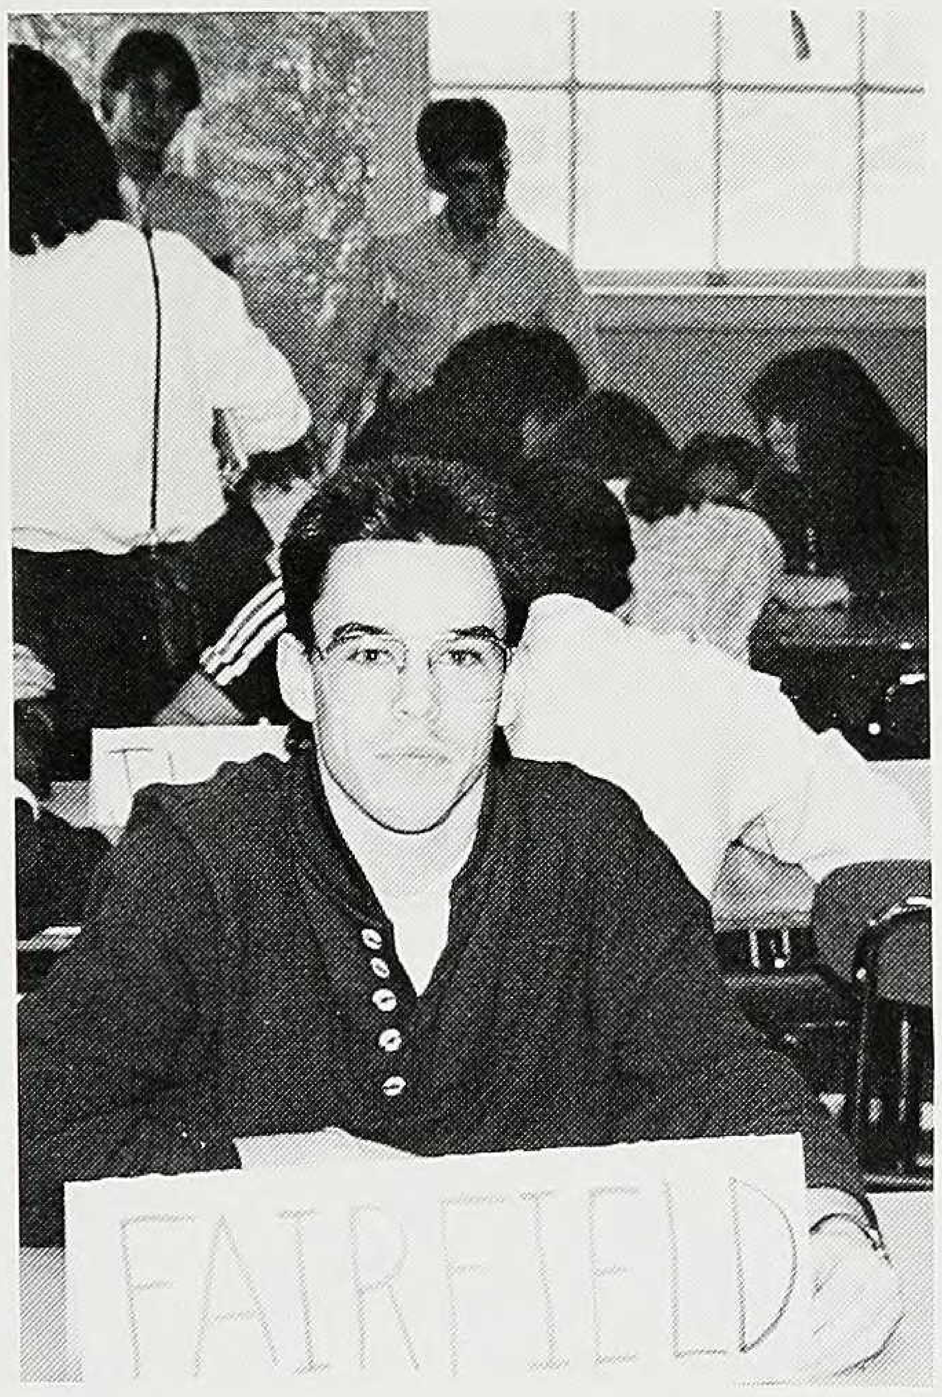

The Classic Comeback

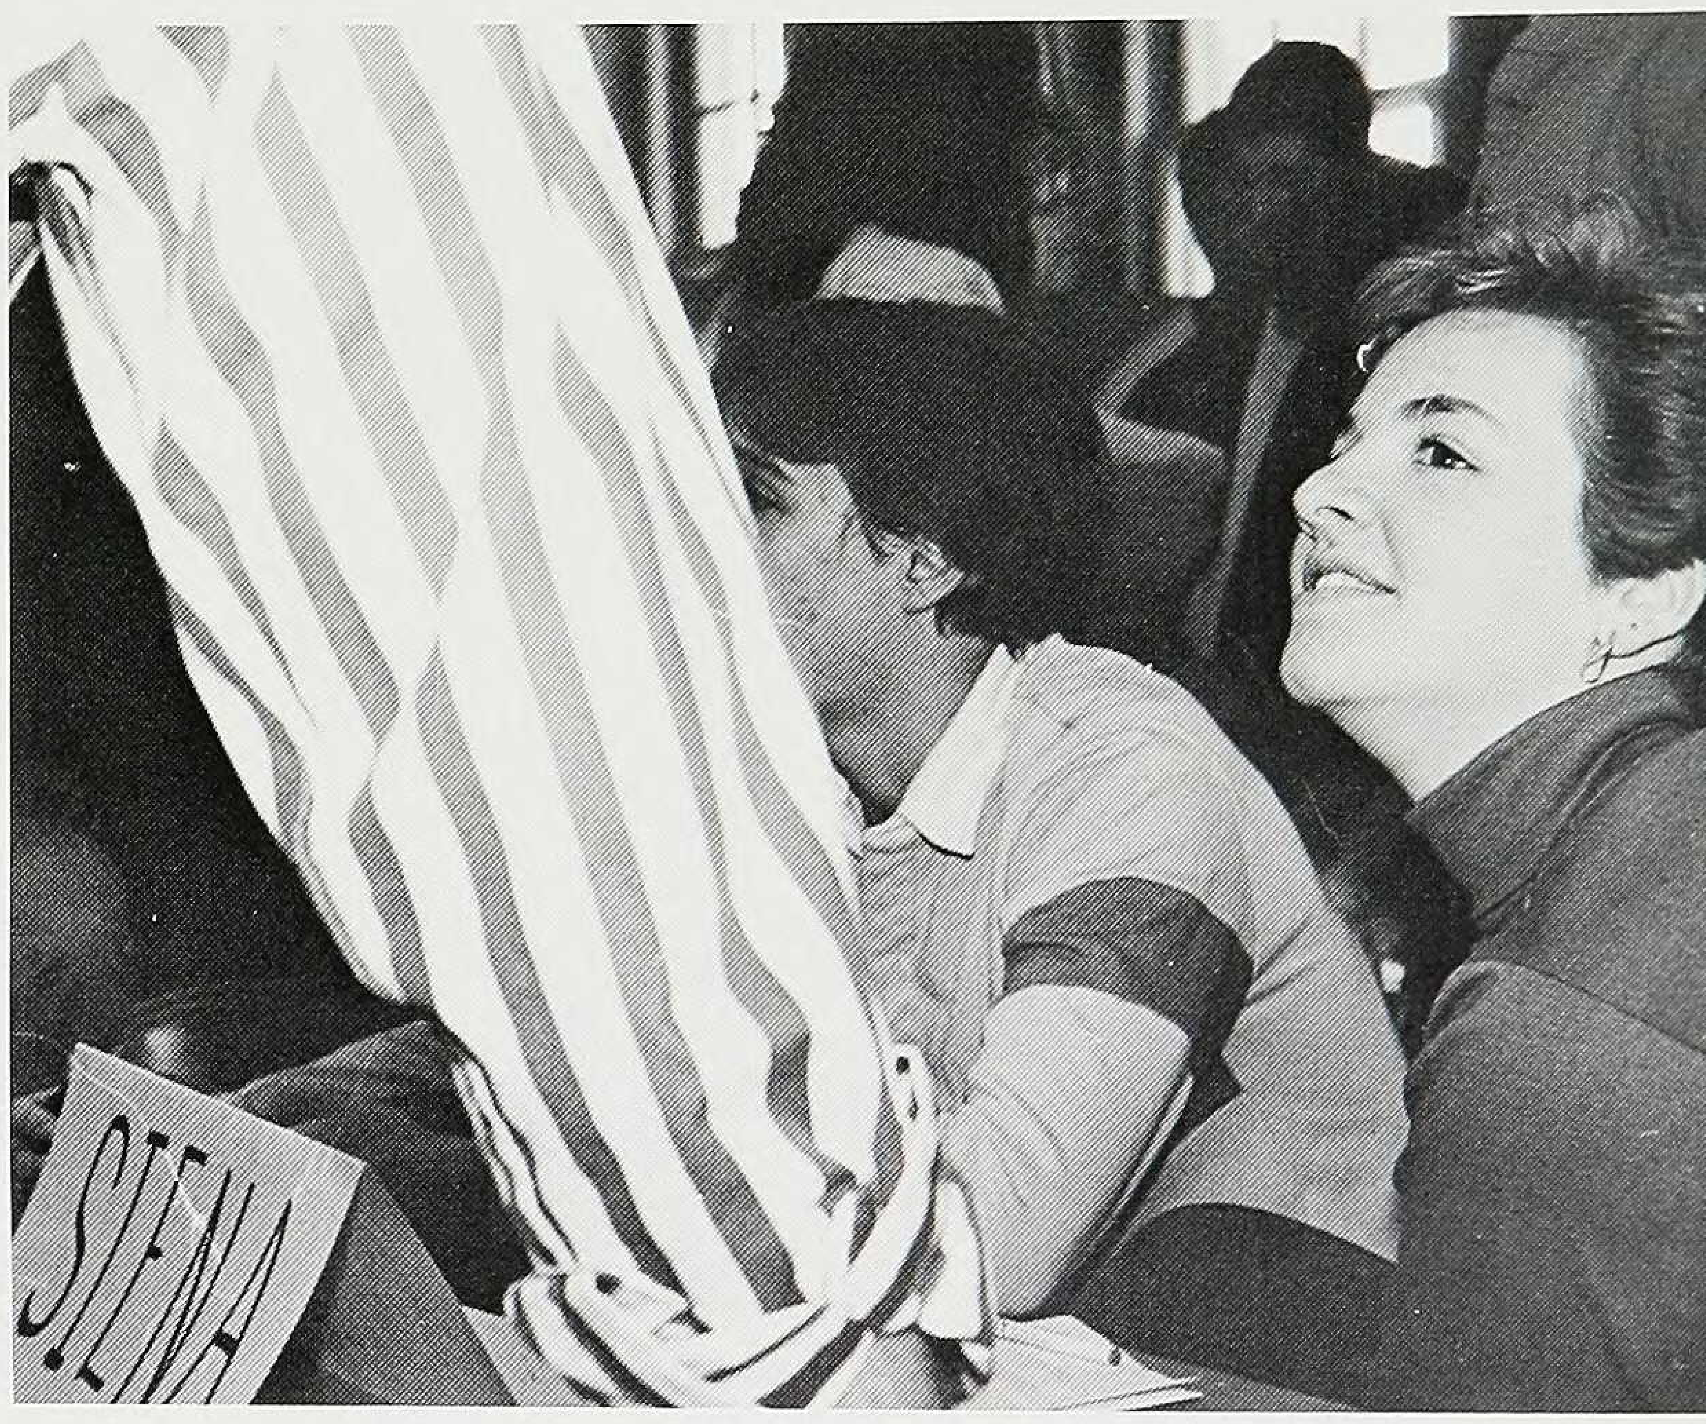

Recent grads return to share the wealth

The Returning Graduate Program, a P.H.S. tradition since 1976, invites recent graduates to share their college experiences with interested Juniors and Seniors.

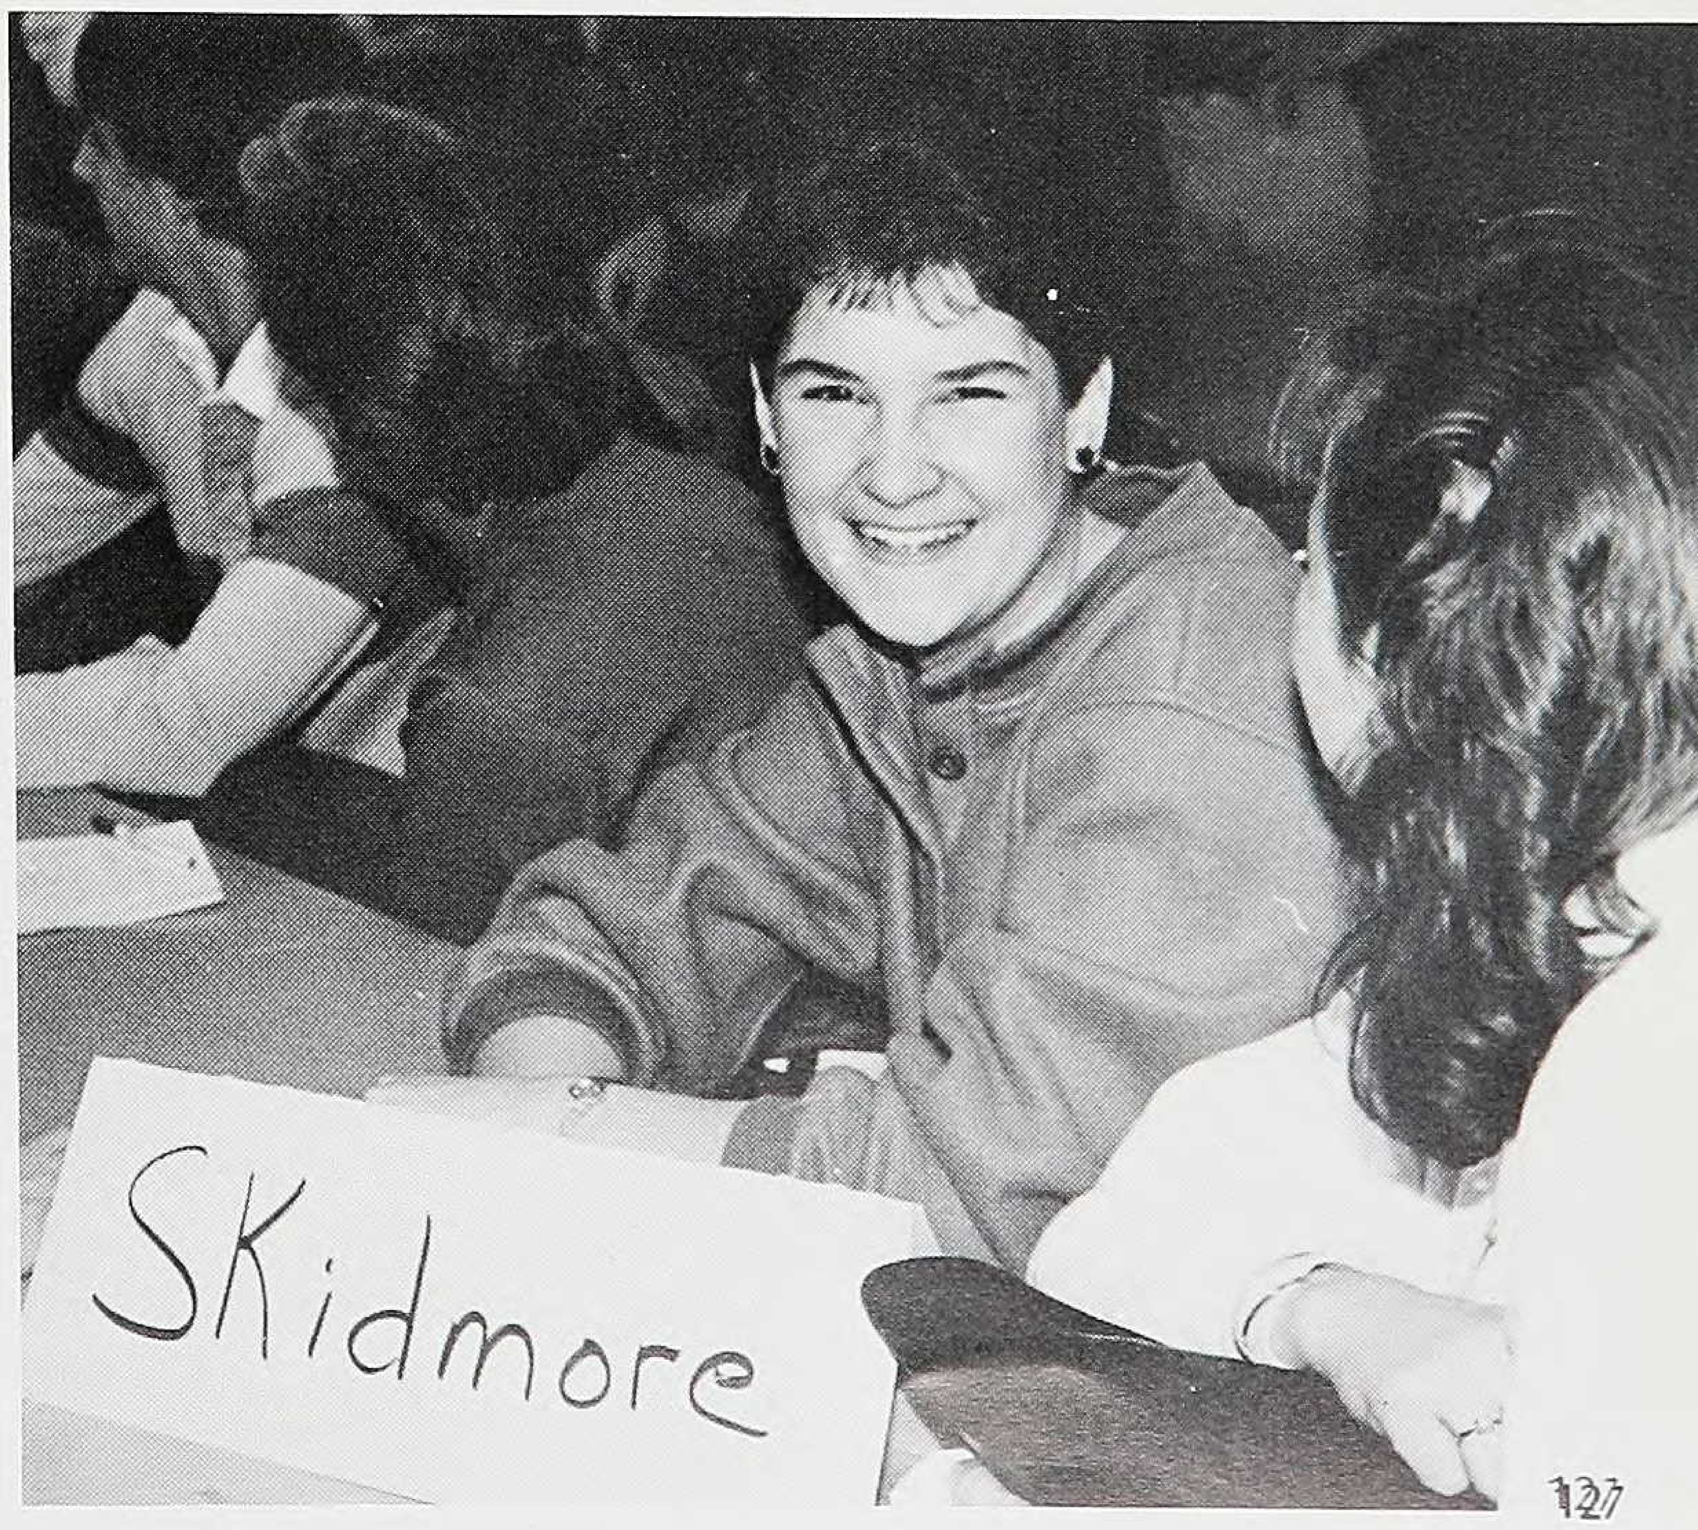

On January 8, we had 30 schools represented by 40 grads. Over 200 upperclassmen attended the 7th period program. The vast majority of graduates enjoy returning to P.H.S. to share their college experiences and renew friendships.

The Guidance Department feels that this tradition should continue, as it presents a student's view of college life, rounding out the usual information found in college catalogues. The grads generally agree that they are well-prepared, and compete well with other students nationwide.

In League With Computers

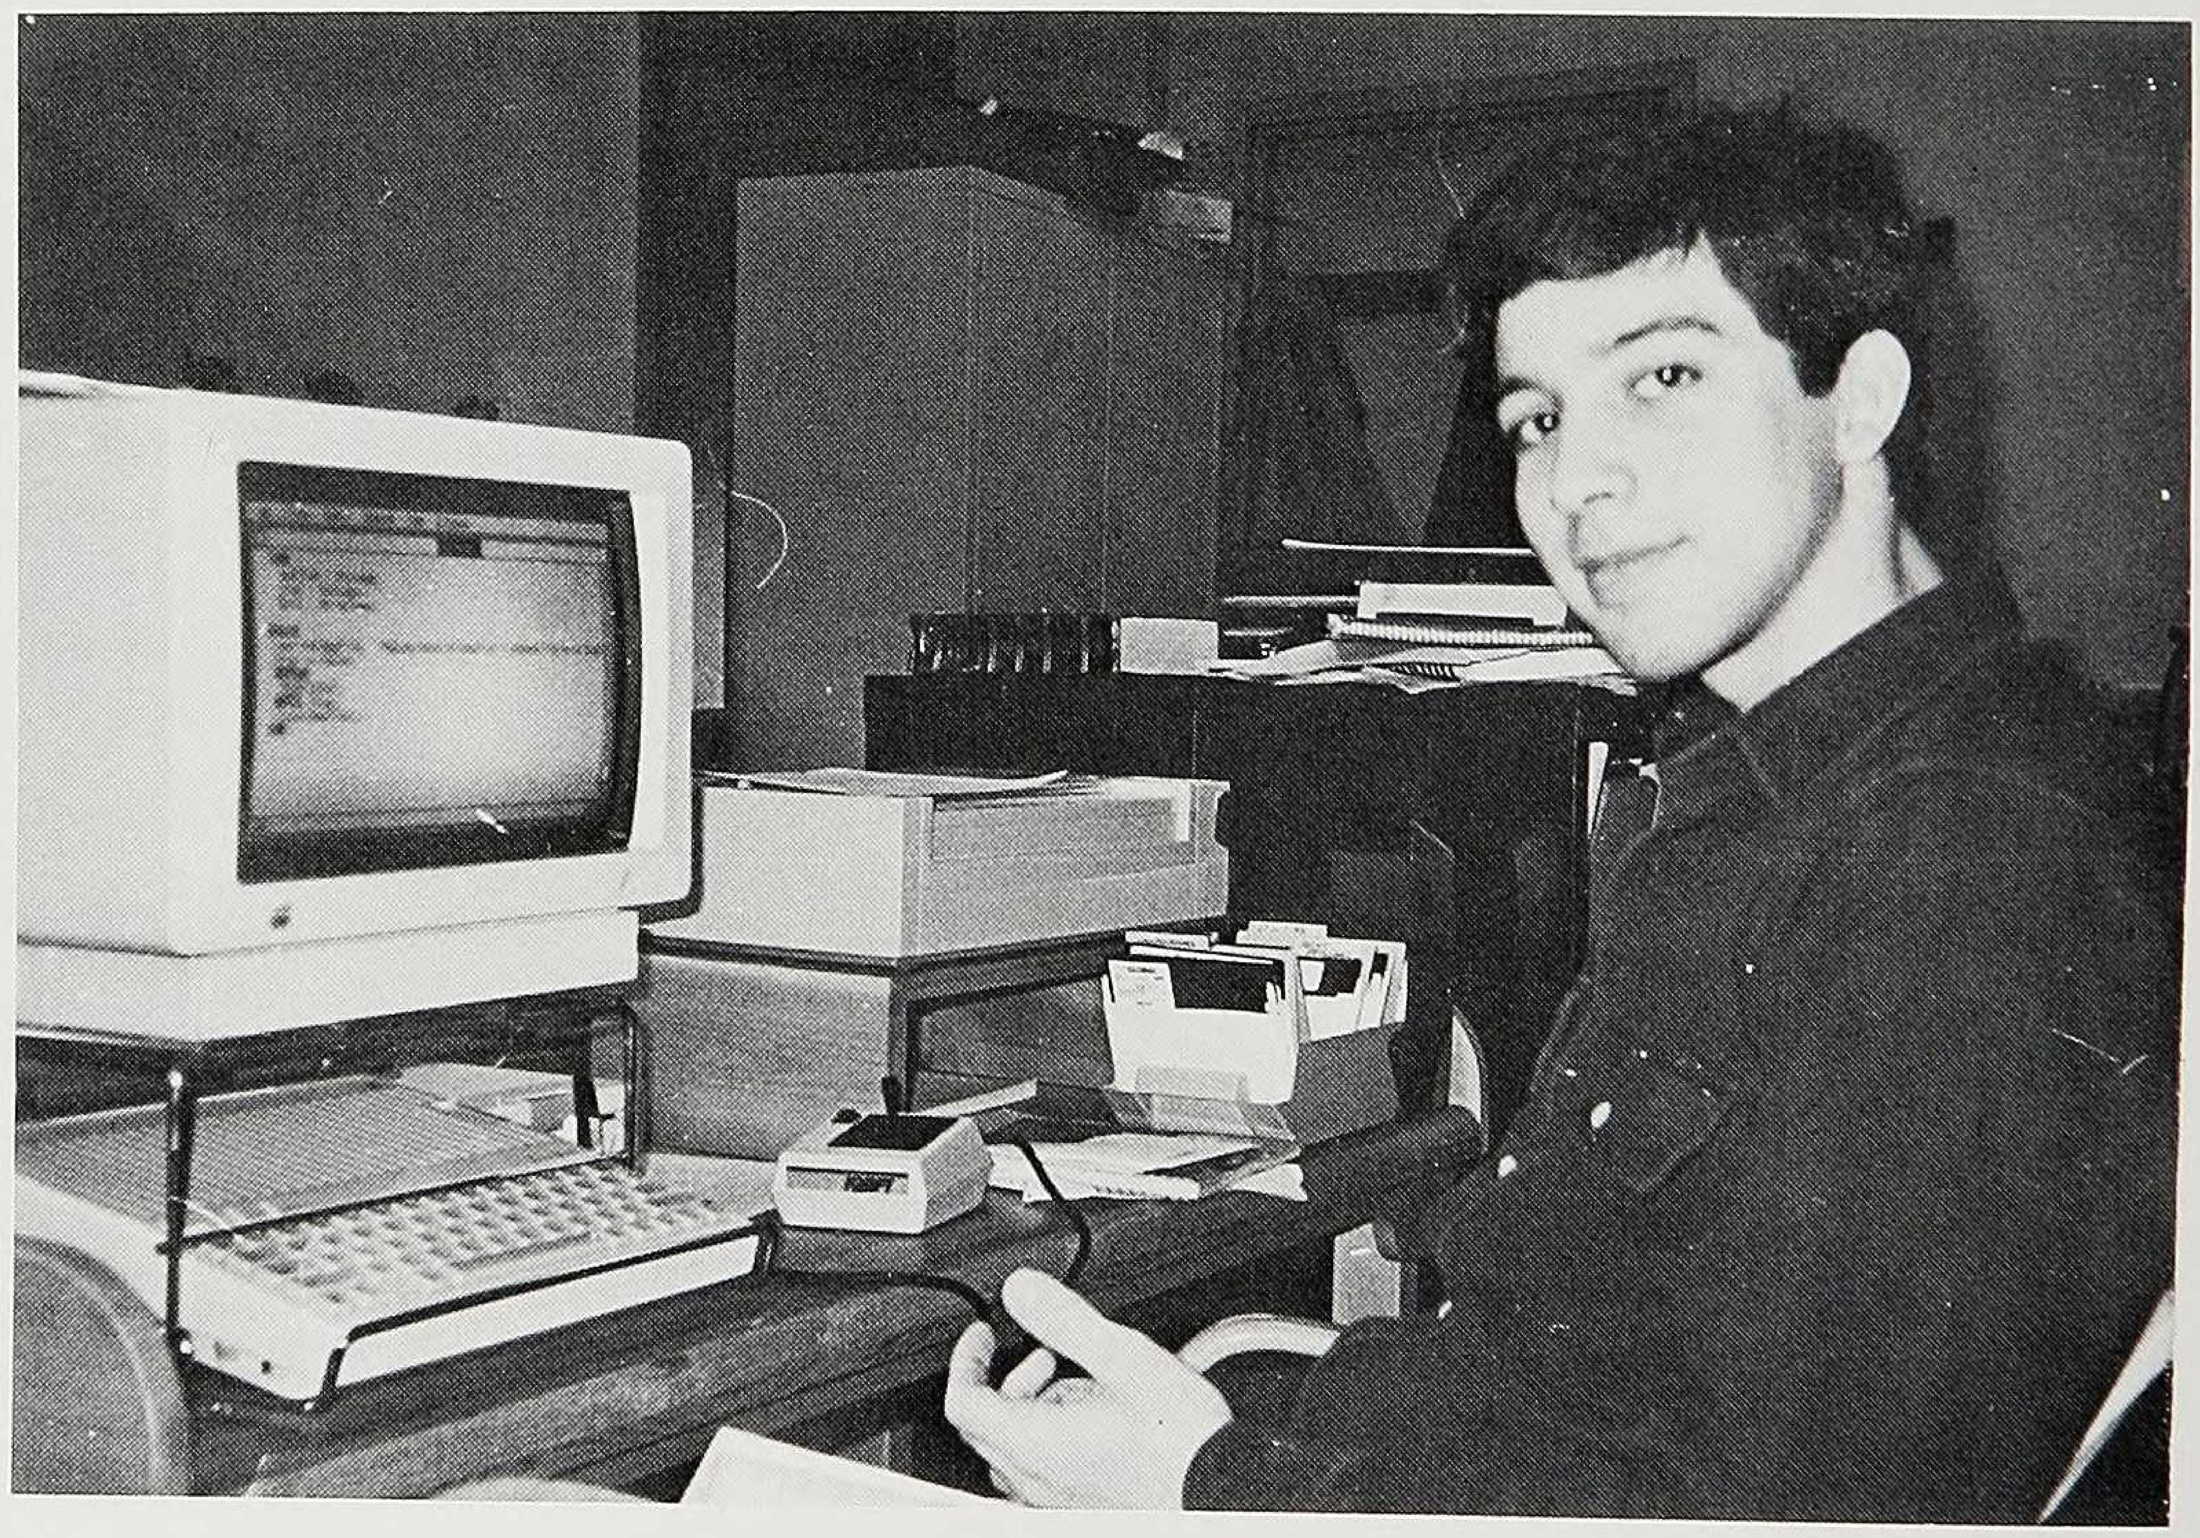

Another classic first occured when we joined the American Computer Science League, a league whose purpose is to foster and advance the study of topics related to computer programming. Throughout the year, members of our Computer League are entitled to participate in four contests administered by advisor Mr. Biggs.

An important criterian that the contestants must fulfill is to attend study sessions where additional information not covered in regular computer classes is discussed. Mr. Boice and Mr. DeBlois research new topics and then lead many of these sessions.

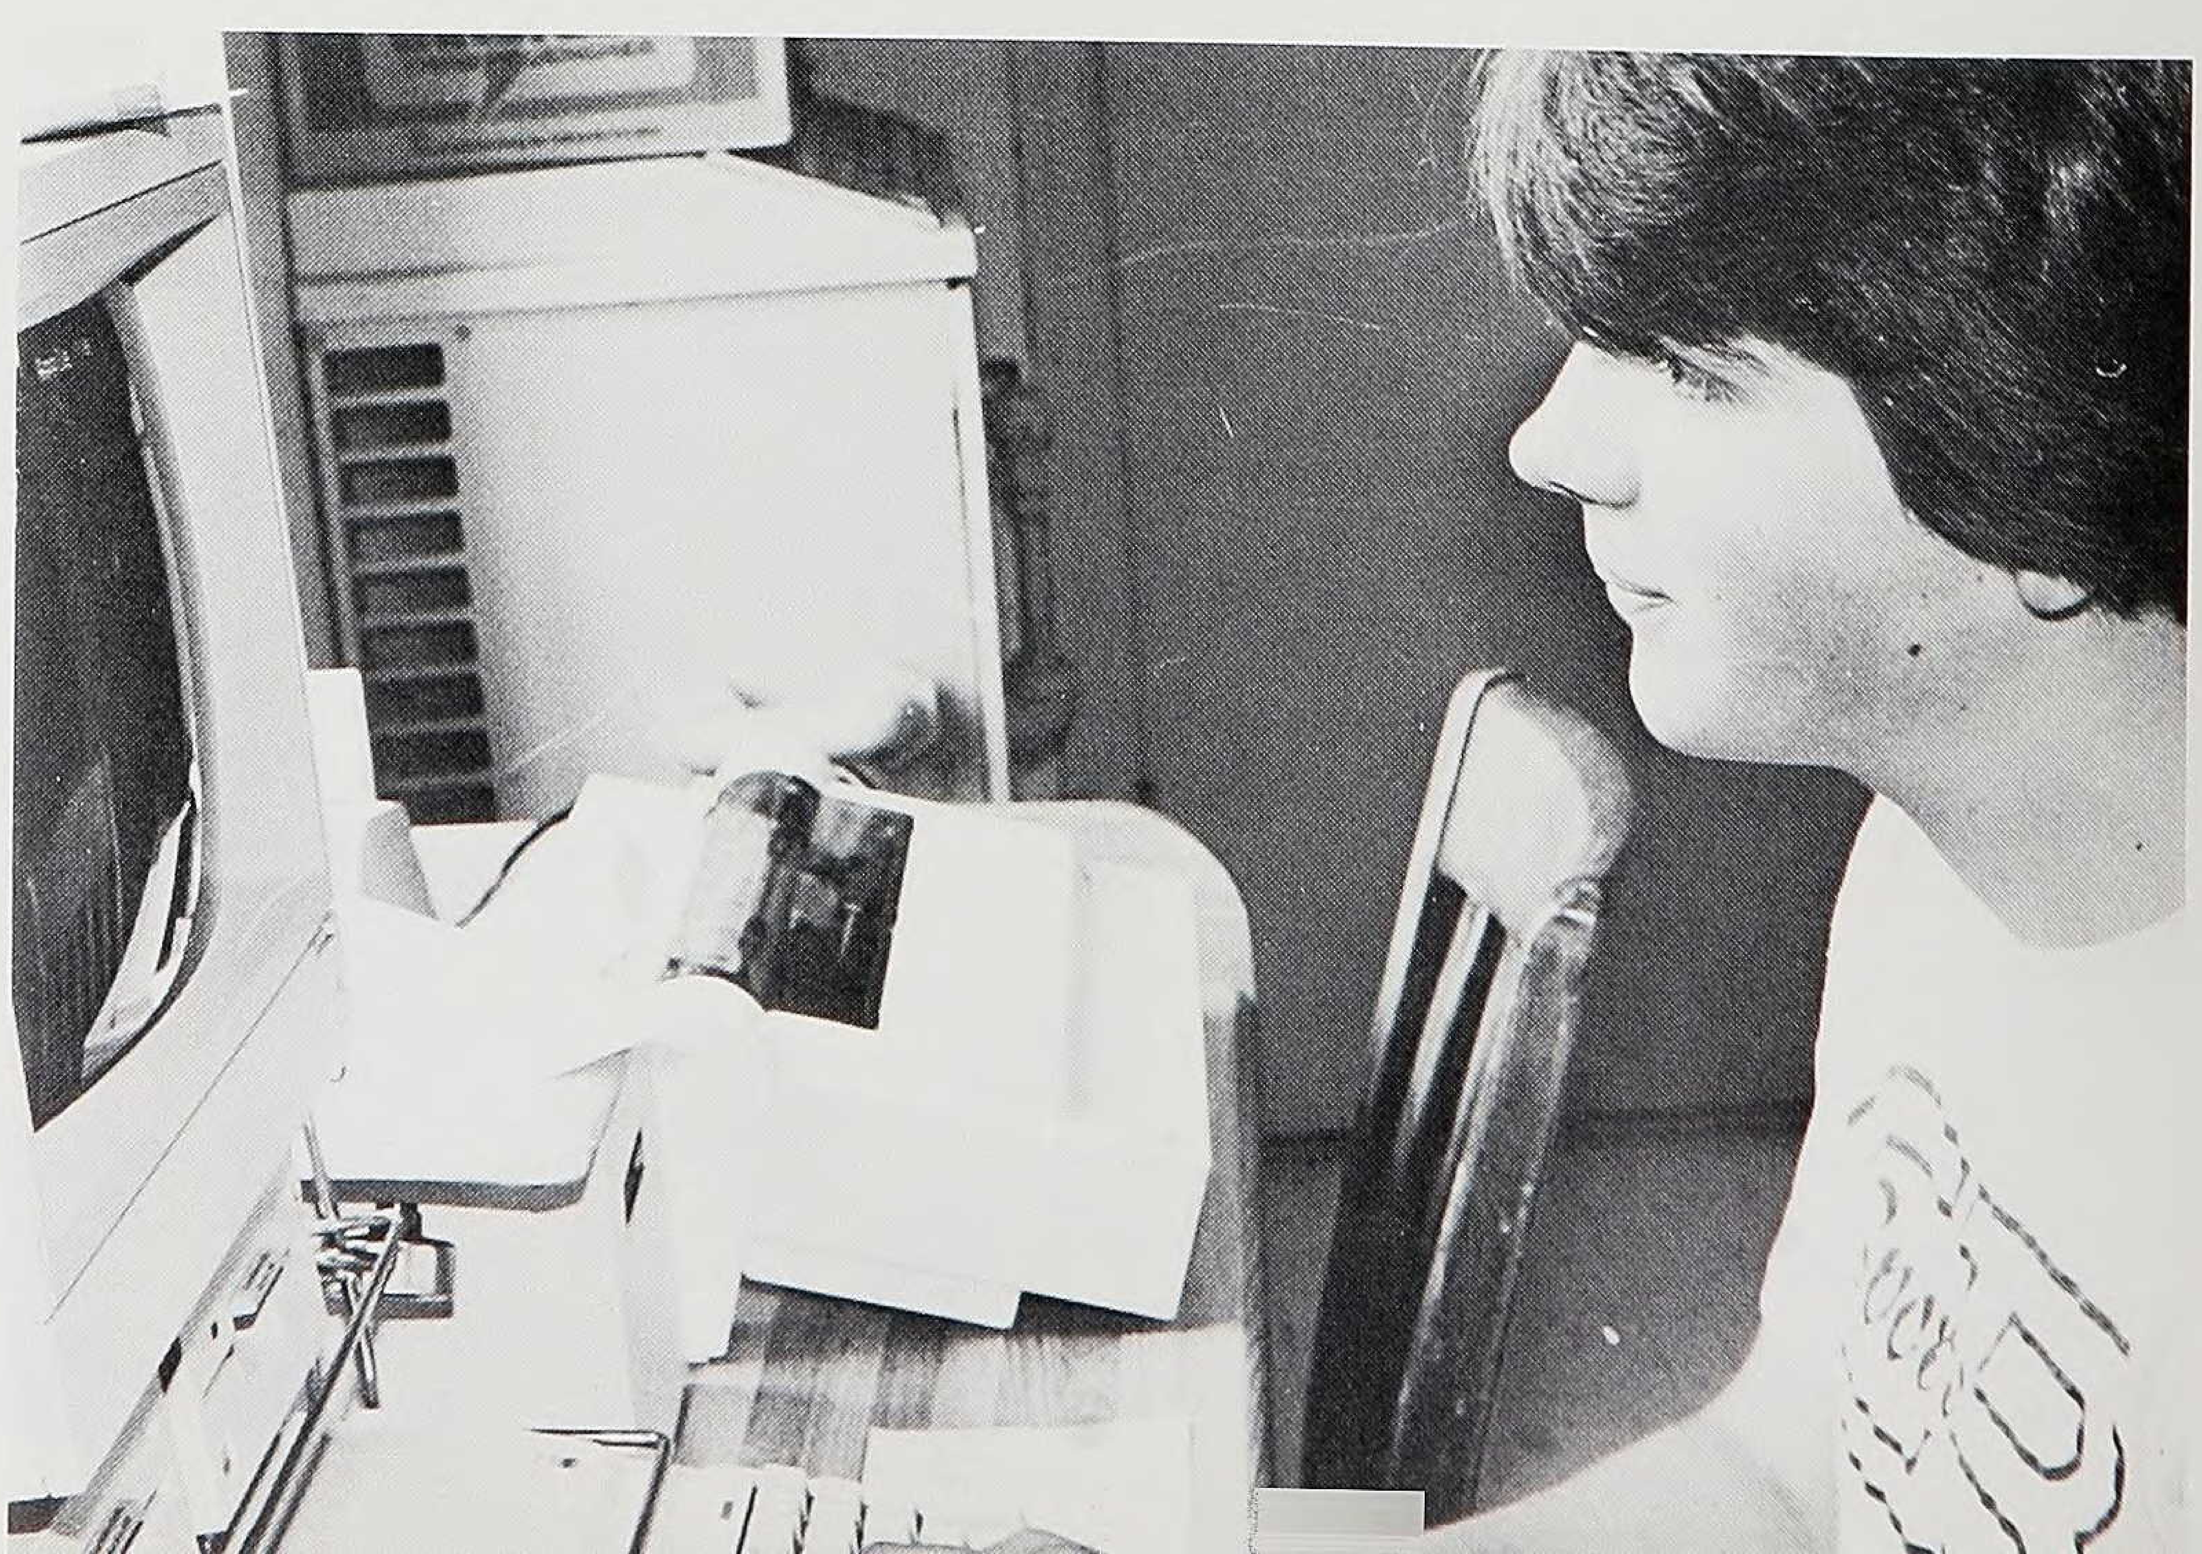

When the time for the contest comes, two tests are administered. One is a 30 minute written test covering the materials studied in the special sessions. The other is taken over a three day period in which students have 45 minutes to enter into the computer a program constructed to solve word problems. Brown Univerisity, which sponsors the League, corrects the mailed in tests, gathers nationwide data and then sends the results to the various schools.

Students Pull it Off

Losing streak broken

in Student-Faculty Hockey Game

Years of classic tradition crumbled as the students valiantly triumphed over the faculty 12-11 in the annual hockey extravaganza staged at the Boys' Club rink. Netkeeper Bill DeSantis' extraordinary effort paid off with 15 saves against an untold number of shots on goal. Outstanding scorers for the students were Ray LeBeau, Sue Dahrouge and Rob Maloney. Mike Tierney received the "Figure Skaters' Award" at the end of the game for his ability to skate on his blades as well as his ankles. For the faculty, Matt Rutledge received a ten minute "illegal move" penalty, as invented by referees Ken Fry and Jeff Quadrozzi. Faculty member Lizotte burned up the ice by scoring a hat trick.

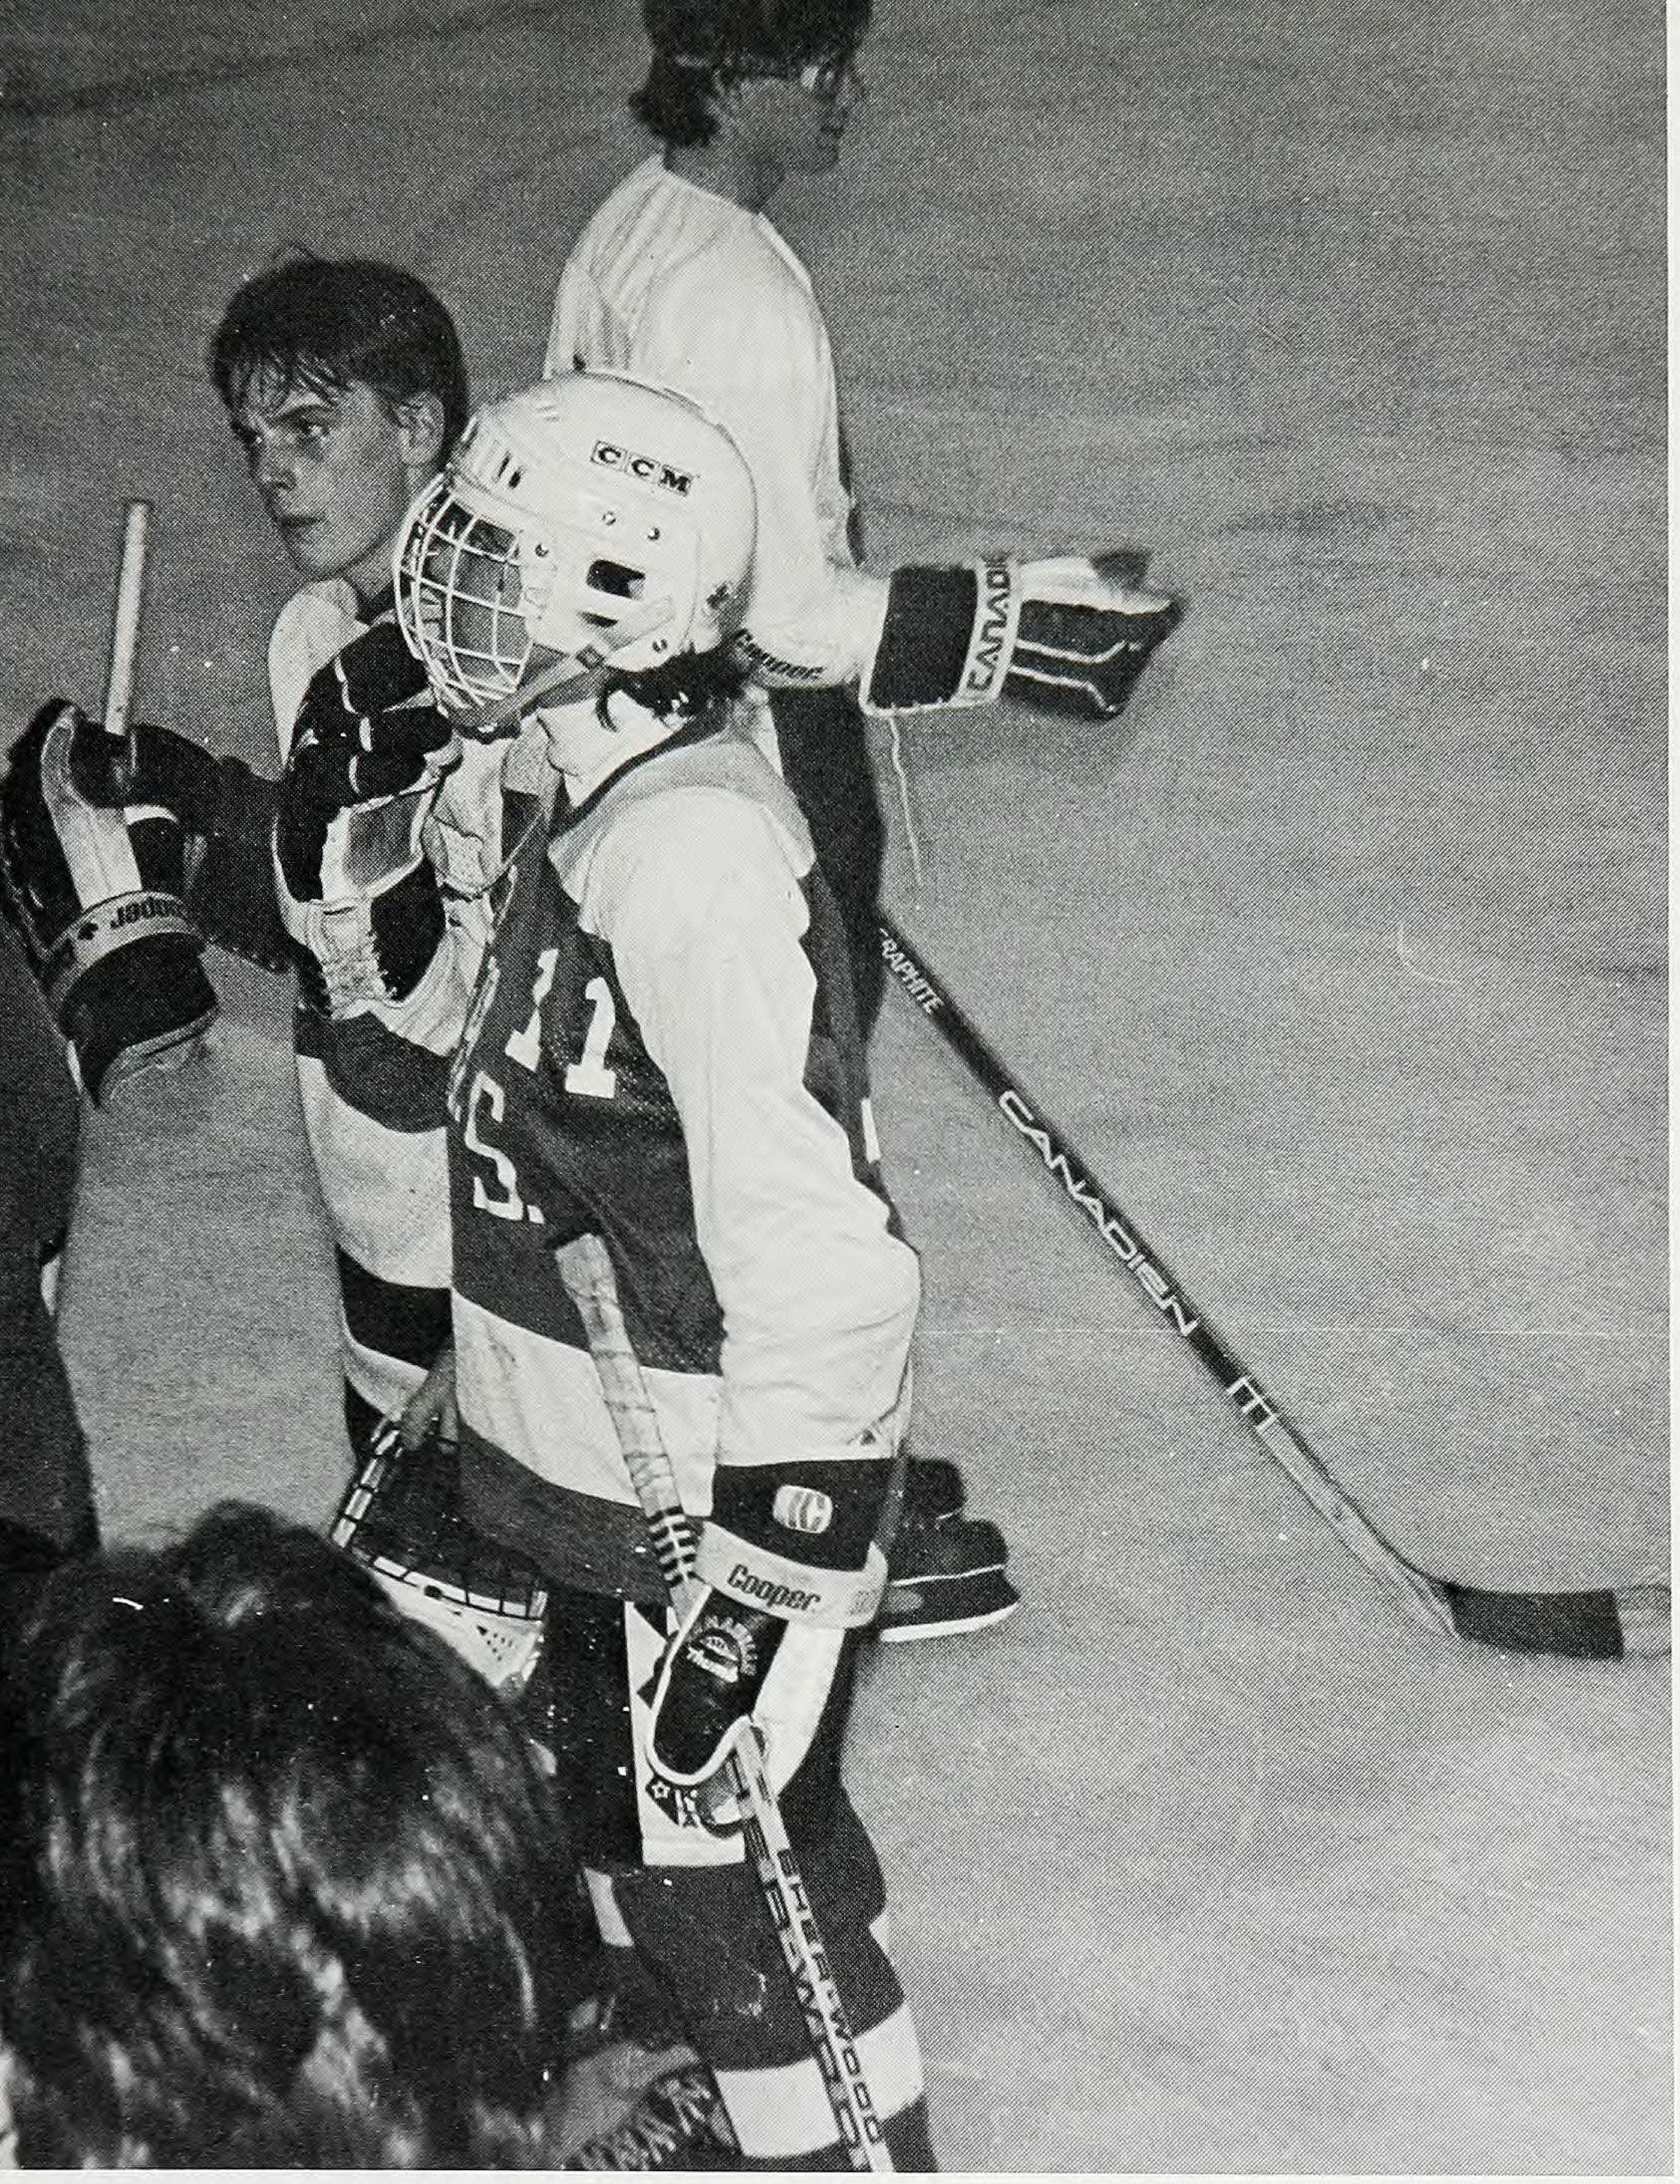

Defeated but not discouraged, the teachers returned to more erudite matters until next season when they will rally round the goal once more to help raise funds for students' scholarships.

Faculty Triumphs

Age Brings Experience

In April, the traditional confrontation between the students and the faculty took place on the basketball court in the Frank J. Moynihan Fieldhouse. Sponsored by the student council and organized by both Steve Decker and Matt Peplowski, the contest raised five-hundred dollars in proceeds that benefitted the scholarship fund. Student coaches Keye McCusker, Andy Mickle, Sue LaPierre and Bob Belford led their team in a valiant effort to defeat the faculty. The score still remains a mystery, but it is rumored that the teachers managed to squeak by with a come-from-behind victory. Advice to underclassmen: Seek a competent score keeper.

Gymnasts Come Alive

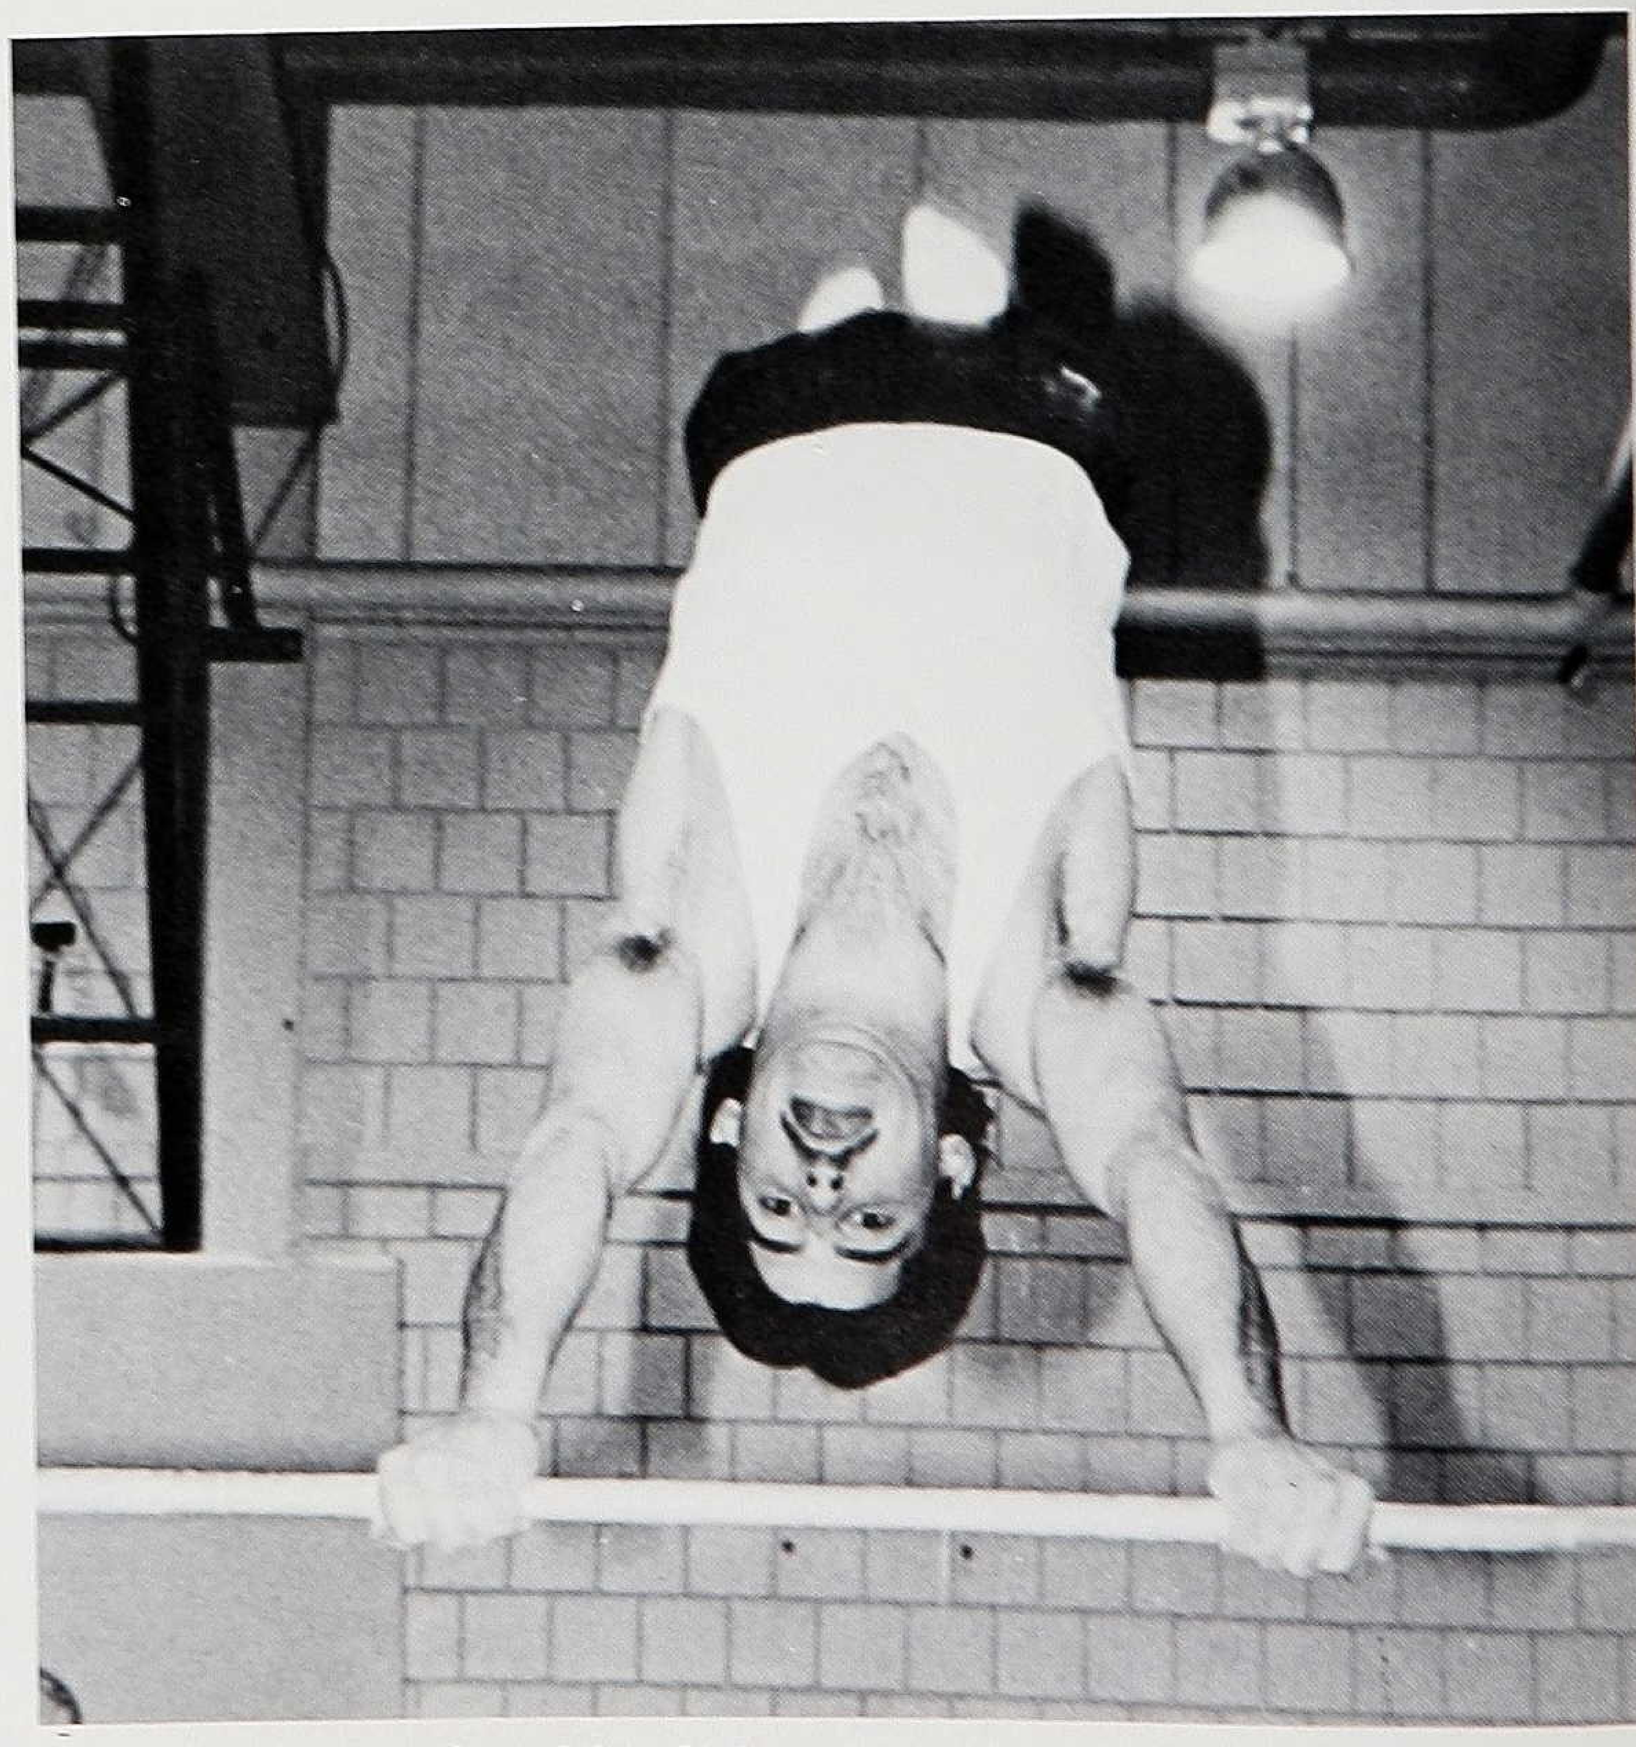

The month of April spawned the seventh annual gymnastics show. Dozens of talented performers dexterously executed many precise movements before an appreciative audience of teachers, friends and family who packed the PHS Fieldhouse on both nights.

Rob Maloney, Dave Izzo and Carlos Cleveland maneuvered through floor routines choreographed by Meg Shepardson.

Flying through the parallel bars and rings, Joe Condi, Dom Levardi and Mike Petell, each a gym show veteran, performed the extremely difficult iron cross.

What's Cooking?

More than meets the eye

During their Freshman year, all students are invited to participate in a career exploratory program. They spend five weeks in each of the vocational programs that interest them. Then they select their preference and spend the last ten weeks in that shop.

The student then applies for the program of his choice and is selected on the basis of grades, performance in trial shops and attendance.

Once accepted, students participate in a three year program beginning in the sophomore year. They learn everything from preparing fast foods to the art of gourmet cuisine. In the junior and senior years, students become involved in a co-op. The day is then divided in two parts: one for academics, the other for work experience outside the school. Mr. Powers and Mr. DiNicola are instrumental in securing the job opportunities.

Students find, upon graduation, that they are well prepared to either seek full-time employment or to continue their education at one of several fine Culinary Arts Institutes across the country. This year, of nine graduates, seven have decided to pursue the latter course.

The forty-two students participating in this year's program have served the community well. Chicken Normandy was the highlight of a seven-course dinner serving 150 people, including parents, teachers and perveyors at the Coachlite. Teachers with thirty years of service were guests at a luncheon featuring prime rib. On Veterans' Day, disabled veterans of World War II were treated to a turkey dinner. At the American Legion, members of the Boys' Club Leaders' Club attended a sit-down spaghetti dinner. Funds were raised for the Stanley Club Citizen Scholarship Award at the Annual Pancake Breakfast. Beef Wellington was the main attraction that fed two-hundred people at a Vocational Advisory Banquet sponsored by the School Department. The members of the Culinary Arts program also served their peers, catering buffet for the three-hundred participants in the Academic Decathlon.

Thirty-five students attended the Greater Connecticut Culinary Display where they toured exhibits of marzipan, hors d'oeuvre, ice sculptures and postolage to glean ideas for the Chef's Salon, sponsored by the Berkshire County Chefs' Association, of which some of our students are members. The Chef's Salon provided an opportunity for the students to display their talents and attain an American Culinary Association Certificate.

The Culinary Arts students are most noticable in our school's Longfellow Room, where they provide short order and full dinner courses. In an hour and a half they serve one hundred patrons, five days a week throughout the entire school year. The students also help in preparing food for many club-related school functions and their work is always appreciated.

5th Period rush on the store

The Marketing Education Program, directed by Mr. David Lynch, is an active participant in the Distributive Education Cooperative Association. D.E.C.A. is an internationally acclaimed organization that sponsors competitive activities which lead to a better understanding of busines. The P.H.S. chapter offers experience in the marketing field through classroom instruction and on-the-job training. The participation of prominent area businesses, including our very own school store, enables our students to acquire a realistic view of employment in the marketing industry. Because of the cooperation of these businesses, D.E.C.A., and our training program, students are provided with a sound foundation, enabling them to either further their education or enter the field of marketing directly upon graduation.

The attractive display attracts Nicole DeSalvo, Suzanne LaPierre, and Tracey Cassinelli to the school store.

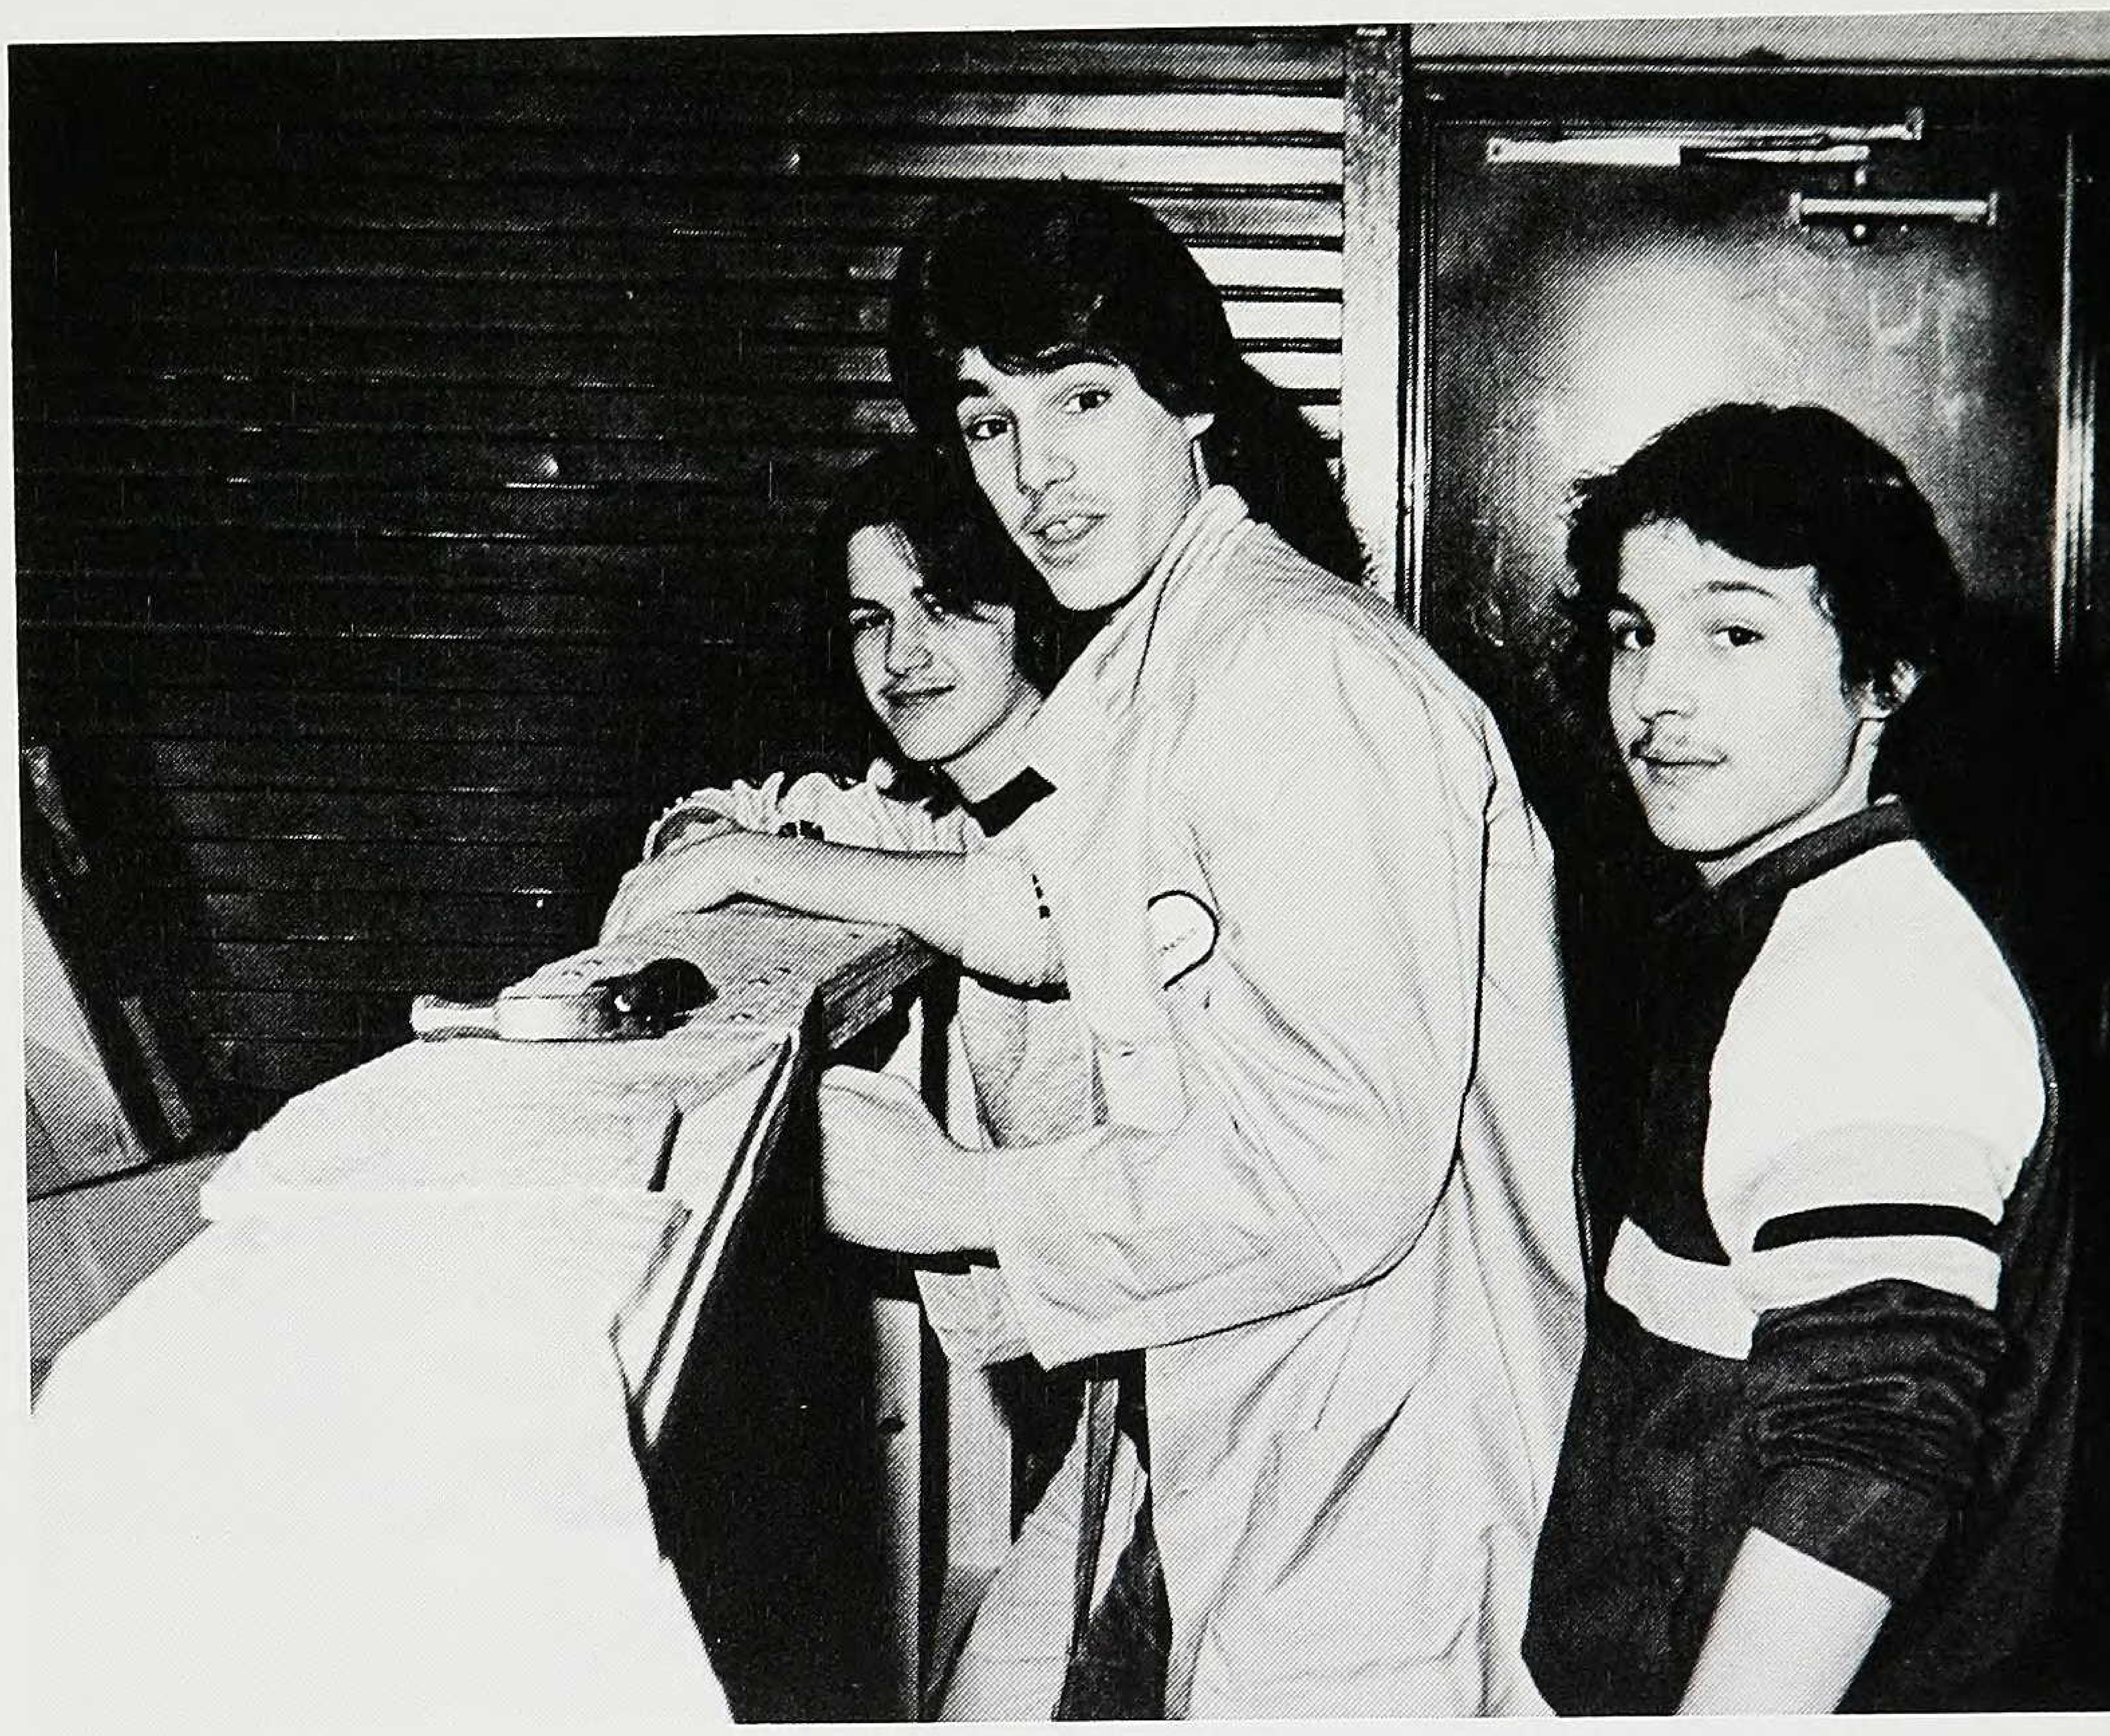

The Vocational Department offers a unique opportunity to those heralded into the real world after high school. By placing the emphasis on practical skills, the students prepare for those fields which they later intend to pursue.

Electronics is a field that is constantly changing. In keeping up with the new technology, the electronics program has introduced much instrumentation this year. An especially important addition has been the implimentation of new digital electronics techniques that have allowed many new avenues of exploration to be open to the students.

Plant Maintenance students are able to gain many insights through the on-hands experience they receive in high school. PHS students displayed their work at the Open House held at Taconic High School. For the Proteus production of "Wild Oats", plant maintenance students undertook the project of building props. Other training the students receive includes that in plumbing, wall papering, and electrical work.

In the Computer Programming class, the students not only prepare for future jobs in computer programming and other related fields, but they also test their current knowledge. For the first time this year, IBM business machine students entered a Computer League contest. In this way, the students were able to see how they compare to other students of the surrounding areas, people they will later be contending with in the job market.

Cosmetology student Debbie Metivier leans how to create new hairstyles.

Rob Trumbull puts the finishing touches on an office stool in the Wood Shop.

The Cosmetology department has several opportunities each year to learn new makeup and hairstyling techniques. Beginning with the Wokurn Tirade Show, cosmetology students gleaned important tips from several demonstrations. Later in the year, they witnessed more specific exposition, such as Breeze in the Spring by Paul Digrigoli, a demonstration by Sebastian focusing on color techniques, and a demonstration on makeup by Lamas. Two other projects that cosmetology students took on were a competition in hairstyling, where winning creations were brought to Taconic's Open House, and a Cut-a-thon sponsored by the Berkshire Cosmetology Association to raise money for Cerebal Palsey.

Students enrolled in the Auto Shop program receive a well-based foundation that will enable them to work with various types of automobiles. One of the biggest and most difficult jobs that must be tackled is changing whole engines, and students find this task rewarding because they know it is a valuable skill. Auto Shop members are also proficient in several other areas as evidenced in their work on smaller projects, such as motorcycle repair and other routine maintenance jobs.

Bonnie Delphia and Monica Morris create a beautiful fountain

Participants in the Horticulture program displayed their talents at the Taconic/PHS Open House. They distributed flowers to those viewing their floral arrangements. A tropical garden and a fountain were among those prominant features included in their exhibition.

Students and faculty appreciate their skills and talents as reflected in the proceeds from flower sales held periodically throughout the year.

The Cena Romana, held once every two years, brought out a host of characters from the past as participants reveled in ancient traditions. There were skits, musical numbers and dances for entertainment as well as an authentic Roman meal prepared by the students and served by underclass "slaves". The menu followed the Roman theme "From eggs to apples" and included baked chicken, fresh dates, grapes, figs, nuts and apple torts.

F.B.L.A. Means Business

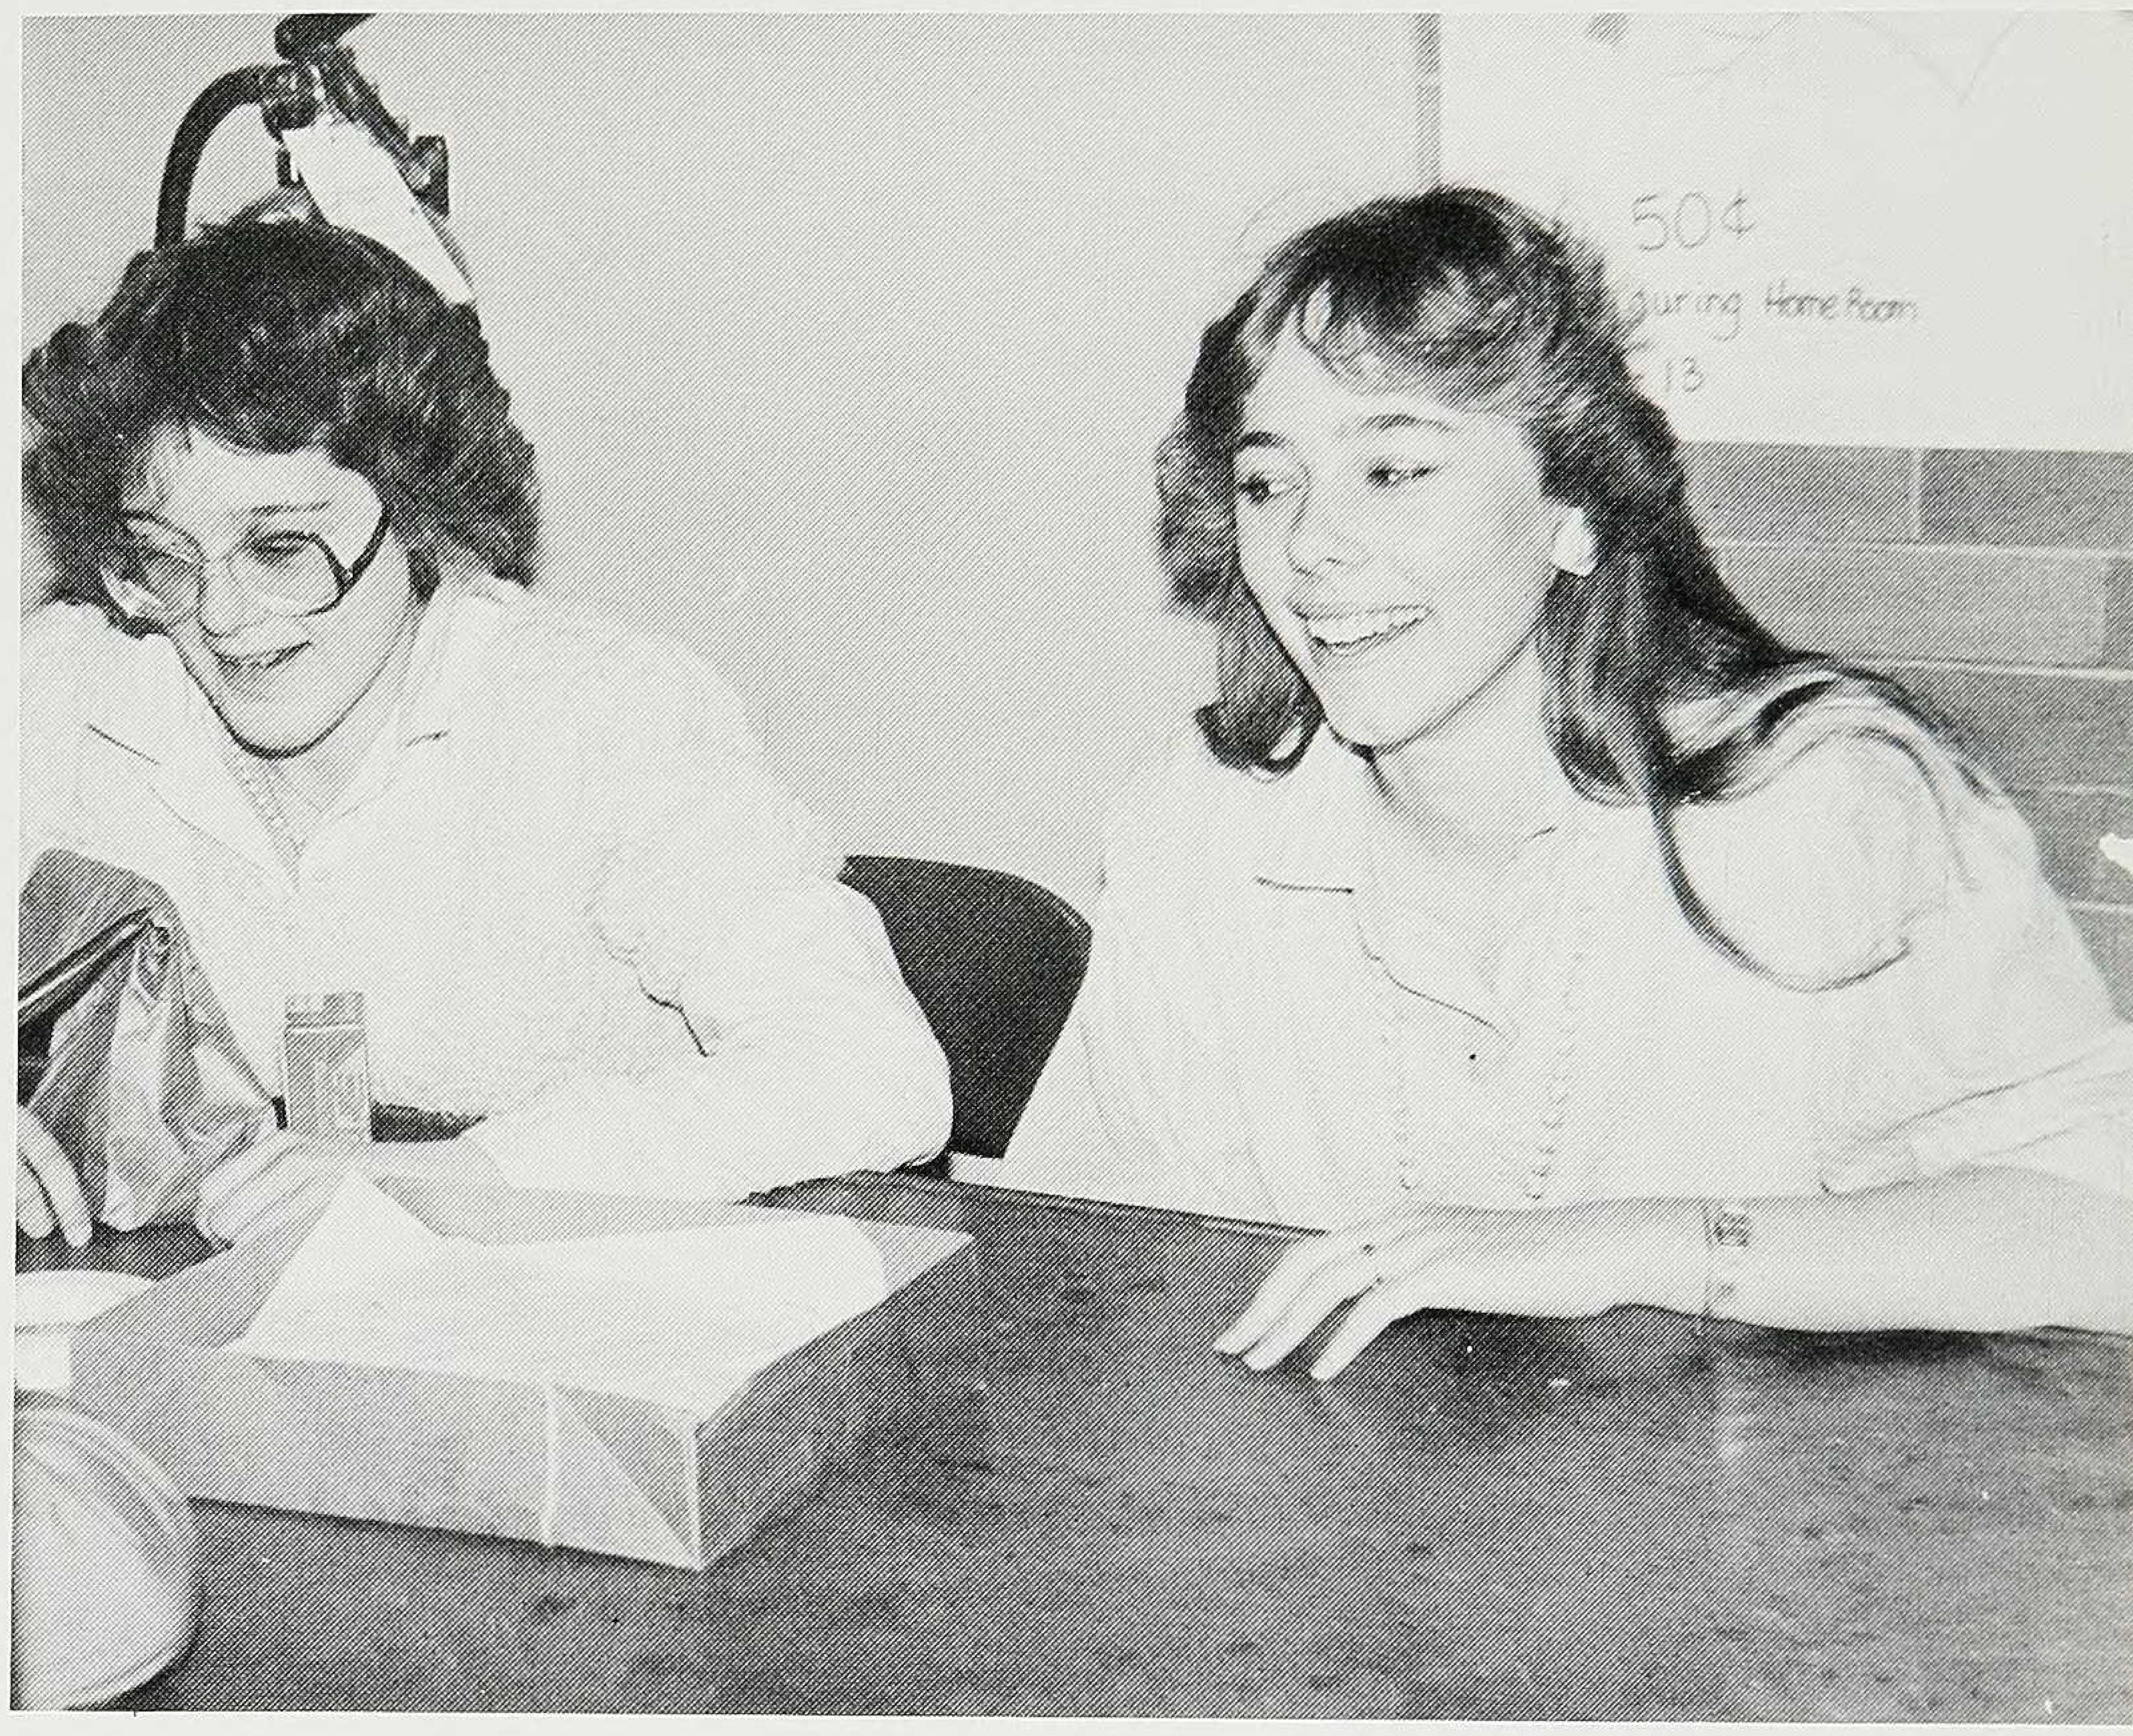

Local Chapter Active in State Affairs

Future Business Leaders of America is a national educational organization for students interested in business-oriented careers. It provides an opportunity for students to learn first-hand about the business community as they develop vocational competencies that will enable them to enter the business world. F.B.L.A. members learn how to become effective business leaders while learning more about the American free enterprise system. The club helps build self-confidence, encourages money-management and scholarship, and promotes school loyalty.

Our Pittsfield chapter, one of five in the state, has taken part in many activities, including the state conference held at Assumption College in Worcester. F.B. L.A. members take pride in their role as receptionists at the Businessmen's Show in October as well as at the April Home Show.

As community project, members visited the Dalton Nursing Home, where they chatted and played bingo with the patients.

Fund raisers included the Annual Valentine Message sale and the gumball raffle. The proceeds helped defray transportation expenses as well as provide sustenance for the end-of-the-year party in honor of its seniors.

Les Bons Vivants!

Le Cercle Francais began its year by sponsoring the first ever "Welcome Home" dance for last year's graduates of Pittsfield High. This fundraiser paved the way for the club's annual activities among which was the Mardi Gras celebration held in the Longfellow Room, thanks to Mr. Powers. A French Cafe atmosphere prevailed as Mike Messer's band played throughout the evening. The totally French menu was prepared at school by the students themselves.

On November seventh, 40 French enthusiasts, accompanied by Mesdames Beauchamp and Rutledge, headed North for a weekend in Quebec City in Canada. This trip made history come alive for many who had just learned about Plains of Abraham in their Social Studies Class. The Boston Bruins seemed to know that PHS fans were in the stands as they defeated the Quebec Nordiques at the Colisee. Many thanks to Eric Mautner for informing everyone that the revolving restaurant atop our hotel "Le Concorde" made a complete turn every 2 hours.

May hosted the French Pastry Contest. Thea Politis was awarded first prize for her "Charlotte a la Valentin," Heather Barry placed second with her "Torte au chocolat" and Eric Mautner won third prize with his authetic "Baba au rhum". The party that followed left no crumbs.

The third week of May has become synonymous with a trip to New York City. This year, the Metropolitan Museum of Art hosted a visiting French impressionist exhibit, which students enjoyed along with other permanent displays. In the afternoon they went to Broadway's Palace to attend "La Cage aux Folles" starring Peter Marshall. Dinner at the French Shack put the finishing touches on a very French day in the U.S.

June first was the lucky day for Mimi Bertolino who won a compact disk player by supporting the spring raffle. Tammy Harris won a dinner for two at the Springs, and two tickets to the Cinema Center were presented to Toby Gibbons.

This year two French Scholarships were given; one to Rebecca Abramson and the other to Thea Politis, both AP students in French.

Language Support Grows

Spanish Club Founded

Amy George and Erin Reagan were instrumental in the founding of the Spanish Club this year. Upon approaching Mr. Fazio, they found him most amenable to the idea of initiating a Spanish Club. The organization, with the aid of Mr. Fazio, began the year with a fundraiser, the selling of Pittsfield High School seat cushions. Later in the year, the profits from the fundraiser enabled Spanish Club members to enjoy themselves at a Valentine's Day fiesta. The addition of this club is an example of the growing support for the languages throughout the school.

The growing interest in Italian culture has stimulated the creation of the Italian Club. The Club's first big event was "Festa Italiana," featuring Italian music recordings from Italy and an assortment of Italian foods representing the various regions of Italy.

The Club has also begun a correspondence with Pittsfield's sister city Cava de' Tirreni in an attempt to organize pen-pals.

Along with the cultural aspect, the Club has had guest speakers who gave slide presentations.

As a fund raiser, the students sold homemade Italian cookies in order to set up a scholarship fund for Italian Club members.

During April vacation, some members and advisor Mrs. Tobin toured Italy and stayed two days in Cava de' Tirreni. Upon their return, they shared their experiences during Club discussions.

This year's Pep Club generated an electric spirit which was felt throughout the school. From funky Halloween costumes to stands resounding with cheers, the Pep Club made itself known. Purple and White Day and the Harvest Dance were also results of the unified efforts of the some 50 members of the Pep Club. With Ms. Byrne as advisor, the Pep Club helped to make Pittsfield High stand for school spirit and good sportsmanship. Our many winning teams reflected their support.

A classic tradition began when, on October 11, the French Club hosted the first ever Homecoming Dance. The purpose for the dance was to welcome back last year's seniors.

Earlier that day, the new Dome staff was on hand to pass out the 1986 yearbooks. Then, at 8 pm the real festivities began. Everyone gathered in the gym ready to rock to the sounds of Fugitive, which features four of our own seniors. They are: lead singer Tammy Voloscove; Scott Rousseau on guitar; Kevin Manzolini on bass; and Matt Peplowski on drums.

As the dance progressed, the returning seniors were invited on stage to take part in the "Corn Dog" rap. We enjoyed watching the seniors who were obviously having a great time.

The exceptional band and the colorful array of decorations set the scene for an enjoyable evening for everyone.

They said it couldn't be done, but the National Honor Society managed to bring Caesar's Palace to the field house. Students arrayed in Roman garb added a touch of class to the evening's activities. D.J. Lou De Fillipio fielded requests from the populace and provided entertainment for the patricians' dancing pleasure. Rumor has it that a tradition was begun. Fact has it that the Scholarship fund received a healthy boost.

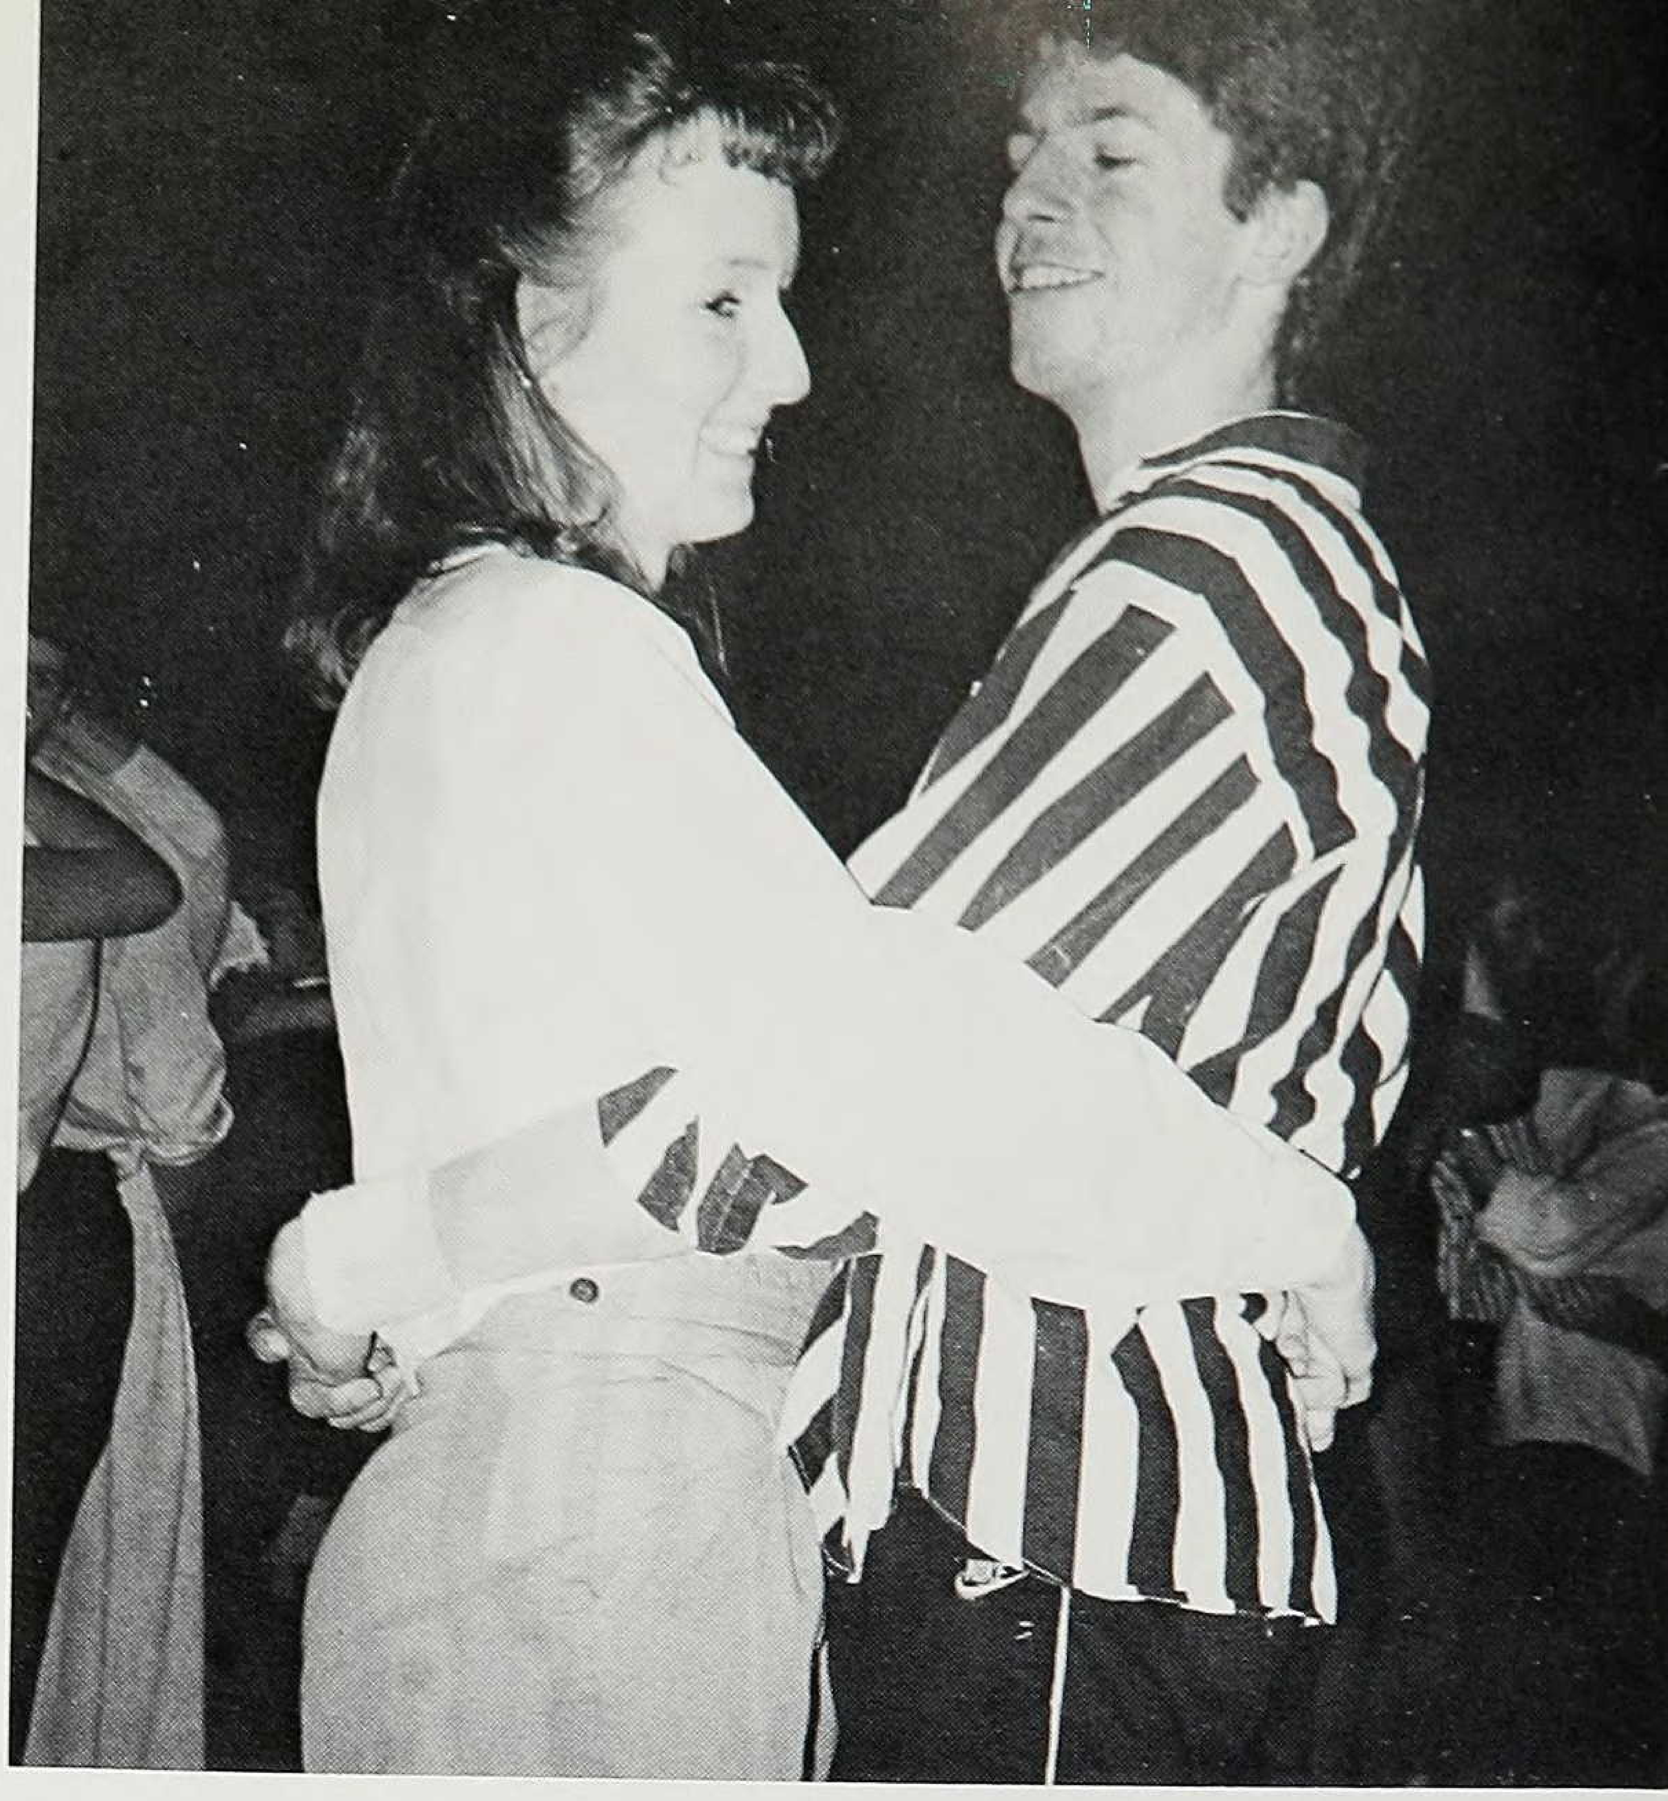

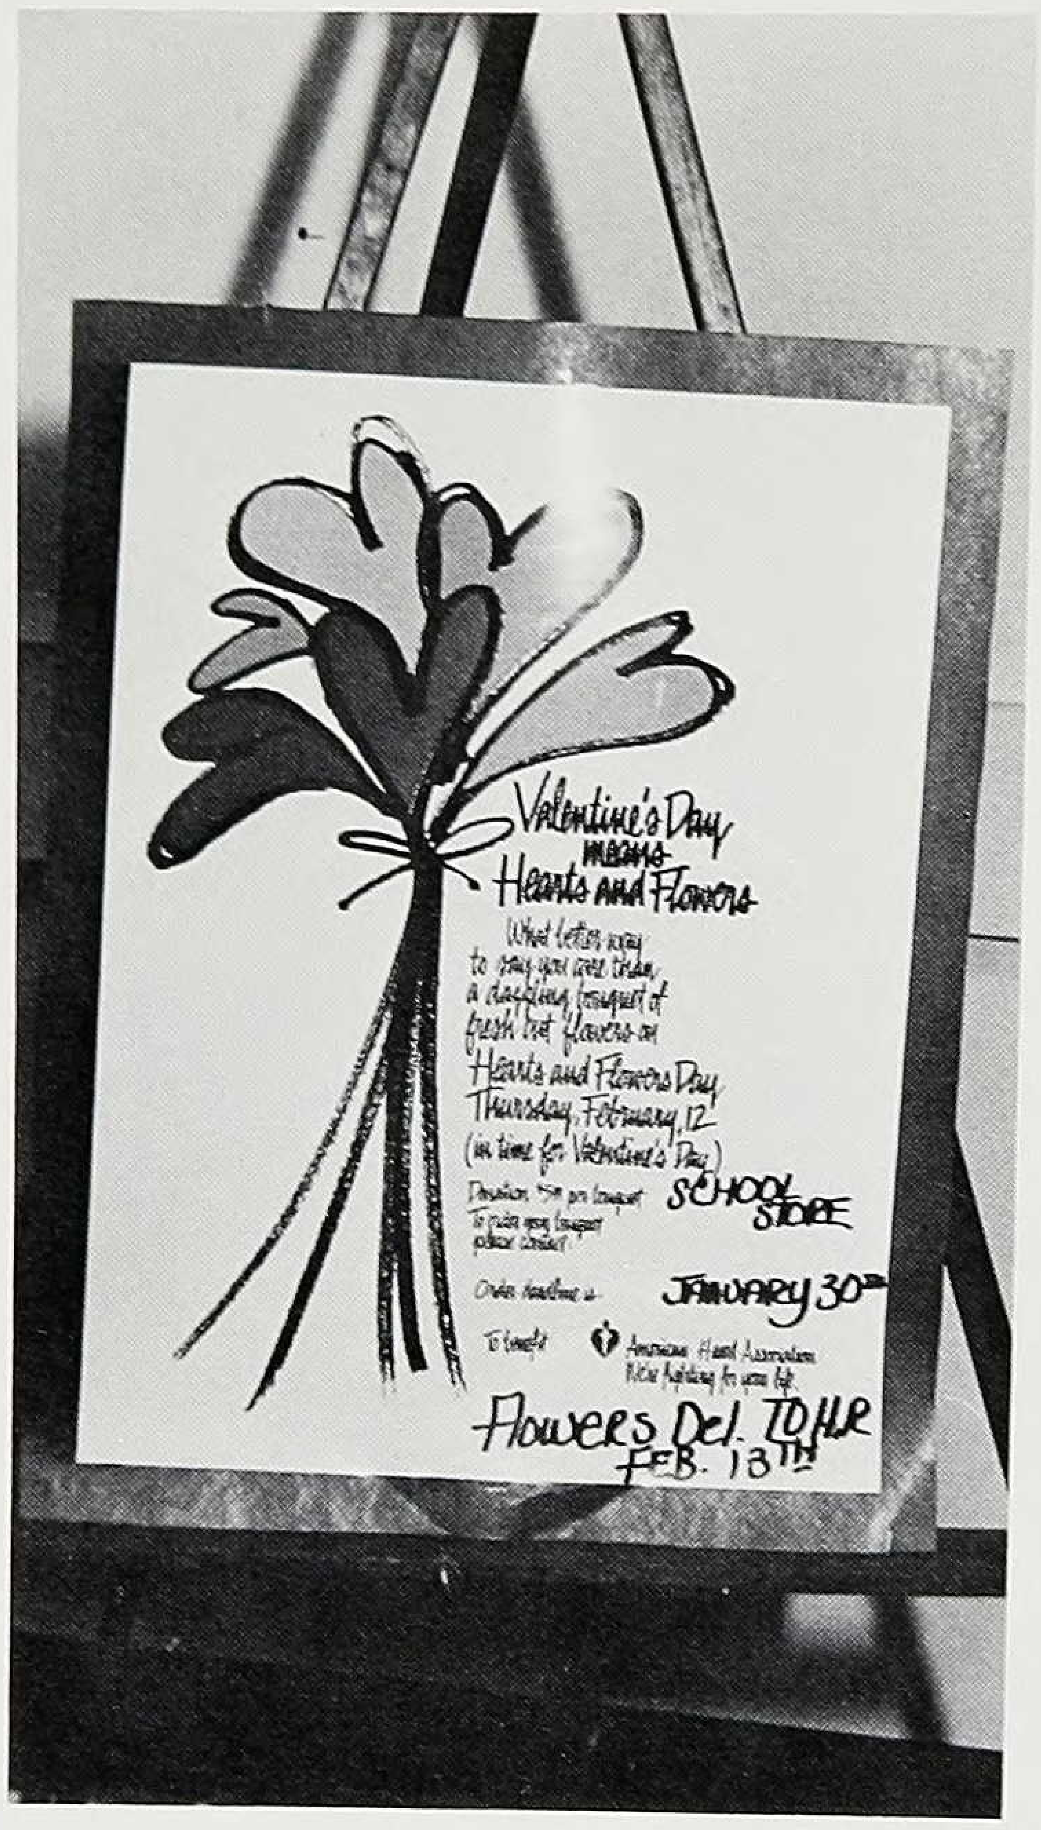

Heart to Heart

Cupid's Party well-attended

Sub-zero weather did not deter eager revelers from attending the Valentine Dance, which kicked off February Vacation.

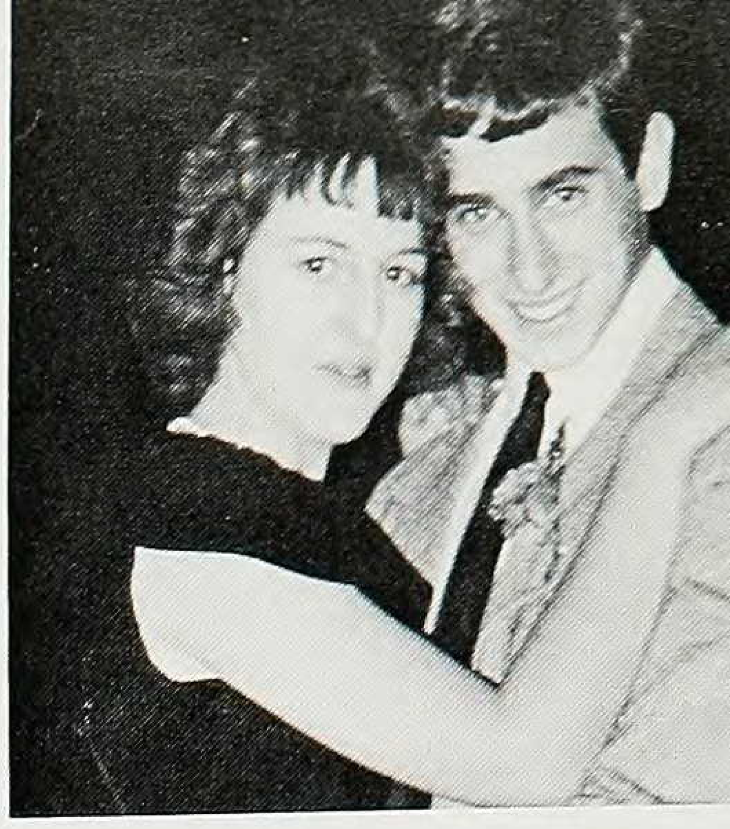

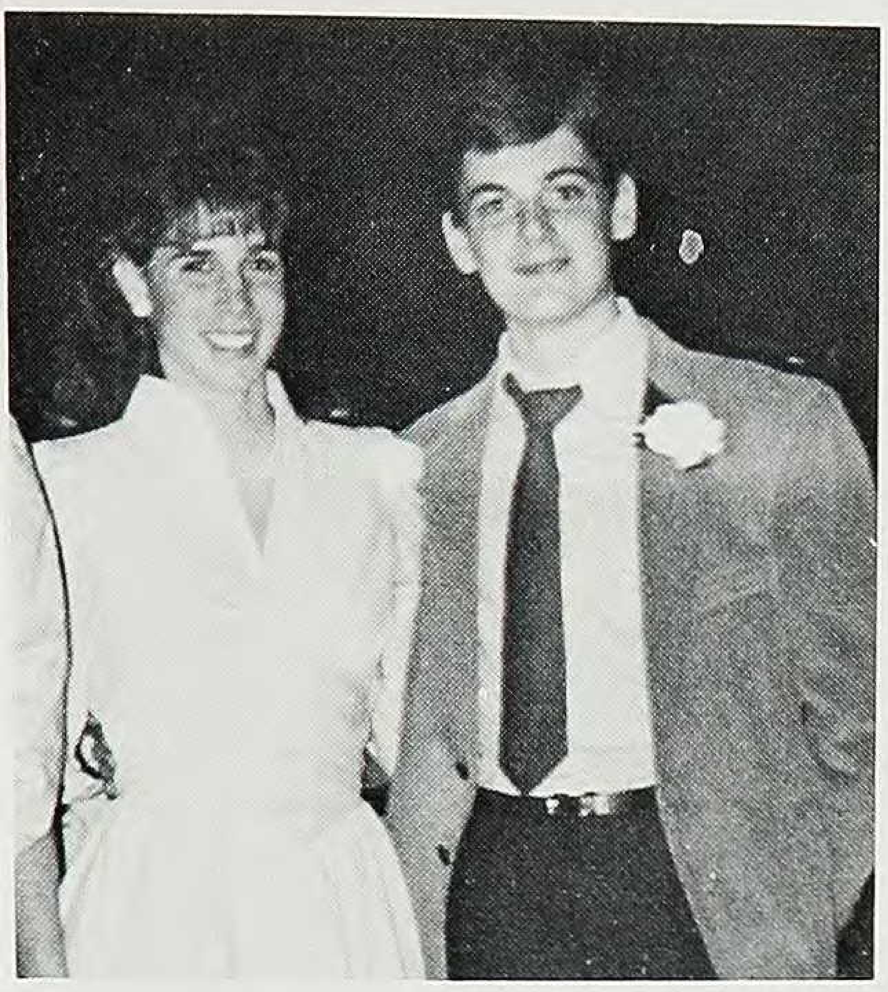

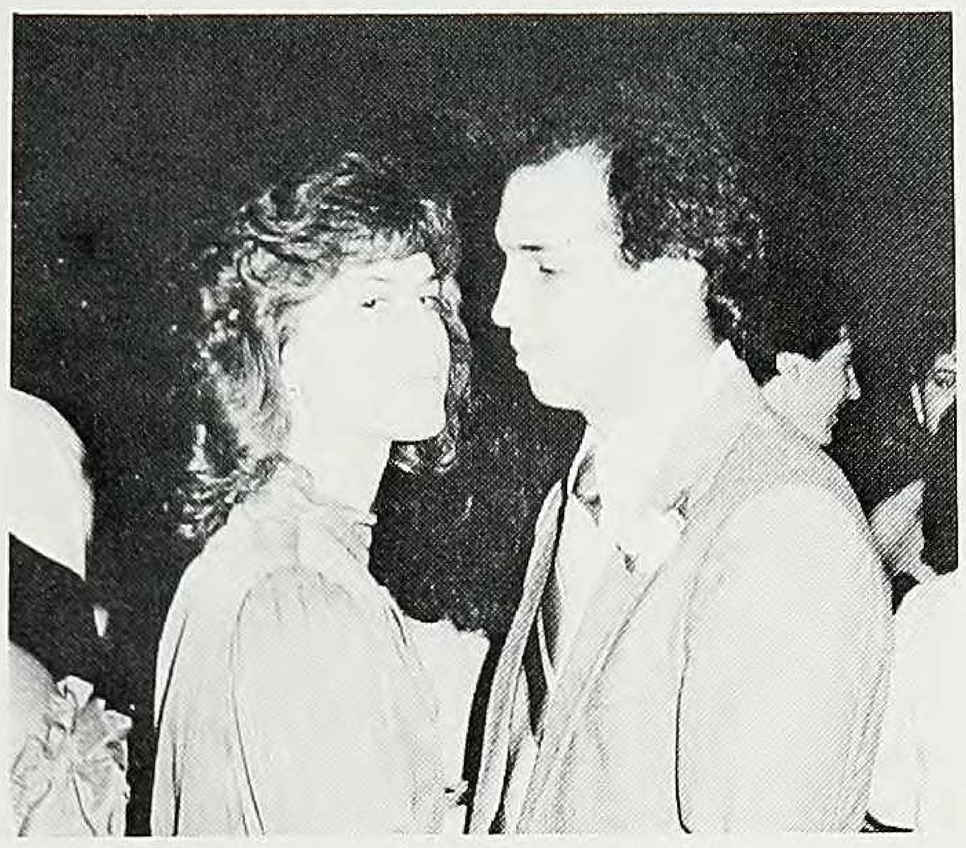

The night began at home, where every girl dressed in her best and every guy dressed to impress. As the shivering couples entered the Field House, they quickly admired each other's attire, secretly wondering who looked the best. The band Fugitive, led by the distinctive voice of Tammy Voloscove, played a variety of selections to provide swinging entertainment for the crowd. Scott Rousseau on lead guitar, Matt Peplowski on drums, and Kevin Manzolini on bass played renditions of favorite songs: "The Dog and the Butterfly," "Hotel California," "What About Love," and "Johnny Be Good." Even as the last song ended, the dancers were reluctant to leave.

The third annual Beach Party Dance heralded in the first day of spring in the Frank Moynihan Field House. Some 700 beachcomers boogied to tunes spun by D.J. Mike Morgan of Fly 92 F.M.

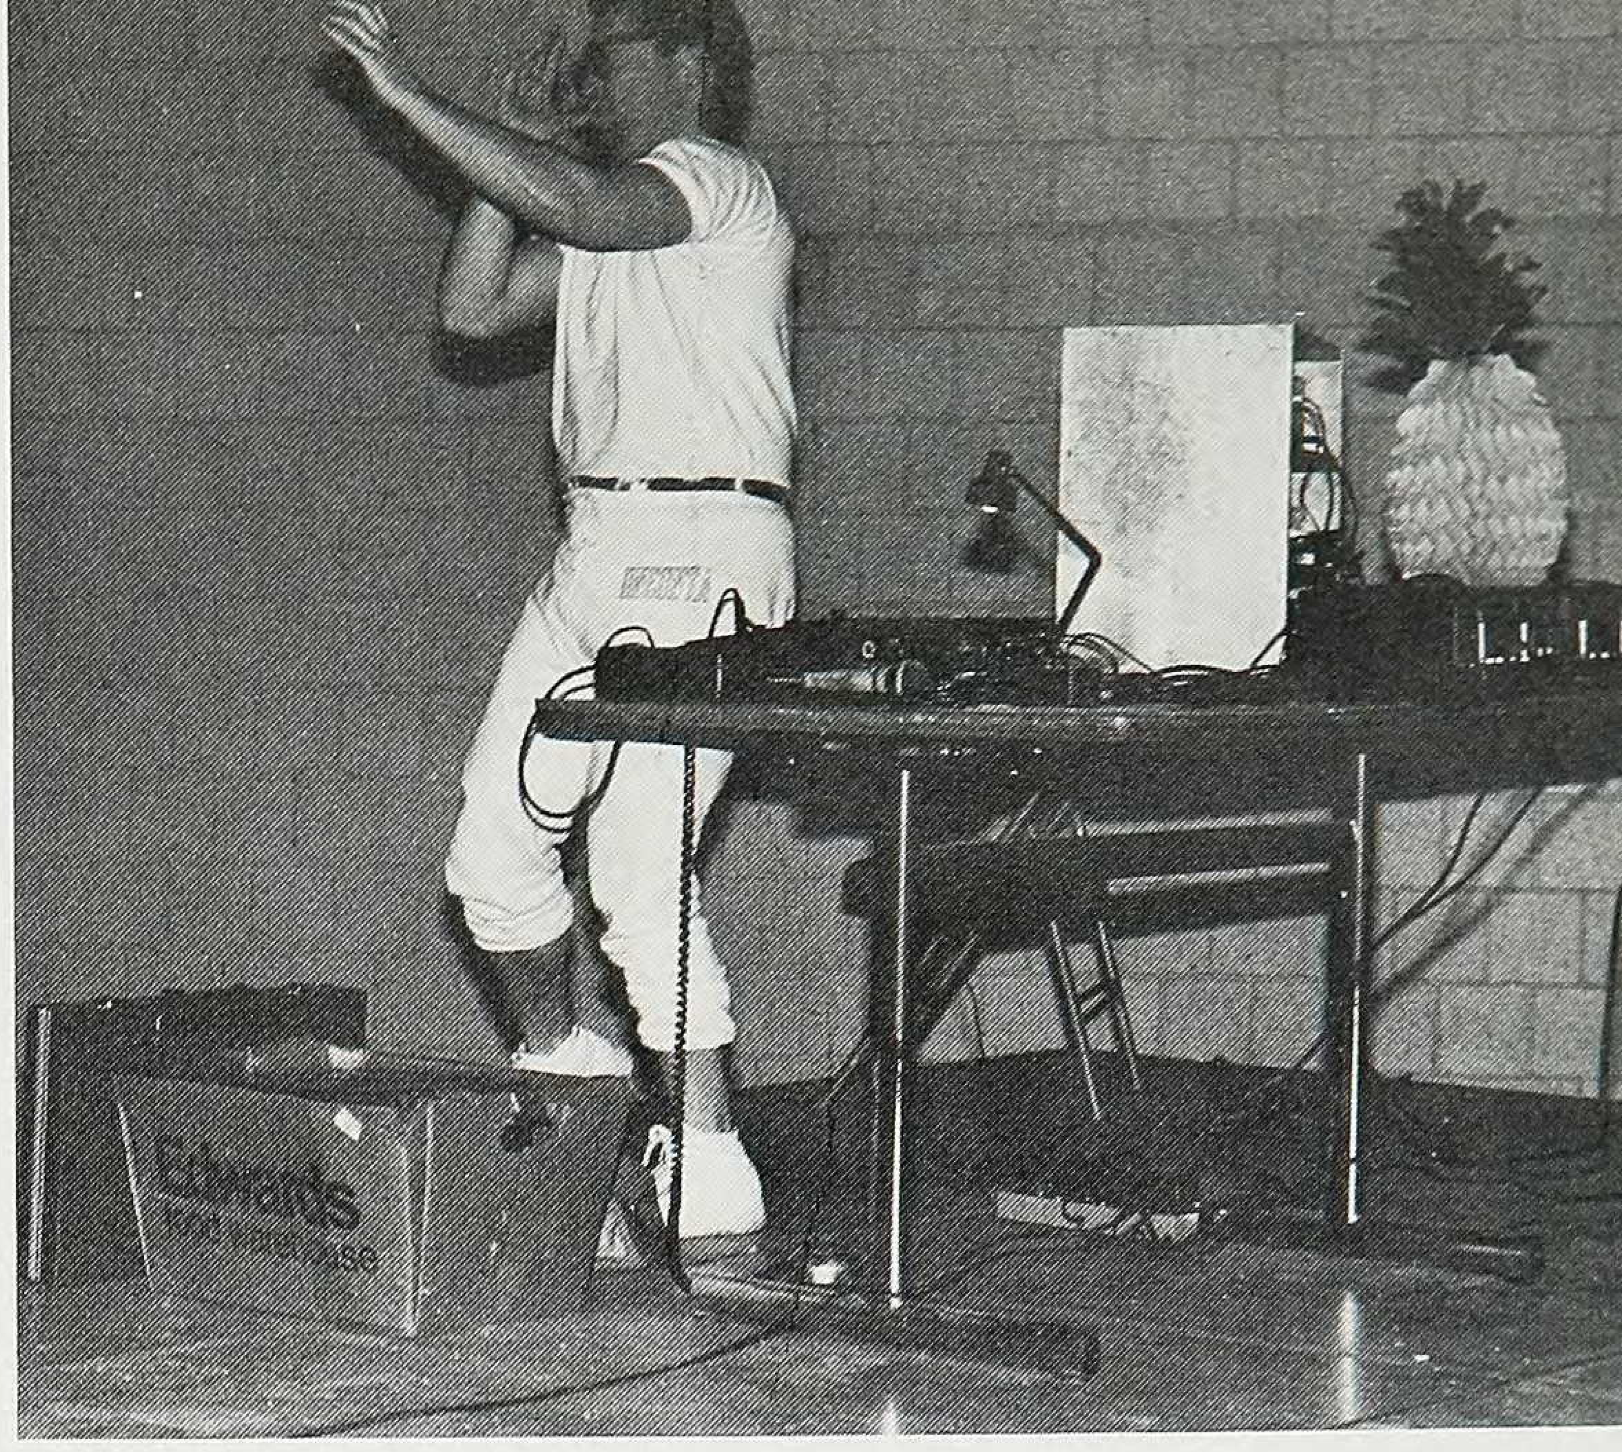

Jams, Hawaiian shirts, beach towels, and shades rivaled anything summer itself could offer. It was rumored that the Beach Party Dance pre-empted Miami Vice on the Neilsen ratings.

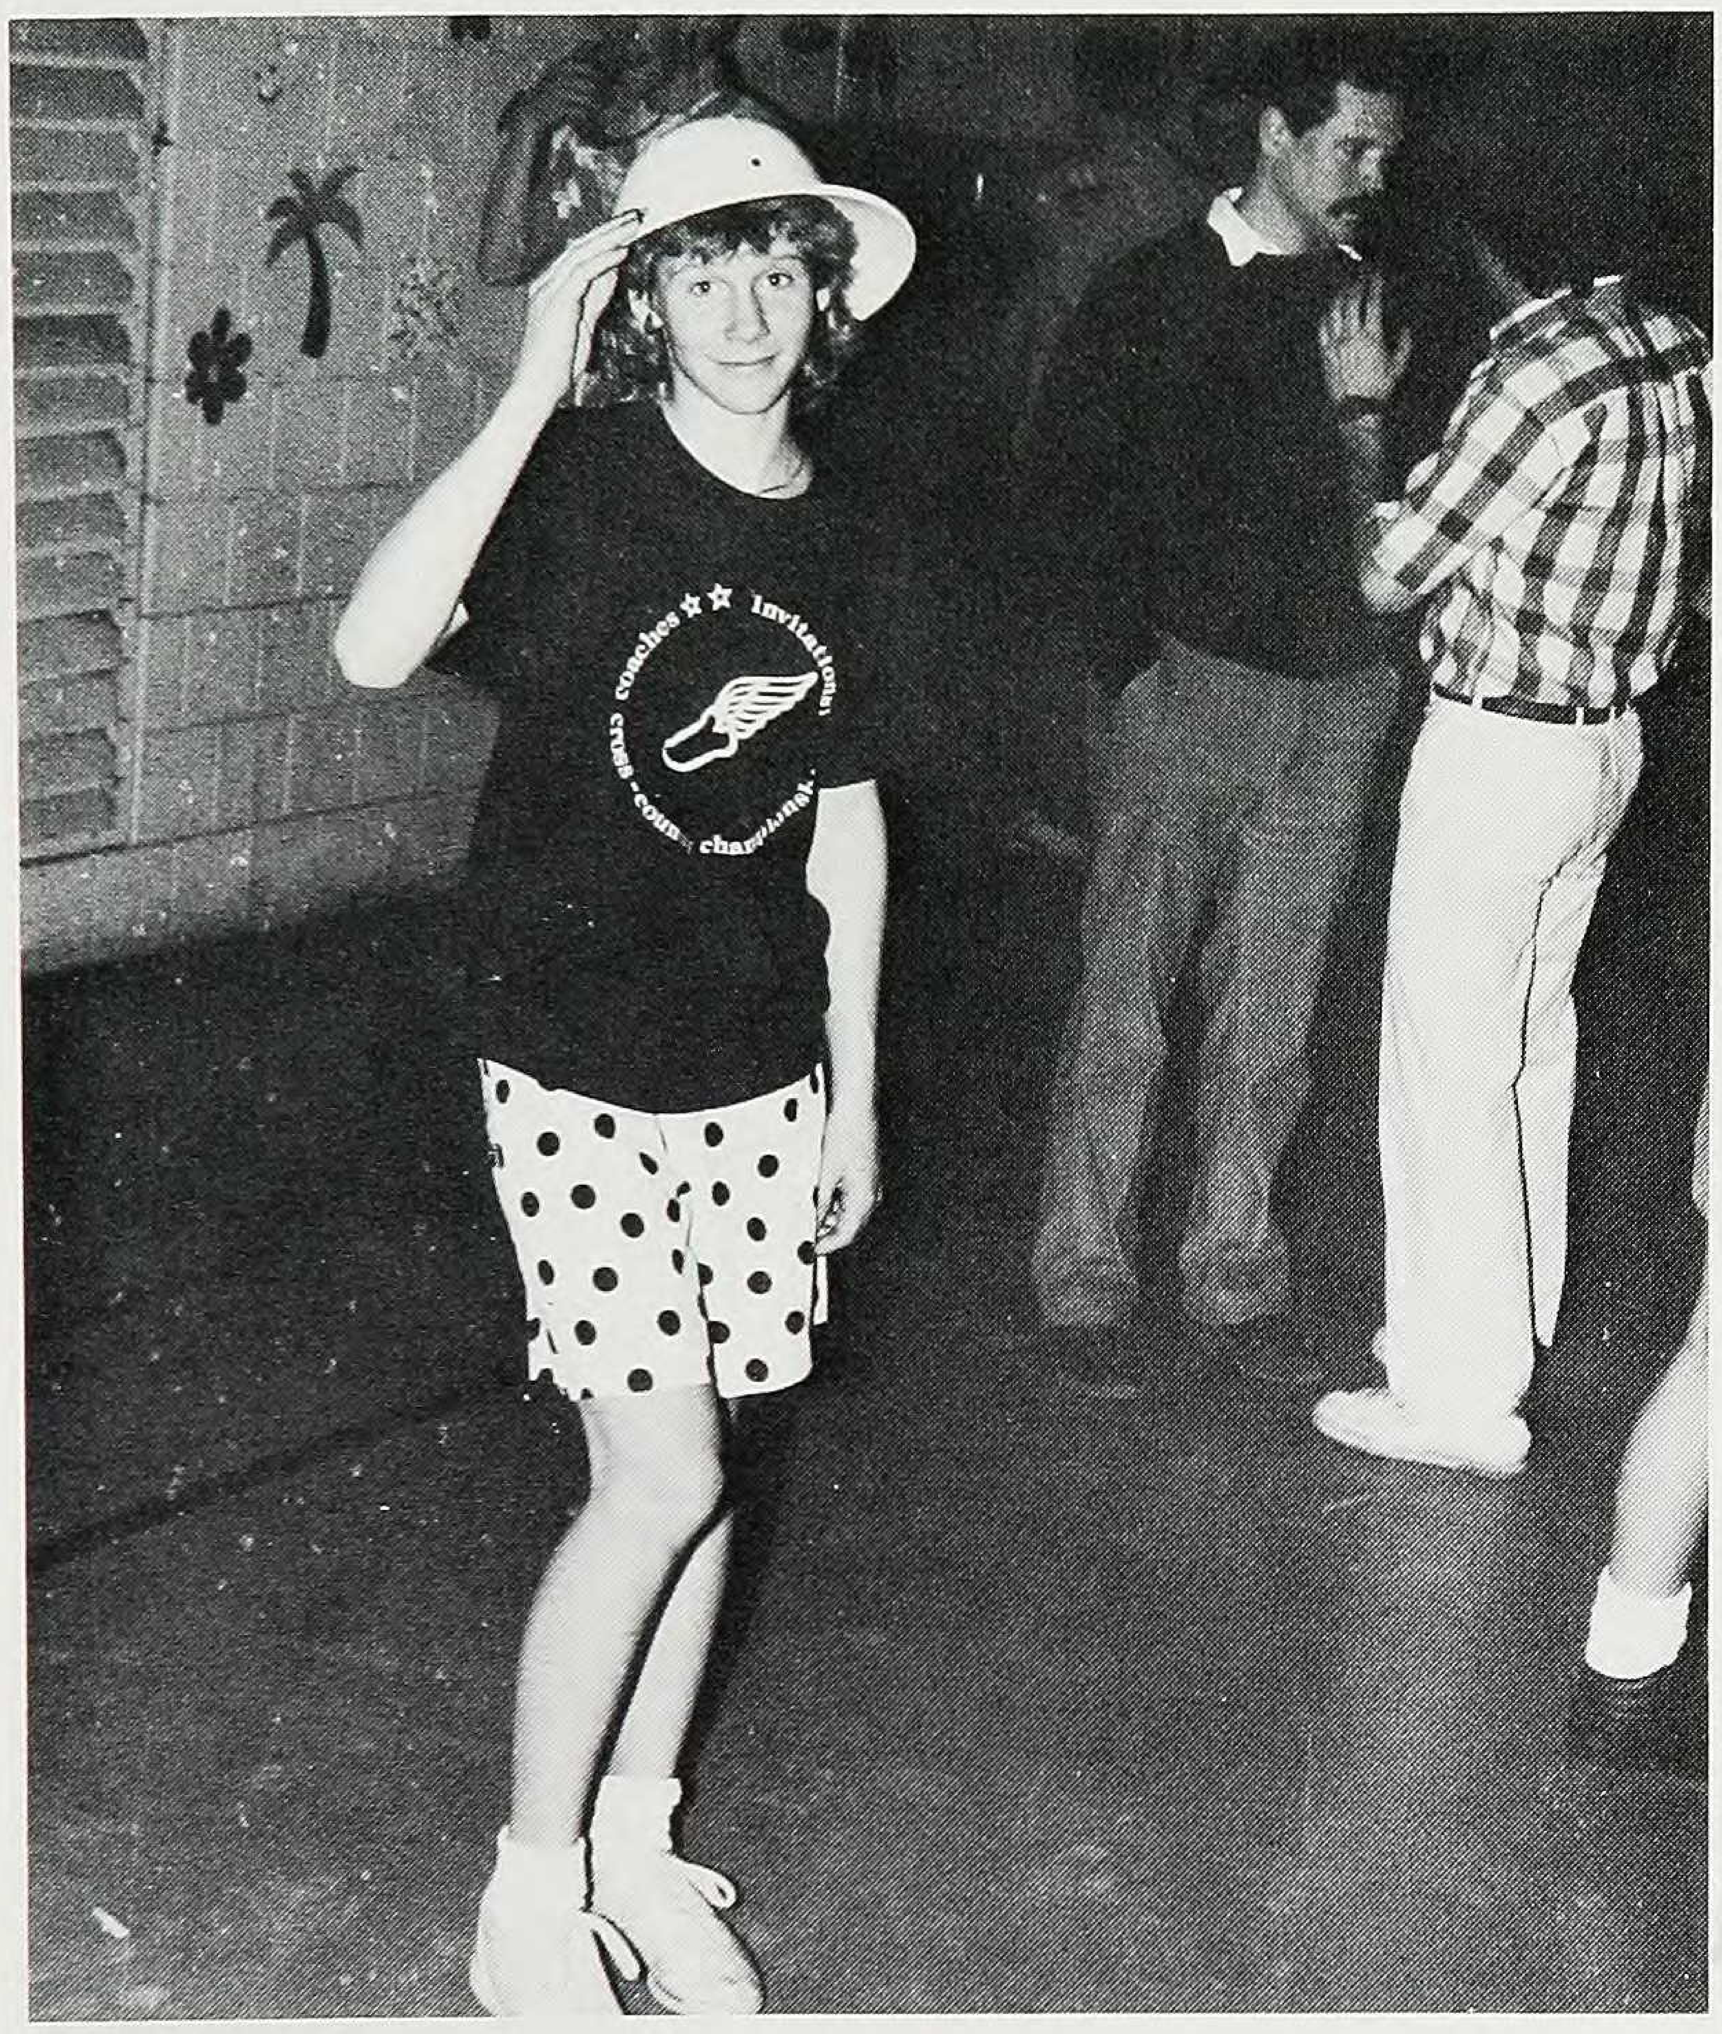

The highlight of the evening was a dance contest. Andrea Pellerin handled the difficult task of judging the gyrating contestants. Among the winners were Martha Vazakas, Rob Maloney, Gene Lucaroni, Rob Gaucher, and Beth Levison. Prizes ranged from T-shirts and pens to Bon Jovi albums.

Although the '86 General gridders faced many obstacles this season, they pulled through with classic strength. The troubles began for them when they lost senior Co-Captain Andre von Hoyer to a broken leg after just the second game of the season. In the weeks to come, the Generals had to contend with more injuries, including those sustained by two-way senior starters Mike McKinney and Mike Quinto, who both were forced to sit out the last two games. Yet even with such great misfortune the season still had its classic moments. The Generals proved to be tough competitors for eventual Class A champion Drury. One of the most memorable moments of the season came in the 27-0 rout of Lee. The Generals relied on the experience and leadership of senior Co-Captains Rob Gaucher, Mike Caparella and Todd Tuggey. Several other seniors such as Ed Jones, Mike McKinney and quarterback Steve Godinho, who had three 100 yard passing games, were also great contributors

The Boys' Soccer team completed its season in classic champion style with a 2-0 victory over West Springfield in the quarterfinals of Western Mass. In the semifinals, PHS' nine game winning streak came to an end with a loss to eventual champion Agawam. This was the farthest any PHS team had gone in post-season action since 1980. Several players contributed to a strong General defense, including goalkeeper Merrill Ross and defensemen Rob Maloney and Ray LeBeau. Seniors Paul Bowlby and Greg George along with junior Jeff Lichtenberg also assisted on defense. On offense, All-Berkshire pick Mike Belanger led the way with thirteen goals and seven assists. Senior tri-captain Jamie DiMassimo, also an All-Berkshire pick helped out on offense.

Girls' Soccer

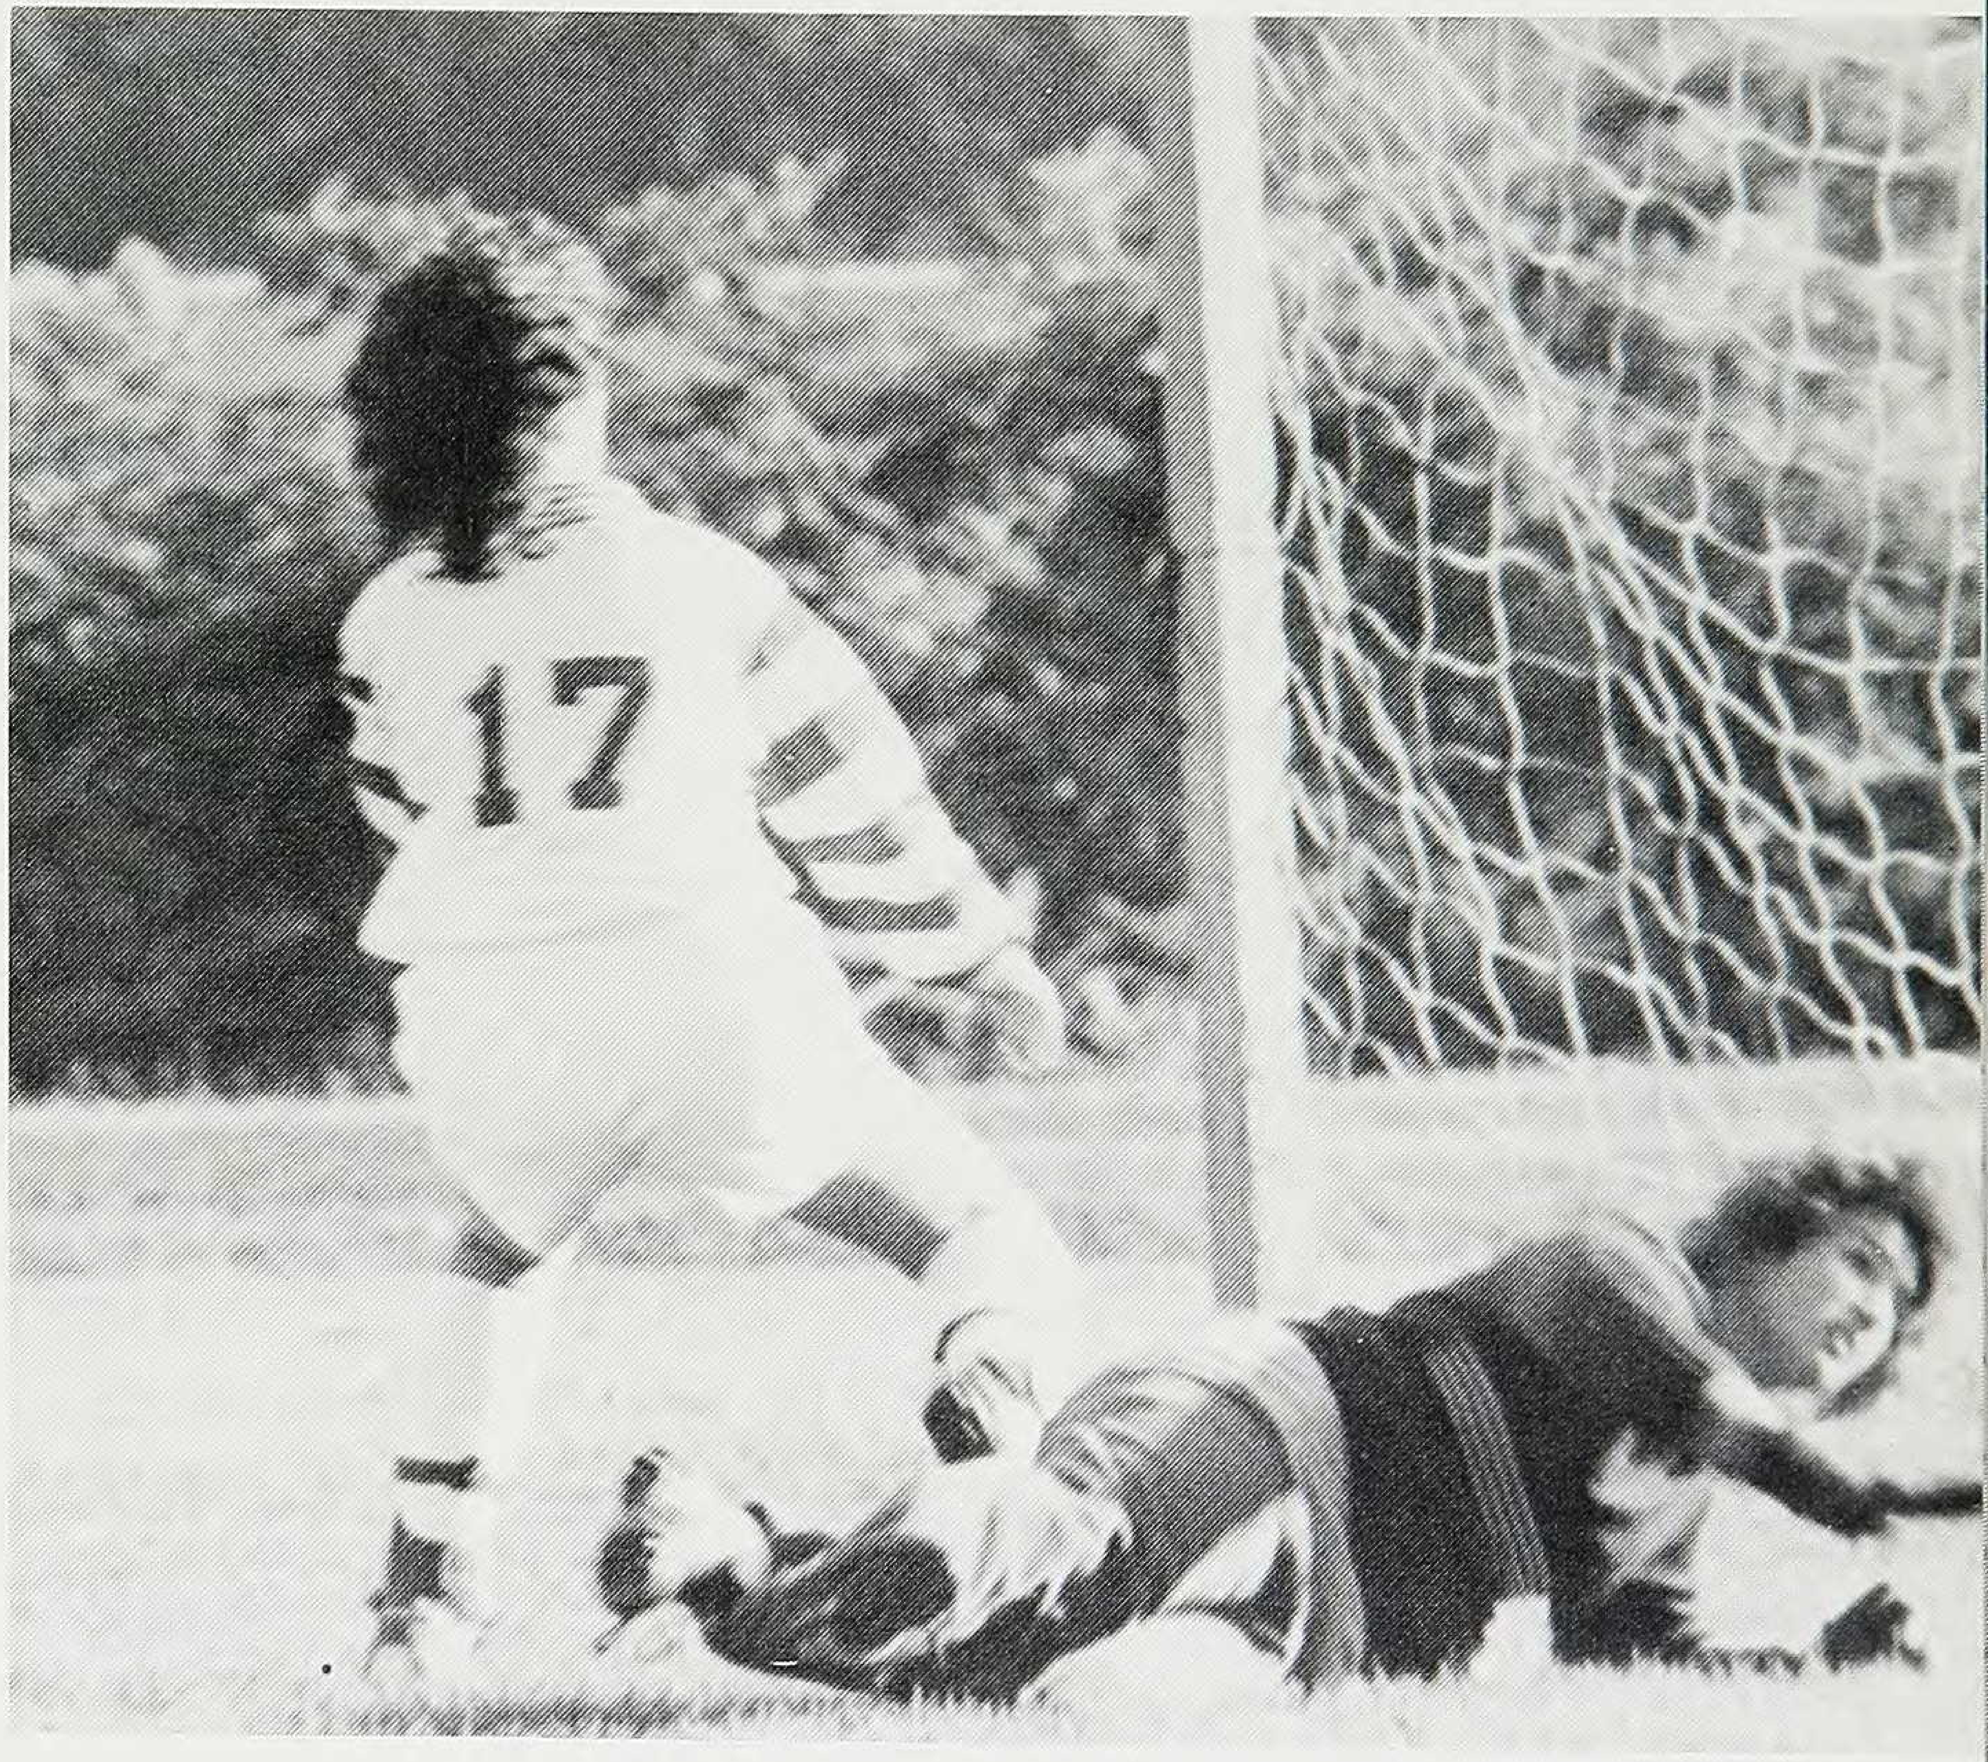

Though the Generals were a young team they had class when they finished their regular season with two must-win victories over Monument Mountain and Drury, earning them a berth in the Western Mass. Division 1 tournament. The Generals were a strong third-place team in the highly competitive Berkshire County League. Their characteristically strong defense was anchored by Senior co-captain Sarah Brezniak. Senior co-captains Beth Levison and Martha Vazakas gave strong support at midfield. PHS was second only to eventual state champion Wahconah in goals and shots allowed. The General defense held six teams scoreless including Monument where we won 6-0, enroute to a 8-4-3 record. Sophomores Sue Zoito and Alycia Sacco shared the honors in goal with a very impressive 1.2 goals against average. The offensive attack was led by Junior Elana Delusky, who had 11 goals and 8 assists, placing her among the top ten league scorers.

Boys' Cross country

Both the Boys' and Girls' Cross Country running teams displayed their classic styles by finishing the season with seven and eight wins respectively. For both teams the climax of the season occurred when they met Mt. Greylock. The girls broke Mt. Greylock's thirty-four meet winning streak to capture the Western Mass Championship, while the boys' victory over Greylock was the first since 1974. Choices for the All-Western Mass team were Pat Hoctor and Patrice Coan. Patrice has been undefeated for two seasons, has won the Coaches' Invitational, and was runner-up in Western Mass. On the All-Berkshire team were: Pat Hoctor, Fran Tetlow, Matt Peplowski, Chris Munier, Becky Smith and Raylene Roberts. Captains Mark Sinopoli, Keye McCusker, Jeannine Coan and Kellie Reardon encouraged their teams to victory. Seniors Carlos Cleveland, Trey Whalley, Connie Chmura and Becky Desantis along with the rest of the team brought about many classic victories.

The Generals' gymnastics team proved itself to be a real class act this season. To everyone's surprise, the first year team clinched the Intercounty League championship with a 13-1 record. Along the way, the Generals racked up important victories over Westfield and Wahconah, the defending league champions. Pittsfield gymnasts claimed two of the top three spots in the all-around standings at every meet. Led by senior co-captain Jennifer Procopio and junior Lisa Yuill, both of whom were selected to the All-Western Mass Team, Pittsfield showed consistency throughout the season. Sophomore Jennifer Evans gave support on the parallel bars and vault, while freshman Colleen Barry showed promise on vault and in all-around competition. Though their numbers were few, the Generals had some depth in senior co-captain Lisa Mastroly, who, despite an injury, continued to earn valuable points on the beam and vault. The Generals went on to Western Mass, where they placed second losing by only two-tenths of a point to a strong Westfield team.

Hoosac Defeat Tops Off Season

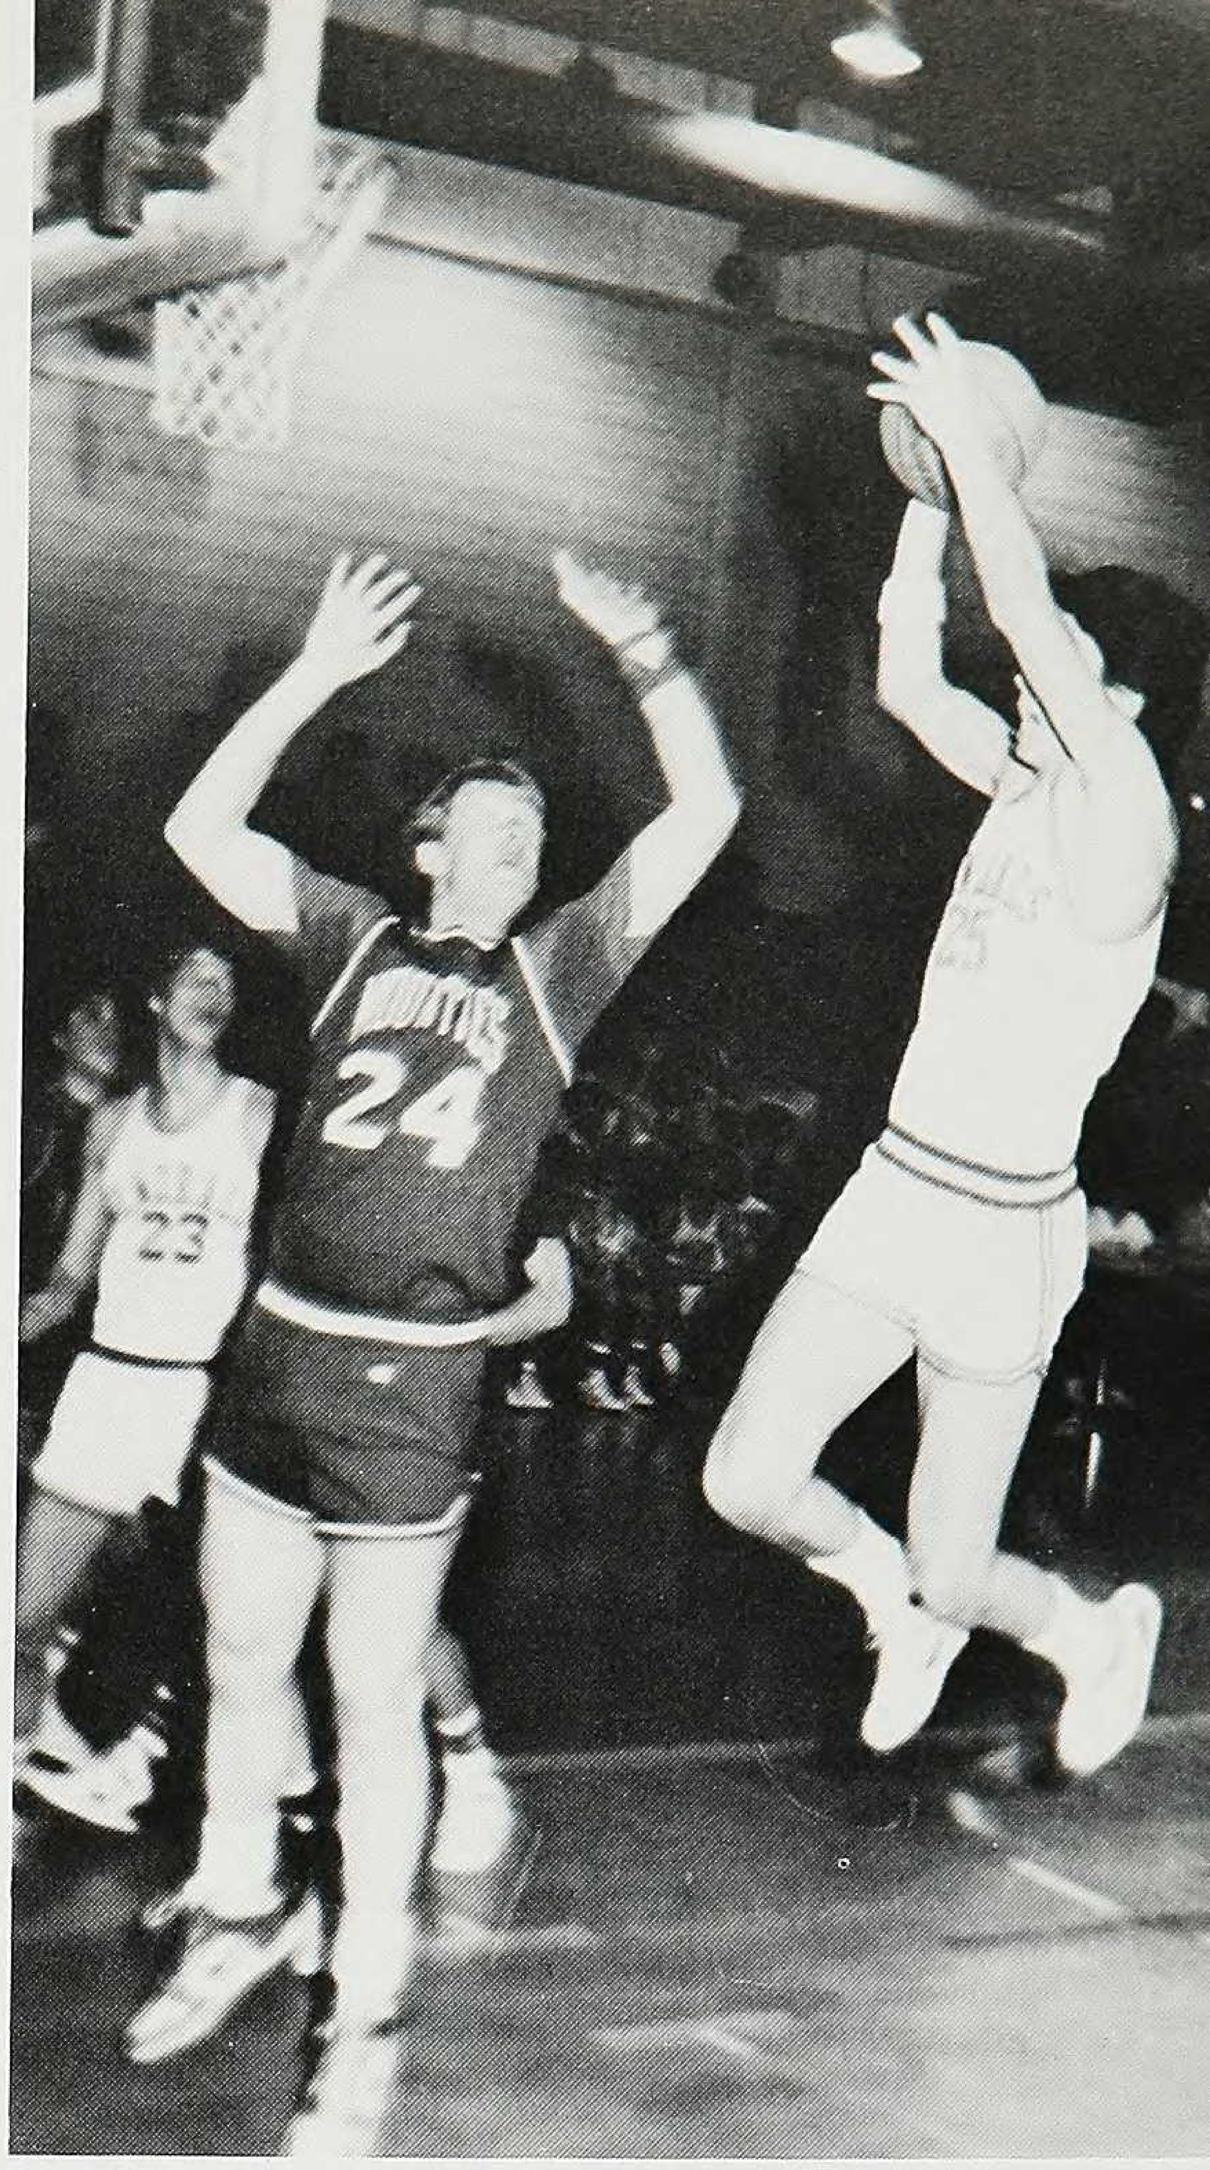

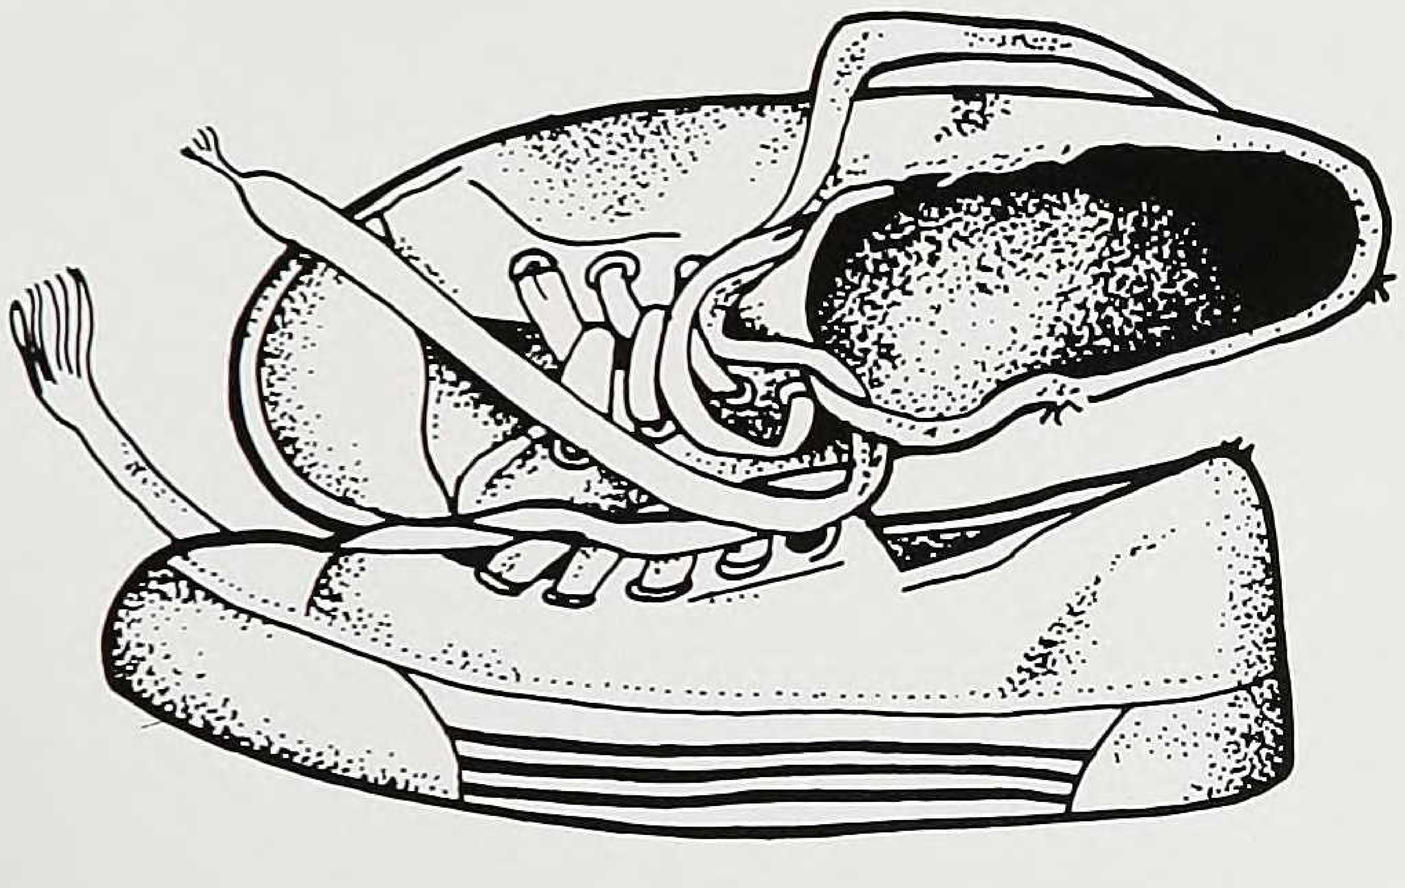

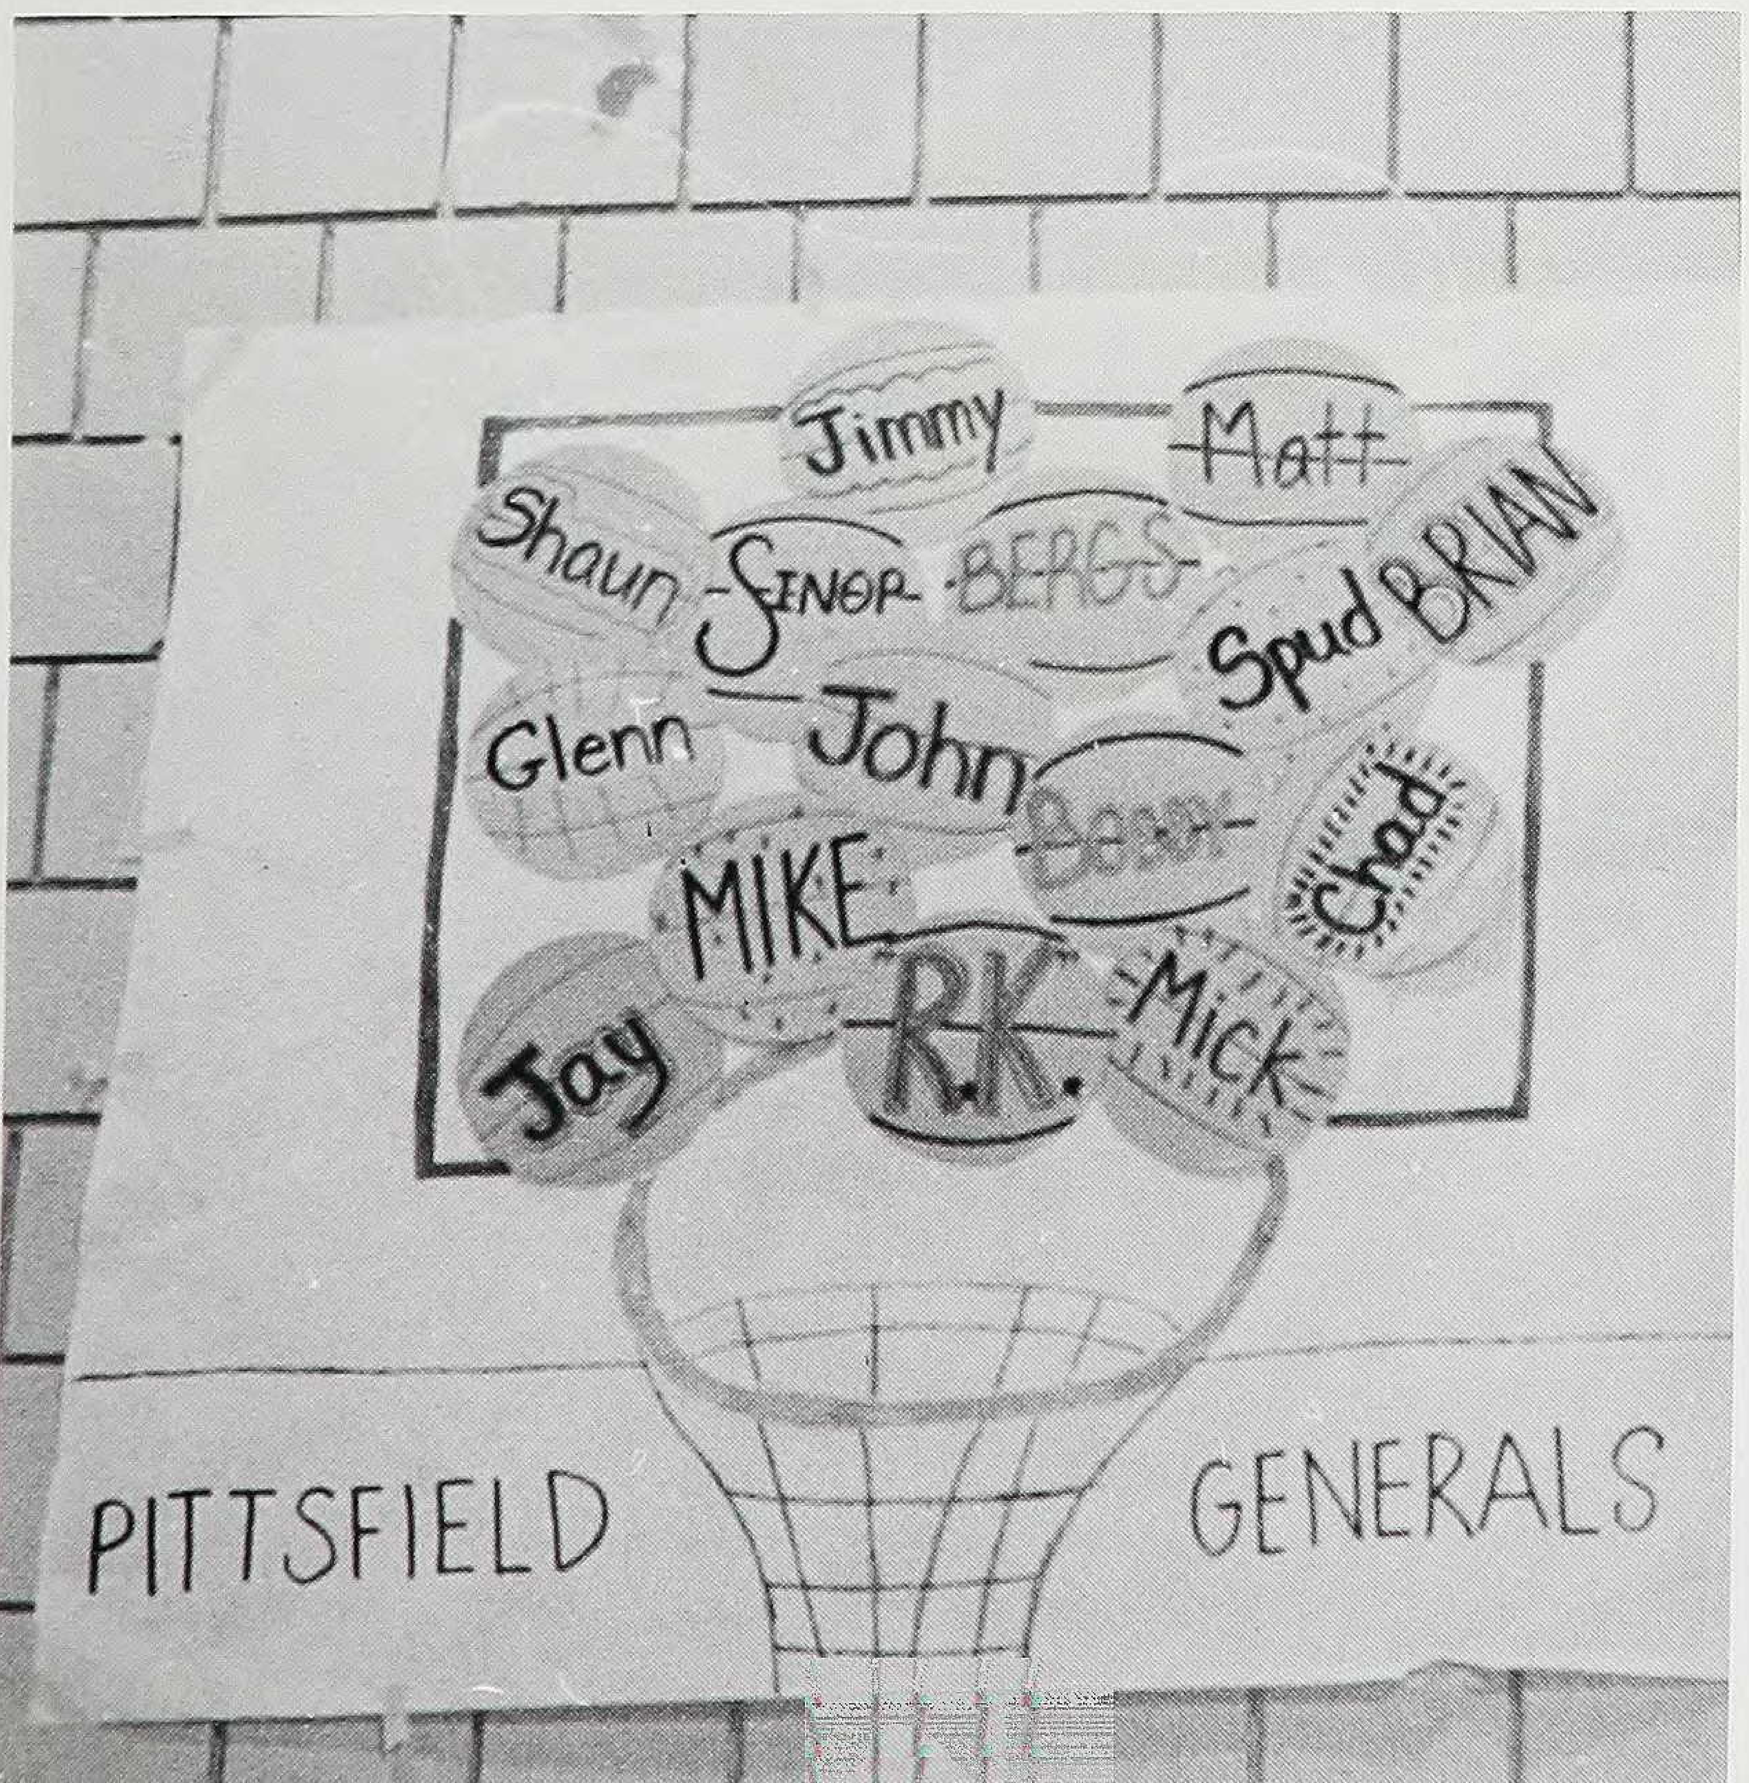

A classy Generals' basketball team ended a 29 game losing streak en route to a 3-15 final record under the supervision of new coach David Harte. A 66-54 victory over Lee gave the Generals their first win since February 1985. Senior co-captain Mike Lucido paced Pittsfield with an average of 14.3 points per game. Co-captain Andy Mickle, the team's leading rebounder, fellow seniors Glenn Gilbert and Bob Belford, and sophomore Jay DiCicco led a starting team whose average height exceeded six feet. The Generals' record does not reflect the team's improvement during the season. Several losses were suffered in very close games against strong teams from Drury, Monument, and Wahconah.

The boys concluded their season on a high note with a 61-54 win over Hoosac.

With three starting forwards exceeding six feet in height, the Lady Generals were destined to be champions. Pittsfield posted an impressive 17-1 overall record, earning them second seed at the Western Mass. tournament. Senior co-captain Keyburn McCusker, second among league scoring leaders, averaged 18 points per game. She received strong support from fellow six-footers co-captain Melanie Thistle and junior Maggie Ward, an outstanding rebounder and All-Berkshire selection. On the defensive end, guards Tina Sottile, Kelly Tierney and Chris Coughlin relied on experience to hold off strong teams. The Generals captured the Western Mass. crown with successive victories over Northampton, perennial powerhouse Chicopee, and a scappy Cathedral team. The Pittsfield team forged its way to the state finals. Key McCusker's 34 points helped clinch a victory over tournament veteran St. Peter. A five point deficit kept the state title out of reach but did little to blemish a fantastic year. McCusker was honored as the league M.V.P., and was an All-Western Mass. selection. Melanie Thistle was selected to the All-Northern division team.

A talent-laden Pittsfield Hockey Team crushed their competition in this classic 1987 season, finishing with a 21-0 record. This feat brought to completion a sixty game winning streak that extended over a three-year period. Senior co-captains Ken Fry and Mike Daury were aided by junior Toby Gibbons, filling the right-wing position, in leading a dominant offensive force, placed first, second, and third amongst the league's scoring leaders. A formidable General defense was sparked by senior co-captain Steve Godinho, Jeff Quadrozzi, and junior Jeff Renzi. In post-season play, the Generals' winning spirit brought them a 6-0 victory over Greenfield in the Western Mass. finals. Though they lost 6-3 to a strong Gardner team at the state semis, Pittsfield can attribute much of its success to spectacular goal tending performances by senior Chris Pearson. Ken Fry, Mike Daury, Chris Pearson, and Jeff Renzi were All-Berkshire selections, and Fry was also selected to the All-Western Mass. tournament team along with goalie Pearson.

Boys and Girls Sweep Slopes

The Girls' Alpine Ski Team overwhelmed the competition en route to a 16-0 season earning them the County Championship. The strength of the team was reinforced by senior captain Jeannine Coan and sister Patrice, both top 10 finishers. Sophomore Ana Cordon was a continually dominant force on the Alpine Ski scene, placing in the top three at county meets. Chris Jones and Kirsten Nelson added the depth that helped secure many victories. The Lady Generals finished a strong second at the state meet; a dazzling performance that earned them the best showing by a Berkshire County Team.

At season's end, Patrice Coan and Ana Cordon were All-Berkshire selections, also gaining berths on the Mass. State Team as a result of placing in the top ten at the state meet. They competed at Loon Mountain, New Hampshire in a 10 state meet. Both girls skied and scored for Massachusetts, the victorious team.

The boys' team concluded their season with a 14-2 record tying them for first place in the Berkshire County Alpine League. Tri-state veterans Al Barbalunga and Jon Sawyer earned spots on the All-Berkshire Team with several top five finishes each. Barbalunga also led the All-Berkshire skiers at the state meet, assuring Pittsfield a fifth place finish. Senior captain Todd Tuggey, an All-Berkshire second team selection, contributed vital top ten finishes at county meets sparking the Generals to numerous key victories.

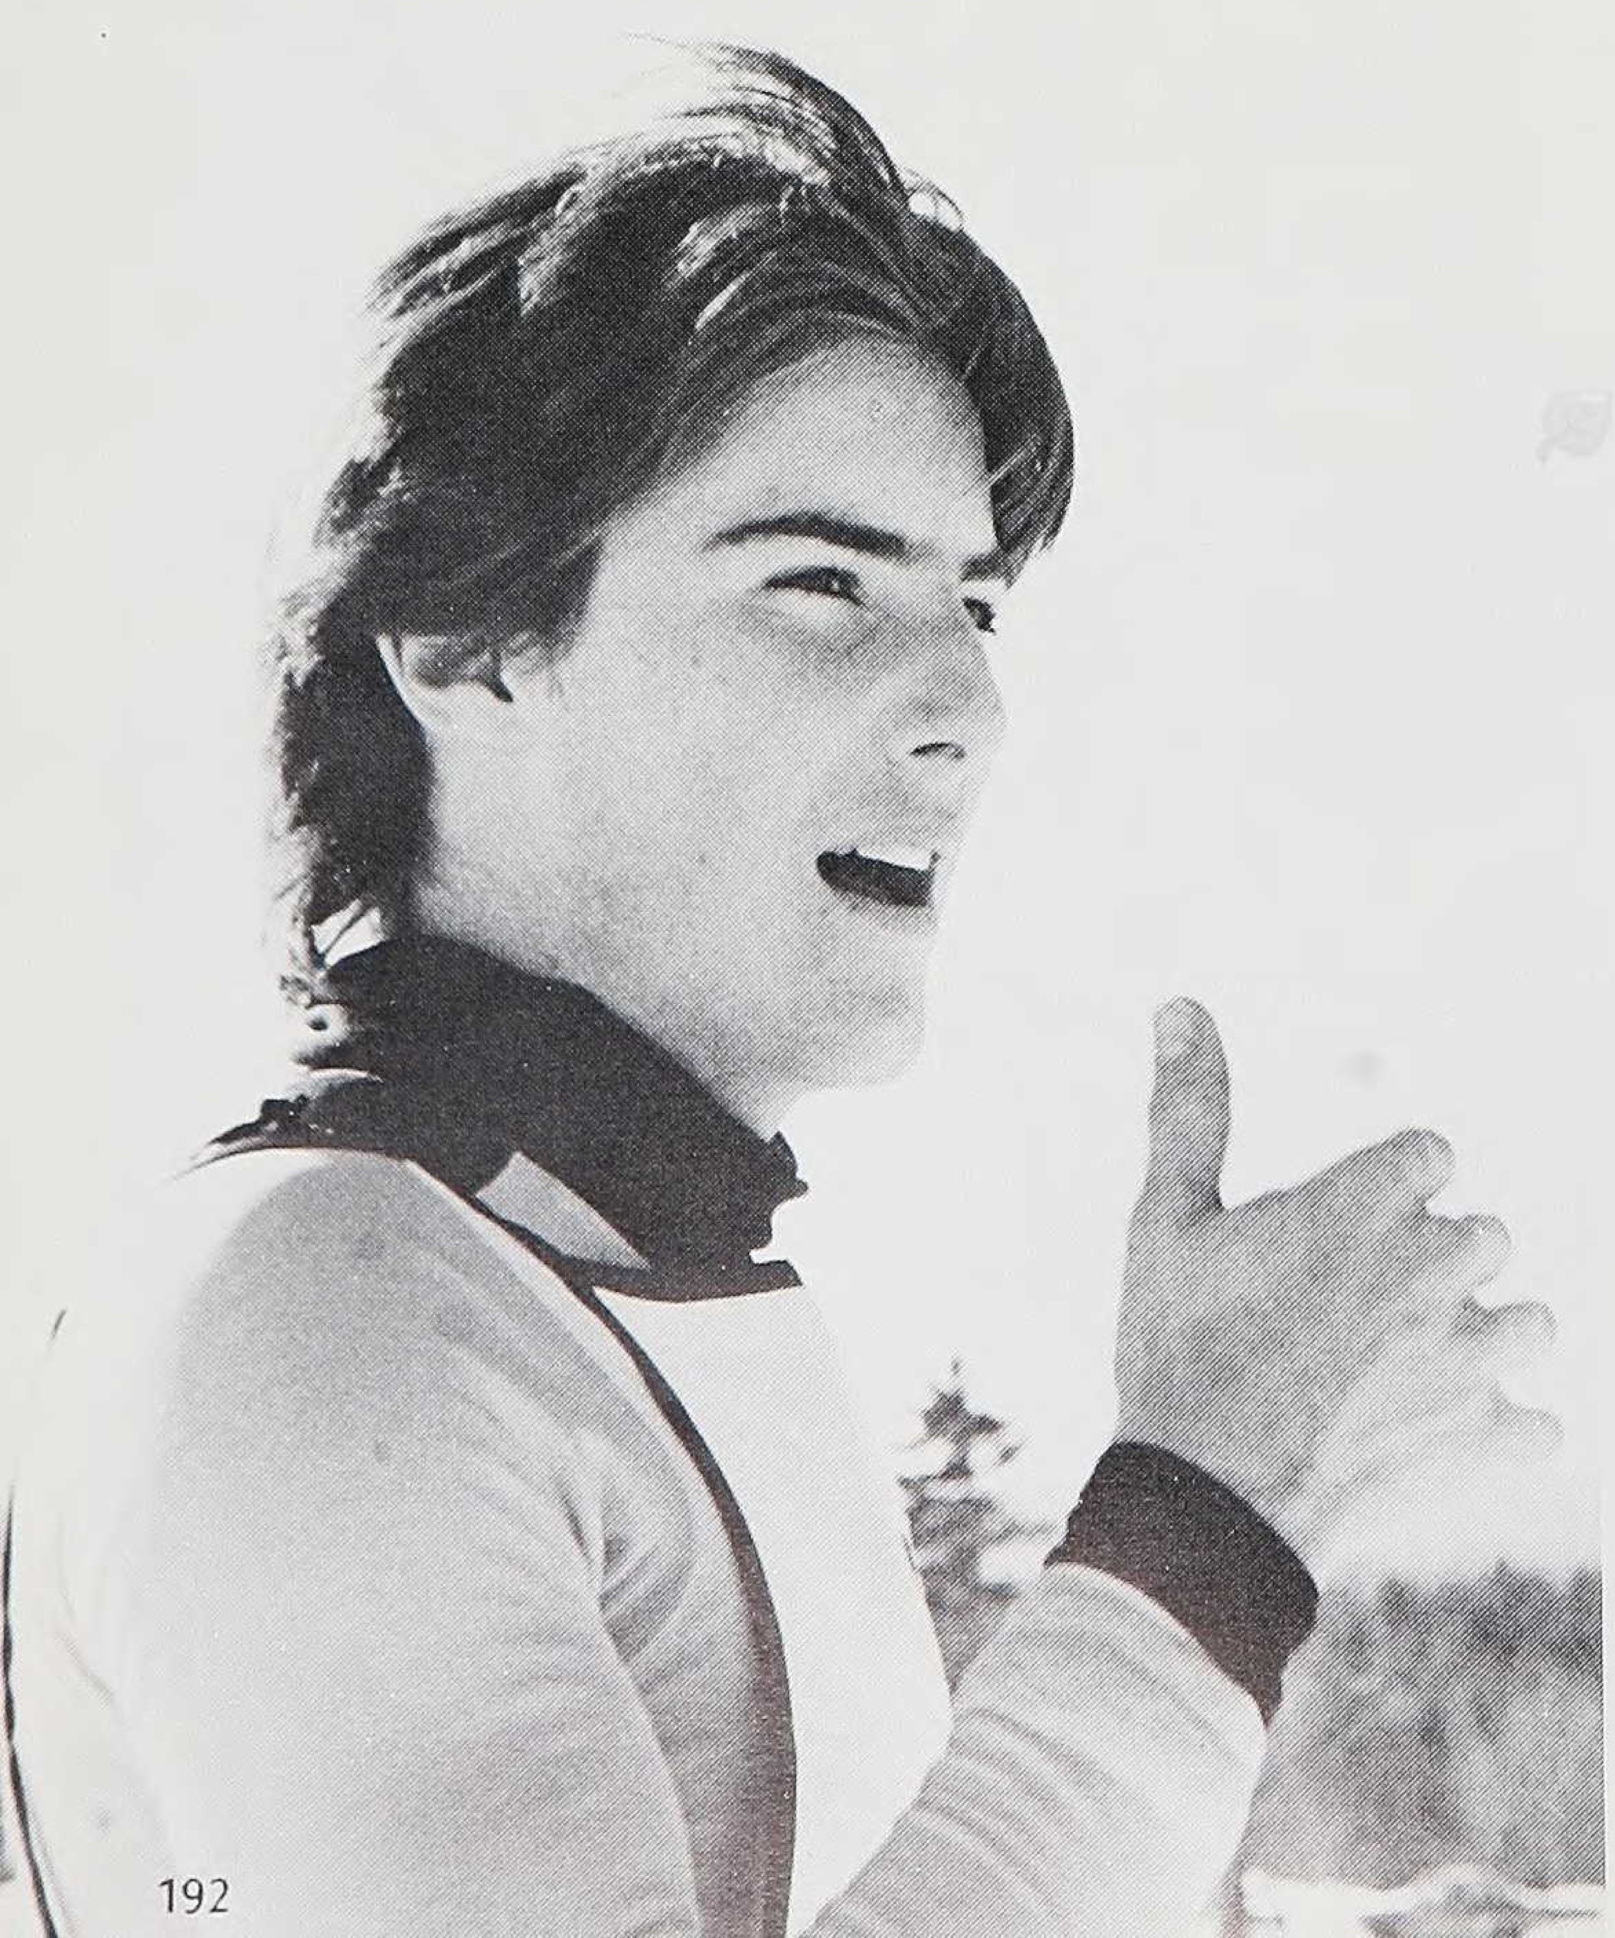

Cross Country Co-eds

Several skiers honored

The girls' cross country ski team handily held its own this season with consistent performances at all of their county-wide meets. Fourth year captain, Haven Parchinski, led the Generals to fourth place at most of their meets. Juniors Jessica Ervin, Second Team All-Berkshire selection, and Paula Ragan managed to crack the top fifteen several times. The state meet proved to be the team crowning glory. Performing at peak form, the girls brought home a fourth place finish with outstanding victories over local rivals Taconic and Wahconah. Jessica Ervin and Haven Parchinski finished in the top twenty in the state meet.

A young boys' team demonstrating perseverance, fought their way into the top five at several meets. Junior Shawn Mack led the way, finishing in the top fifteen at every race he skiied. Senior captain Ray Andrews, Fred Young, Dan French and Mike Koch rounded out a consistent A team. Mack was also honored as a Boys All-Berkshire Second Team selection.

Pittsfield finished the year with a solid 7-10 record in a very competitive Berkshire County Wrestling League in which they placed fourth. Their year was highlighted by a classic 32-29 comeback victory over city rival Taconic. The Generals were sparked by 100-pounder Chris Morse, who went undefeated during the regular season, and Ed Jones, a third-place finisher at 170 pounds in the Western Mass. Tournament. Morse and co--captains Jim Morgan and Geoff Crouse also posted impressive fifth place performances at Western Mass., enabling the Generals to capture the eighth spot in the team competition. Senior middleweight Brent Caccamo and heavyweight Paul Breck also earned key wins in several General triumphs.

The boys' team boasted a 10-2 regular season record and an eighth place finish at Western Mass. The highlight of the boys' season was the setting of a new school record in the 400 freestyle relay by Steve Laurin, Mike Laurin, Pat Mitchell, and Mark Daley. Senior captain Steve Laurin was a dominant force in the 200 freestyle. The team was led by strong individual performances by senior, Lee Codding, Mark Daley, and Pat Mitchell.

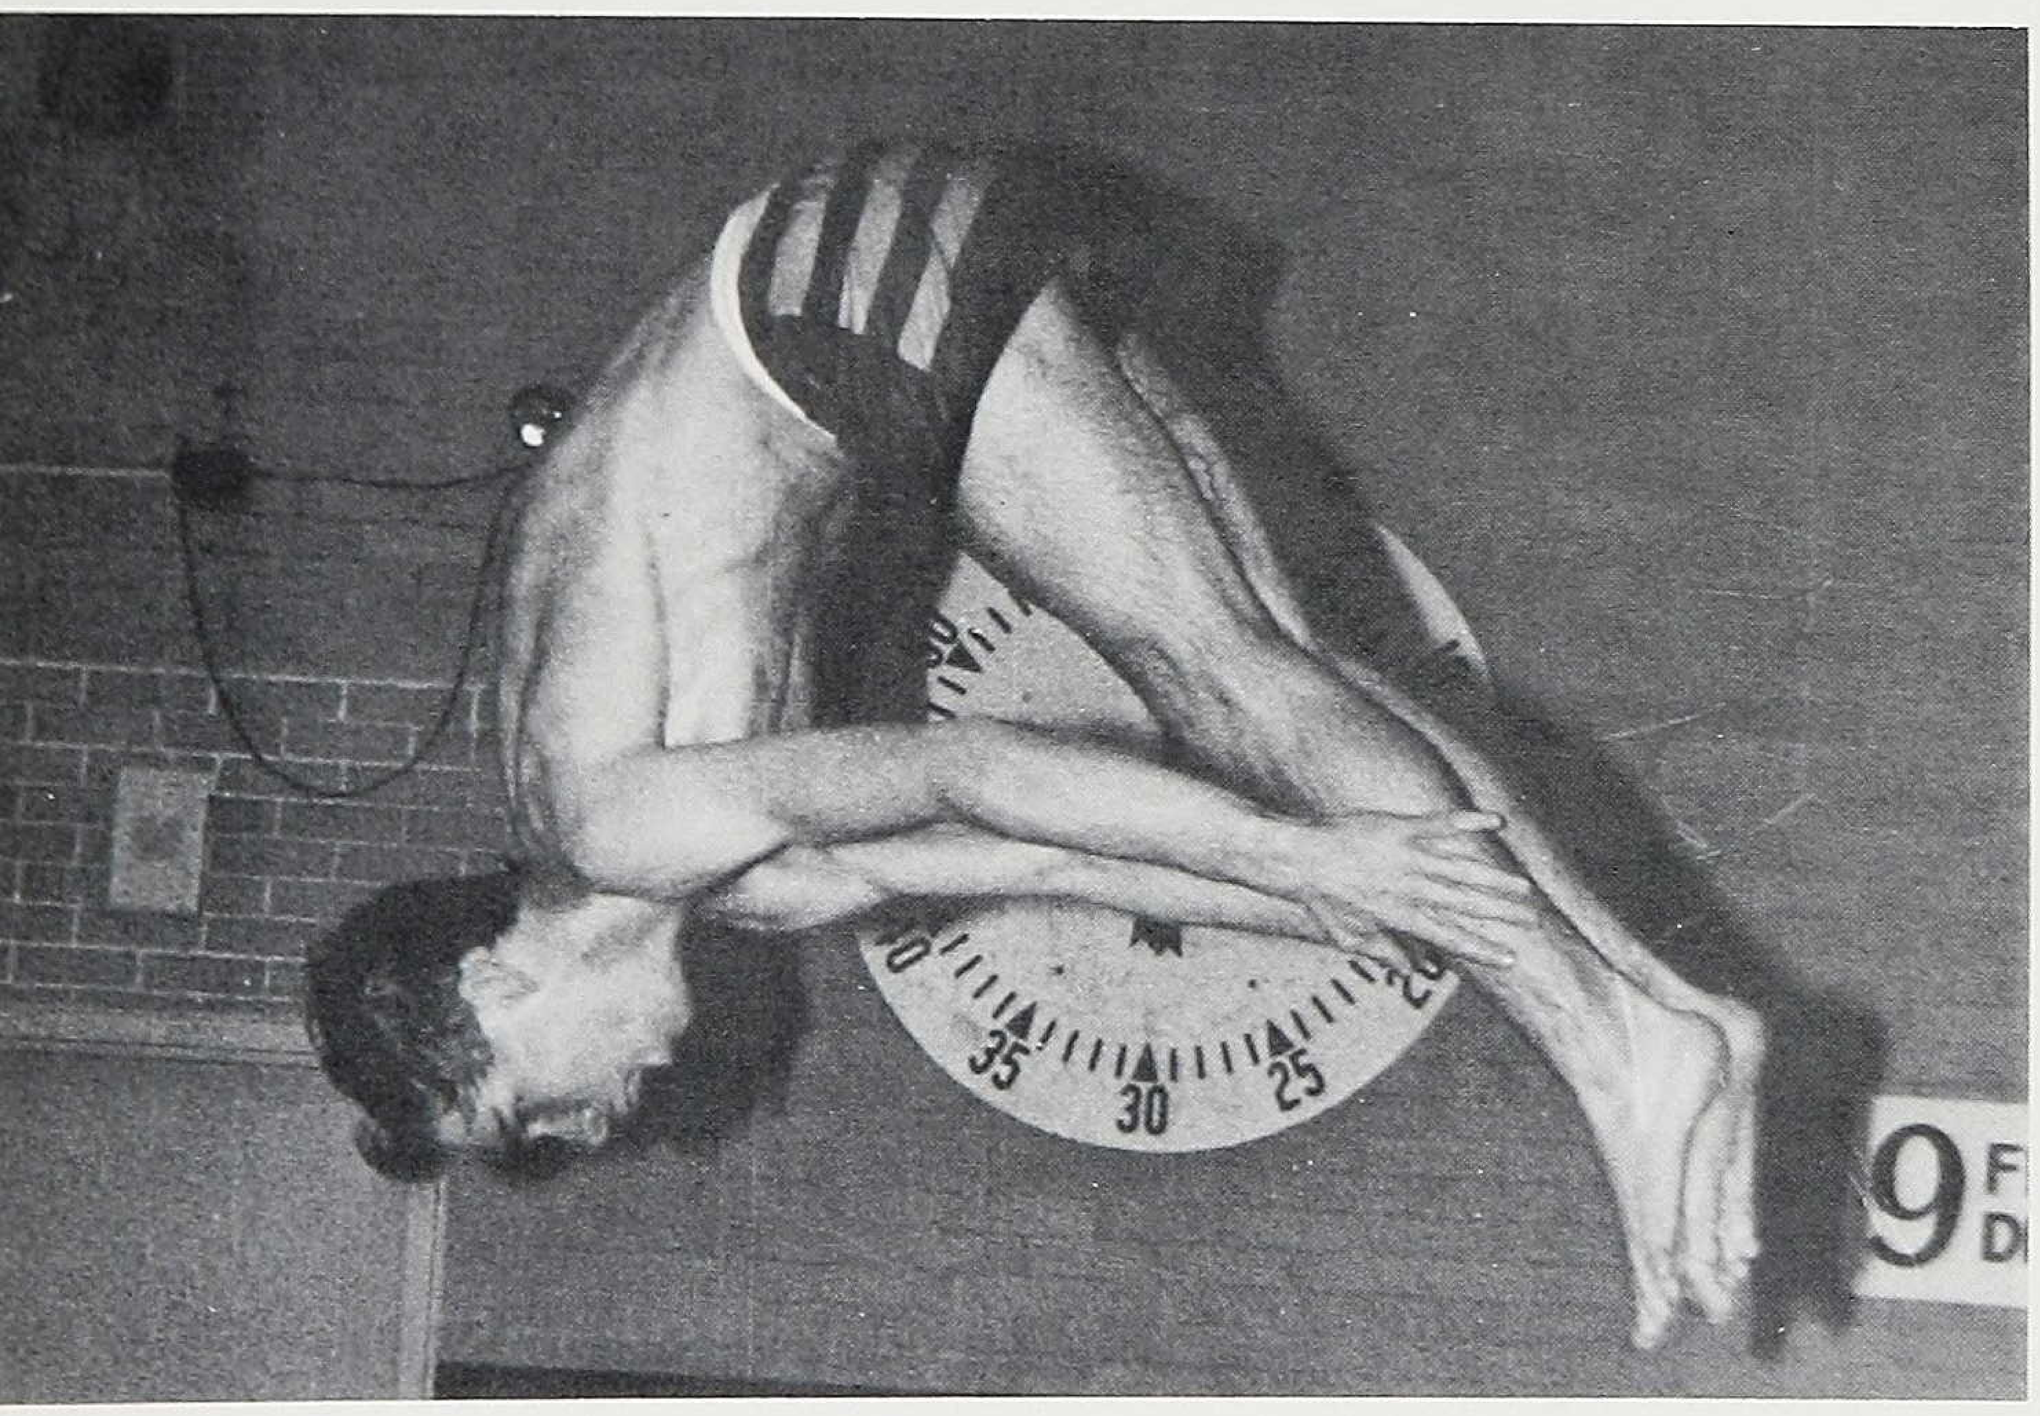

A senior-dominated girls' team a classic year with an 11-1 regular season record. Led by Berkshire County Girls' M.V.P. Connie Chmura, who placed fourth in the 100 backstroke at Western Mass., the girls' team also finished fourth, the best showing ever by a Berkshire girls' team. Noted for their superior depth, seniors Tara De-Winkeleer in the 200 and 500 freestyle, Melissa Quirk and Kate LeBeau in the 100 freestyle, and Sue Baldwin in the 100 breast-stroke consistently gave strong performances. Diver Lori Vincent, undefeated during the regular season, placed an impressive second at Western Mass.

In its usual classic style, the after-school Intramural Volleyball teams saw a good number of competitors participating. The students submitted lists of 6-8 player teams and elected their own captains. The Juniors had four teams. Representing their class was Sweetfeat, The Dirty ½ Dozen, Volleyball U.S.A., and B.A.V. The Sophomores were also in on the fun with Hawaiian Punch. The biggest battles went on between the three Senior teams: The Annihilated, B.O.B., and W.A.G.F.Y.U. These three teams qualified for the round robin, along with one junior team. The final game was an unusual turn of events for B.O.B., as W.A.G.F.Y.U. came from the fourth-ranked position to win the championship. The first game entailed a close win by W.A.G. F.Y.U. The second game was taken by B.O.B., leaving the last of three games to determine the winners. Both teams played well as W.A.G. F.Y.U. pulled through in a key situation to win by a score of 14-11.

Novices Triumph in Overtime

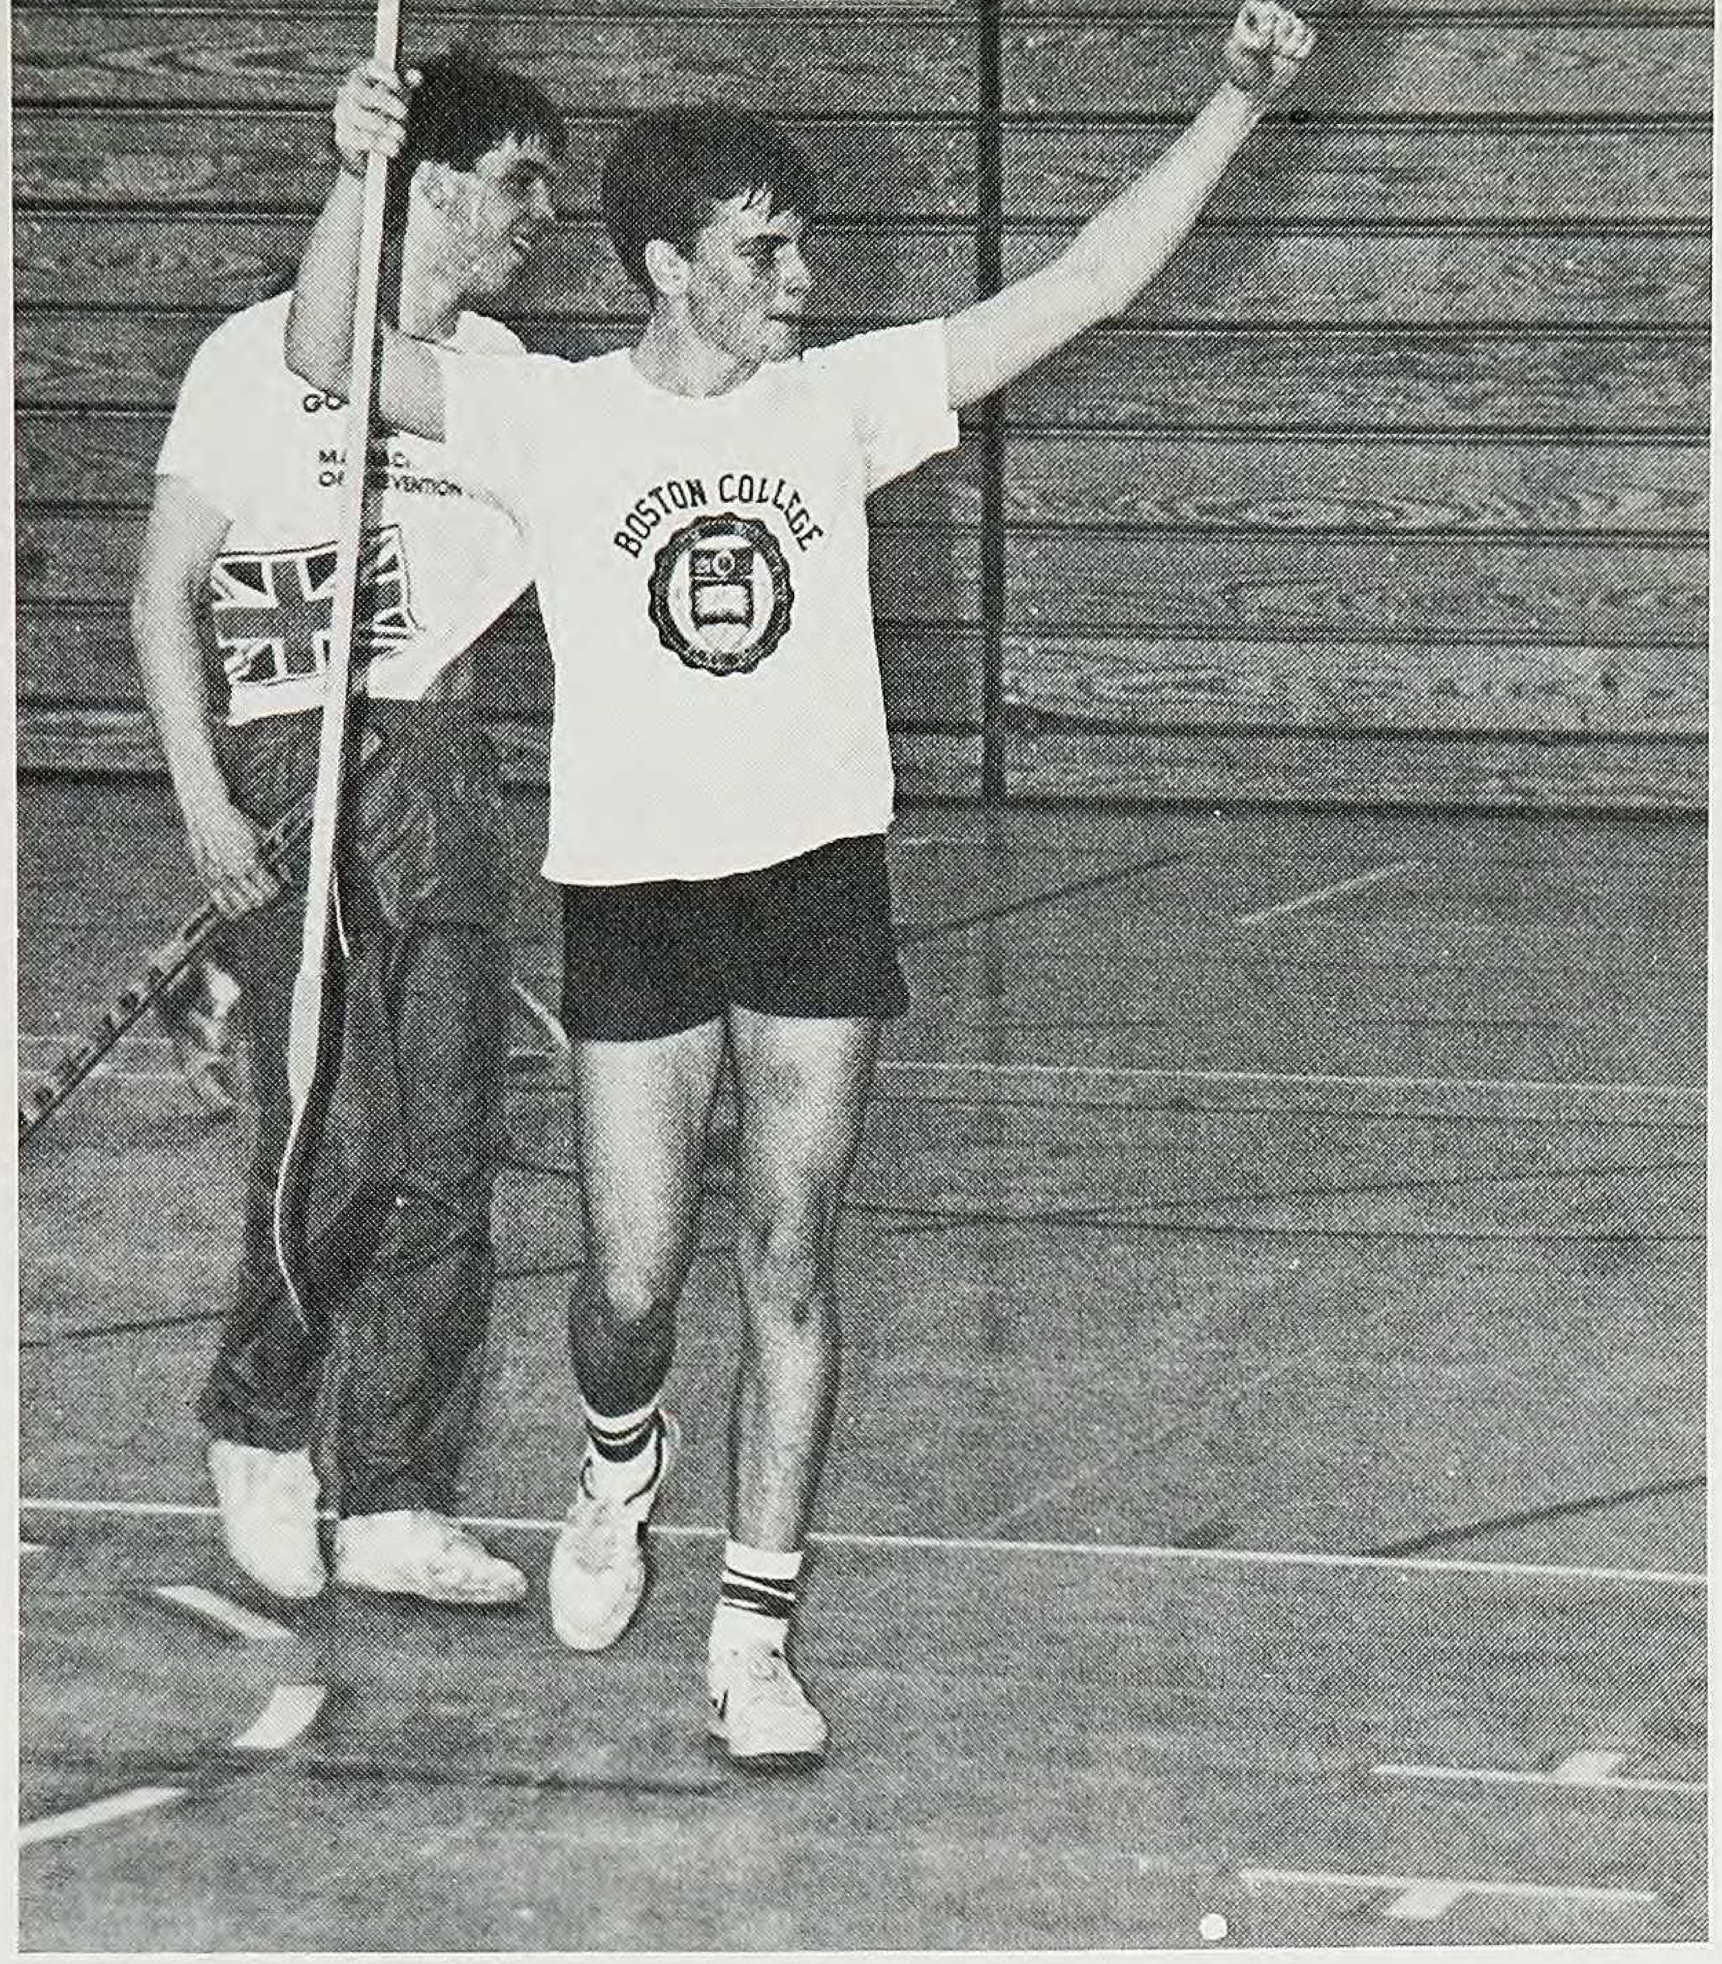

The competitive spirit was alive as ten Intermural Hockey teams clashed in hopes of reaching the finals. The defending champions, Hackers, were challenged by newcomers SWAFU. From the inception of the game, points were scored quickly as each of the worthy rivals tried to forge ahead. Due to the expert goal tending of Steve Karp and Mike Daury, the score was held at 4-4 until the game went into sudden death overtime. Bob Belford replaced Daury as goalkeeper, and Mike scored the winning point on a deflection off a Hacker defender. Everyone who participated in the league portrayed good sportsmanship and excellent ability as an air of comradery prevailed.

Superb pitching and nearly errorless defense spelled VICTORY as the team captured their fourth Berkshire County Championship in five years. Southpaw Steve Gniadek led league pitchers with a .51 earned run average and a 5-0 record. Pitcher Mike Lucido shared the honors with a 4-1 record and a 3.85 earned run average, the seventh lowest in the league.

Offensively they were also a team to be reckoned with. They scored ten or more runs in six games and were never shut out by their opponent. Steve Little accumulated a batting average of .450, fourth highest in the league. Pat Mitchell was team leader in runs batted in with eighteen to his credit. Mike Capparella, John Salvie, Jamie DiMassimo and Mike Lucido deserve mention in batting department.

The 10-0 trouncing of McCann Tech of the Southern Division clinched the championship. In the Western Mass Tourney, the spunky team ended the season in second place.

Girls Polish Off Season

The girls' softball team earned them a third place finish in the Northern Division Berkshire County Softball League. They enjoyed a four game win streak and a hard fought victory over County Champion McCann early in the season. Junior pitcher Elana Delusky hurled Pittsfield's only two shutout victories during the season. Several one run and two run losses were evidence of the team's true grit and determination. Senior co-captain Tammy Voloscove, Sue Dahrouge, and C.C. Coughlan sparked the team with their impressive performances at bat. A tough and consistent defense was anchored by third baseman Alicia Monyahan and center fielder Peggy Ward. Scoring twenty or more runs in three regular season games and ten or more in three additional games, they dominated their opponents.

The Pittsfield High Girls' Track Team enjoyed a classic 8-0 season, enabling them to capture the Berkshire County Track Championship. The girls' season was highlighted by key victories over rivals from Wahconah and Mount Greylock. As proof of their strength, the 50-member team broke the point barrier in meets against Mount Anthony and Drury. Several consistent performers sparked the Generals along the way. Patrice Coan was undefeated during the regular season in the javelin and 2-mile as well as Raylene Roberts in the 400, Maggie Ward in the high jump, and Chris Munier and Luci Bertoldi, in the 800. Munier, Coan, Roberts, and Ward were also champions in their respective events at the Berkshire County Individuals meet. A 4 x 100 relay team surprised everyone with a win at Individuals also. Seniors Sarah Brezniak and Lisa Mastroly also added depth to the squad. The Generals were led by senior co-captains Amy Vigeant, a strong contender in the 100 and 200 meter sprints, Tara DeWinkeleer in the field events, and Jeannine Coan in the 2-mile. Their triumphant season was extra-special to the team since they had dedicated it to their coach, Ed Barrett.

League MVP and senior co-captain Ken Fry helped the Boys' Track team to a 7-1 record and second place in the Berkshire County Track League. Fry, who was the eventual long jump champion, led the league in points but was not alone. Rob Gaucher, a dominant force in the discus along with Jim Heath, the individual champion in the pole vault, also turned in several top performances. The Generals had a strong long distance corps which included seniors Steve Godinho, Matt Malatesta, and juniors Mike O'Connell and Fran Tetlou. An impressive 4 x 400 relay team went undefeated during the regular season. Senior Rob Maloney jumped a league best 6-feet in the high jump and clinched the 200 meter individual championship. Fry teamed up with Maloney to form a formidable pair in the sprinting and jumping events. Experience and hard work seemed to pay off this year for the Pittsfield boys.

The tennis team finished a challenging season with a respectable 11-2-3 record in a particularly competitive Berkshire County Tennis League. Despite injuries, senior co-captain Connie Chmura won ten matches at No. 1 singles earning her the second seed in the Western Mass Singles Tournament. Freshman Nick Mangiapane filled the No. 2 singles while senior Martha Vazakas and sophomore Maria Maxymillian and Mike Ellis vied for the No. 3 and No. 4 singles positions. Seniors Rick Cordon and Pete Dolfis teamed up with various partners to lead the doubles teams to victory. The purple and white showed their fight by defeating a strong Taconic team after a disheartening tie earlier in the season. Key wins over Lenox and Wahconah near the season's close helped Pittsfield clinch second place in the league and a Western Mass Team Tournament berth.

The golf team continued on a winning course this year, compiling a 13-0 regular season record. The Generals were rarely challenged by their opponents, shutting out teams from Taconic and St. Joe. The purple and white attributed much of its success against tough teams from Mt. Greylock and Drury to its depth. Juniors Dave Desnoyers, Tom Sykes, Jamie Hurley, John Colwell and seniors Joe Stevens and Glenn Gilbert were all capable of shooting sub-85 rounds. Senior Shaun Powers was second in the league with an impressive 76 shot average. On several occasions the top six golfers all cracked the 80 barrier leaving their foes little hope. Pittsfield concluded a classic season by easily capturing the Western Mass Division I Crown and finishing second in the State Tourney.

Academics

Outstanding Class

Statistically stands out

Never before has a class been granted more money than the graduating class of 1987. As a result of the students hard work and great accomplishments, nearly $300,000 in scholarships and prizes were distributed.

Along with being recognized for academic ability, the senior class also acquired a name for themselves on the sports scene. They won four Western Mass championships and state runner-up trophies in girls' skiing, girls' basketball, and golf.

They were a class to be reckoned with and a class to look up to.

Rotary Club picks Steve Decker and Kelly Reardon for "Service above Self."

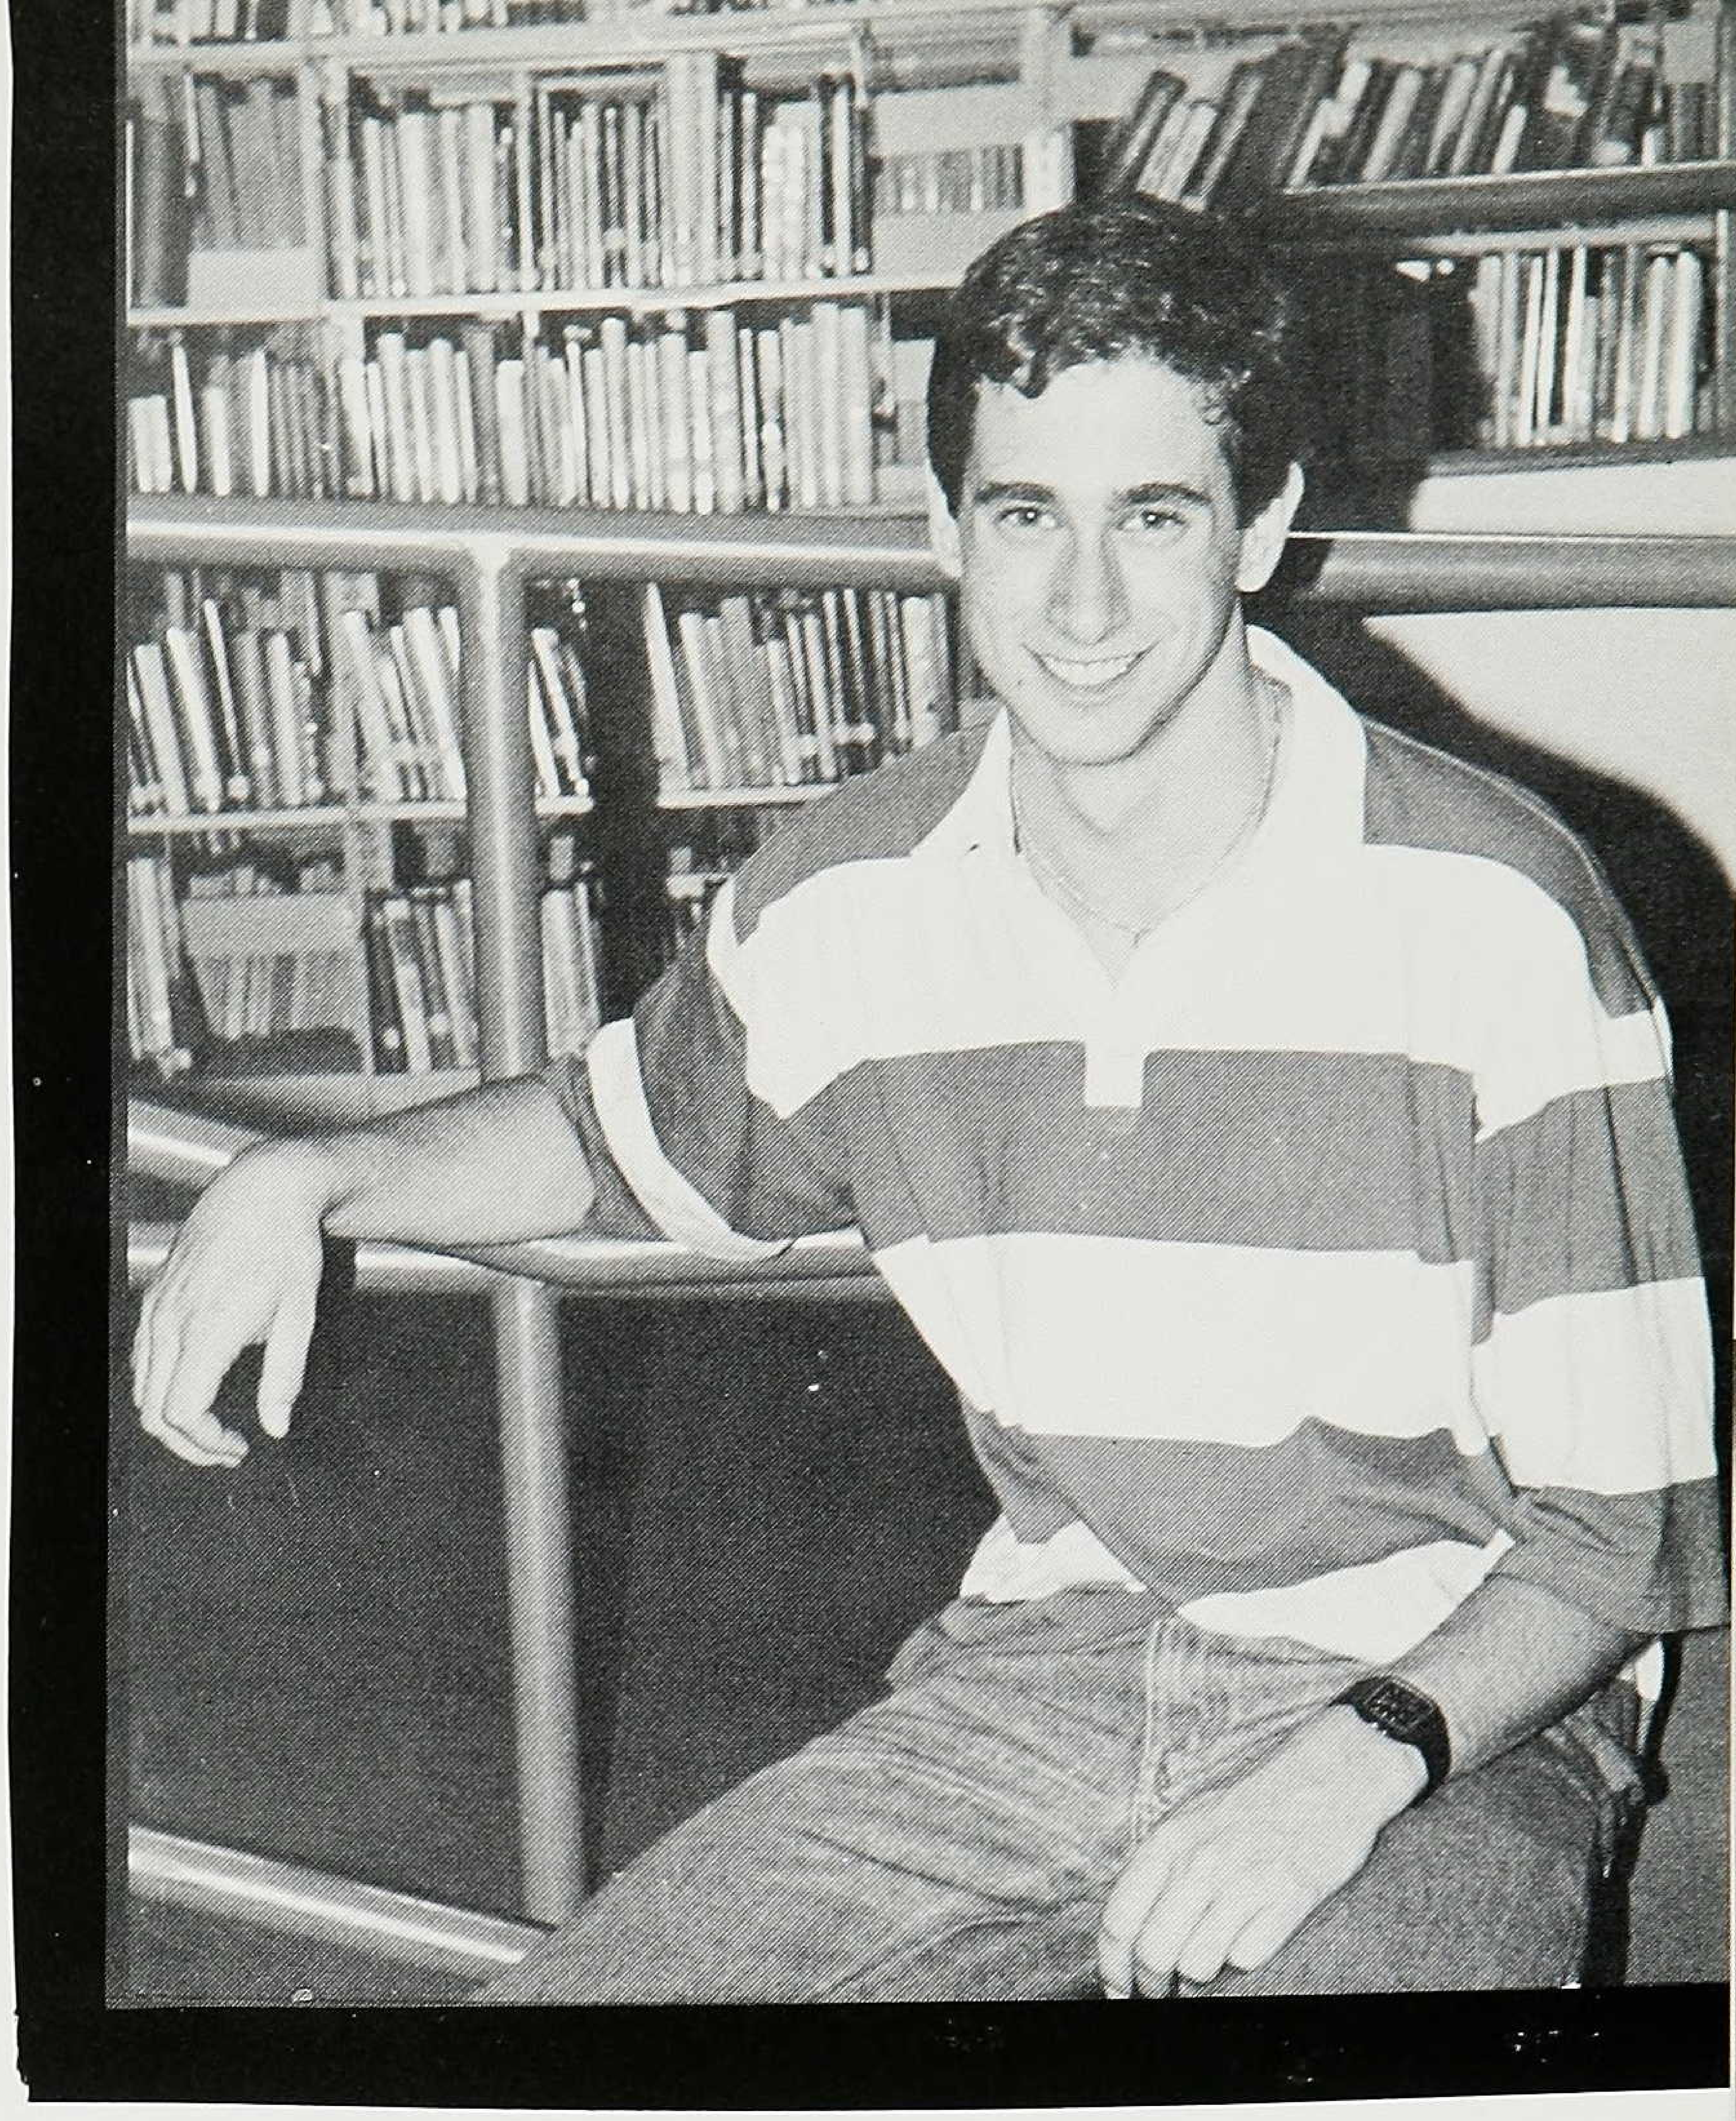

Both a general scholarship and a "Service Above Self" award was presented by the Rotary Club of Pittsfield this year. Margaret Ward was awarded a scholarship of $750. Steve Decker and Kelly Reardon, in recognition of their service to school and community, were given a plaque engraved with their names.

Each year, two students who are in their junior year are nominated for the Chancelor's Talent Award. Upon nomination, the students are requested to attend a one day program in April at the University of Massachusetts. During their stay, they are required to take an hour-long achievement test in math and English. Based upon the results, the student may receive a four-year tuition waver for the University. Because of their high academic standing, the recipients this year are Jim Brennan and Sarah Brezniak.

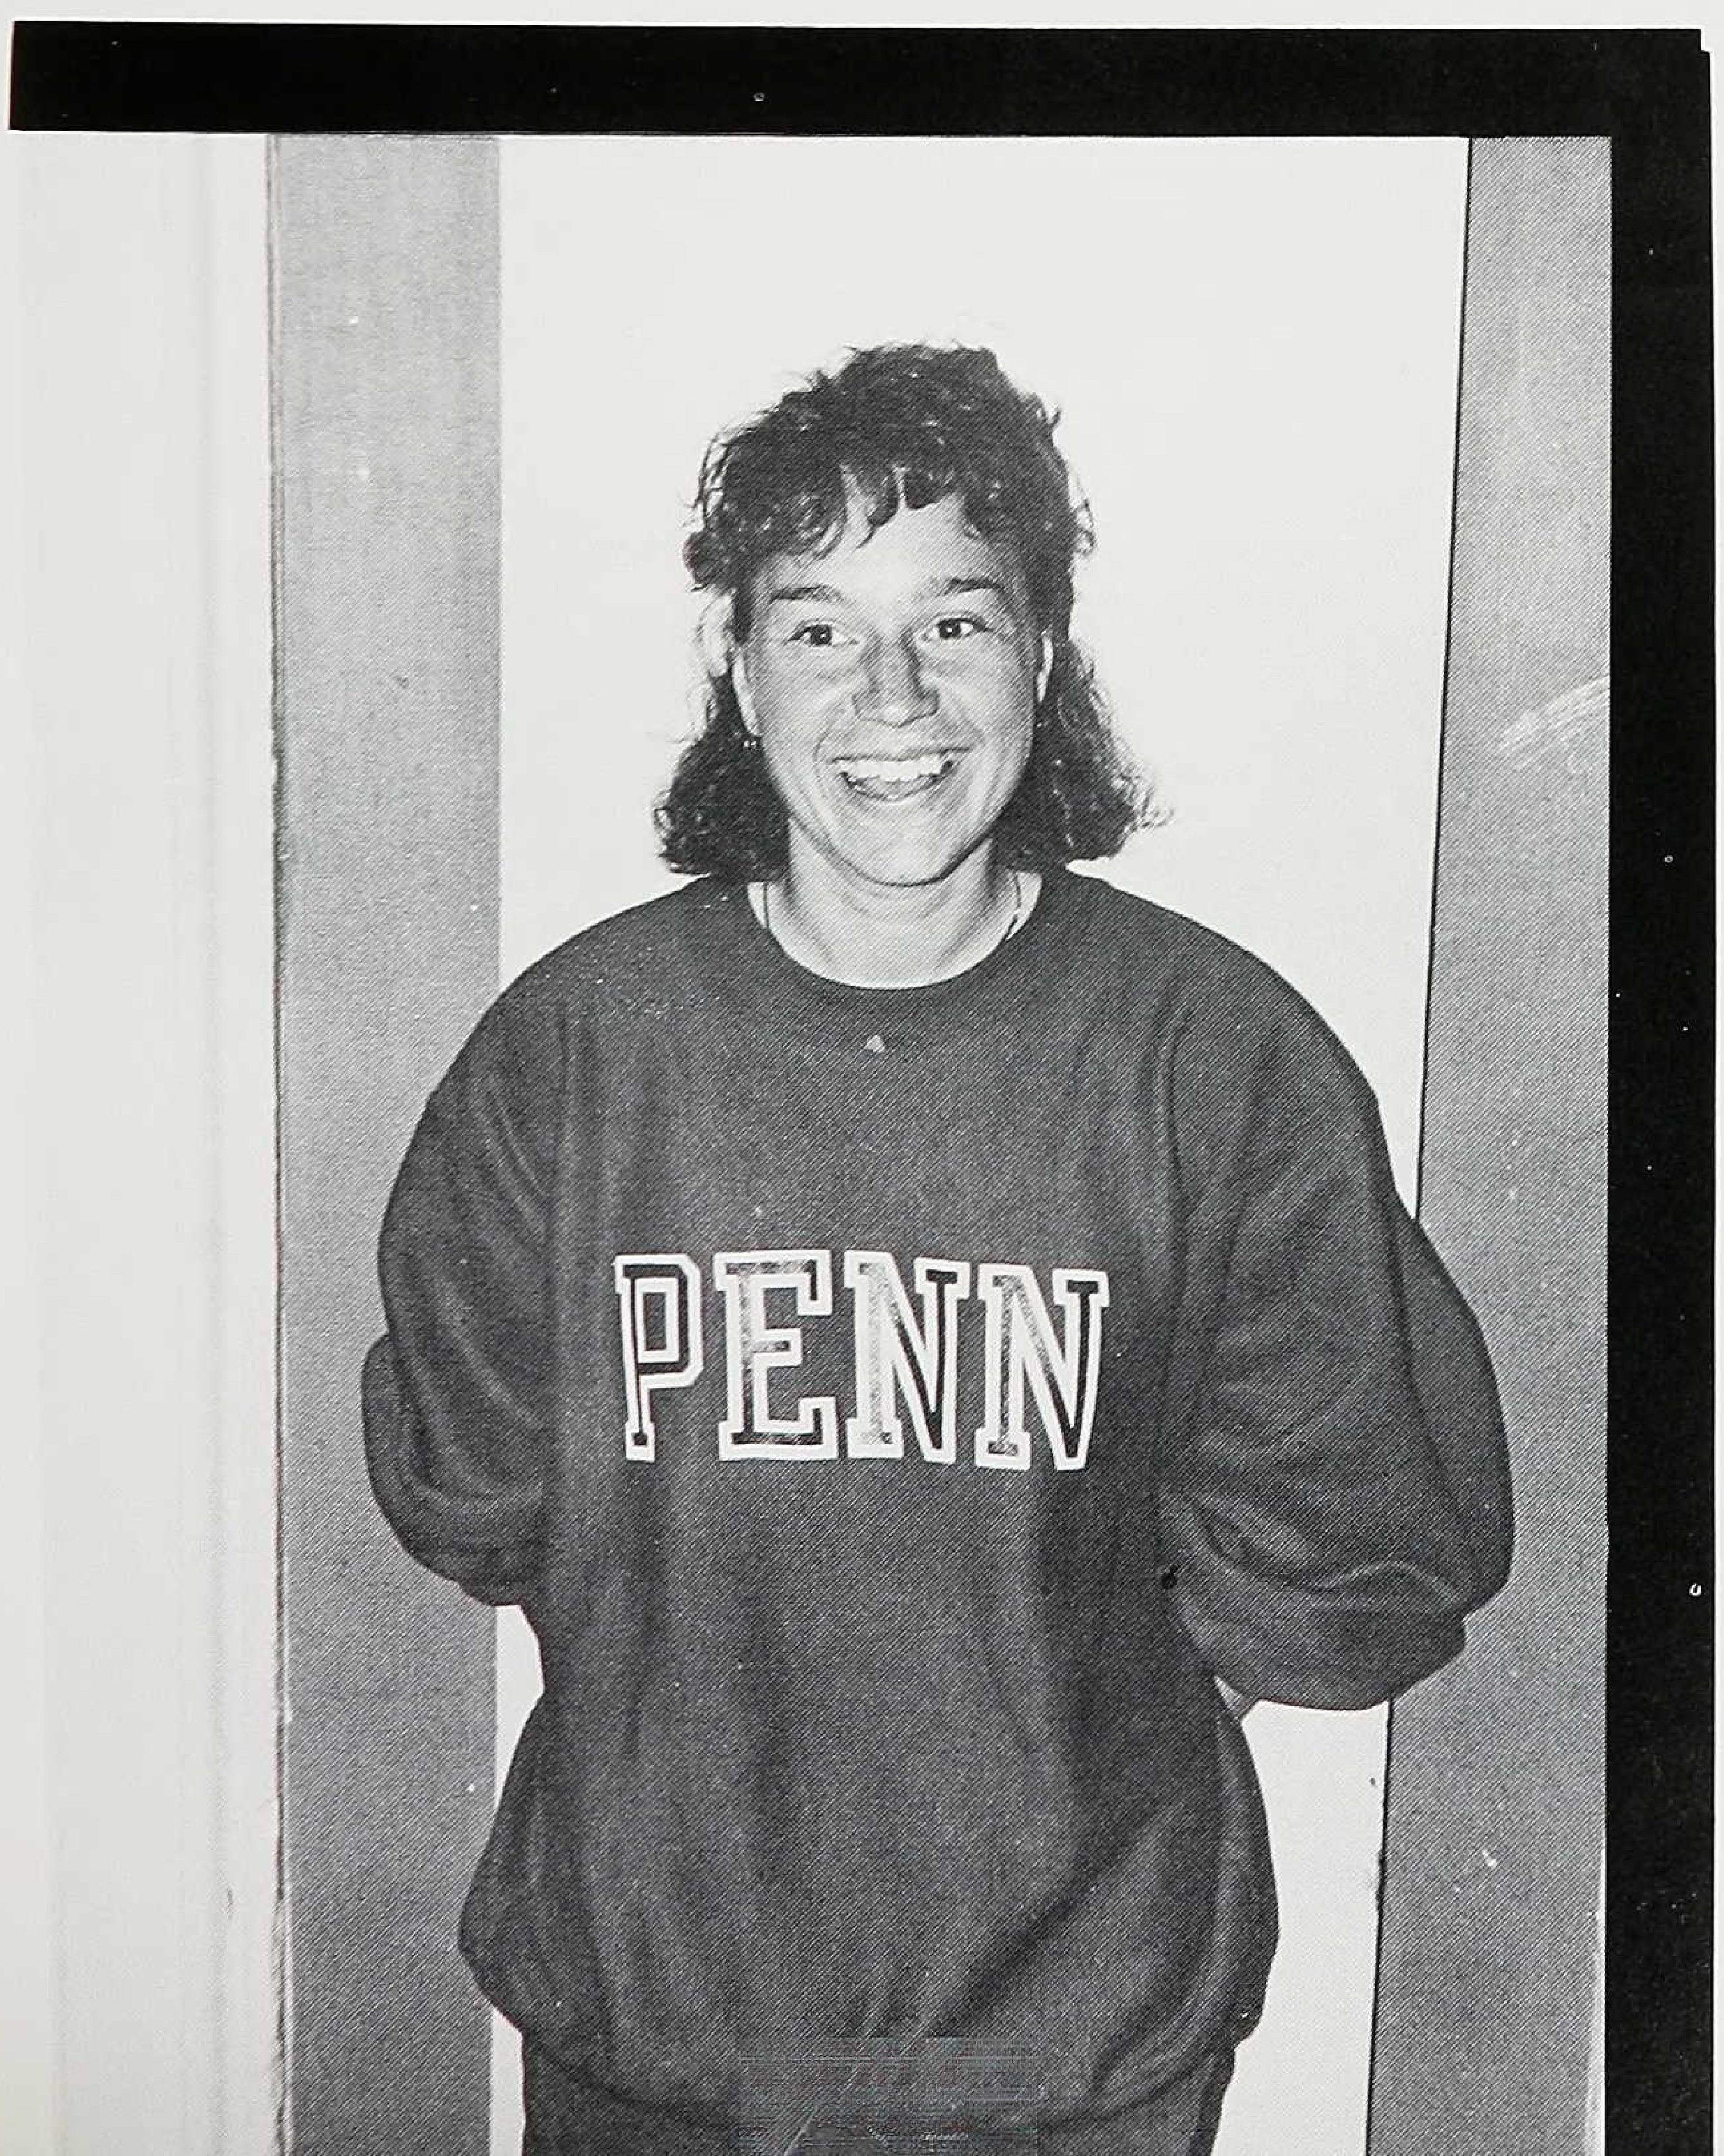

The Chancelor's choices are Jim Brennan and Sarah Brezniak.

Daughters of the American Revolution scholarship was won this year by Michael Messer. This Scholarship is traditionally awarded to the male or female high school senior who has demonstrated the qualities of leadership, dependability, patriotism and good citizenship. In addition, service to community and school must make evident these attributes.

Michael Messer wins DAR Award.

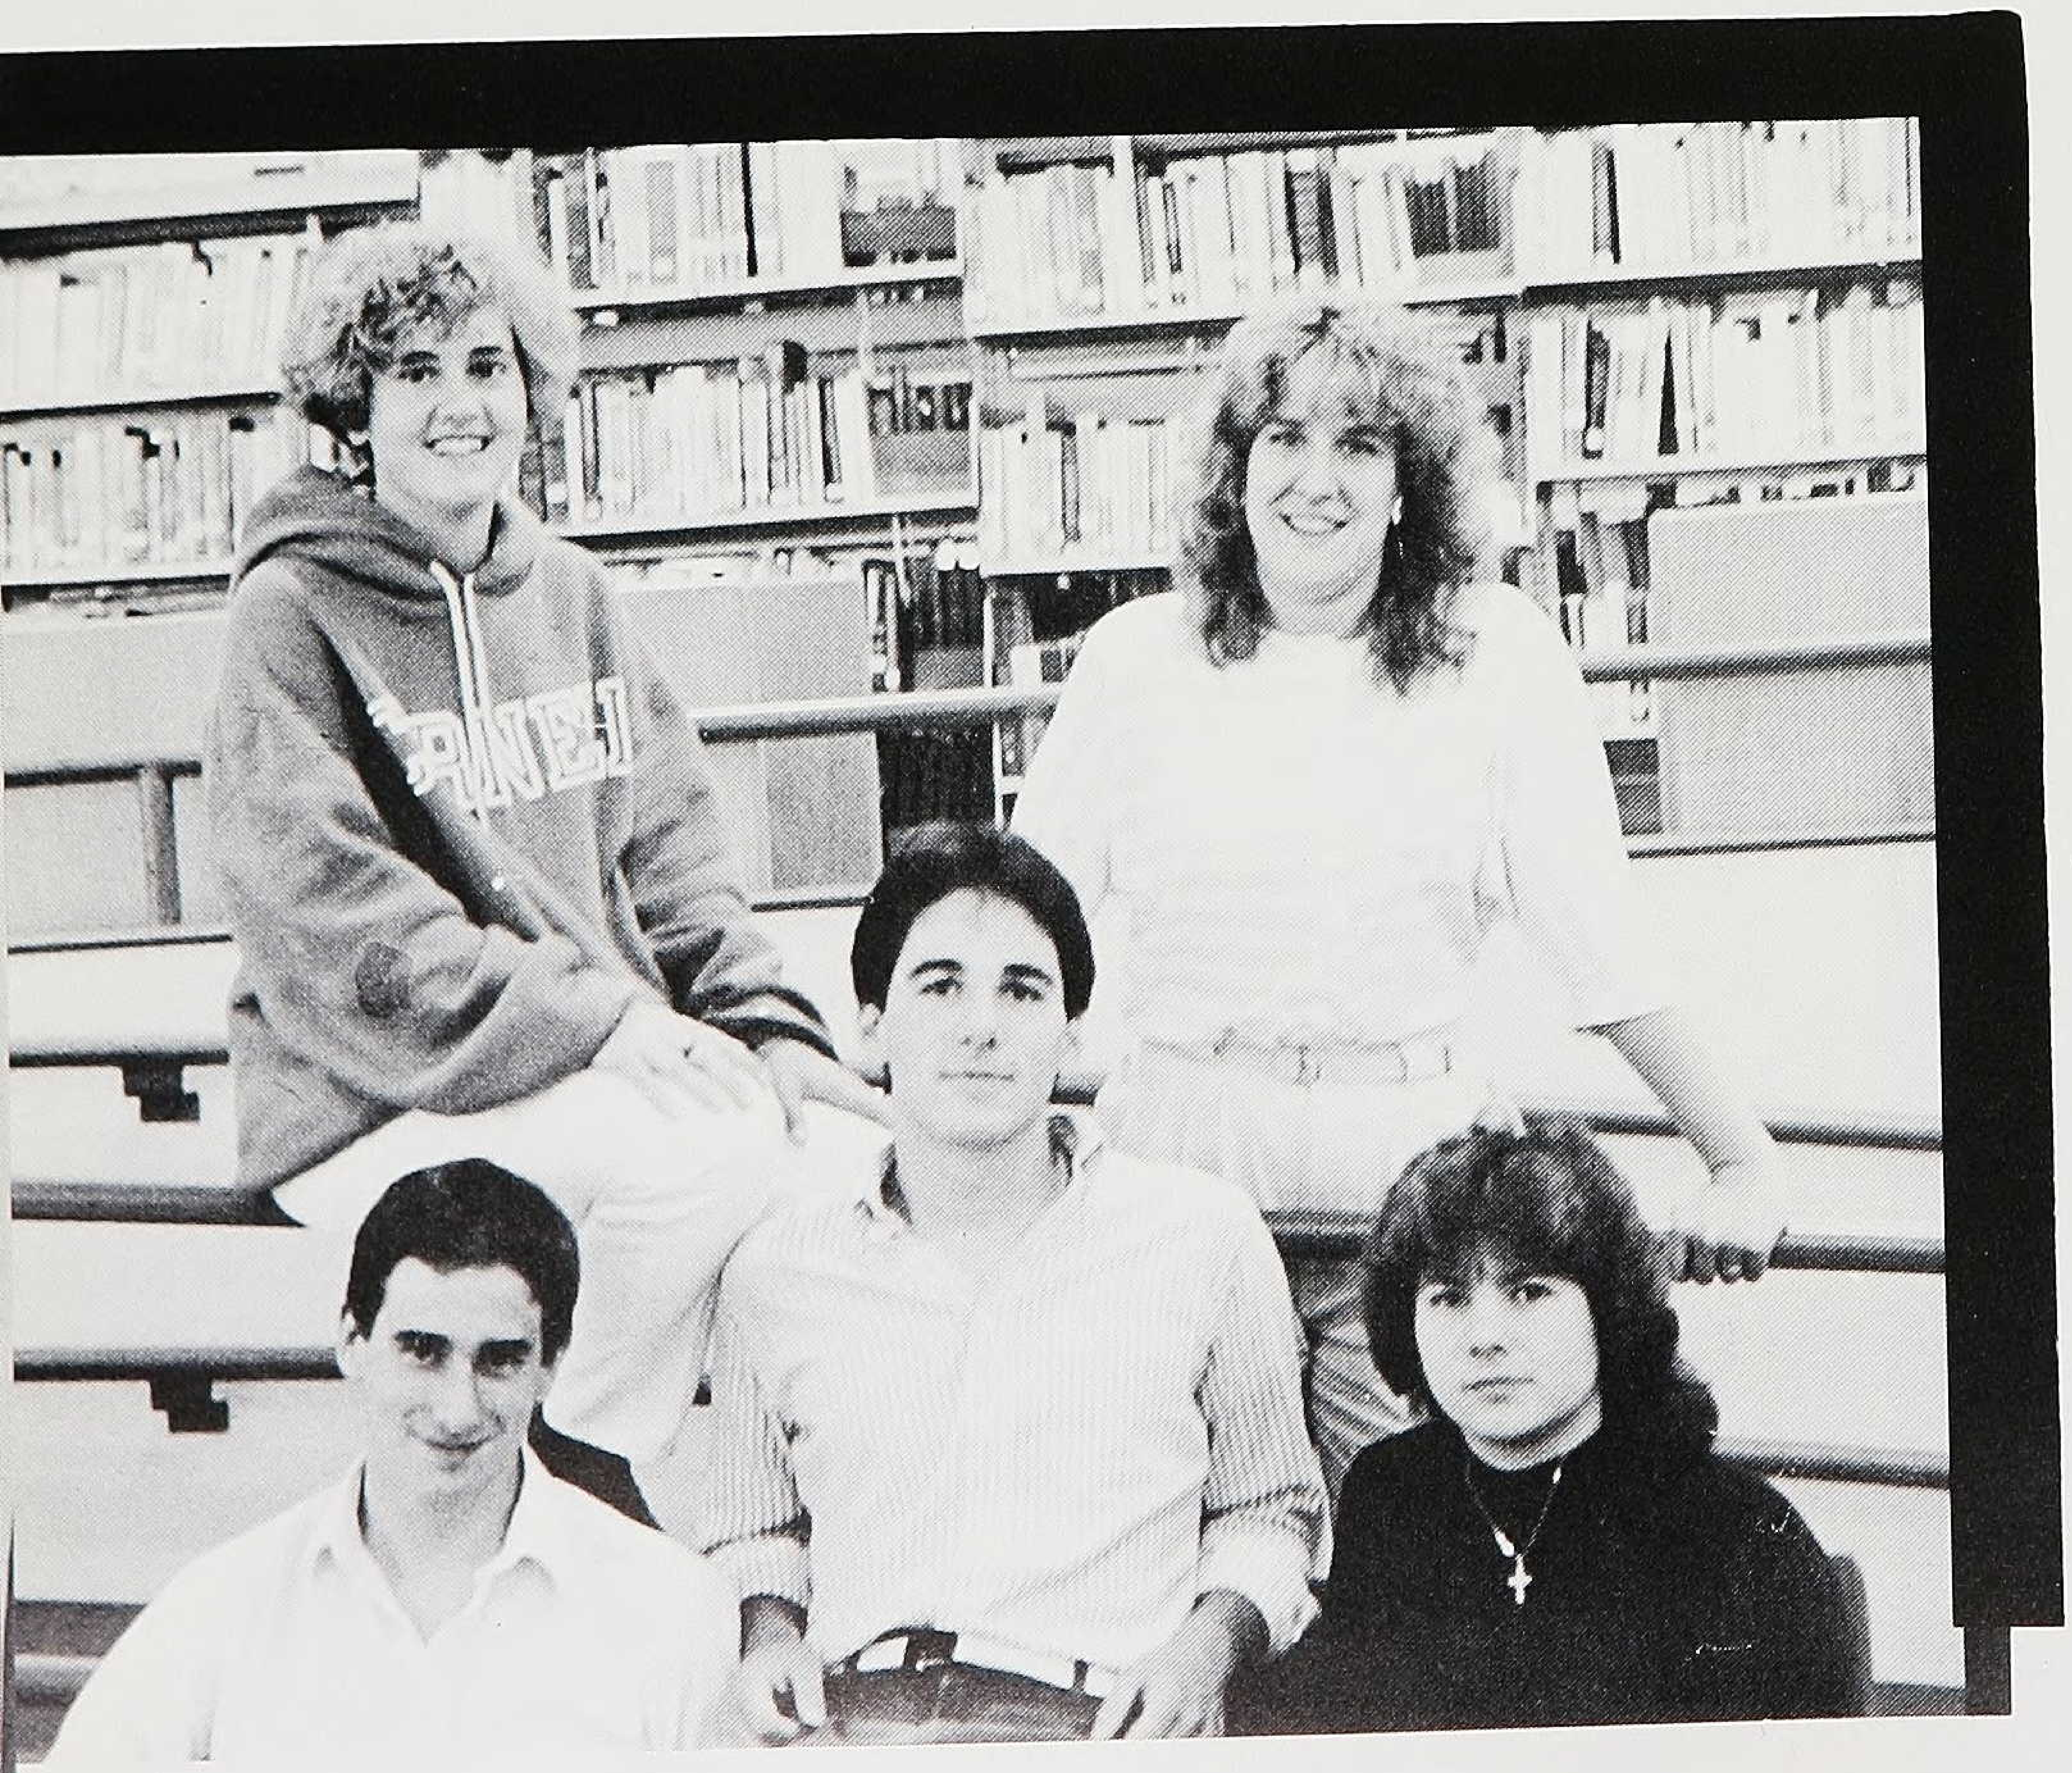

"Classmates Today - Neighbors Tomorrow" is the premise of the Jewish War Veterans' Award. The criteria for the recipient of this honor are understanding a sense of comradeship, a spirit of good will and the ability to "live and help live." The student chosen must also be an active member of the school, community and have a superior scholastic record. Martha Vazakas, possessing these high standards, was the honored recipient.

GE grants Rob Maloney, Gigi Karras, Ed Maynard, Sarah Brezniak and Rob Gaucher STAR Awards.

STAR, which stands for Student and Teacher Academic Achievement Recognition, was granted to 10 Berkshire County students, 5 of whom are members of Pittsfield High School. There were only 100 given in the United States. The recipients, chosen by a national committee, must prove academic excellence, outstanding scholarship and be a relative of a G.E. Employee. Transcripts and a list of activities also serve as criteria for this coveted $1500.00 award sponsored by the General Electric Company. The recipient then donates $500.00 to the teacher of his choice. This year the winners were Sarah Brezniak who chose Miss Murphy as her recipient, Rob Maloney selected Mr. Daley, Gigi Karras named Mr. McGinty, Ed Maynard chose Mr. Reagan, and Rob Guacher designated Mr. Blowe.

The Commonwealth Scholarship is a relatively new award, this year being its third. The eligibility requirements include participation in extracurricular activities and a cumulative grade point average of at least 87.5. If a student meets this criteria, he is nominated by the school and if selected, receives a grant. Five seniors, Sarah Brezniak, Sharon Young, Gigi Karras, Greg George and Michael Messer received the Commonwealth grants.

First Row: Kenn Boss, Sharon Young, Henry Leibowitz, Christie Koch, Thea Politis. Second Row: Greg George, Steve Godinho, Ed Maynard, Sara Brezniak, Noah Elkin.

National Merit Semi-Finalists and Letter of Commendation winners were chosen because of their superior scores tallied on the October 1985 PSAT's. The selection index is calculated by doubling the verbal score and adding the math score. The optimum score is 240. Letter of Commendation recipients had scores ranging between 179 and 200. Provided that their PSAT scores were 201 or above, the National Merit winners were selected on the basis of transcripts recommendations and activities.

Academic Growth

New Editions

Arts took a strong foothold in the schedule of seniors this year. Both AP Art and Dramatic Performance were offered and many juniors and seniors took advantage of the in-depth level of learning. AP Art explored a variety of media: sculpture in paper mache and clay, silk screening, painting in both oil and watercolor, and drawing in pastels, charcoal and Indian ink. To receive college credit, students must submit a portfolio to be judged by the Advanced Placement Board. In an art show held at the high school, many students participated, and Matt Pothier and Shaun Clarkson received Honorable Mentions.

Dramatic Performance is designed for those students who are interested in pursuing an acting career or have a strong interest in acting. Students design and construct their own sets, study periods of dress and create their own costumes, and refine their acting technique through monologues in a variety of genre. One of their productions was "12 Angry Jurors," which was performed on February 27. Many of the students participated in competitions — this year at Berkshire Community College, Katherine Daube was named Best Supporting Actress. For their final examination, the students must research a person and give a monologue that suits the personality as well as identifies the character.

Although Mr. Bell's Health Class also studied the human body, it was quite different from Anatomy and Physiology class. Throughout the year students studied nutrition and health foods. Part of this study included a project in which students created egg families, teaching them the responsibilities of raising children. The students had to take their fragile egg children everywhere they went. If they were unable to care for their child, they had to provide babysitters. The class also studied the circulatory system and CPR techniques. Forty students were able to gain Red Cross certification in CPR through the practical skills which they learned during the year.

Pittsfield High School not only involves the education of teenagers, but also three and four-year-old children in a relatively unknown program, the Nursery School. This program is supervised by Mrs. MacDonald and implemented by junior and senior students who are interested in pursuing a career in child care. The first half of this one year program consists of instruction dealing with the period from the conception of a child to six years of age. During the second half of the school year students have the opportunity to work with youngsters. On Mondays they prepare lesson plans for the week. On Tuesdays, three-year-olds come to school. Four-year-olds have classes Wednesday and Thursday. Friday the students evaluate the children's progress. Students in this program are also responsible for completing a journal marking the progress of two children from January to June and writing a letter of evaluation at the end of the school year. They also visit another nursery and write a critical report about what they have learned during this visit.

Many seniors took advantage of the unusual classes offered this year. Mrs. Rajotte initiated the first AP Latin Class into their fifth year, where they translated Virgil's Aeneid. They studied the style of the poetry, the mood effected, the background of the epic, and the many themes of the Aeneid.

Mr. Bell looks on as Eric Shelsy practices CPR on Annie.

Another first year class is AP Spanish. Students translated Abel Sanchez and El Jaguar Curioso, and spent a great deal of their time improving their fluency in the language. Mr. Stanley also helped the class improve their oral-aural skills.

Anatomy and Physiology, taught by Mr. Somes and Mr. Utrera, offered an alternative to students who were not interested in the rapid pace of AP Biology. The class concentrated on the structure, functions, chemical makeup of organisms as well as dissected many animals for closer examination.

A typical senior favorite class is Economics. Mr. Gardner's return after a leave of absence was welcome. The class studied the stock market, which happens to be Mr. Gardner's specialty. Laws governing banking, real estate, insurance, currency, trade, money and government policy were topics of discussion, at times heated.

Five students

Graduate twice

Five talented seniors, in addition to the traditional high school commencement, also graduated from The Pittsfield Community Schools of the Arts.

Connie-lin Chmura performed her recital in April both on the piano, which she has studied for eight years and with vocal selections, having studied voice for five years. She intends to major in voice.

In June, four more seniors demonstrated their musical achievement at their recital and graduation ceremony. These students have taken lessons at the school, have studied music theory for three years, and have worked on composition. They have shared their talents with the band, orchestra and string quartet at both the music school and at Pittsfield High School. The solo performances at the recital are the culmination of the students' years of study at the music school.

Beth Manion performed the Allegro Appassionata by Saint-Saëns, Kristina Clemons chose the Concerto in G Major by Telemann, Lori Speranzo played the Sonata in F Major by Handel and Jennifer Doboszynski gave her interpretation of Chopin's Polonaise in A Major.

Student Life

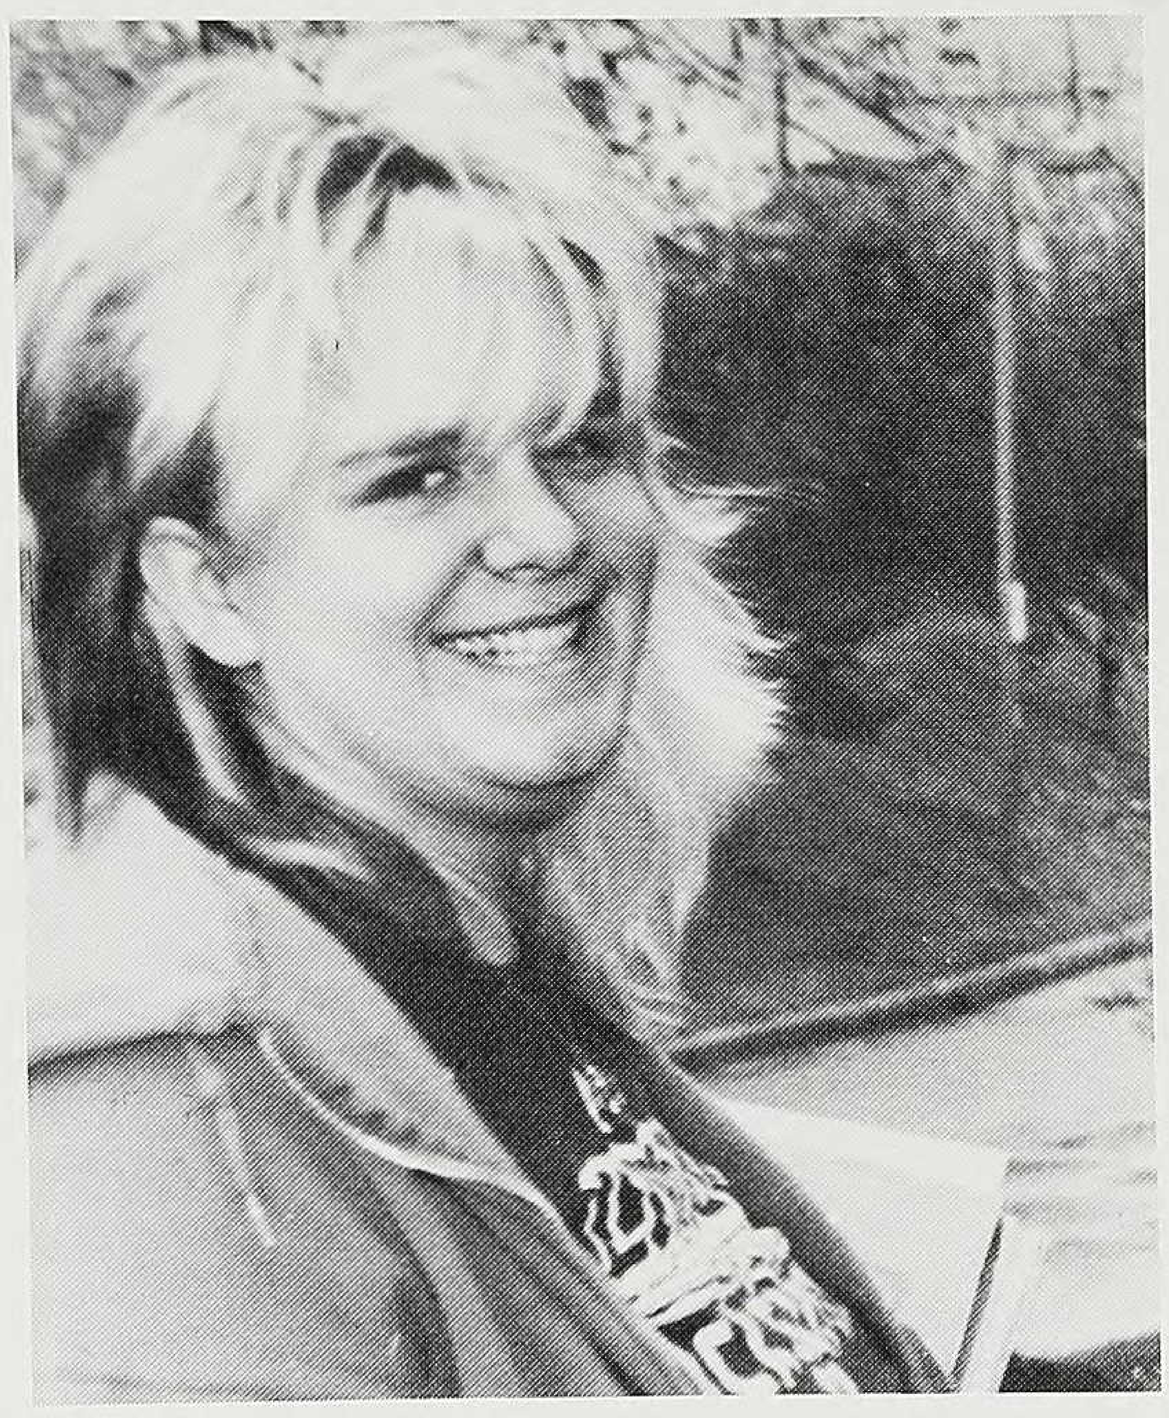

We relax . . .
Between classes.

Many students have their own area of the school where they feel most comfortable. Friends congregate there to discuss the latest couple, the latest style or the difficulty of the test some have just taken and others face the next period. They talk about who has detention and what's happening on the weekend. They pass on information about which teacher is absent and who is subbing for him. They exchange notes and sometimes homework papers. Between classes, they flock together to joke, laugh, complain and just relax a bit before the bell rings to begin another class. Then the scramble begins to beat the clock and arrive in class on time before the teacher marks them tardy. The new attendance policy has made being tardy an undesirable condition. When the dismissal bells sound, the scramble to get to their favorite meeting place begins again. And so it goes from period to period in a typical school day in the life of a student.

We work . . .
after school.

After school time is not all study nor is it all play time. Students need extra money to buy those special albums, clothes, concert tickets, movie tickets, maybe gas for the car but in general, those thing that make a teen's life a little more fun.

Dana Spring stocks shelves at the A&P on Elm Street. Having worked there for over a year, Dana is well adjusted to the routine and generally shares the workload with classmate Pat Hanbery.

By the summer of junior year, many students have been confronted with the reality that college is near and the expenses will be staggering. The job search begins in earnest to provide the opportunity to accumulate some ready cash to help defray the cost of higher education. Most students bank some money "to buy clothes for school and books." For others, it may be necessary to pay part of their tuition.

Laura Case, sights set on a career in photography, utilizes after school time in a beneficial way. Laura has worked at Ritz Camera Shop on North Street for a year processing film and prints in their one-hour color lab. Thanks to Laura, our Senior Week color pages were completed on a same-day basis.

Dawn Lavelle, Heather Harvey, Tina Shaw, Missy Ostrander, and Lisa Torrey share a shift at Burger King on First Street, the students' favorite eating place. The quick-paced service at meal times keeps the girls busy. During quieter times they enjoy serving their friends.

Some classmates begin a work-study program and have release time from the regular school day to work at a job in the community to put into practice the training they are receiving in their morning classes. This affords them not only on the job training but also some extra money. It also prepares them for a steady job upon graduation.

This expression of summer was found in the front window of England Brothers on North Street. England's is the place of employment for juniors Paula Ragan, Erin O'Brien and Heather Beals.

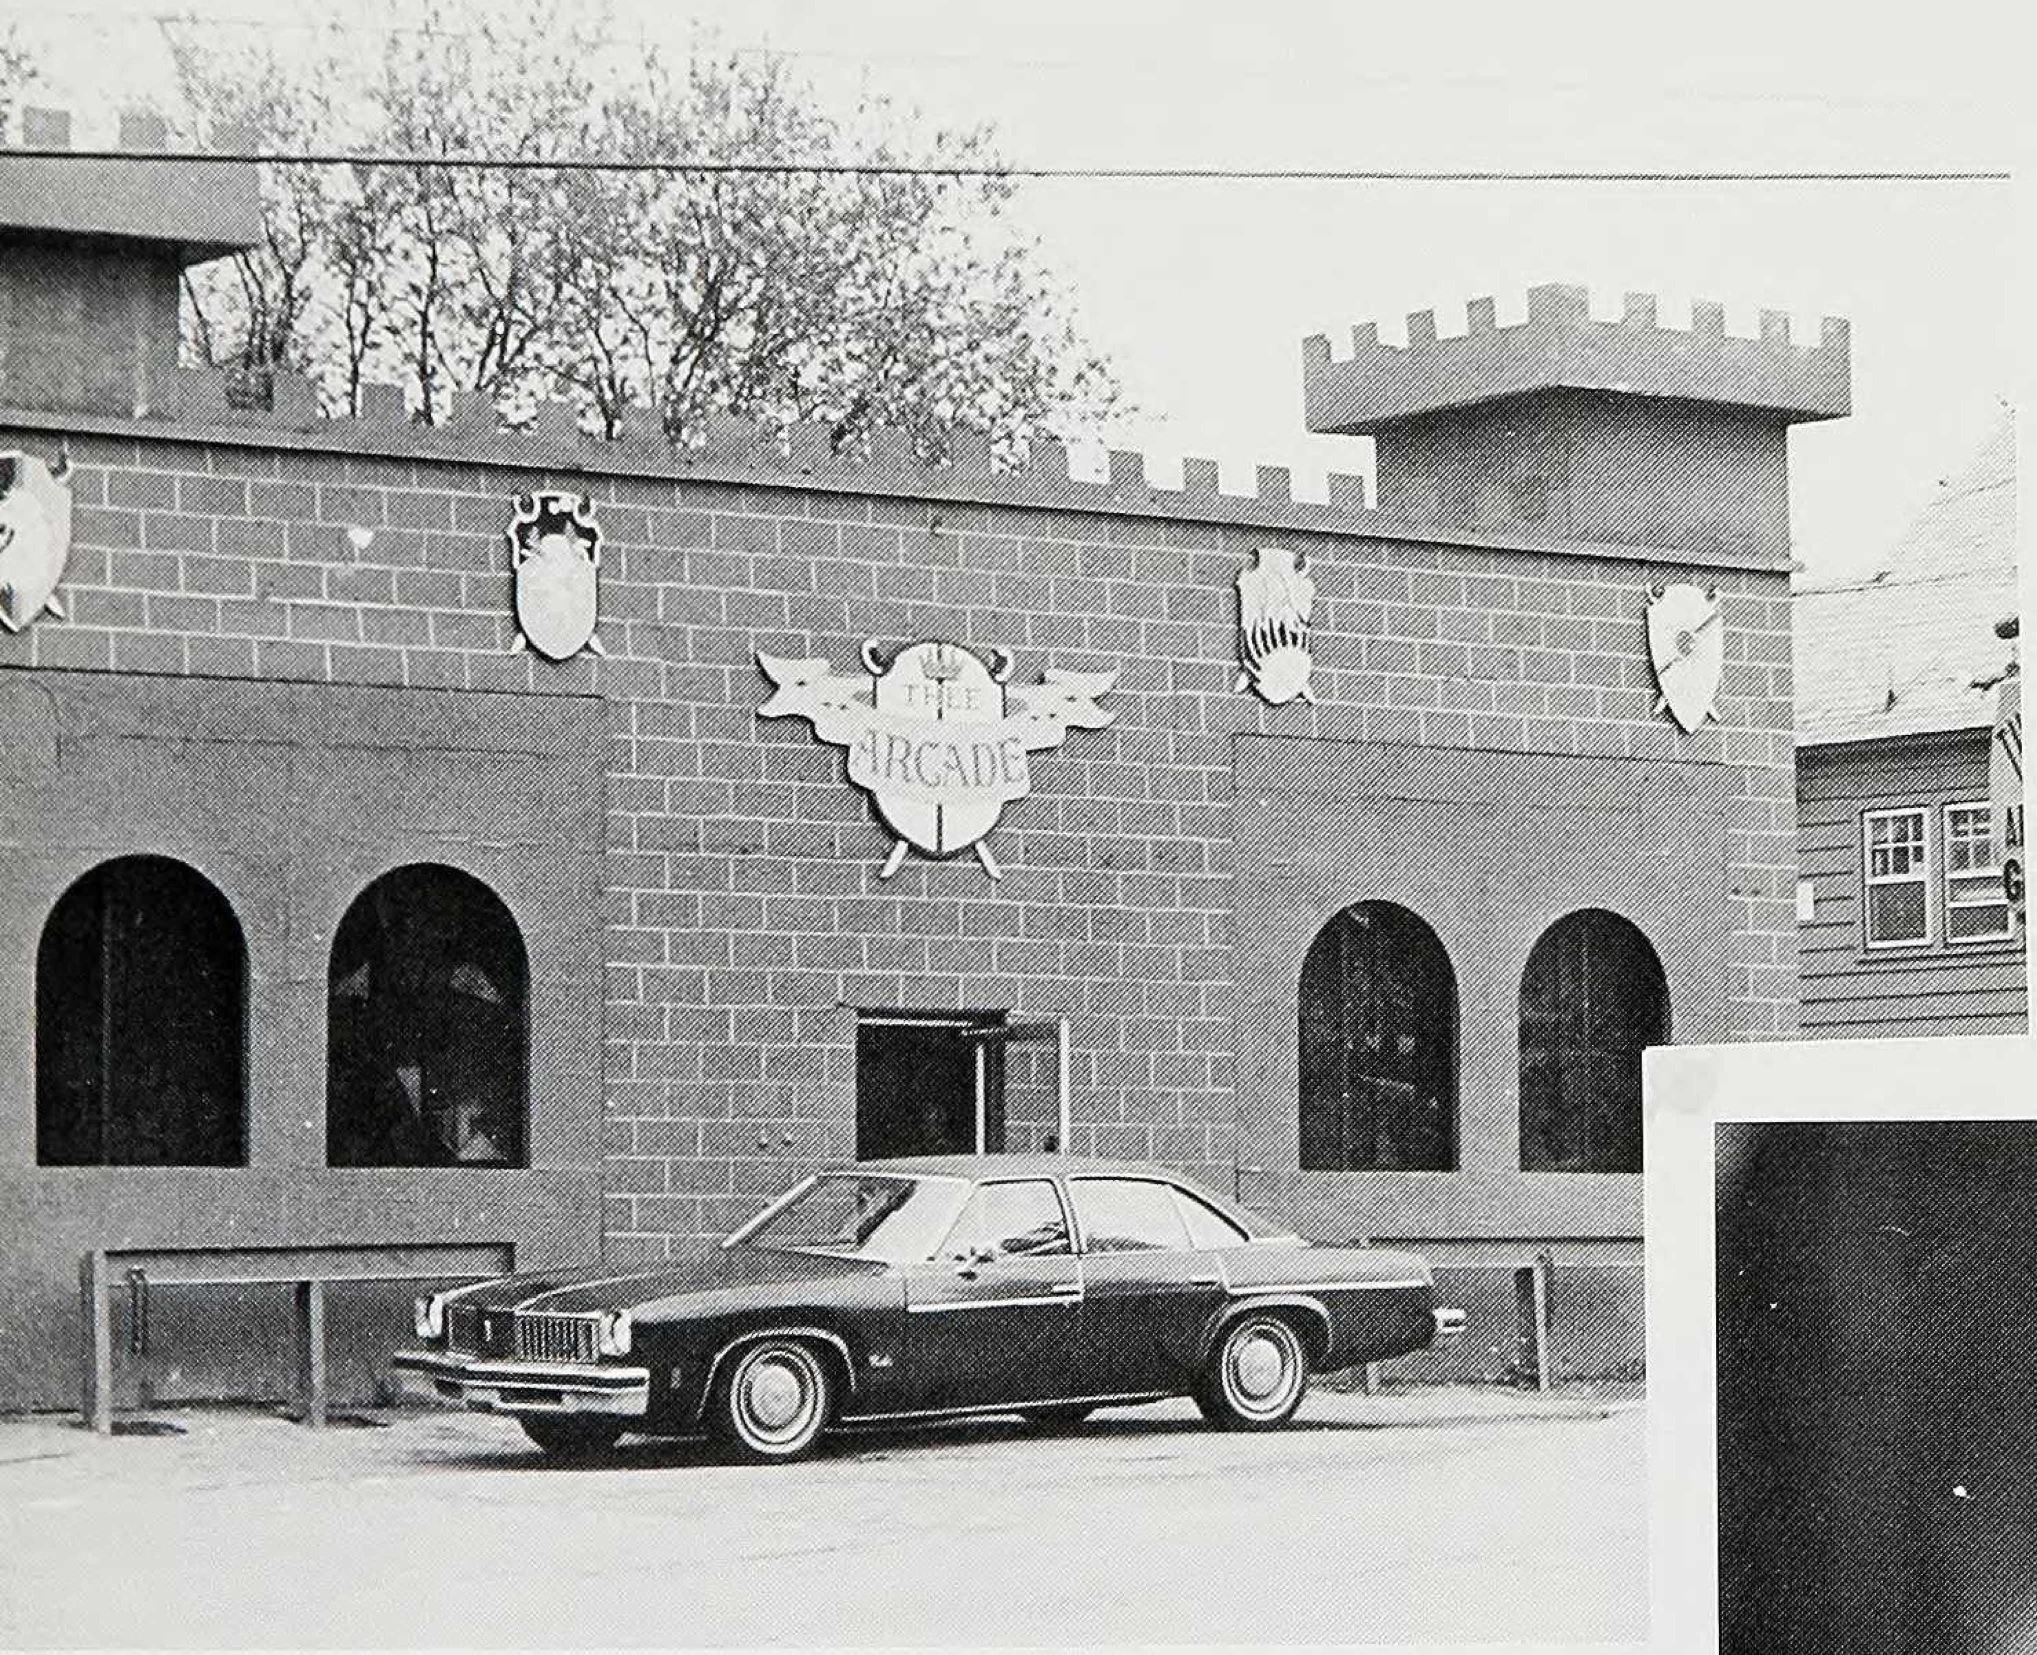

Jennifer Hungerford sells Easter candy to Linda Fuchs during her shift at Rite Aide on Elm Street. Seldom at a loss for things to do, Jen finds that the busy work routine is enjoyable as well as lucrative.

We play . . .
on weekends.

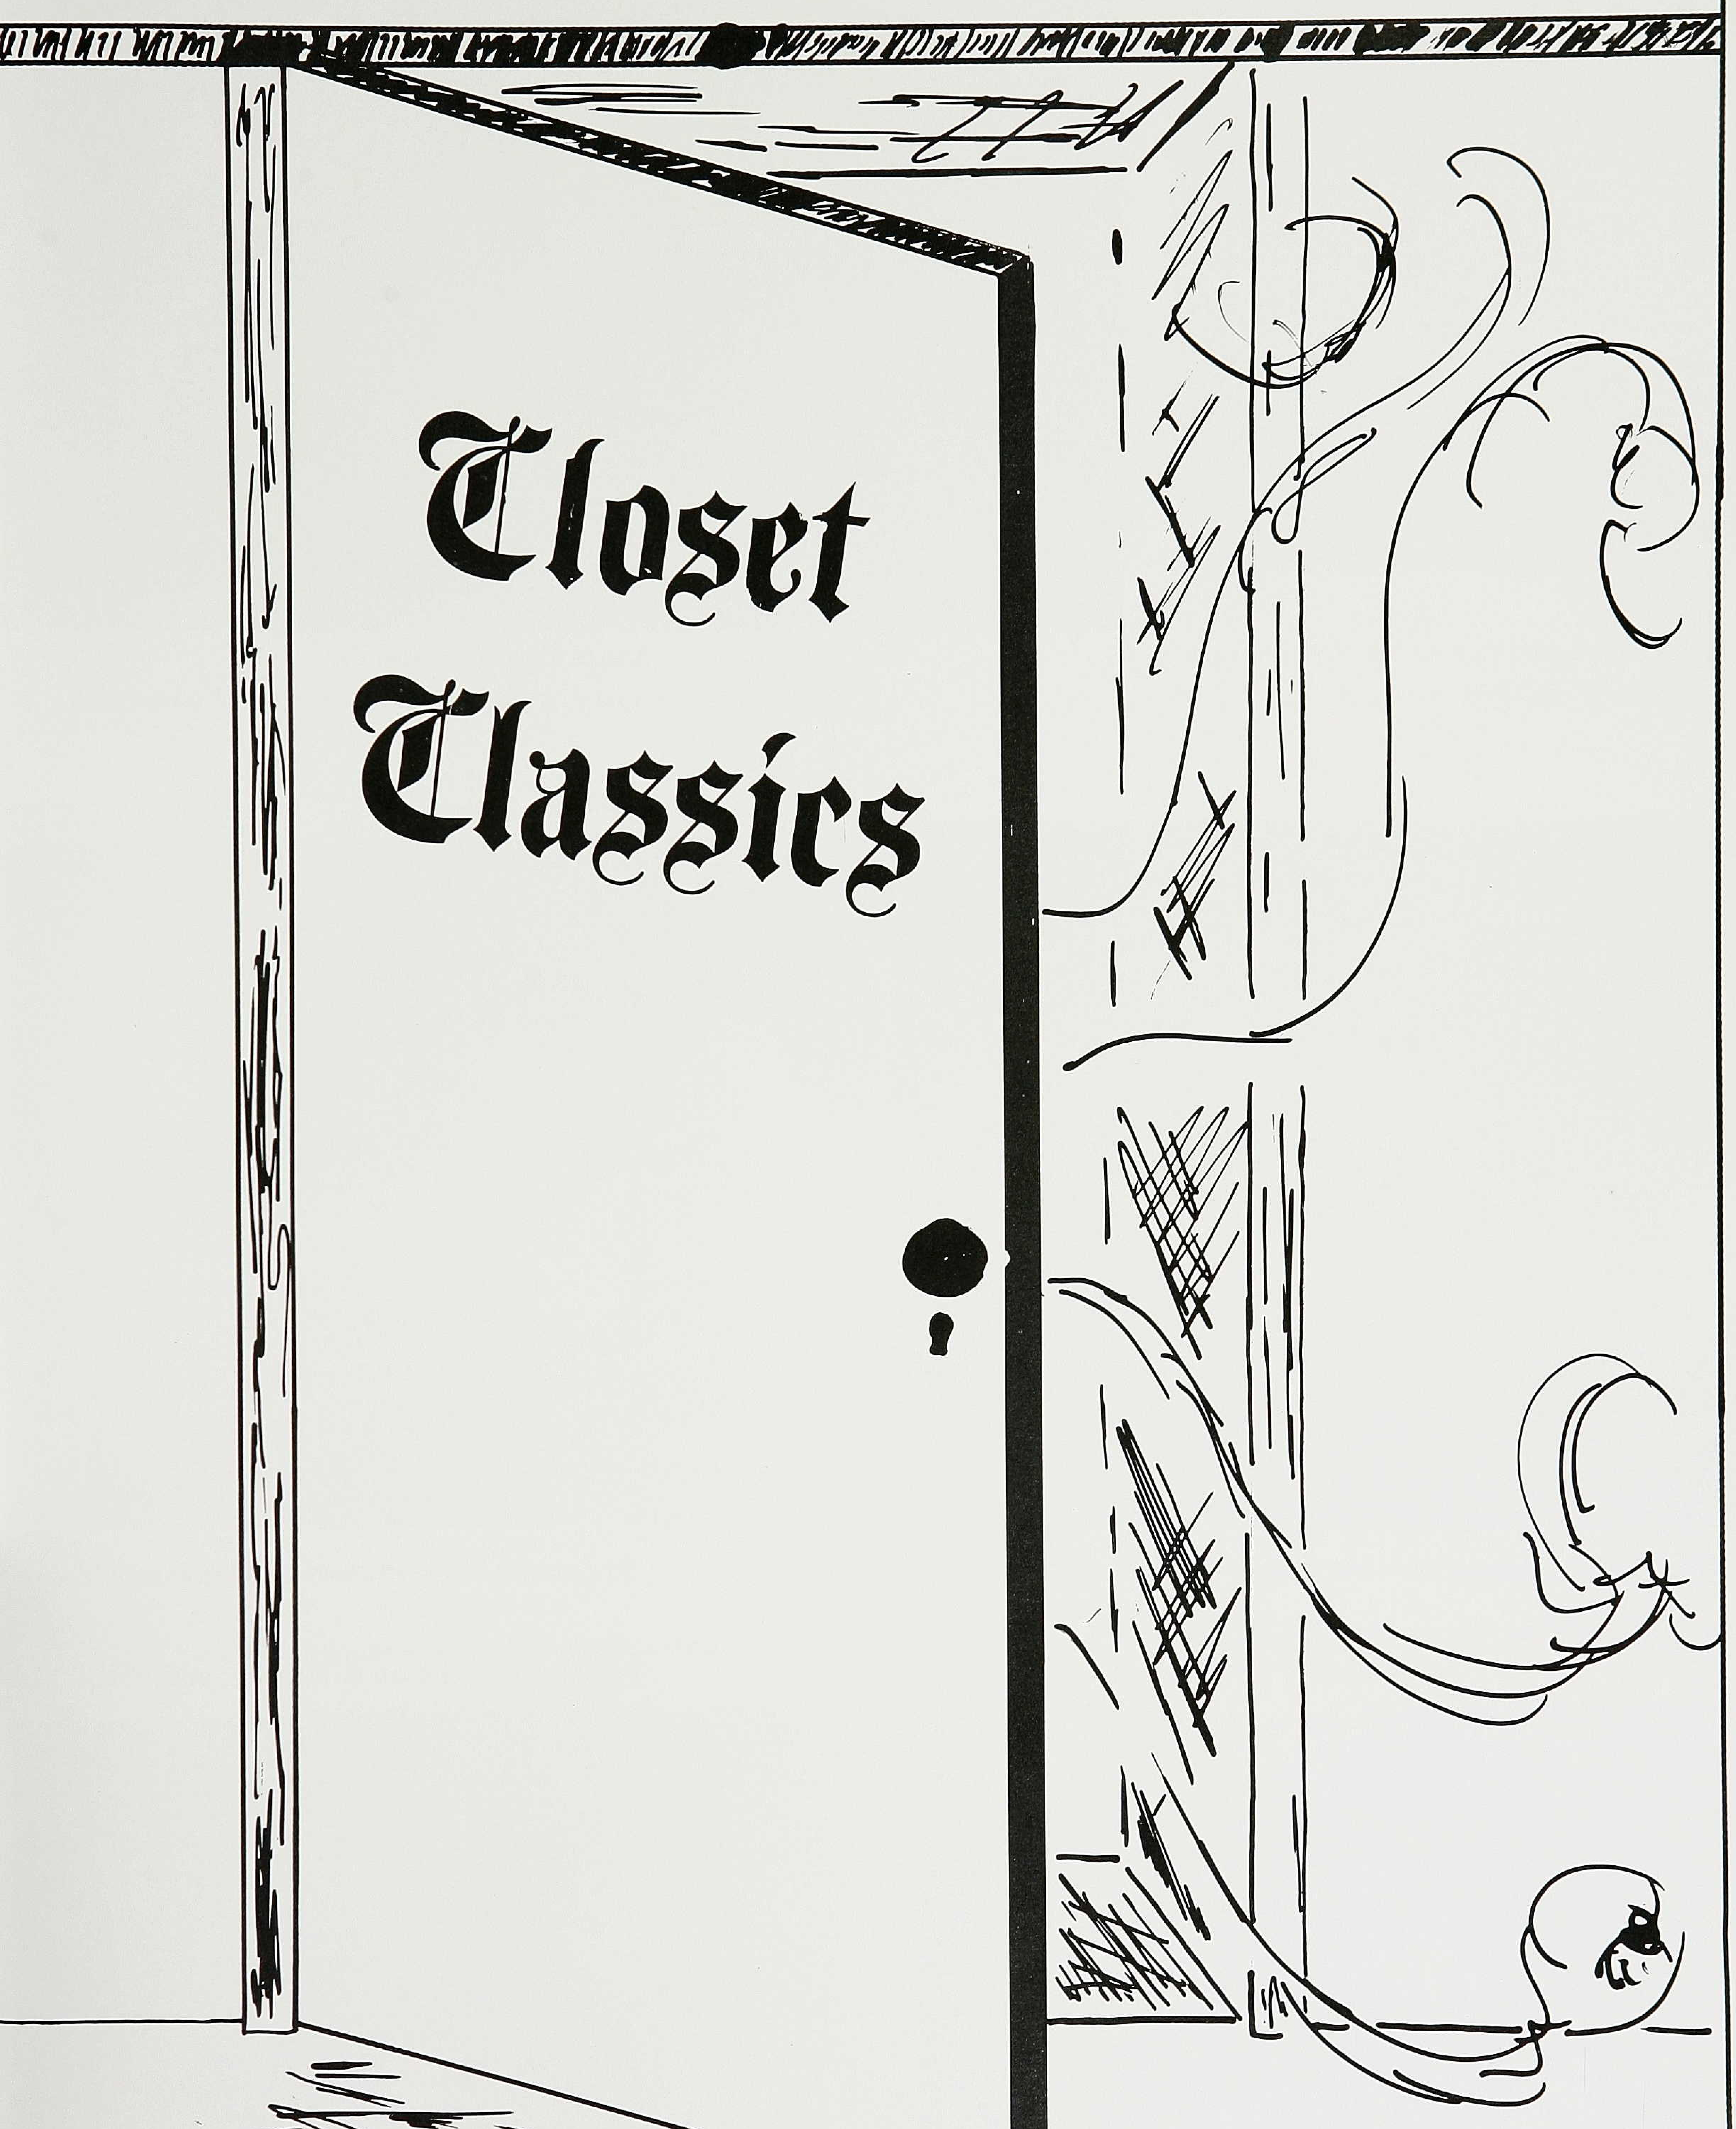

Thee Arcade captures many a weekend fancy and during the week Mrs. Jennings has been known to capture many a fancier there.

Haven Parchinski enjoys a break from the school routine.

Weekends, when classes are over for the week, students find a little free time to unwind from the daily routine. Each in his own way, sharing the good times with friends is relaxing. For some it's a rock concert, others a movie or a dance with that special person. Whatever the choice, Monday morning and scramble to get to class on time comes only too fast.

Yesterday

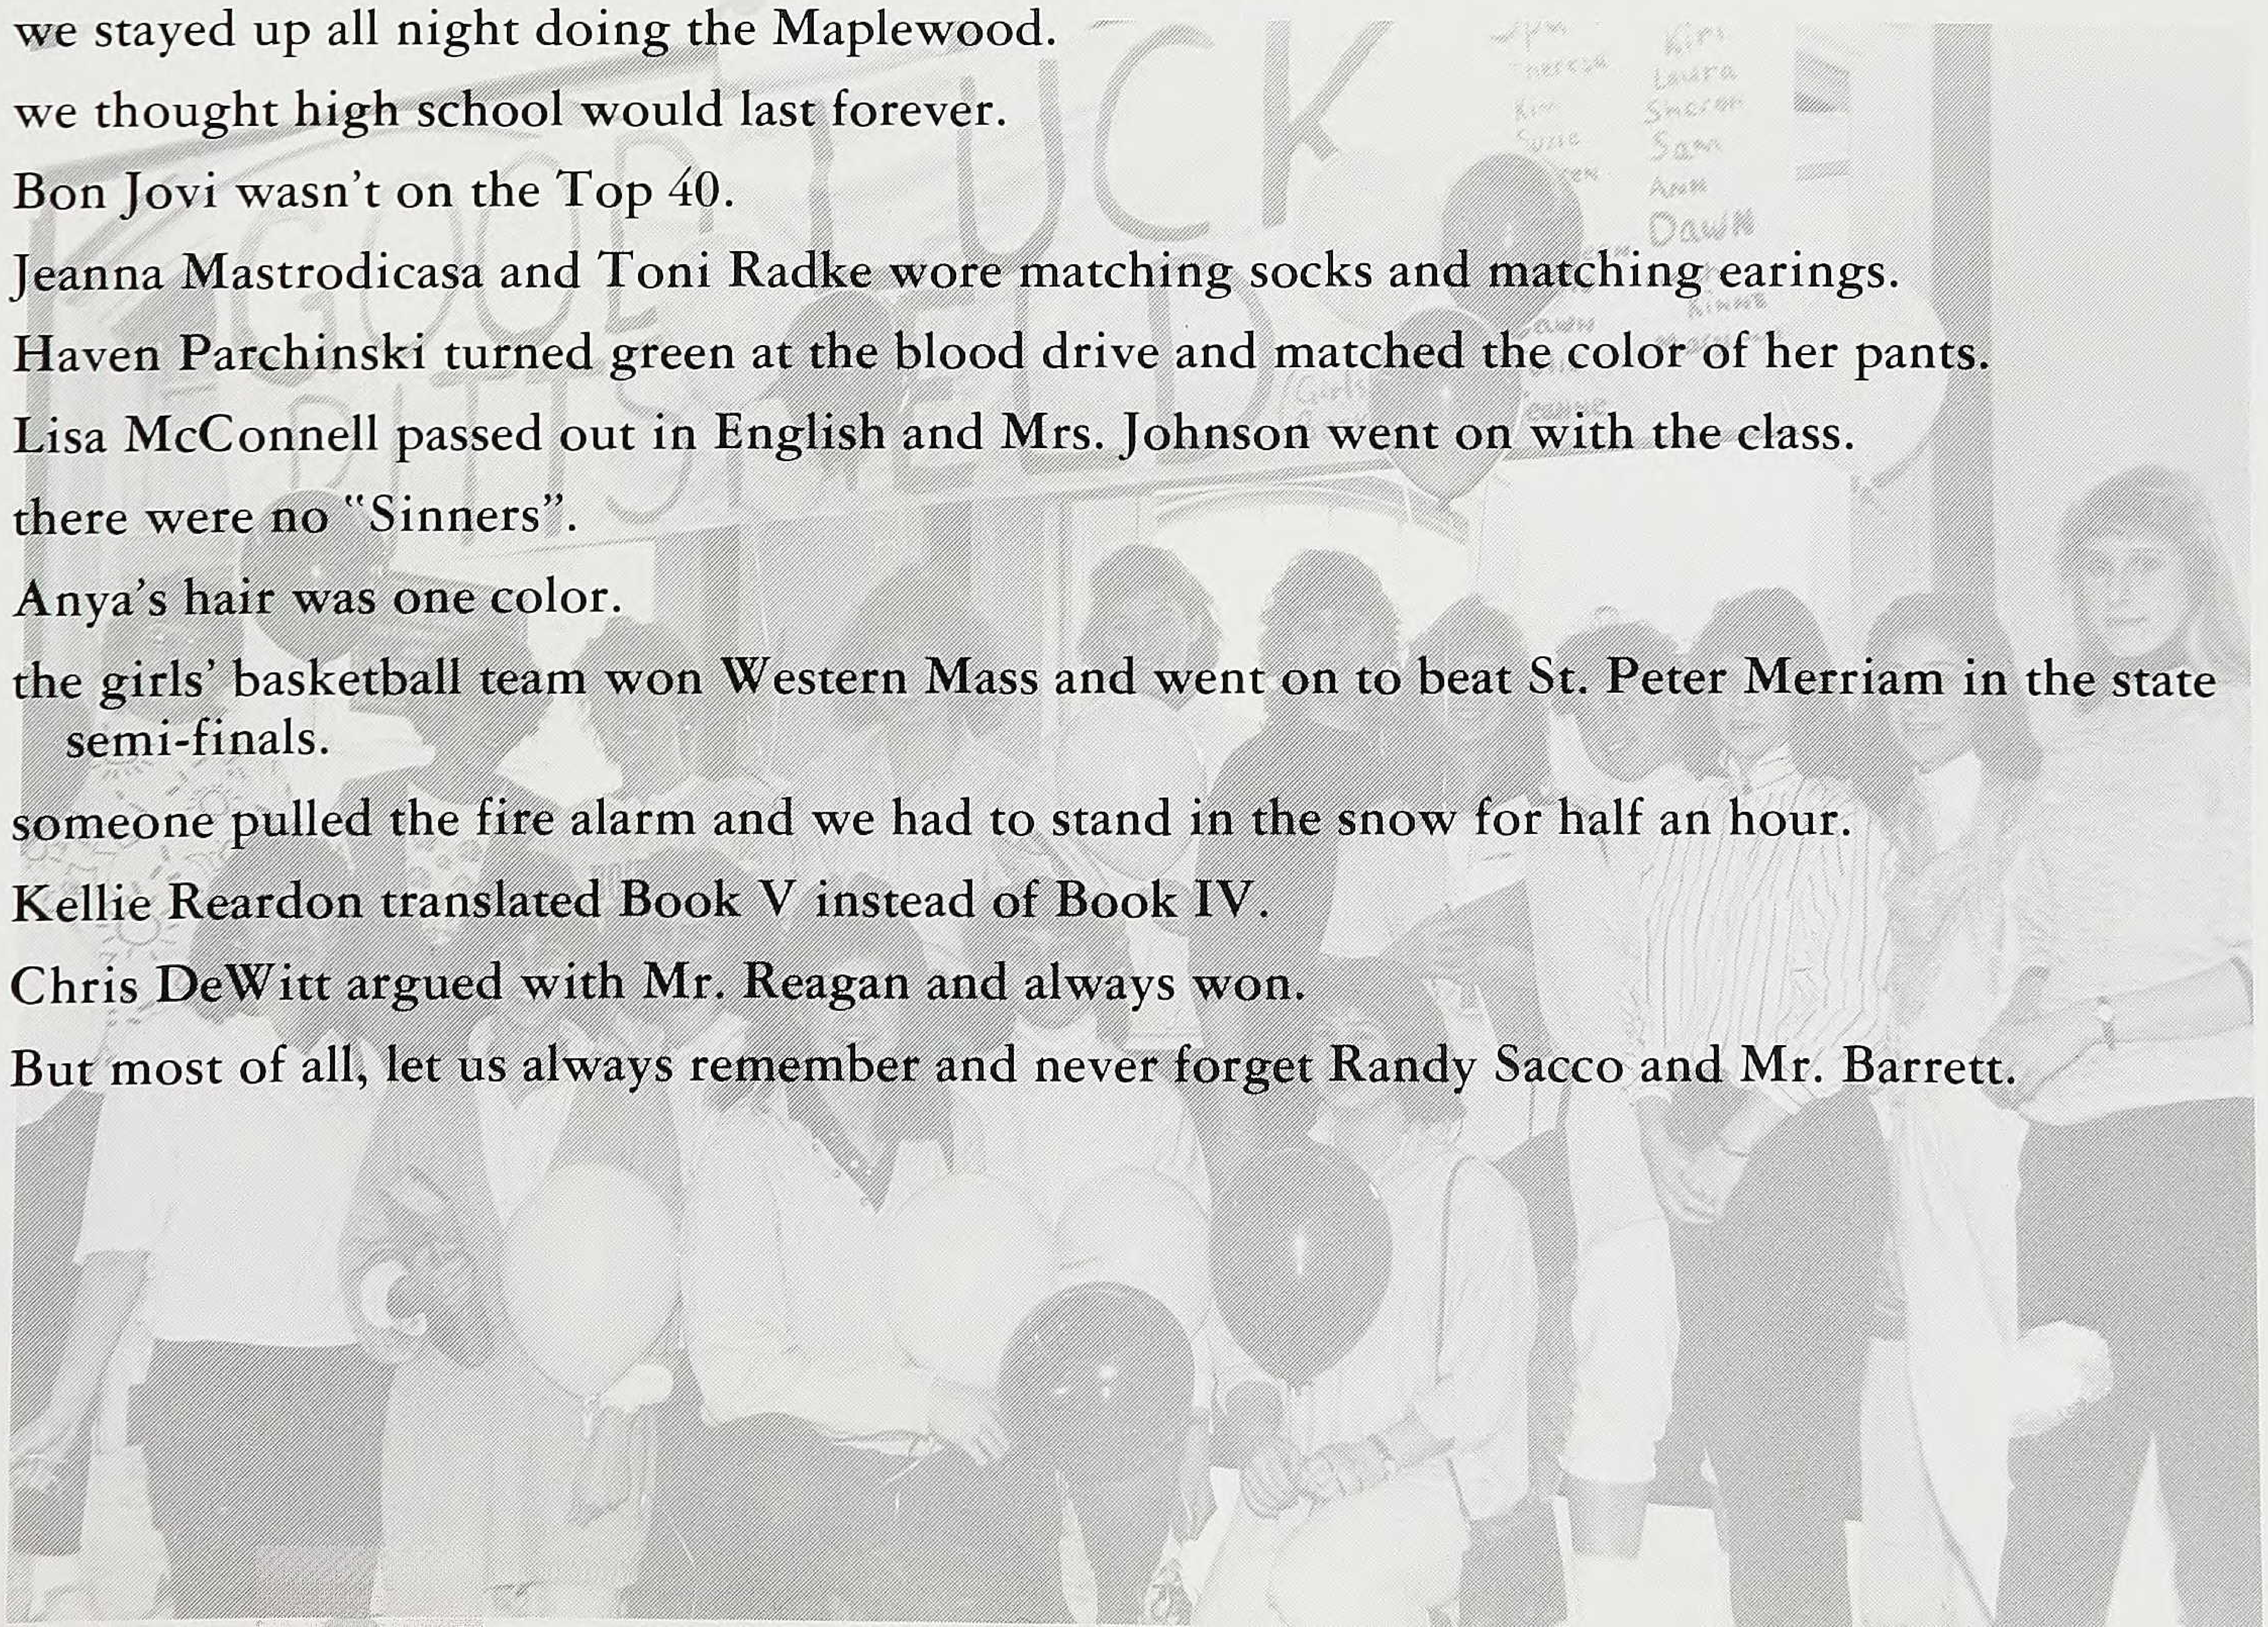

Yesterday as we were looking out of the window,
At the clouds and the sky,
We thought of you, again.
We compared the thickness of the clouds to the depth of your soul,
And the whiteness reminded us of your enlightening smile.
The singing birds reminded us of all the days you had made us smile,
Just from hearing your jubilant voice,
Always so full of life.
The sun was as warm and cheery as the love and kindness
you showed towards your students,
Your friends.
But as we stared into the sun, a dark storm cloud passed over,
And we were once again reminded of another depressing day.
The day you died.
We never would have thought you'd be gone,
And your friends, along with myself, will never forget you.
Of course we'll be upset for awhile,
But like the cloud that passed over the sun,
The time will pass by and it will be clear again.
The only difference will be a stained image of a perfect day,
Which will pain our hearts forever.

NICHOLAS DANILOFF

Russian employee, Gennadiy Zakharov, was arrested for spying on a subway platform in New York City. American journalist Nicholas Daniloff was arrested in Moscow for spying. Both were released setting the stage for the Summit meeting in Iceland.

Cary Grant, an actor with a style of his own, known for his suave, debonair romantic lead roles, deep tan and chin-cleft, died of a stroke at age 82 in early December of 1986. He had been quoted as saying, "I don't know how I consider death. So many of my friends have been doing it recently. I hope I do it well."

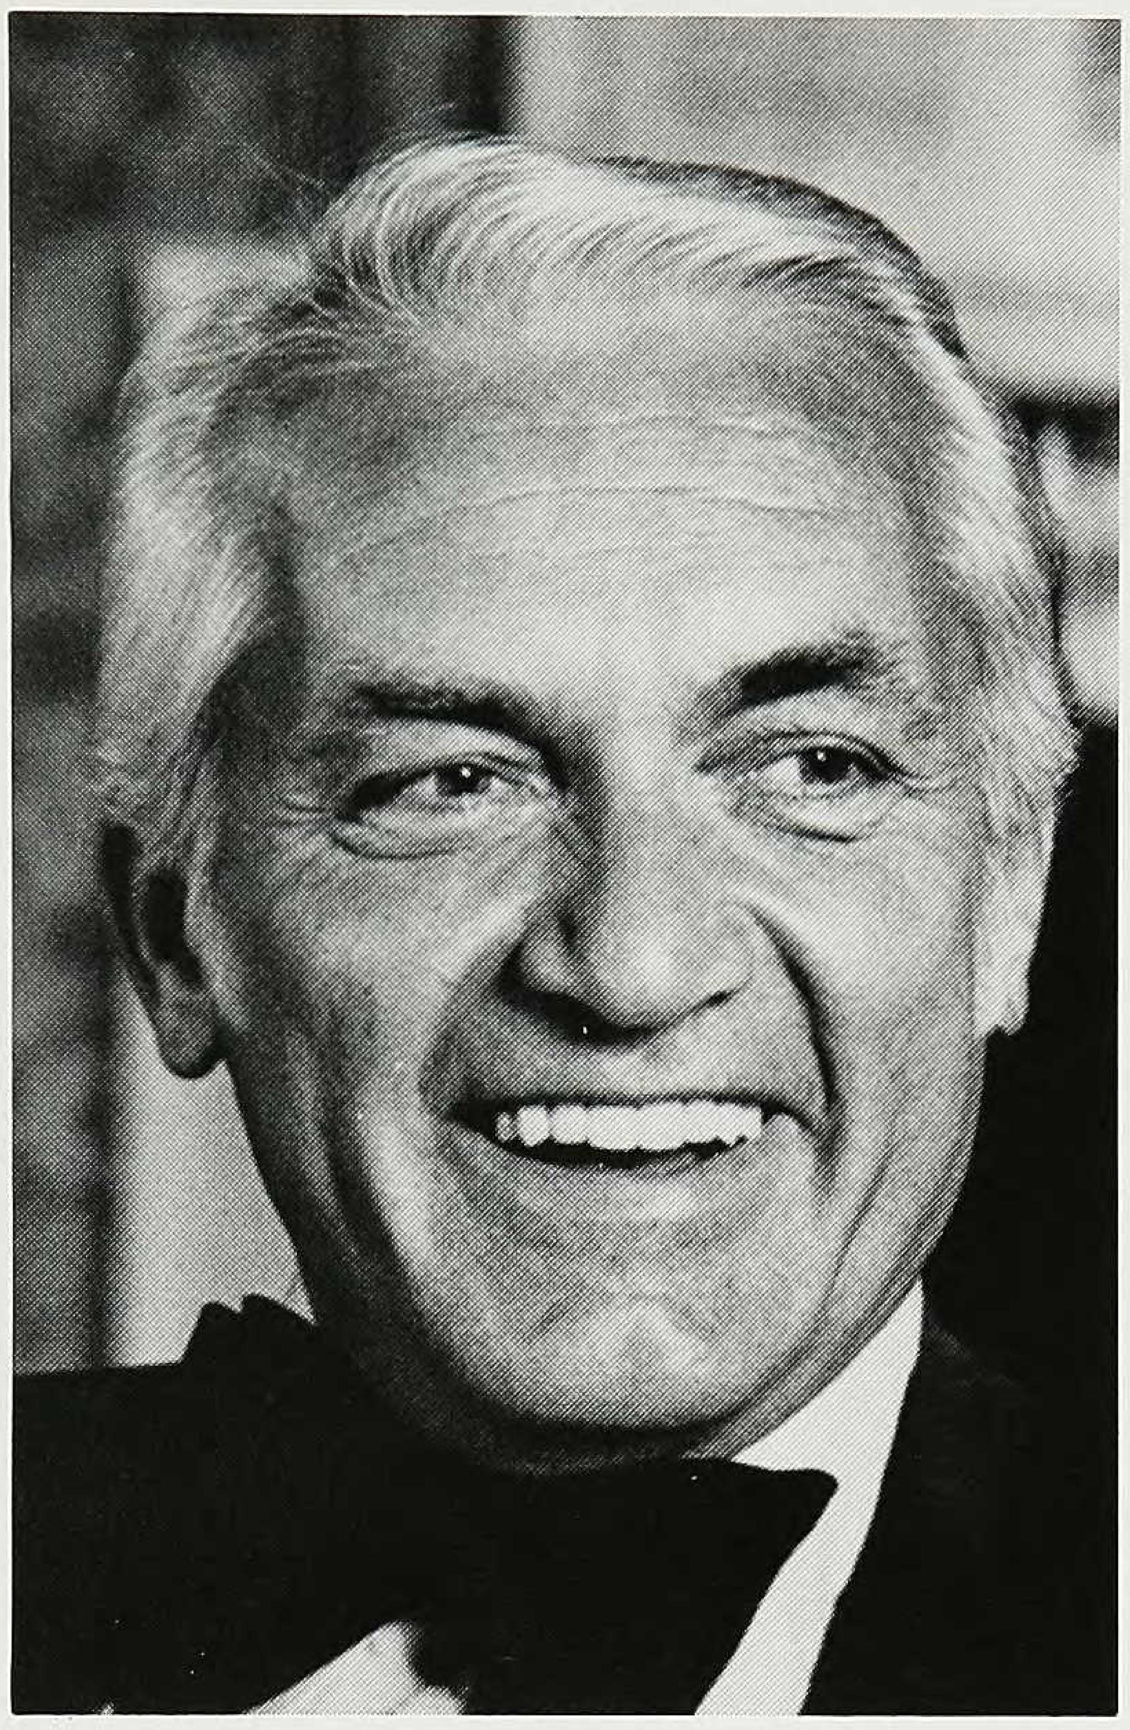

Price Of Peace

Terrorists And Spies Threaten World Peace. Star Wars At Impasse.

Perhaps the news that had the greatest impact on all Americans young and old during 1986 was the bombing of Libya by U.S. Air Force and Navy jets in April. Not since the Bay of Pigs incident during the presidency of John F. Kennedy had Americans felt more threatened and outraged. In retrospect we see the wisdom of our immediate response to halt terrorism. At the time, fear of reprisal struck the hearts of Americans.

The impact of the bombing was deeply felt among many students throughout the U.S. as well as in Pittsfield. Because of the international unrest, many students who were to fly to Europe during their Spring break, which was to begin two days after the bombing, cancelled their travel plans. Those who chose to go could not help but notice that all public terminals were heavily guarded by military personnel carrying sub-machine guns. In Europe all purses, parcels, camera bags and packages were searched by police before entering any public building including stores, museums and restaurants.

Ted Knight, best known for his role as the news anchorman in the television series "The Mary Tyler Moore Show", died August, 26, 1986 of cancer at the age of 62.

In the world of aviation, the experimental plane, "Voyager", is put through its paces as shown in this air to air aerial shot taken on December 5, 1986.

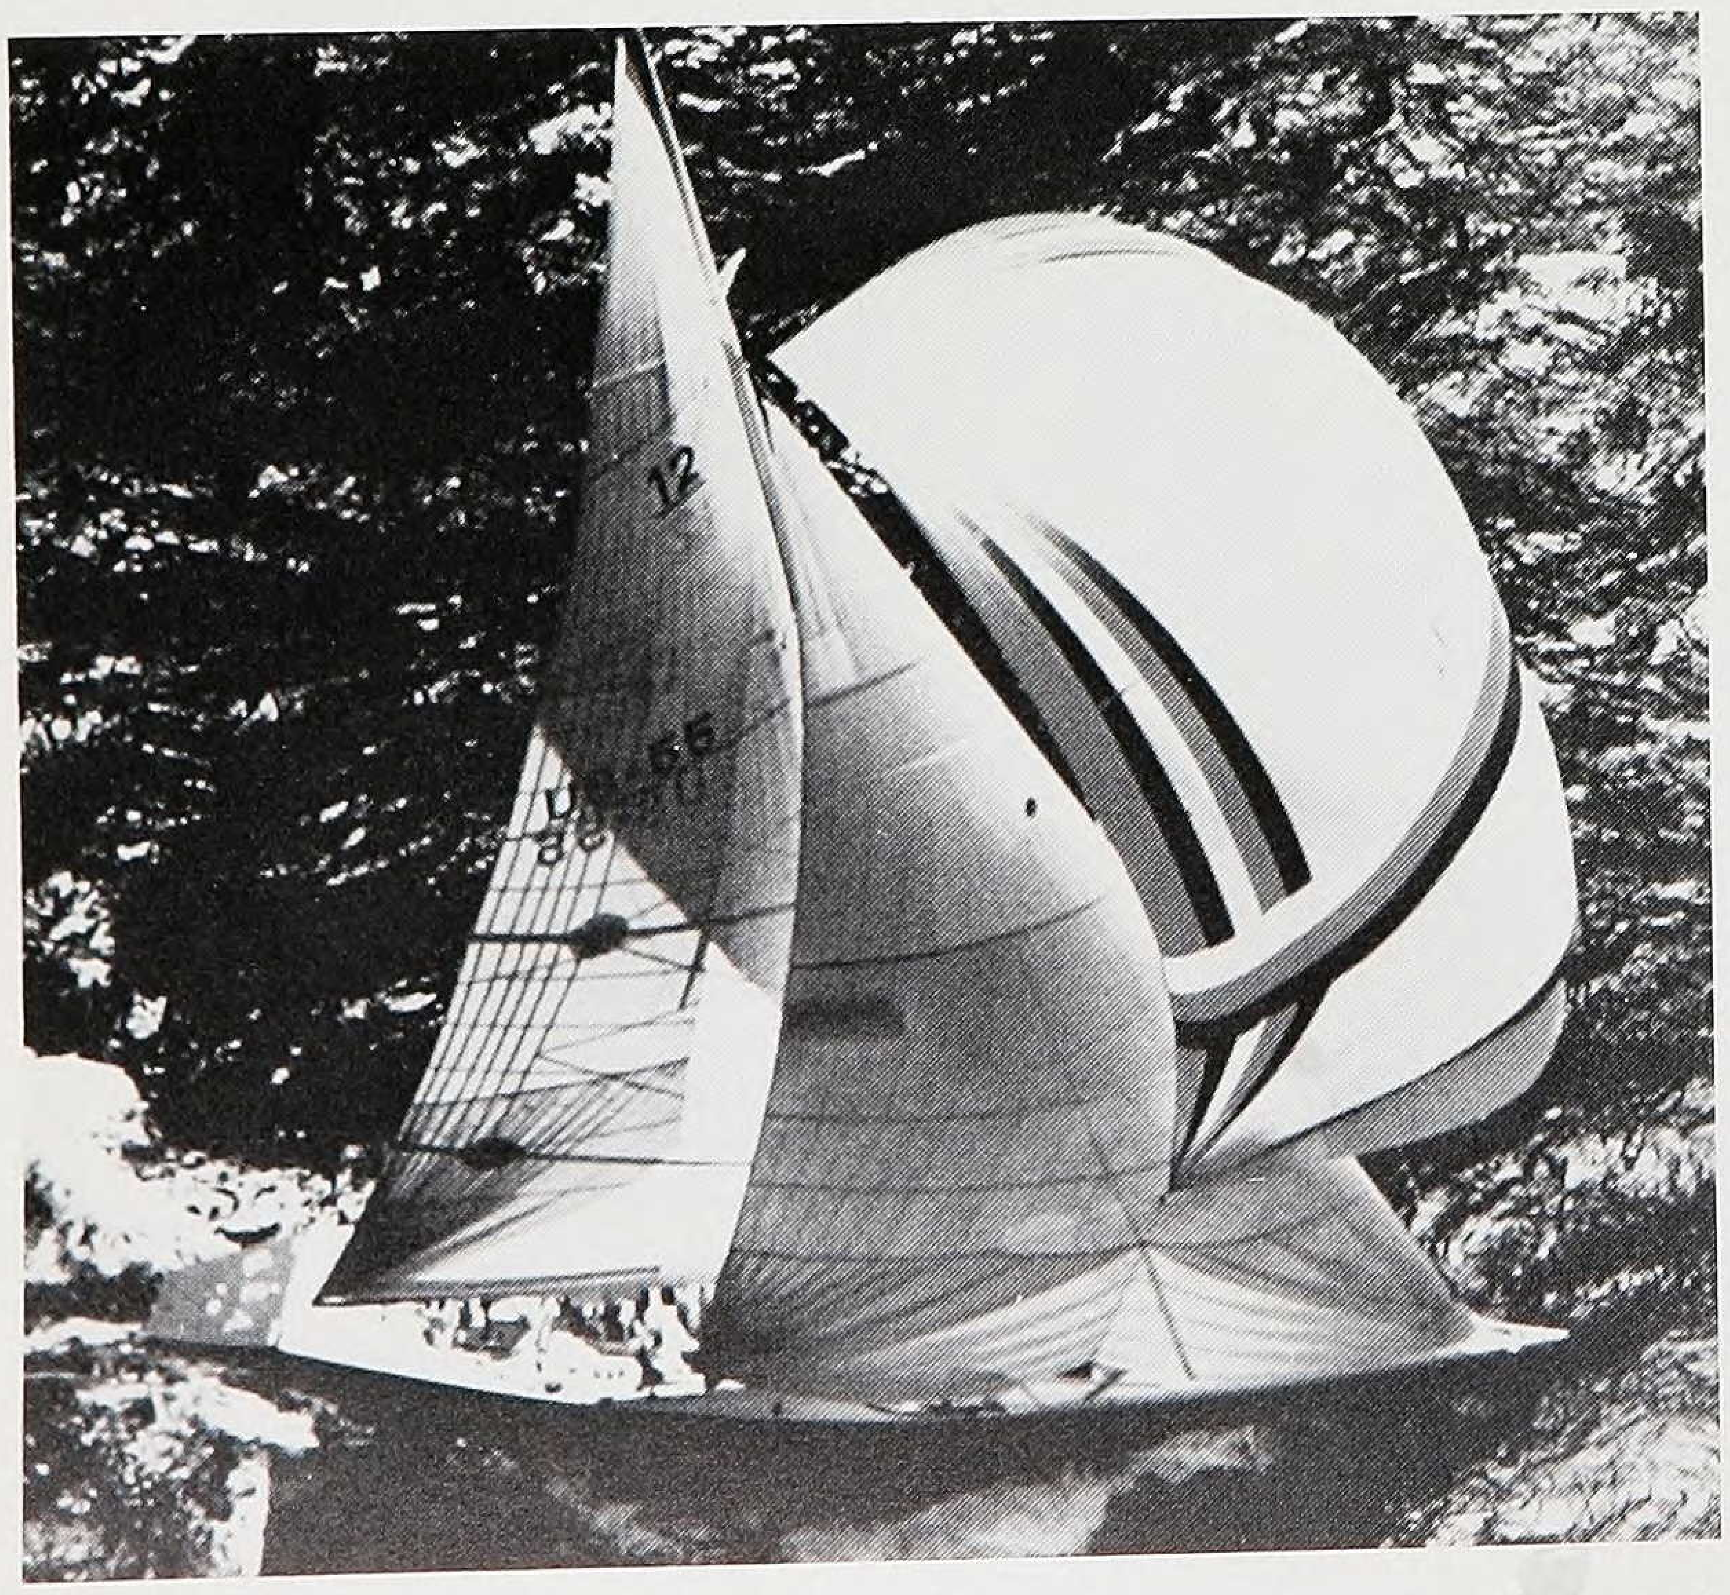

U.S. Air Force and Navy jets attacked five targets inside Libya under cover of darkness in April, delivering a response to what President Reagan called the "monstrous brutality" of Libyan-backed terrorism. Shown is the Libyan Naval Academy in a suburb of Tripoli.

The city of New York gave the Statue of Liberty a big 1986 bash . . . a Fourth of July festival of song, celebrities and fireworks, carried live on television, honoring the great lady's first 100 years

The New York Mets win the World Series in the seventh game at Shea's Stadium with score of 8-5 over the Boston Red Sox. Mets Gary Carter is lifted in the air by relief pitcher Jesse Orosco.

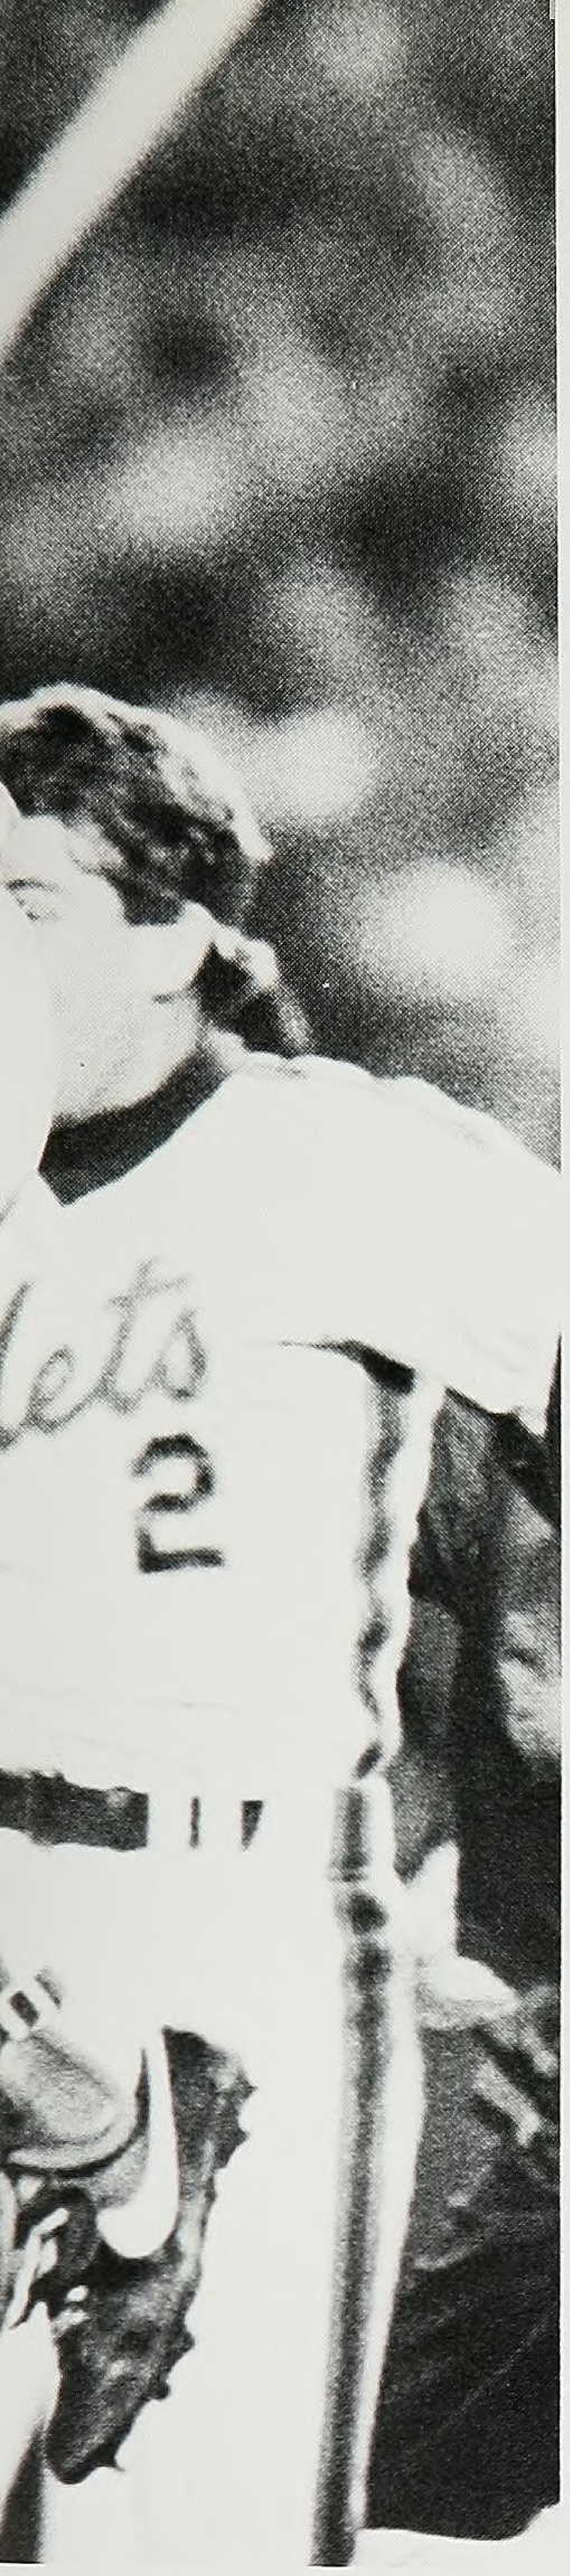

Dennis Connor, the first skipper to lose the America's Cup, became the first to win it back as the Stars and Strips took four straight races over the Kookaburra III in the best of seven series.

Britain's Prince Andrew, the queen's second son and fourth in line to the throne, married red-haired English commoner Sarah Ferguson in July at Westminster Abbey.

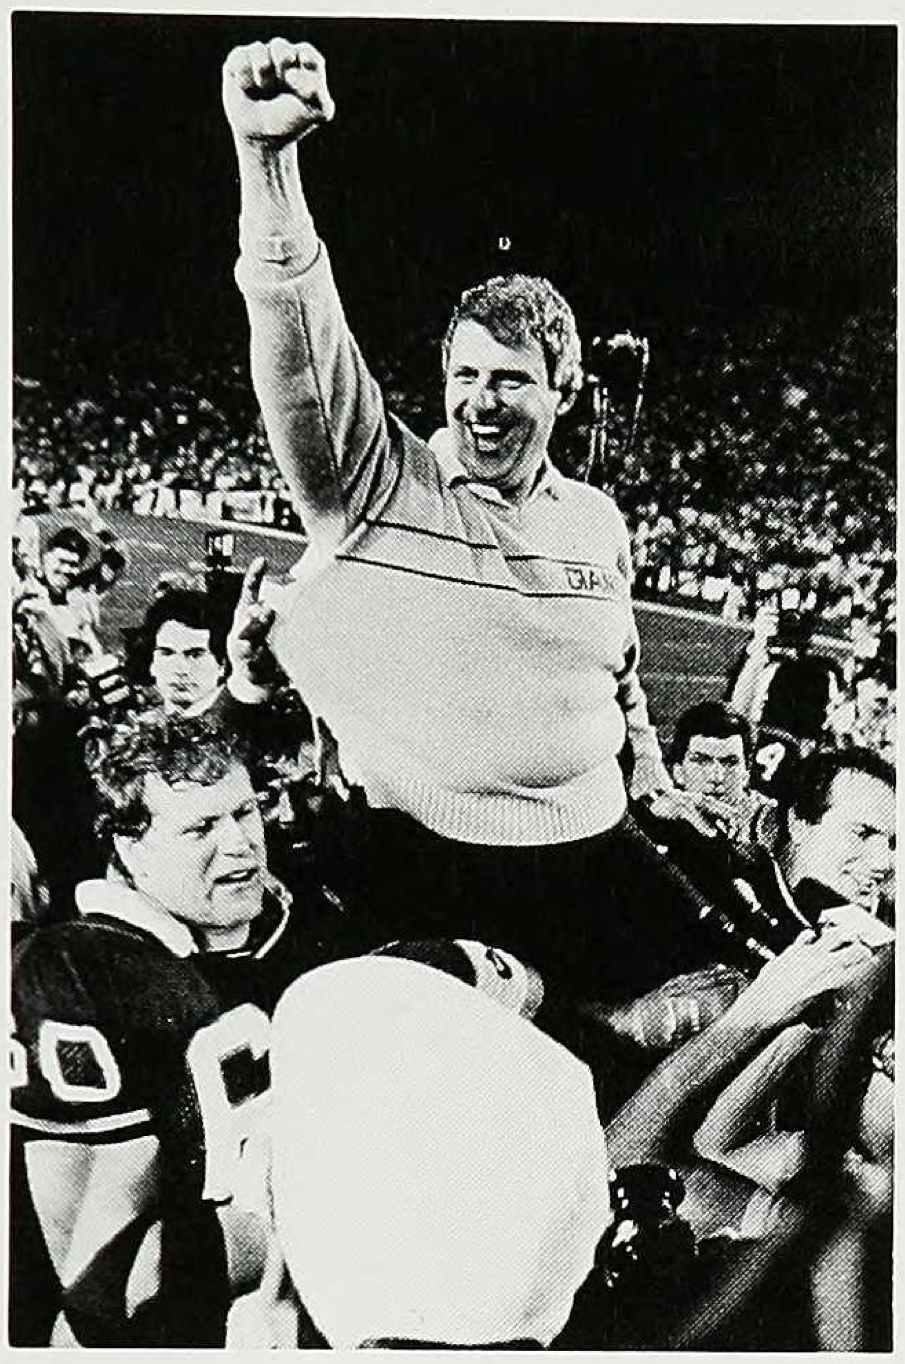

We View The Eternal And Universal Combat . . .

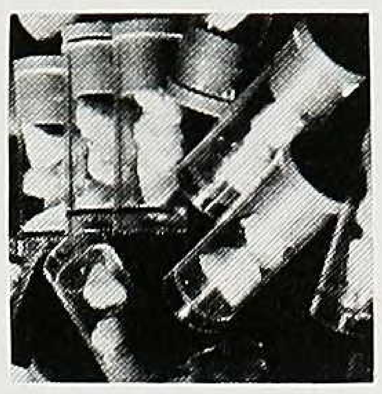

Good Versus Evil.

Phillipine president Fernand Marcos was forced from office amid charges of corruption and scandal.

"Cracking" Up Down East. "Crack" May Be The Most Addictive Drug Ever Sold.

Although we each lead a sheltered life among our families and school friends, we cannot overlook the world events that have made and will continue to make sweeping changes in our way of life and in our way of thinking. As we contemplate the major universal events happening every minute of every day, we look inward and focus on our own values, attempting to put into perspective the good and the bad, the happy and the sad . . We know that we are the future and the future, however uncertain, depends upon how we perceive what is taking place around us and how we react. We are learning from the mistakes of others as well as from their successes. Life is a series of learning experiences not taught in school; we are grateful that our educators have prepared us for the hands-on experience that awaits us.

The new president of the Phillipines, Corazon Aquino, was faced with political and economic turmoil.

New York Giants coach Bill Parcells is carried off the field after the Giants defeated the Denver Broncos, 39-20, in Super Bowl XXI in Pasadena, California, on January 25, 1987.

Classic

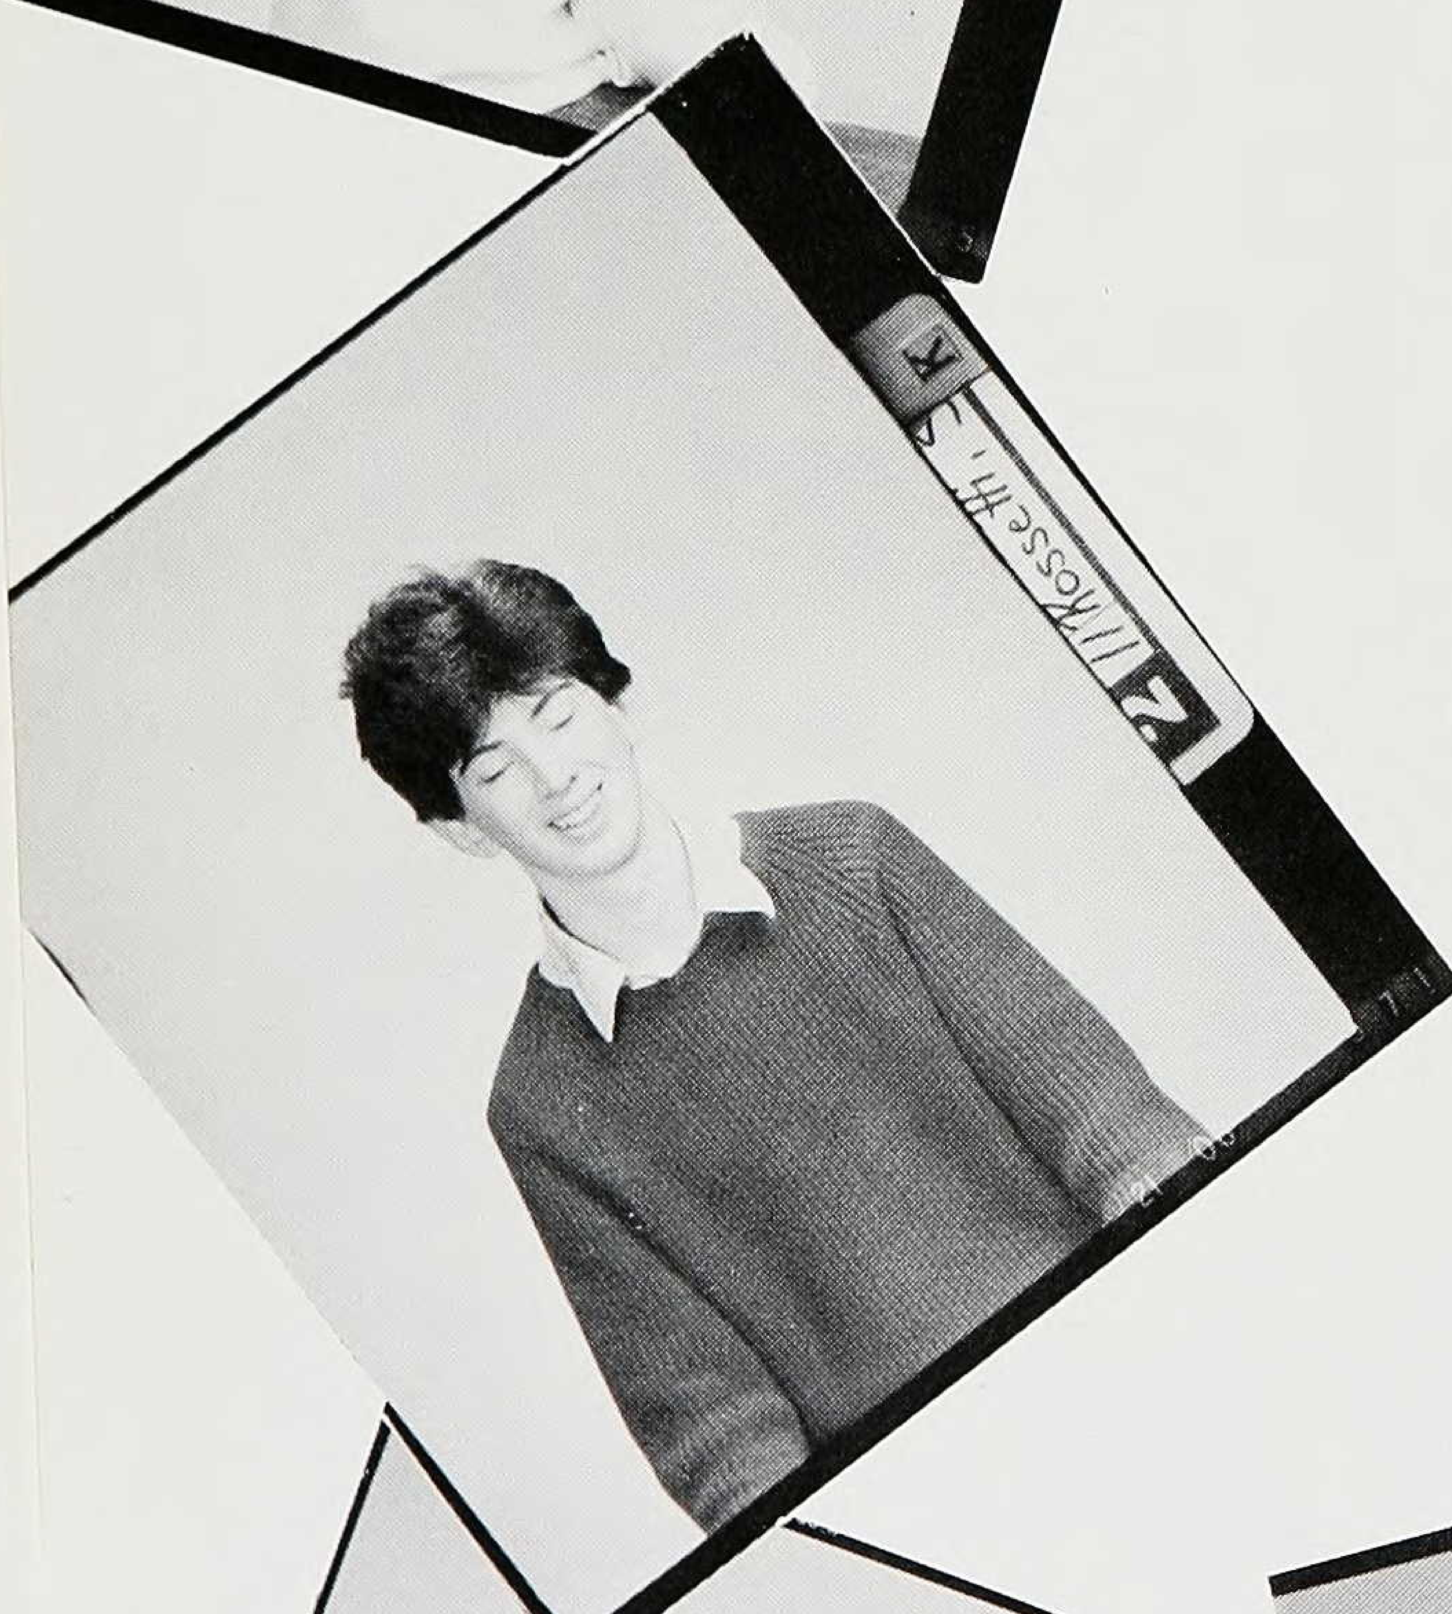

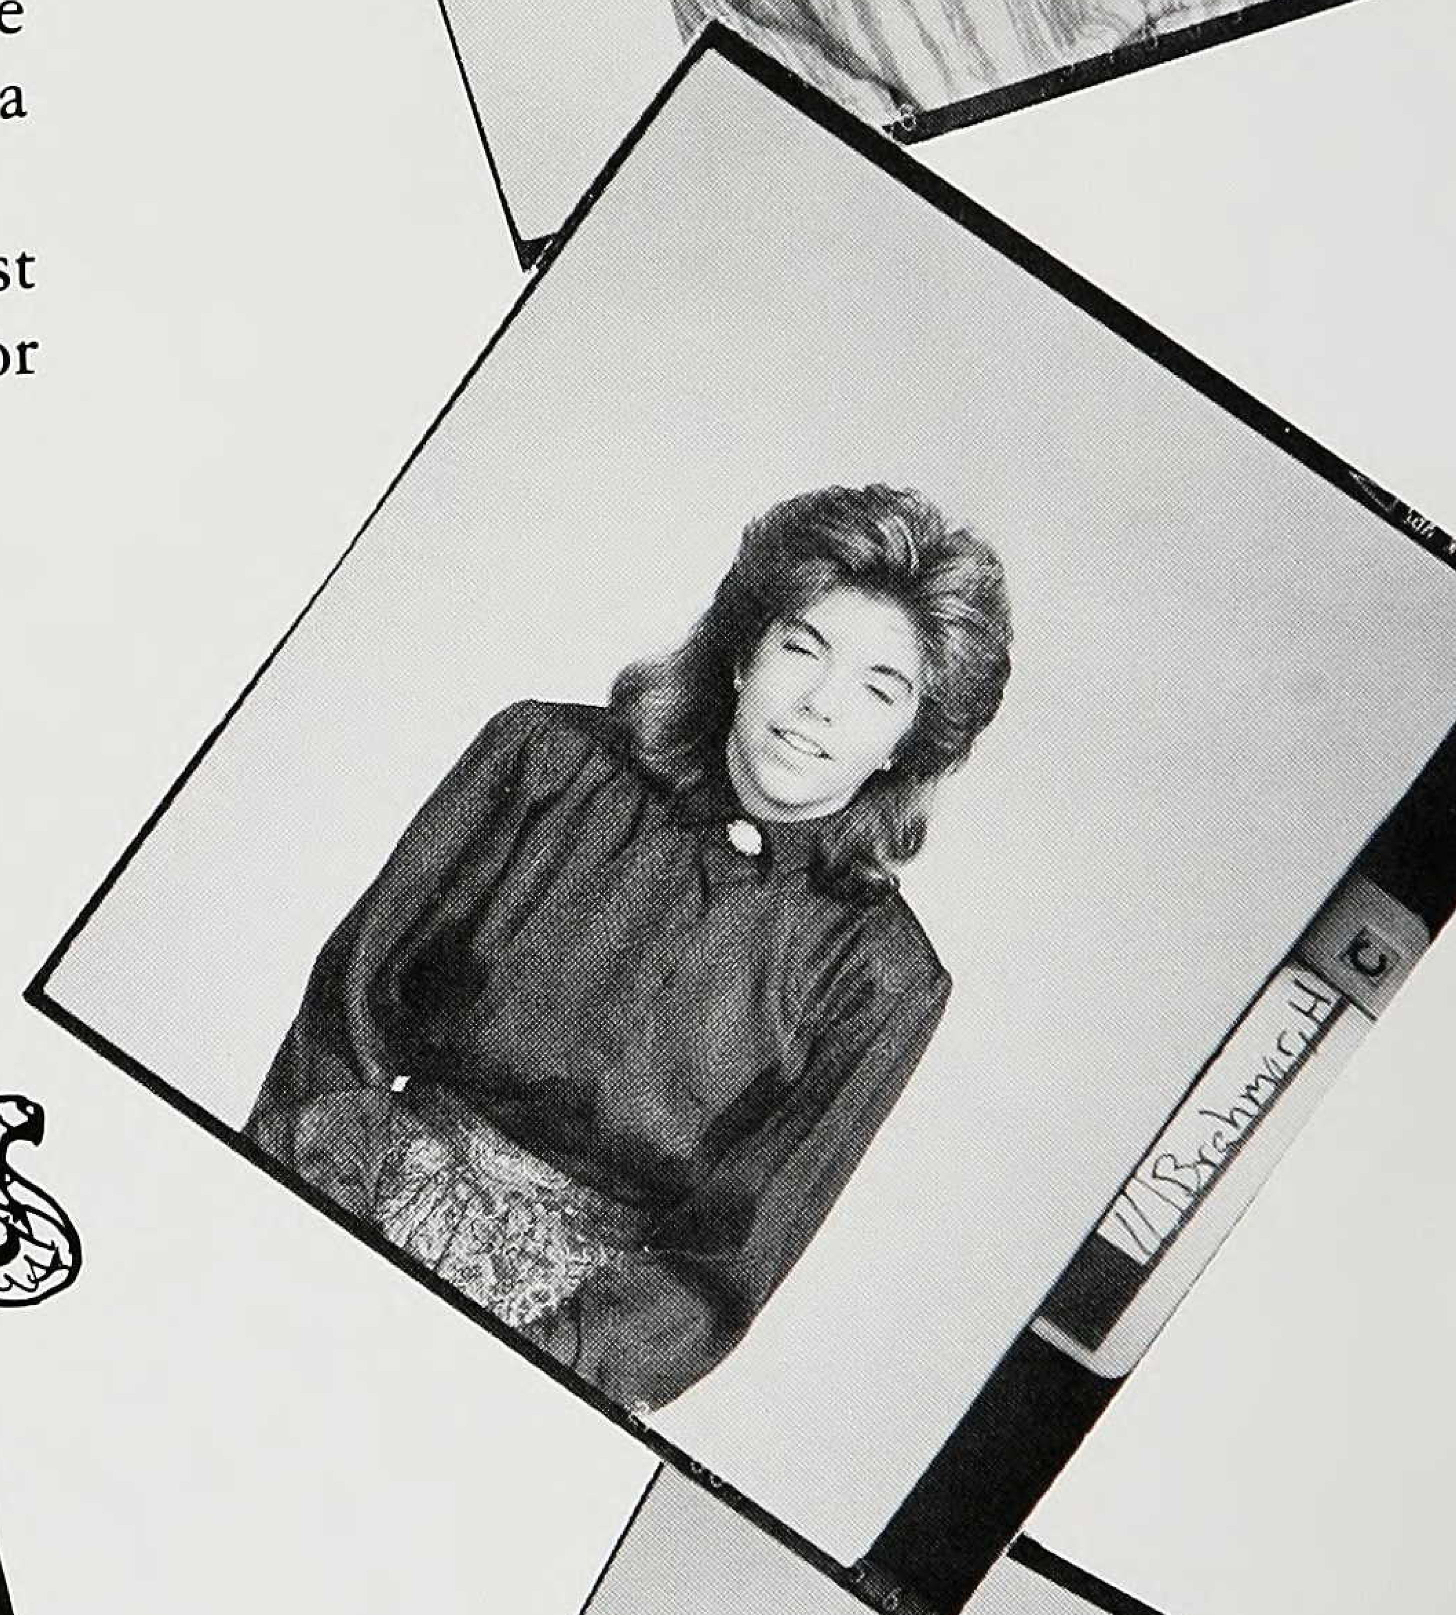

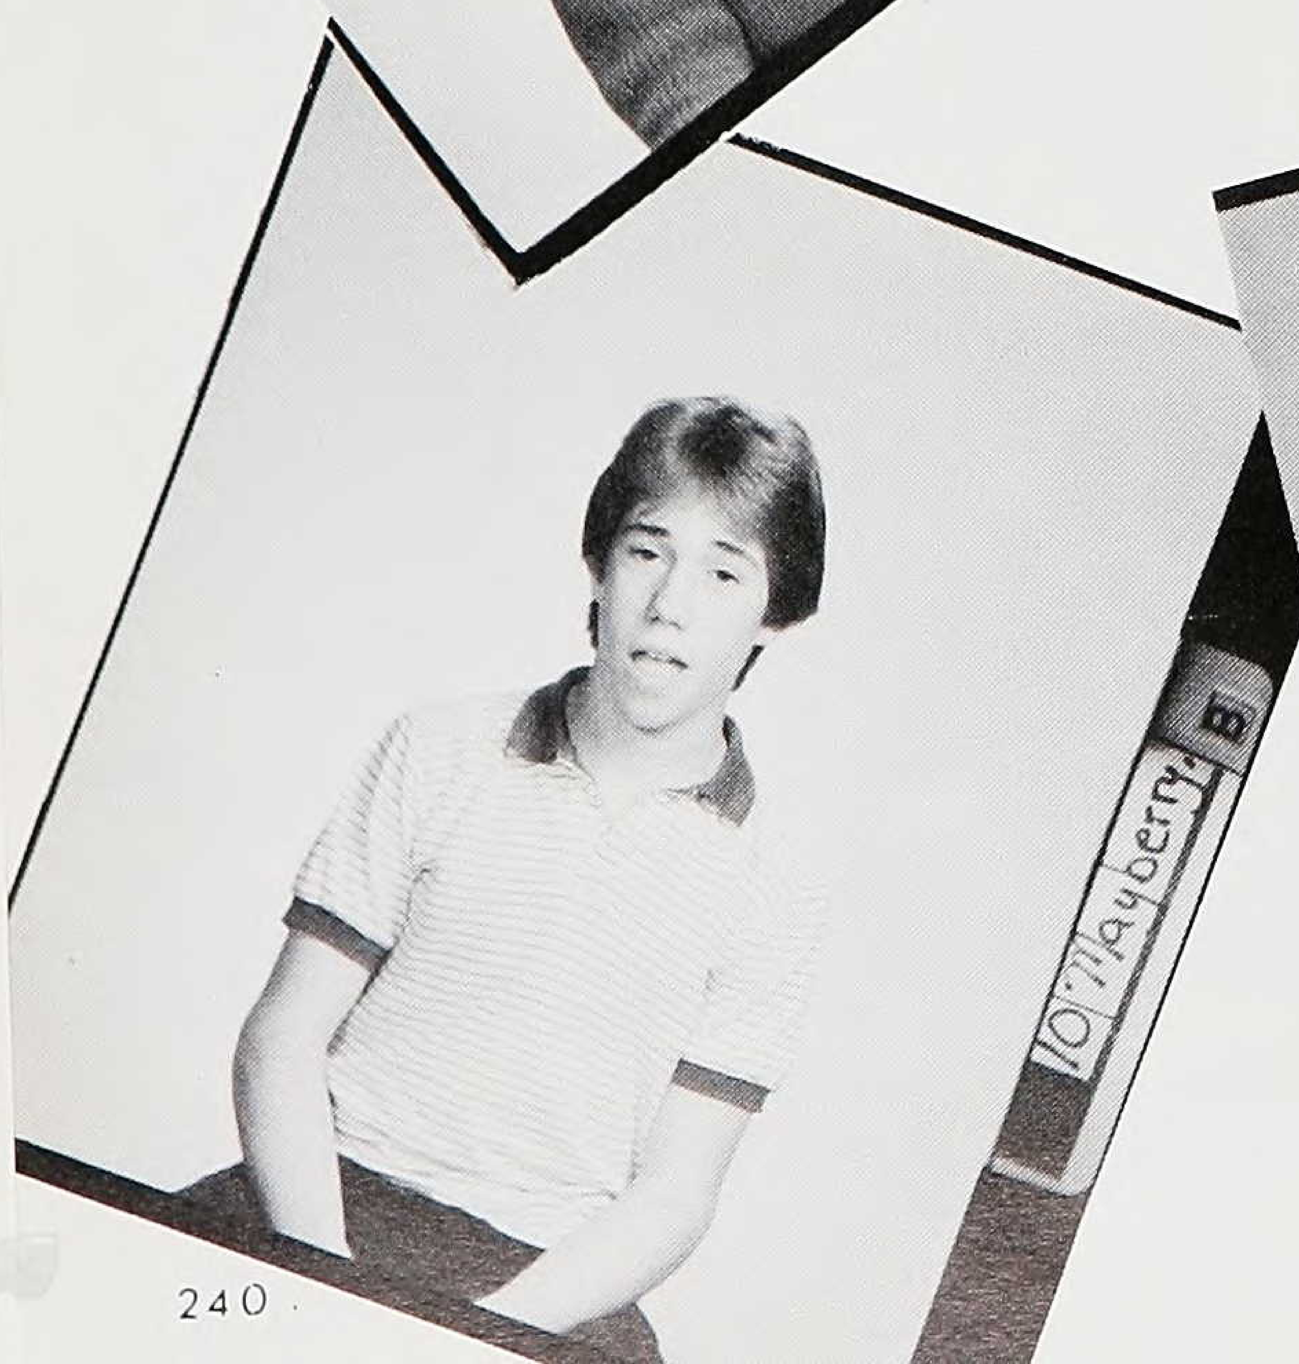

We have a product, soon to be a classic. For the first time in the history of Pittsfield High, underclassmen were subjected to the torture of the camera. Many pictures were taken and retaken, and as a result: Classic Crack-ups.

Sorry about this, but we just had to do it. Thank you for your support.

What's new in Massachusetts?

Governor Michael Dukakis throws his hat in the ring.

Michael Dukakis, governor of the State of Massachusetts, plays an important part in our lives. He acts as a role model for the youth of today, a figure to look up to, as shown in his political beliefs and his beliefs as a man. Playing a significant role in the community, Mr. Dukakis fights to combat such pressing problems as racialism and prejudice against freedom for women. Also, it is his quest for a sufficient welfare program to provide good housing and food for the less fortunate. Economic stability is yet another one of his goals.

Dukakis is a man who champions self and self-achievements. Just as a president must bear the responsibility of creating opportunity for American citizens, so also must the individual strive for personal and (on a larger scale) national achievement. His beliefs are shown in his many accomplishments that benefit the state of Massachusetts. Playing an avid role in the anti-drug and alcohol campaign, he has had an impact on teenagers. And his crackdown on crime has influenced all communities in our state.

For the youth, Dukakis is an identifiable figure. He is not to be considered flawless. He is a man who learns from his mistakes and betters himself as seen in his first running for governor of Massachusetts. Not willing to give up, he persevered and gained an influential political position, not to mention seeking the presidency.

On March 30, 1987, a formal ceremony was held in the ballroom of the Berkshire Hilton to celebrate the Tierney building ground breaking. Governor Michael Dukakis, advocate for a better Massachusetts and champion of the cause of economic stability and quality education, was the guest speaker.

Contractor David J. Tierney, Jr. had already begun to redevelop the Parcel 3 Urban Renewal Tract with the completion of the KAY-BEE Toy corporate headquarters, bringing some 300 jobs to Pittsfield. The new building will house premium office space. The governor praised the project and its impact on the local economy.

This presidential campaign will be one for the class of 1987 to watch carefully. By November of 1988, when the election for a new president of the United States will be held, the students of this class will be of voting age.

Mayor Charles Smith extends the hand of friendship to Governor Michael Dukakis as Douglas Philipsen and David J. Tierney, Jr. give a round of applause.

Governor Dukakis addresses over 300 guests at the ground breaking ceremony.

People's Choice

They're #1

Over the course of a four-year period in high school, people are influenced by the personalities of their peers and they form opinions of one another. Near the close of Senior year, a poll is taken during homeroom period while everyone has a chance to voice his or her opinions. The results were tallied this year by Michael Messer and Haven Parchinski. This is how our Superlative page was created. In years to come, when the yearbook is opened, these photos will stir memories of days gone by, especially before a class reunion.

Nicest Eyes Kate LeBeau Ray LeBeau

Friendliest Kellie Reardon Steve Decker

Most School Spirit Beth Levison Andy Mickle

Most Nonchalant Nicole DeSalvo Kevin Manzolini

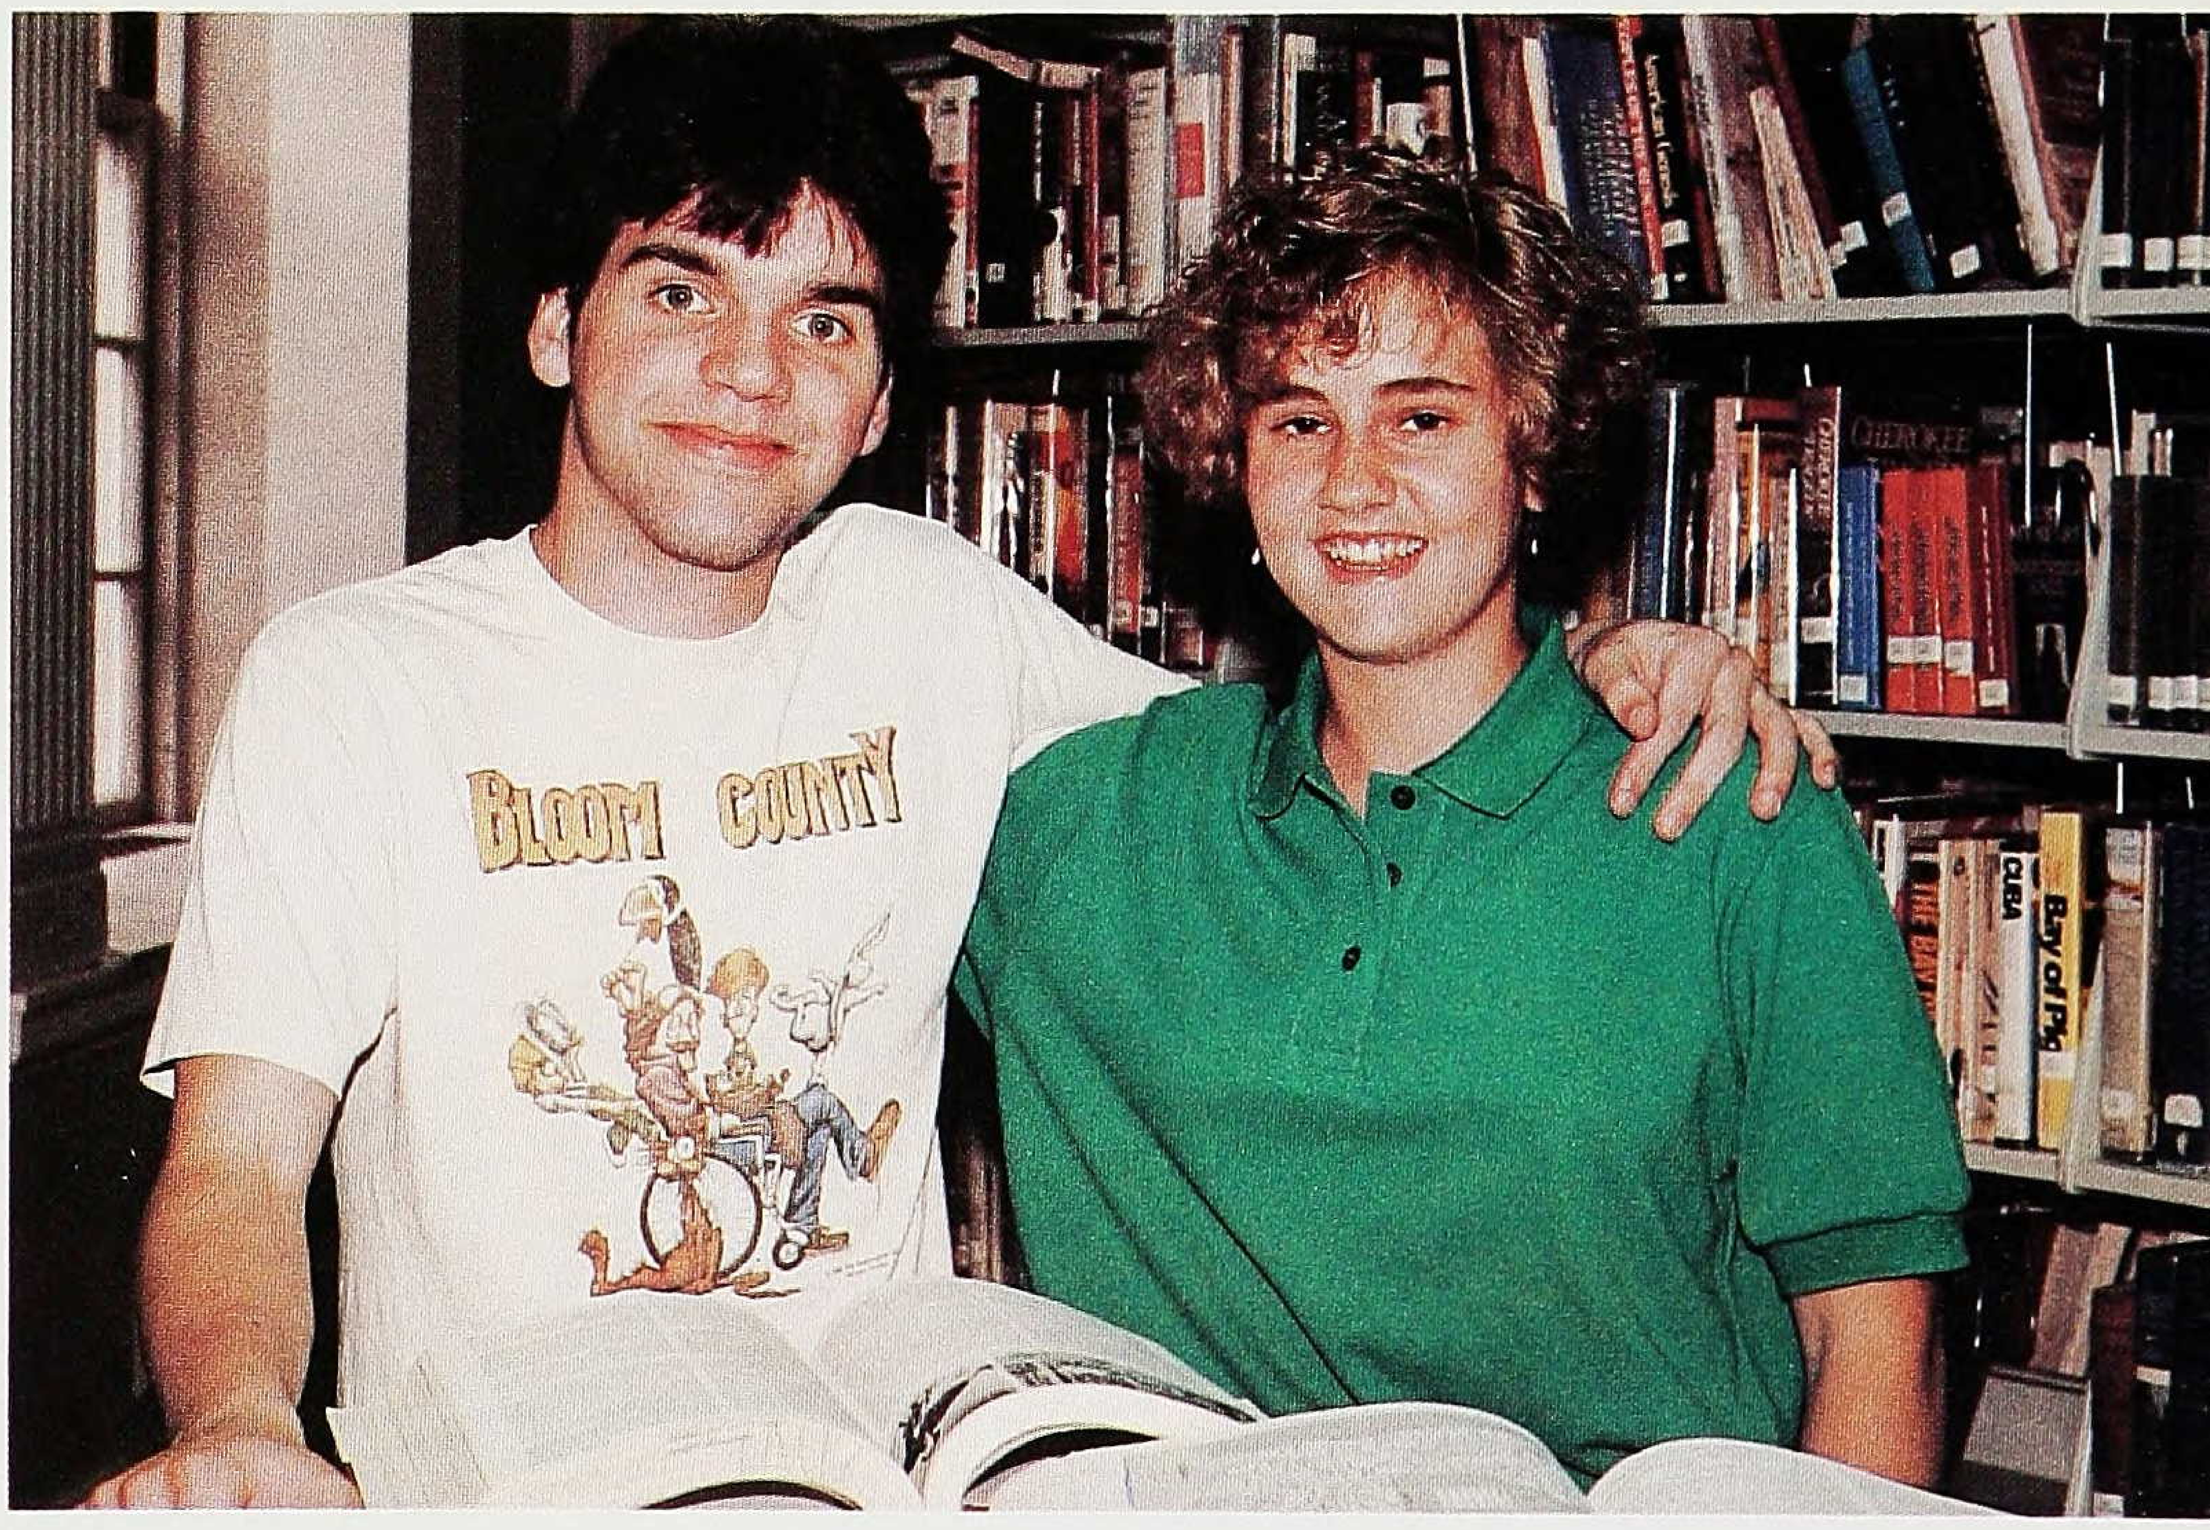

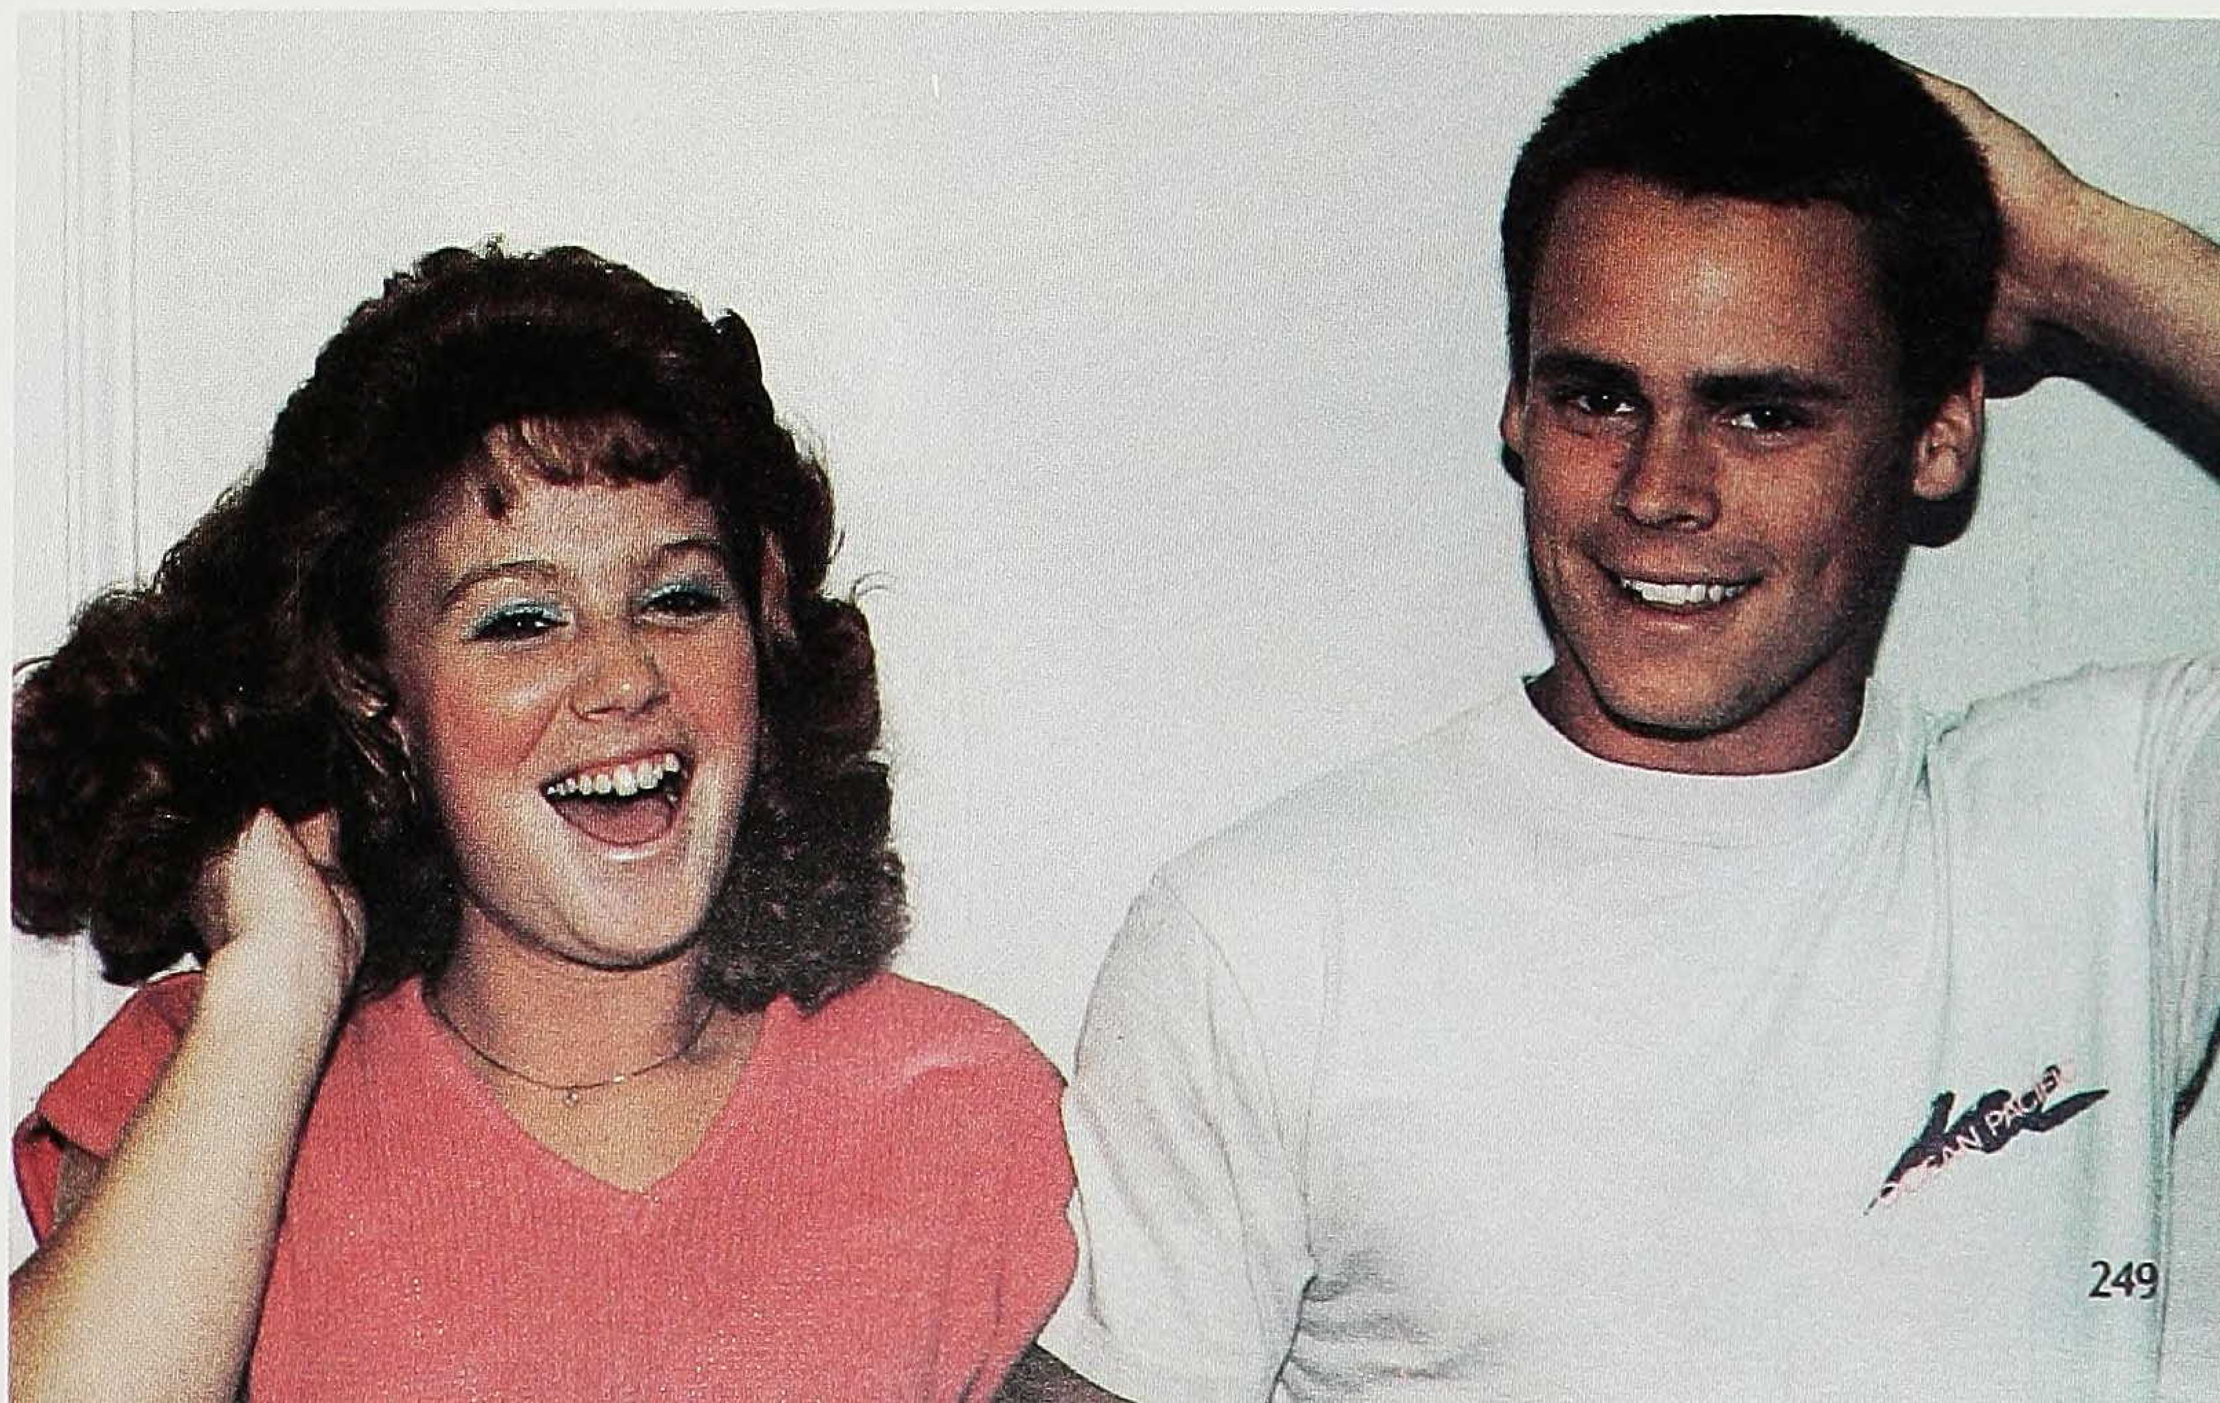

Class Clown	Sue LaPierre	Todd Rilla
Cutest	Sara Frenkel	Matt Malatesta
Best Student	Jim Brennan	Sarah Brezniak

Nicest Hair	Leslie Cuff	Rob Maloney

It was not surprising when Kate LeBeau was chosen the girl with the nicest eyes that twin brother Ray would also get the nod. Kellie Reardon and Steve Decker, with their outgoing and winning ways would make a Martian feel at home at PHS or anywhere for that matter. Would it be possible not to cheer for or support any school function with Beth Levison and Andy Mickle leading the pack? And, for a pause in the days of madness, a lesson in nonchalance from Nicole DeSalvo and Kevin Manzolini would certainly restore one's equilibrium.

When things got heavy in class, Sue LaPierre and Todd Rilla could always be counted on to lighten up the mood and just for sheer delight, Sarah Frendel and Matt Malatesta could "cuten up" an otherwise hum-drum day.

Best Smile — Karen Massaro — Rob Maloney

Most Athletic — Keyburn McCusker — Ken Fry

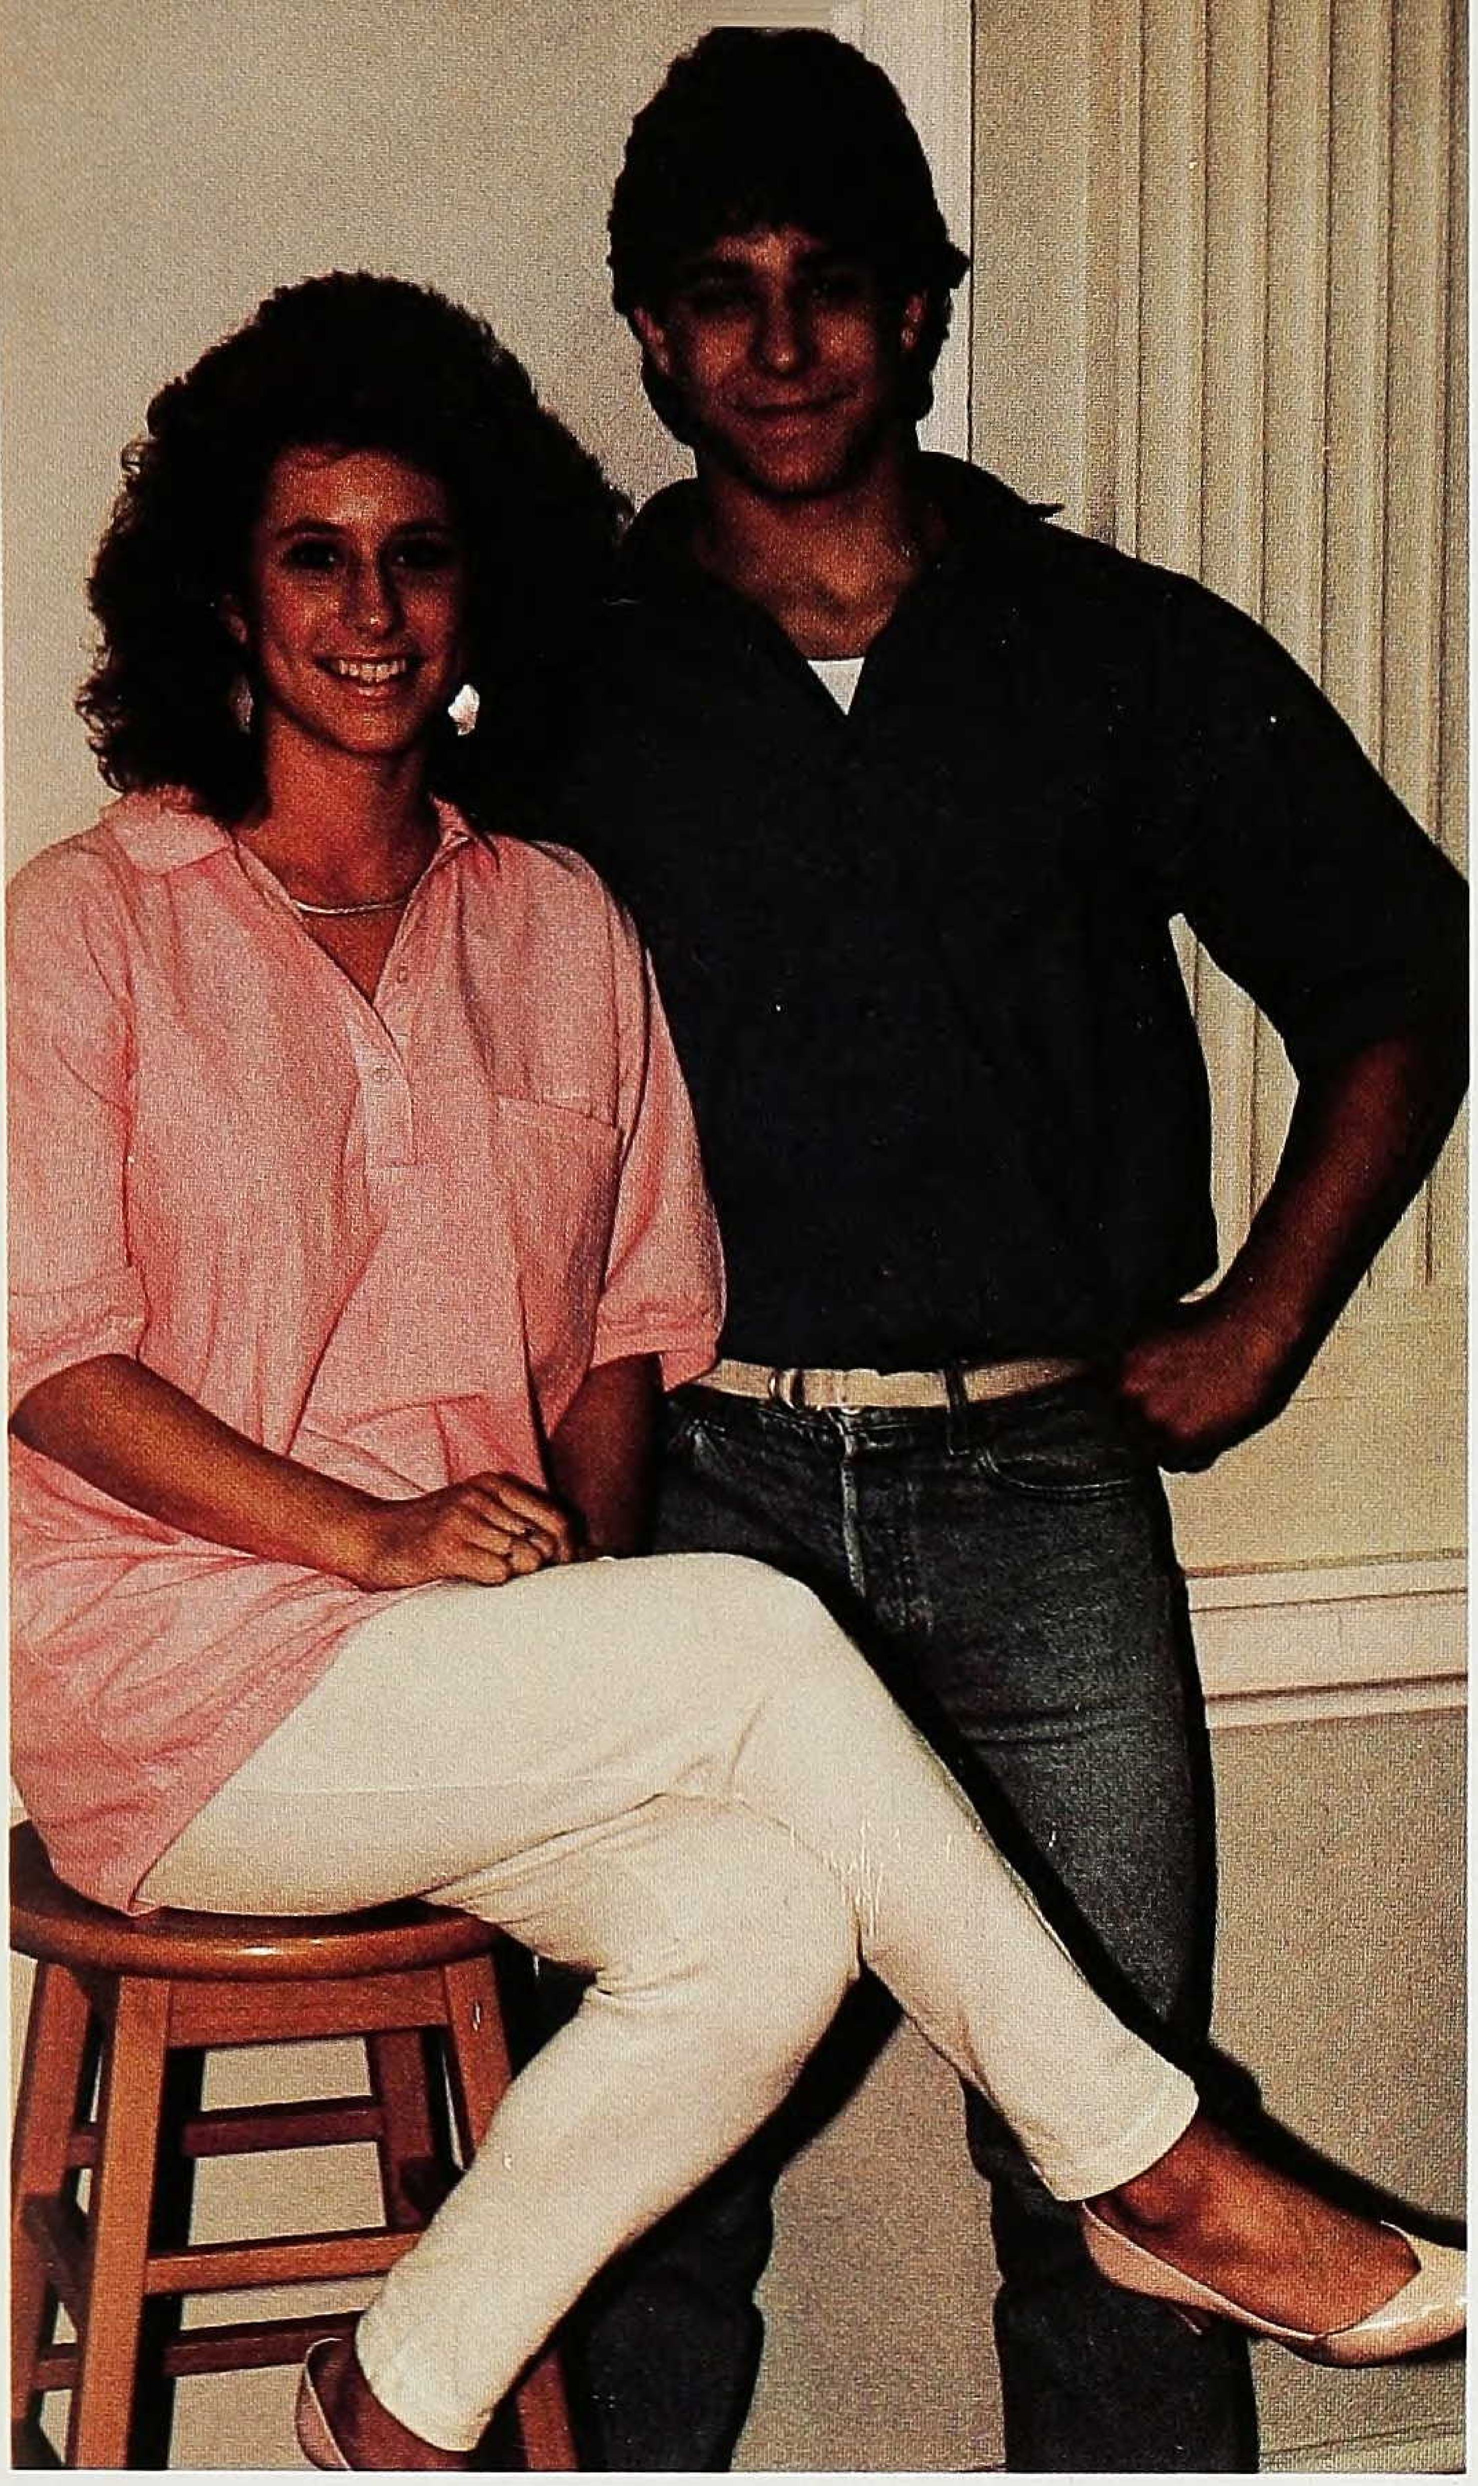

Best Dressed — Karen Massaro — Peter Dolfis

Most Musical — Connie Chmura — Carlos Cleveland

Who did not envy the GPA's of Jim Brennan and Sarah Brezniak? Leslie Cuff of the beautiful tresses was a shoo-in for the girl with the nicest hair . . . as for Rob Maloney, let's say he's in a '50's time warp! Karen Massaro and Rob Maloney would be #1 on any orthodontist's list of successes and surely top choice of the toothpaste companies' ad campaigns. However the dimples really made the difference. As for Keyburn McCusker and Ken Fry, the underclassmen will have to work hard to measure up, no pun intended, Key. Most musical is surely a fitting superlative for Connie Chmura and Carlos Cleveland but their athletic talent will not be forgotten; Connie in tennis and Carlos in track. Karen Massaro and Peter Dolfis, our fashion conscious graduates, were an inspiration to everyone who was striving to dress in the latest vogue.

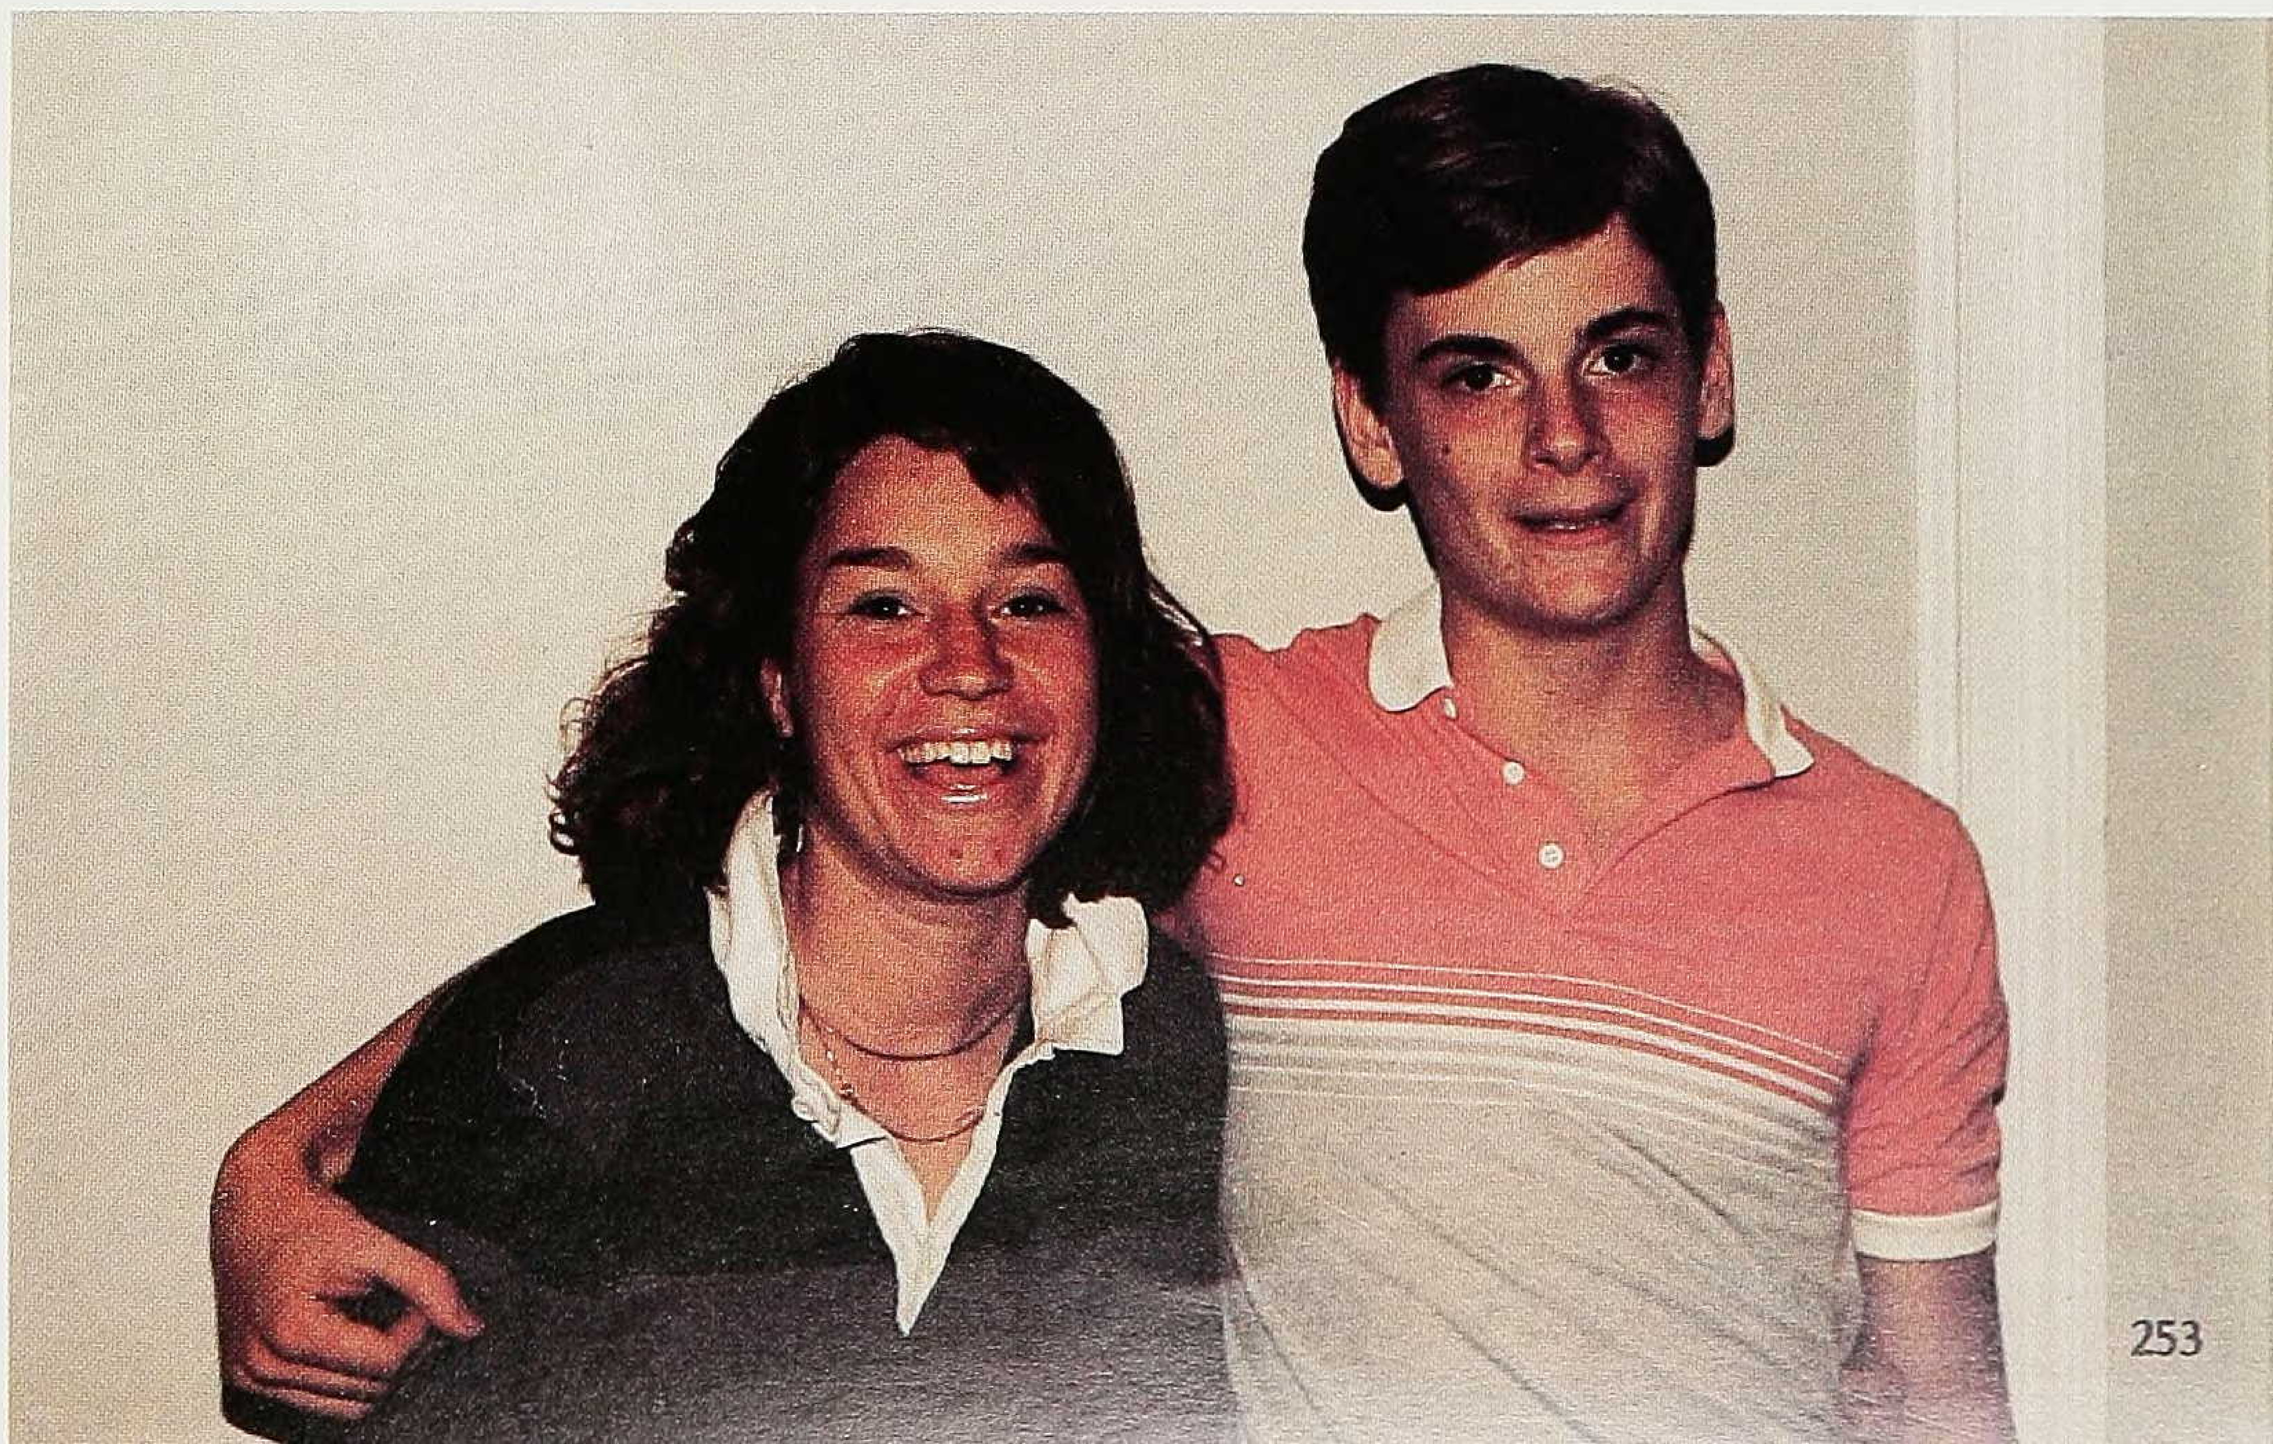

Best Looking	Marla Mularski	Gene Lucaroni
Best Figure/Body	Karen Mole	Gene Lucaroni
Class Couple	Chris DeWitt	John Salvie

Most Active	Martha Vazakas	Steve Decker

"Beauty is only skin deep," goes the old saying but Marla Mularski and Gene Lucaroni disproved that old adage. They are beautiful people in every sense of the word. We forgot to ask Karen Mole and Gene Lucaroni the secret to their success and wonder if "Better Bodies" on East Street would be of any help to the rest of the class. What can be added to the long-lasting relationship of our class couple, Chris DeWitt and John Salvie, except many more happy years together. As for Martha Vazakas and Steve Decker, the halls of PHS will be much more solemn without their bubbling and exuberant presence.

It's great to be #1, especially when classmates have made the selections and wish to pay tribute to those singular people who have made the Class of 1987 so very unique.

PREDICTIONS

We predict that:

— Erwin Berrier becomes a flower child and heads the "Save the Whales" group.

— The chemistry department will find a cure for baldness and Mr. Reagan will have an afro after using it.

— Tom Harrison will be the head of the nation's leading trumpet factory.

— Steve Chryzanowski will spend the rest of his life touring America entering Hacky-Sak tournaments.

— Pete Dolfis will replace Don Johnson on Miami Vice.

— Mr. Gilbert gets injured trying to save a cat.

— The eggs crack.

— Gene Lucaroni will be a Playgirl centerfold.

— There won't be any more make-up in the year 1992 because Kim Norris will have used it all up.

— Dave Izzo will finally realize that Bruce Lee is dead.

— Tim Meandro will become a State Trooper.

— The PHS attendance policy will prevent approximately one half of next year's senior class from graduating.

— Mrs. Johnson joins the Moral Majority.

— Mr. Gardner becomes the richest man in the world and shares his wealth with his favorite '87 economics classes.

— Lori Vincent will become quarterback for the Miami Dolphins.

— The golf course will be burned down one Friday night.

— Erwin and Andre will be picked up for crossing the Canadian border during World War III.

— Michelle Barzowskas will own the Showplace movie theatre.

— Matt Peplowski will weigh 300 lbs. at the age of 25.

— The attendance policy will be overruled by a walkout.

— Ray LeBeau will become a priest.

— Marla Mularski and Robyn Edwards will find new friends at school.

— Mr. Gardner will marry little Juanita.

— Mike Tierney will become president of Jiffy Lube.

— Suzanne LaPierre will fly back to Italy for a "Special" visit.

— Noah will build an ark and drown.

— Mrs. Rajotte will write a book entitled "Isn't That Interesting?"

— Andy Mickle becomes a game show host.

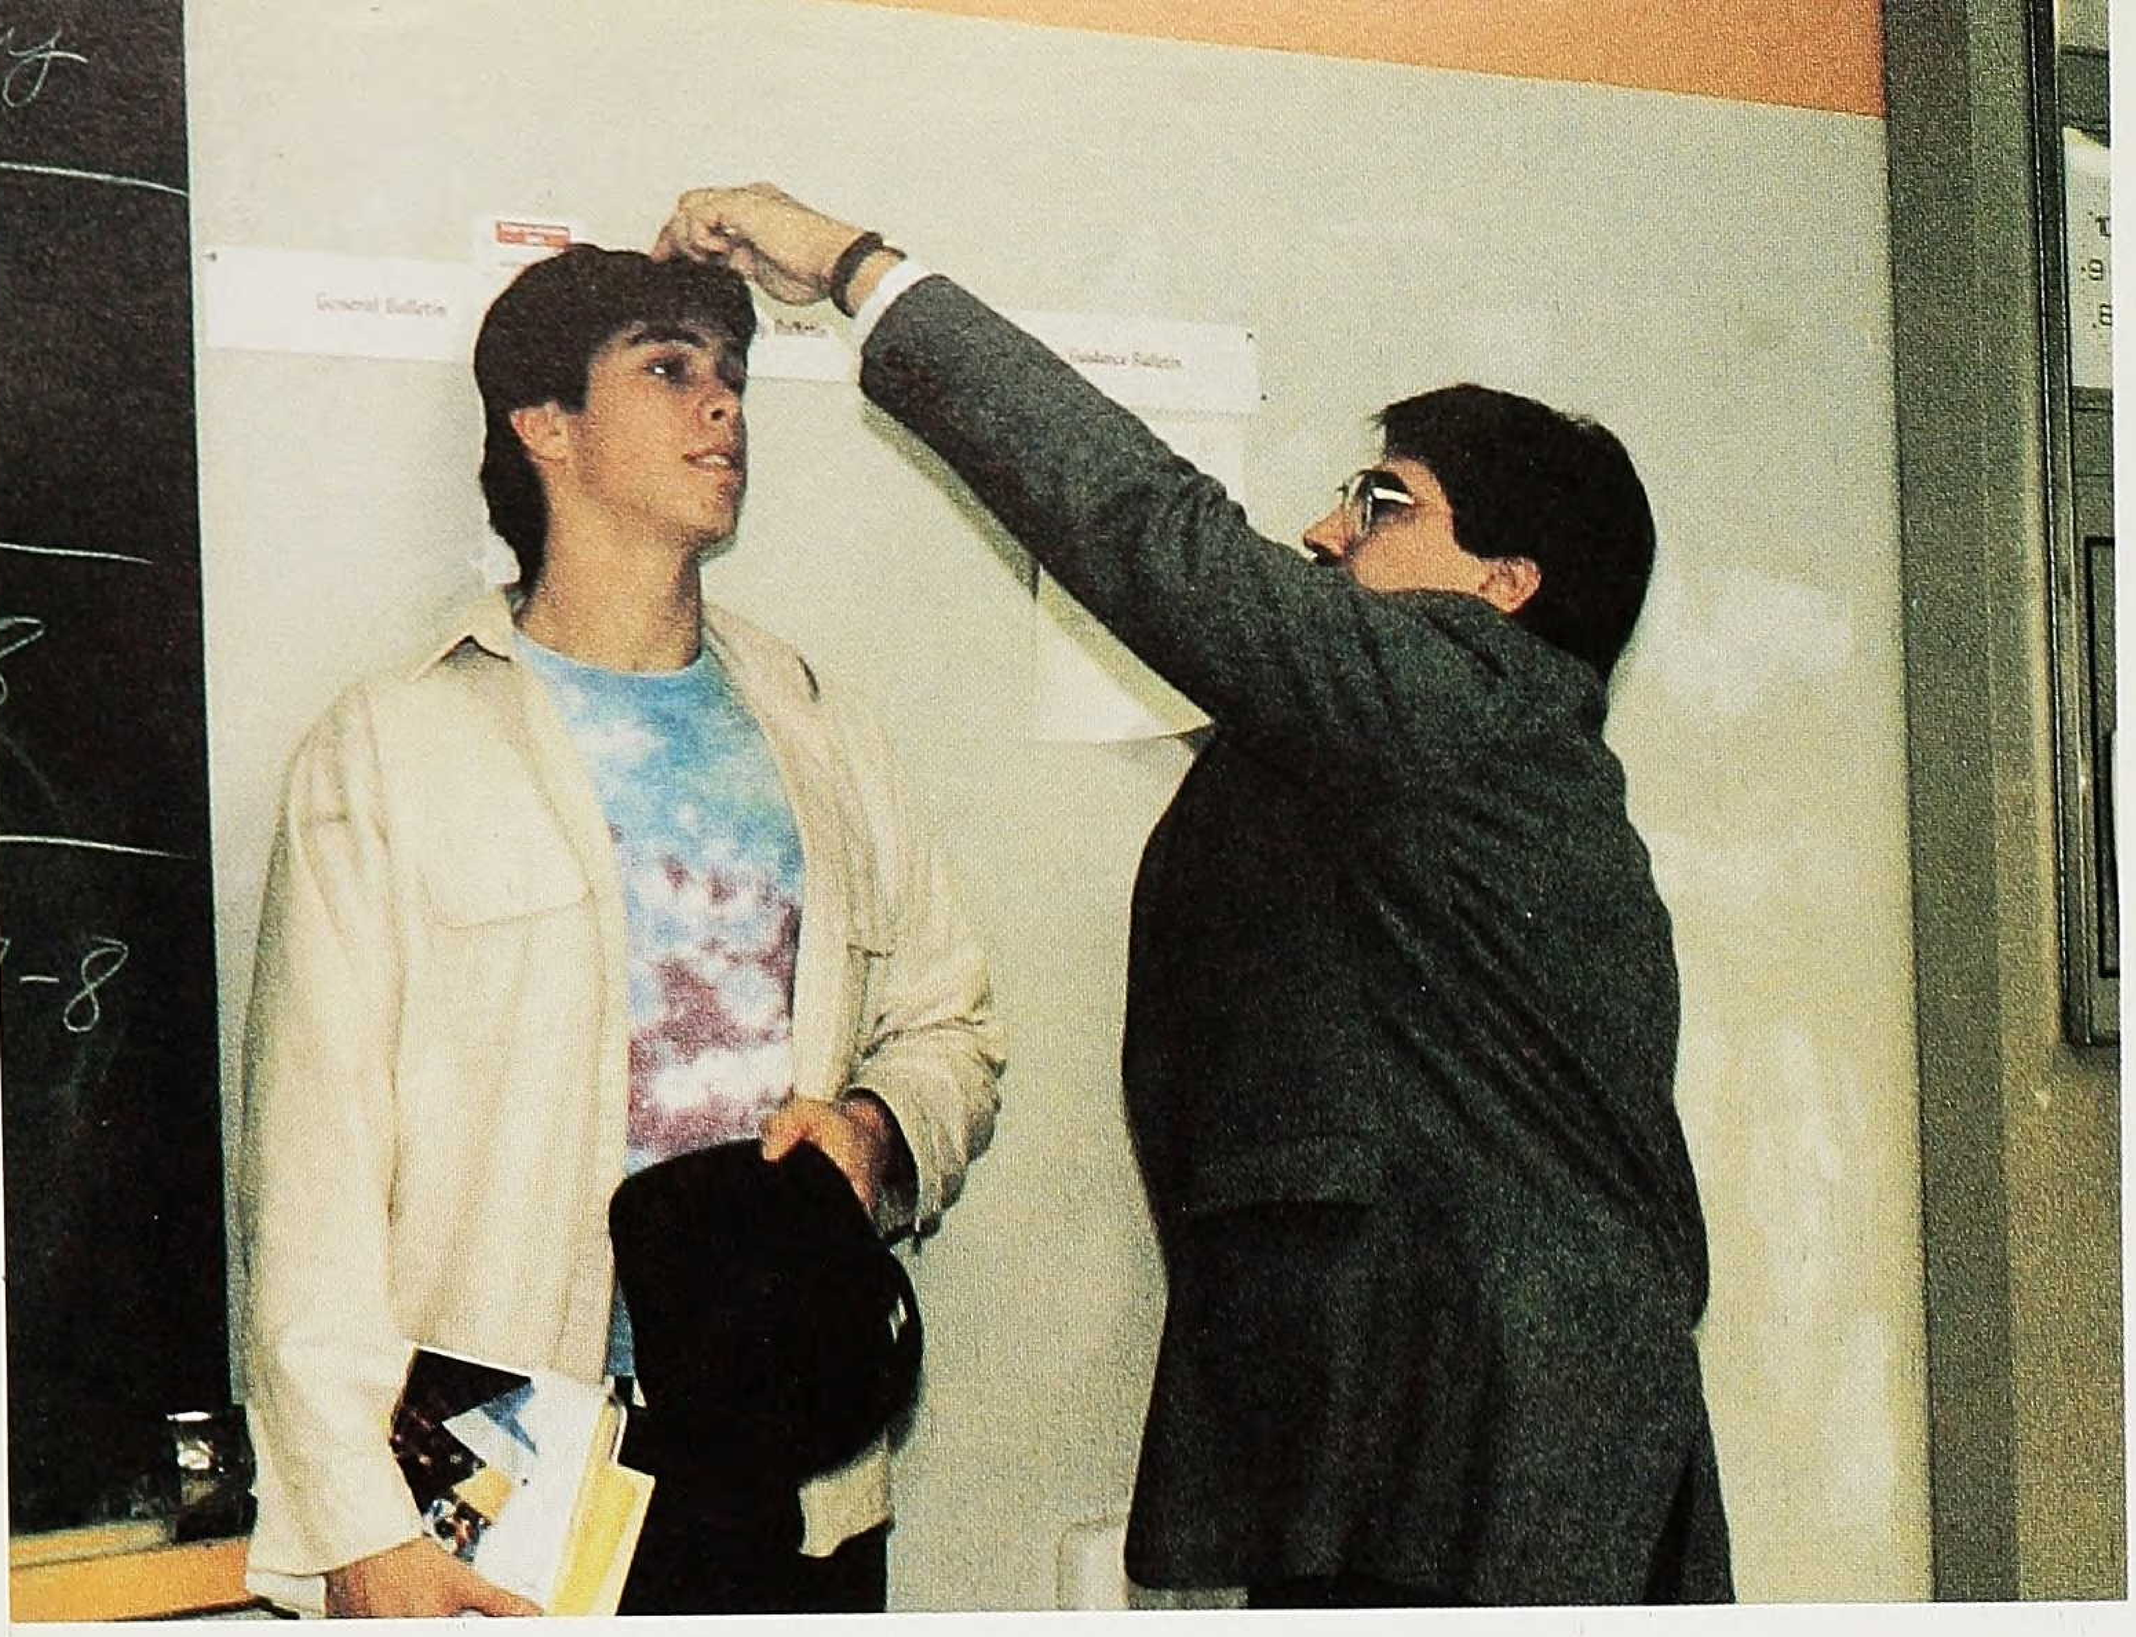

— Car 26 gets arrested for breaking and entering.

— Finally, no class ever comes close to being as great as the Class of 1987! !

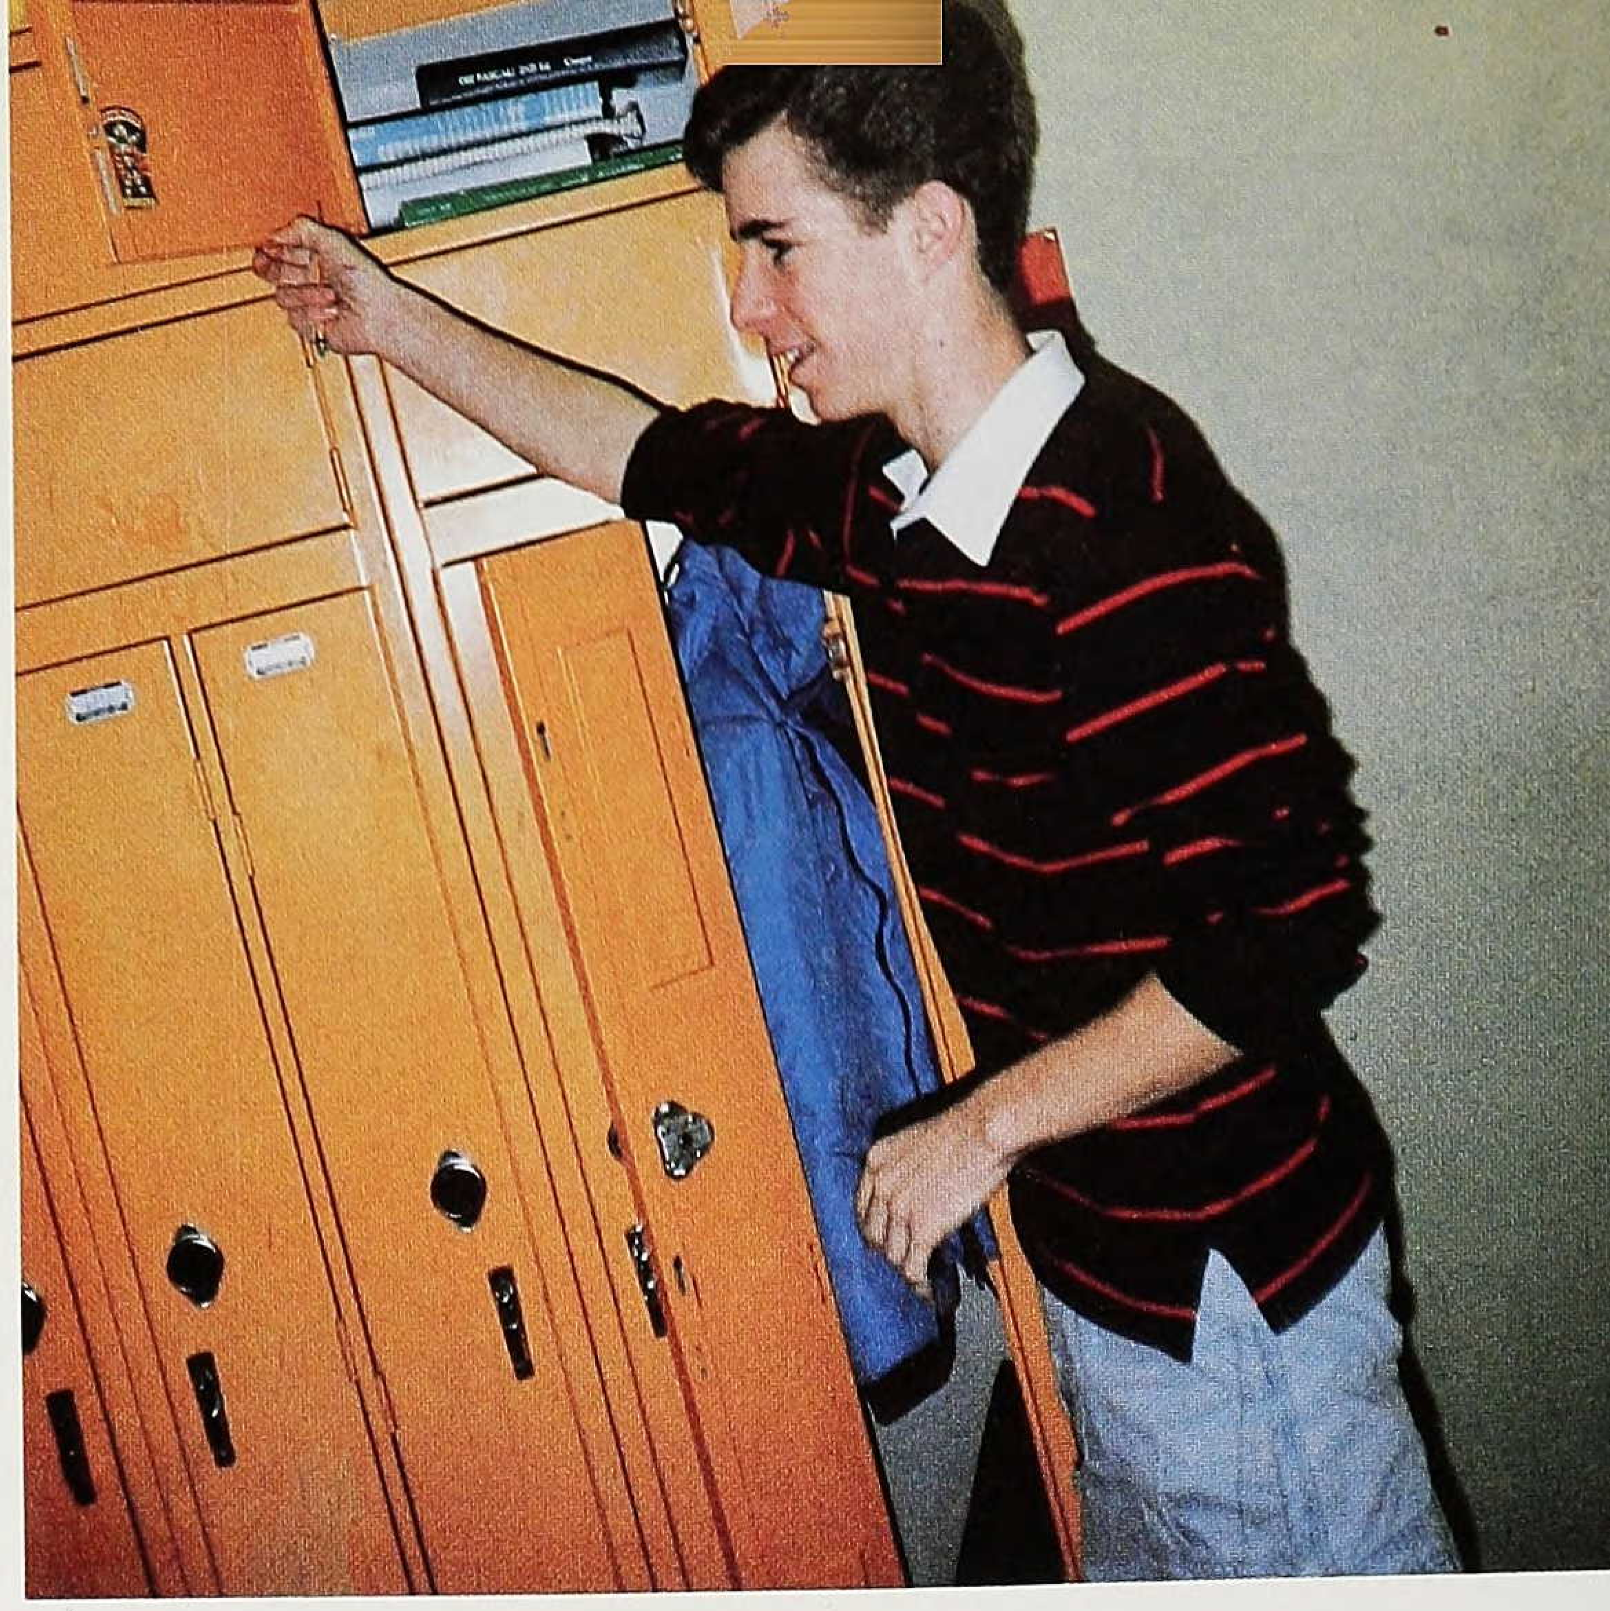

CLASS WILL

The Pittsfield High School Class of 1987, being of sound body and mind, does hereby bequeath the following:
We leave:

— Mr. Gardner a class that can skip without getting caught and a life's supply of Heineken.
— Twenty boxes of excused absence forms and some good excuses to next year's seniors.
— Andre Von Hoyer's stories to Tony Castanzo.
— Mrs. Tobin a case of Asti-Spumante - she'll need it after another year with Tony and Vito.
— The teachers a new faculty hockey team.
— Mr. Gilbert a copy of Tie Lab and a dead cat.
— Mrs. Johnson a list of more assignments to give her AP class after the finals.
— Billy D's house to next year's football team on the day of the college fair.
— Martha Vazakas leaves Katie Archey a new box of crayons.
— Nicole DeSalvo and Kathy Bobrovsky leave Mr. Reagan a guest appearance on "$25,000 Pyramid".
— The eggs leave the Michelob boys real Halloween costumes.
— M.Q. leaves Lori Vincent a football uniform.
— Steve Gniadek leaves John DiNicola more hits.
— The 1987 Prom Committee a band.
— The "girls" leave Kelly Tierney a tape recorder.
— The Clean-Up Crew of '87 leaves their mops to anyone who has a party.
— Michael Tierney leaves Mr. Wilson "Tea's Office".
— AP Chemistry leaves the lab coat to Bob Brennan and Mark Dolfis.
— To all the FRESH juniors - some RAD skateboards.
— The senior girls leave the junior girls faithful boyfriends.
— Keye, Mel, Lisa and Sue leave the girls' basketball team "the thrill of victory!"
— To Bob Belford a Taconic girlfriend.
— Scott Rousseau leaves Gary Soldato his bowling shoes.
— Beth, Martha, Katie and Sarah leave the girls' soccer team a year's supply of bags.
— To Matt Risley the ability to pass the puck.
— To Cory Sohmer a spot in the locker room.
— Colleen and Kellie leave Scott Rousseau a real job.
— The senior boys leave the junior boys a fake ID card and a place to party.
— To S.L. - M.V. leaves Germano.
— To Mary Quirk - M.Q. and T.S. leave first place in the 500 Freestyle.
— Michelle and Lisa leave Mr. Blowe a winning Megabucks ticket.
— The senior boys leave their lunch table to John DiNicola.
— Leslie, Lori and Gina leave Missy bus fare to visit them next year at college.
— Haven leaves Noah "somethin'".
— To Virginia B. - a case of Hellman's for those sunny days - from D.
— Nancy Hover leaves Alicia Henry a pass to get out of homeroom every day.
— K.L. and M.Q. leave Colleen Connelly the boys' swim team.
— Colleen and Stacie leave Kellie Rose and Mary Beth Enright a year's pass for the B-Bus because they will never get their licenses.
— Last, but not least, we leave the juniors the lobby!

Senior Week

The long-awaited arrival of the grill ends as Bill DeSantis, Mike Daury, Rob Maloney and Darin Sperlonga deliver it.

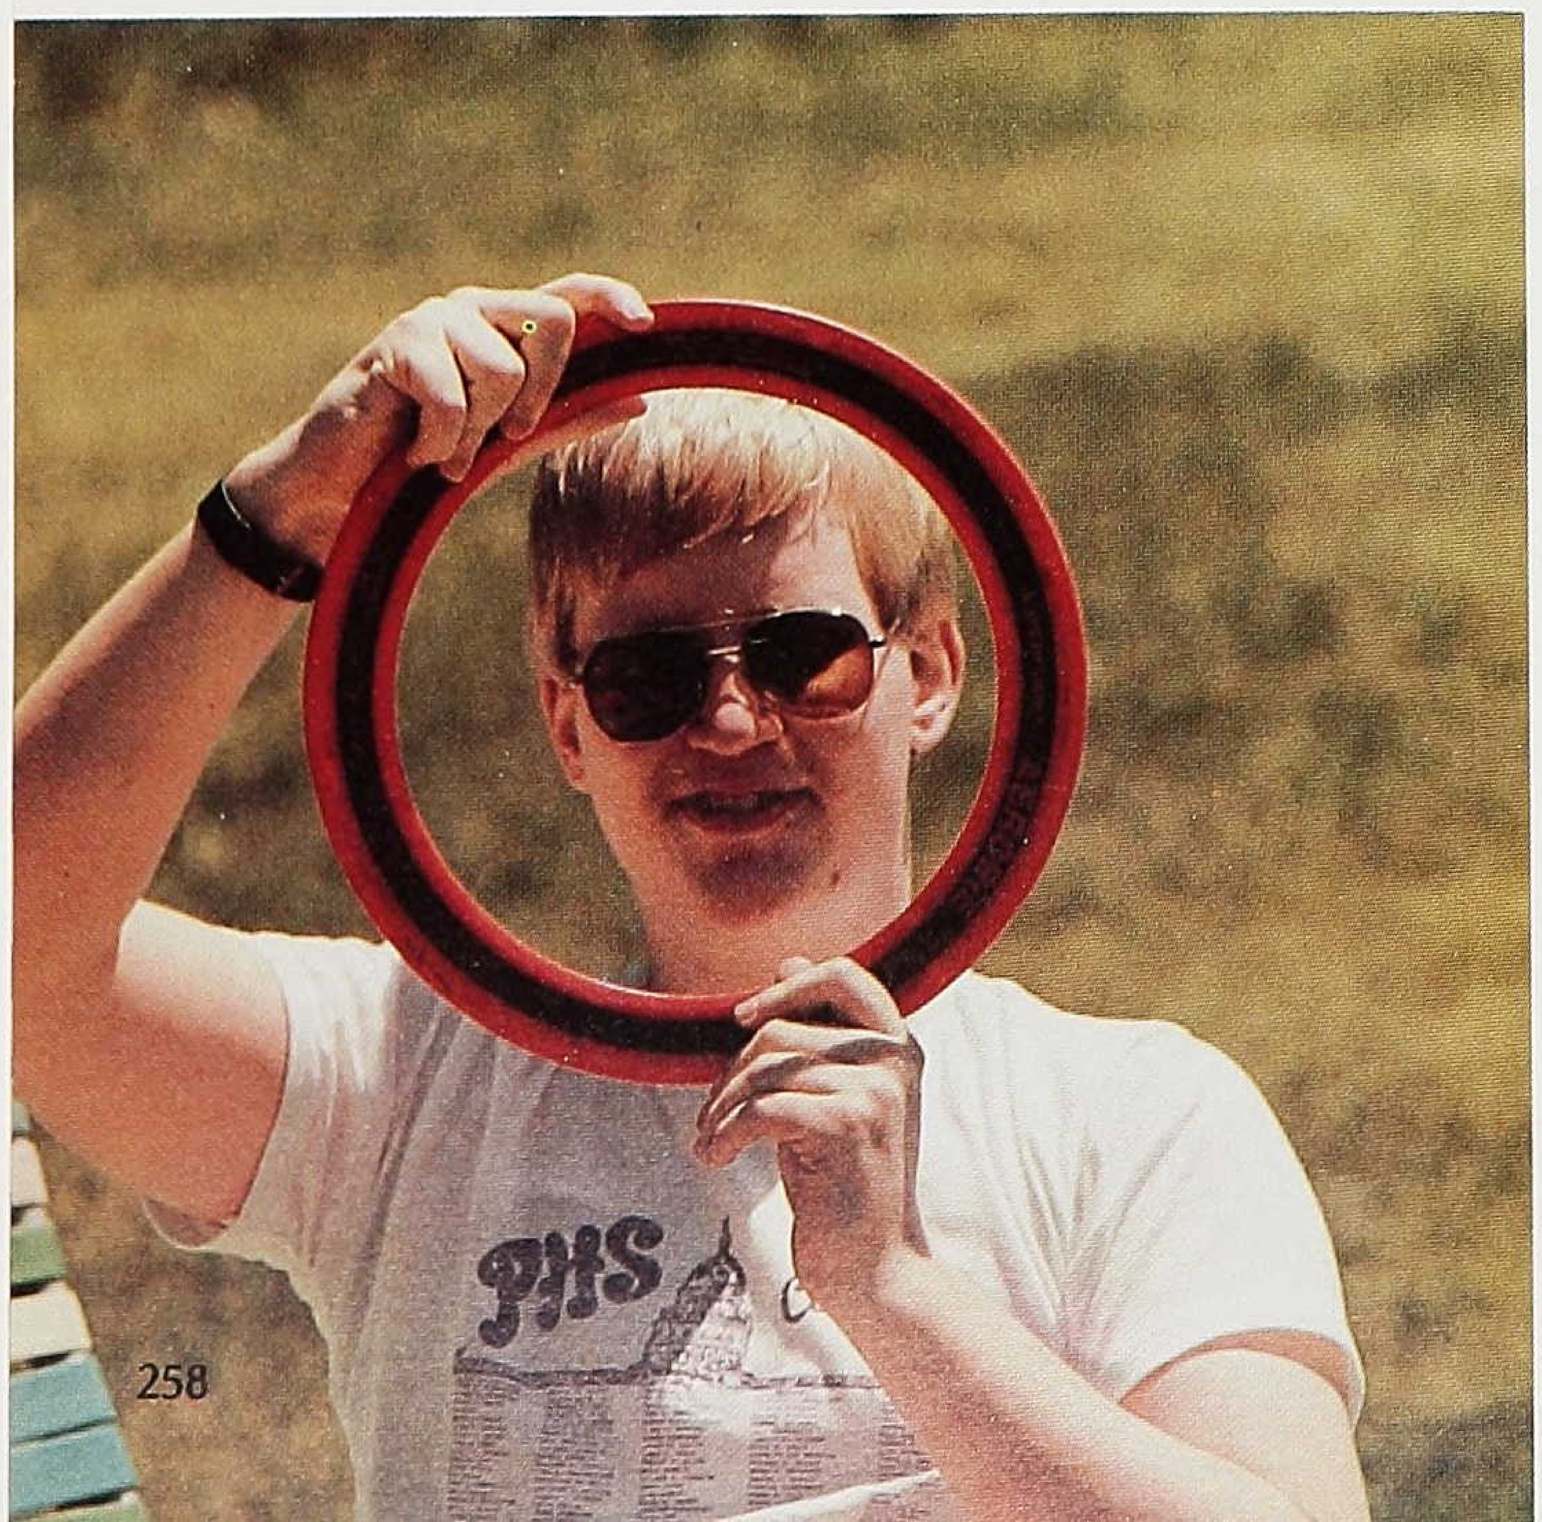

Ron Blake and Bill Kennedy excel in Ultimate Frisbie.

Stef Mazza, Patty Lefkowitz, Jen Carmel, and Jen Ellery do a S-L-O-W burn.

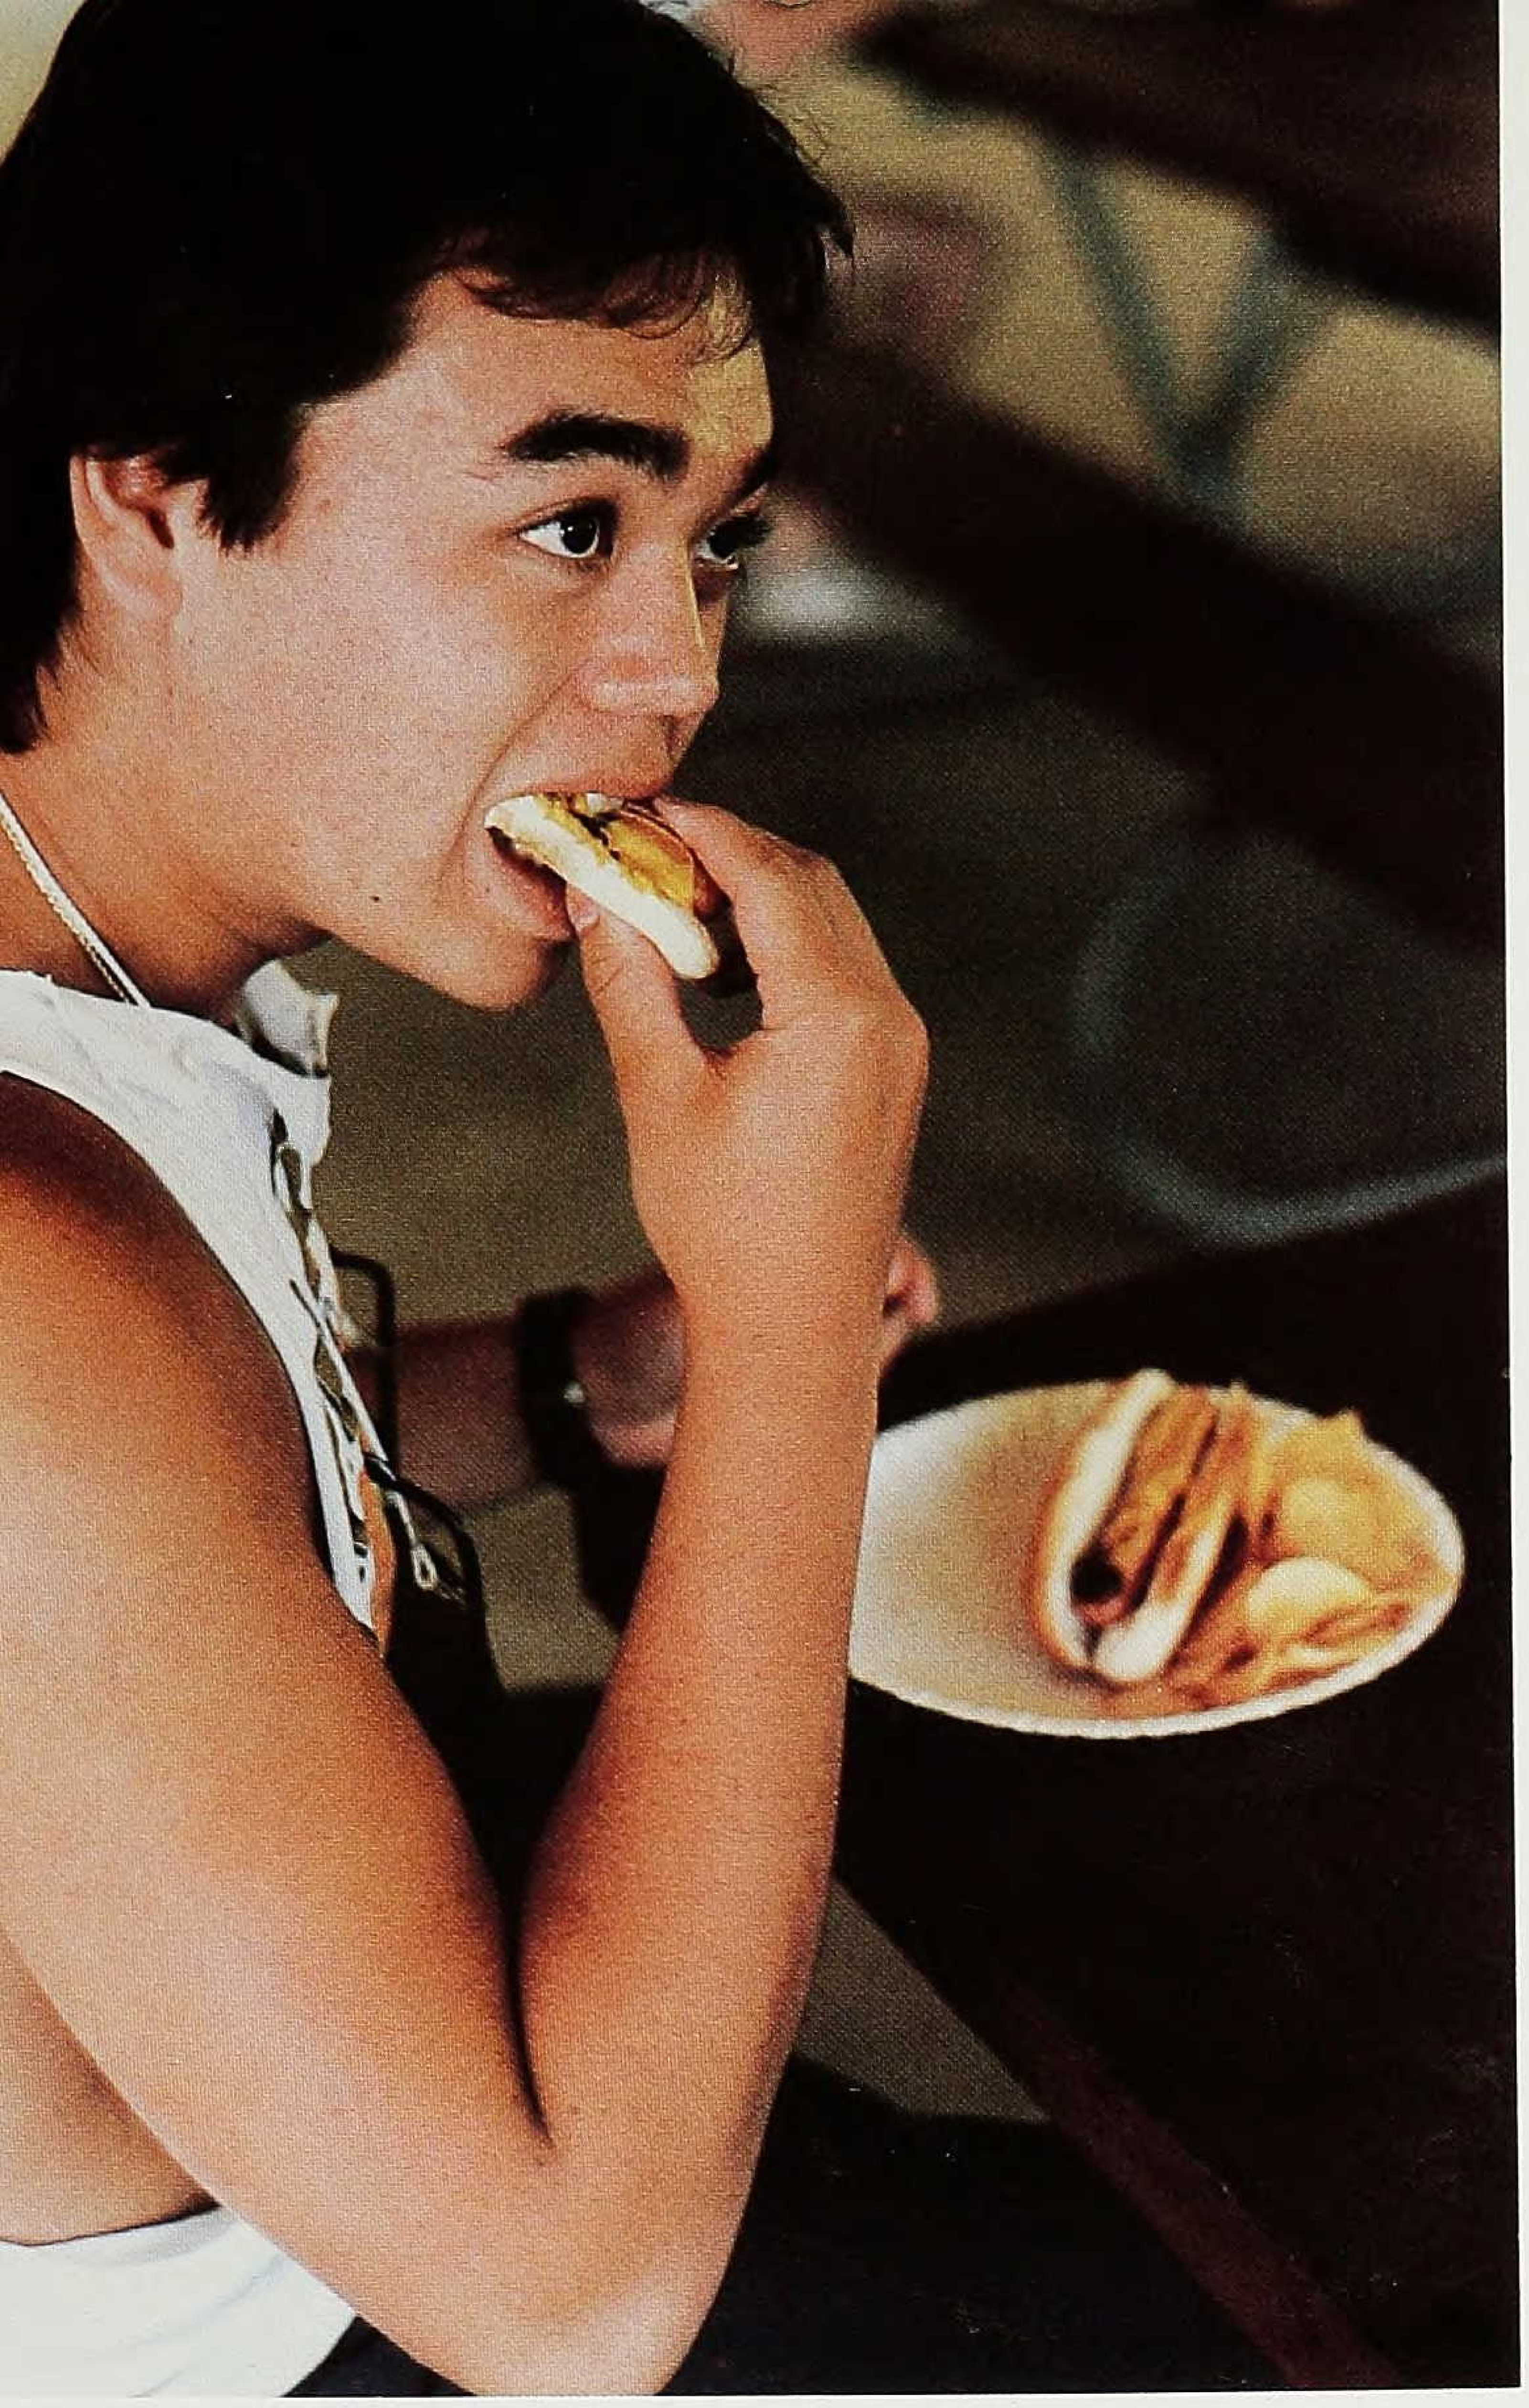

Grounds at Ponterill offered seniors the opportunity to express their lighter side. The soon-to-be grads competed vigorously in volleyball and softball matches. After devouring hamburgers and hot dogs served up by juniors, many took advantage of a day in the sun without classes. The olympic sized pool was enjoyed by swimmers and those who chose to romp in the refreshing blue water. Others hiked trails and took long scenic walks enjoying each others company, which, for some, would be the last time. Jams and swimsuits created a casual and fun-filled party atmosphere that was a welcome change from the formalities of senior week.

Jonathan Jones wonders what it would be like to be a life-saver.

Carolyn Furlano, one of the many photographers present.

The art of wolfing down a hot dog as demonstrated by Jim Guidi.

Lori Vincent has her day in the sun.

Tony Mazzeo and Lisa Pacheco share a private moment.

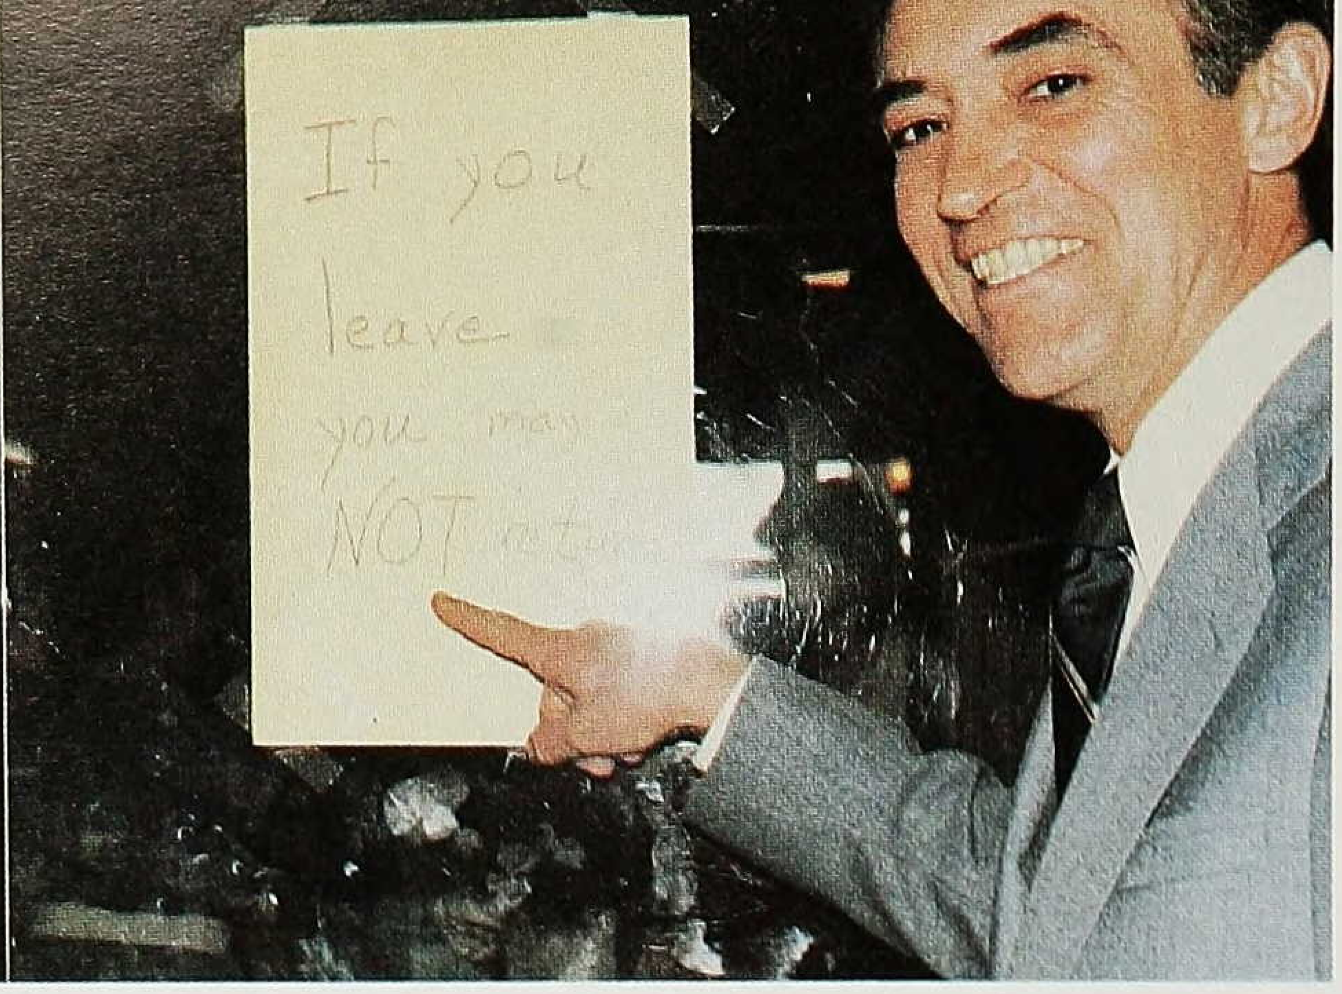

Jim Brennan terrorizes Nancy Shultz, Susan Hughes and Amy Clark.

Suzanne LaPierre, Tracey Cassinelli, and Colleen McIntyre remain friends forever.

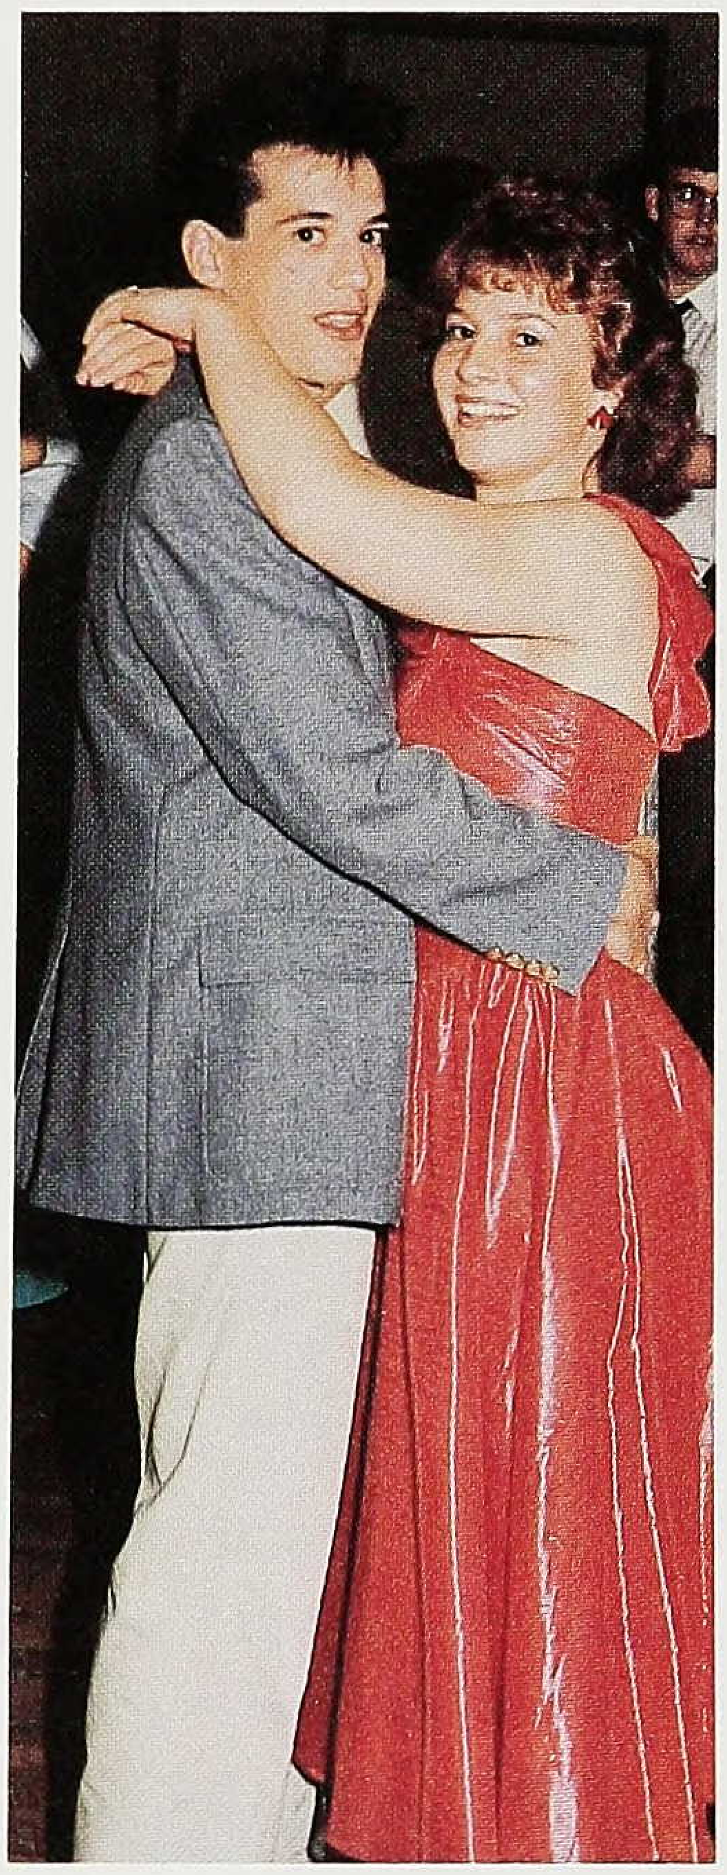

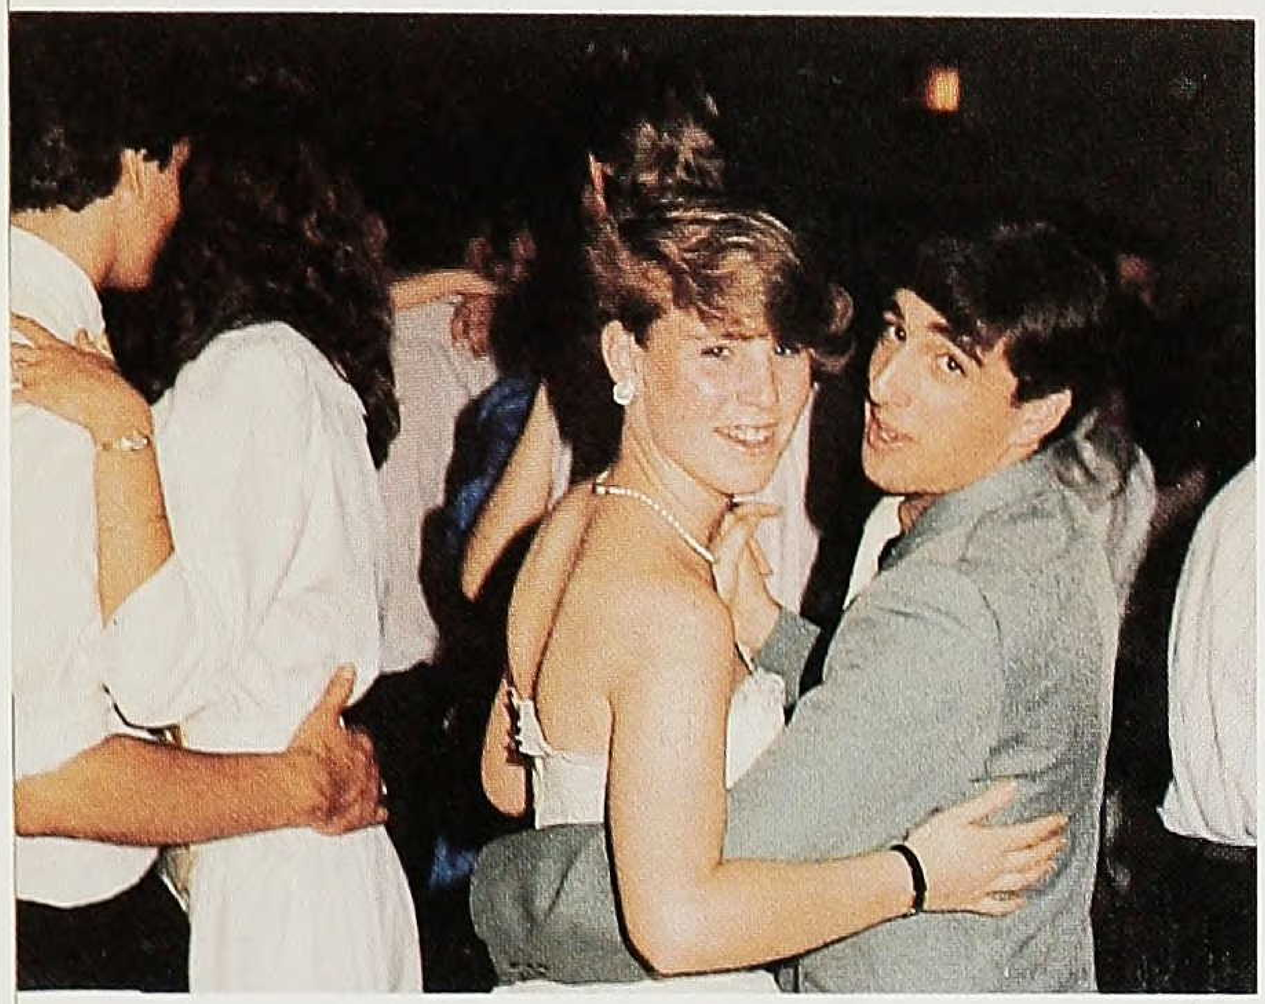

Mr. Wilson shows Tom Calkins and Doug Twining the point of no return.

The banquet launched the classic festivities of senior week. Adhering to tradition, the meal was held at the Itam Lodge, where everyone danced to the records turned by D.J. Lou Difilippo. But before the actual party began, Kate Archey delivered an inspiring farewell that brought to life the fact that this was the last time the senior class would be together as a whole. As the evening ended, students were filled with mixed emotions of the joy of completing an era and the sadness of saying goodbye.

Lisa Costi, Mike Quinto, Chuck Papa, and Matt Malatesta get into full swing.

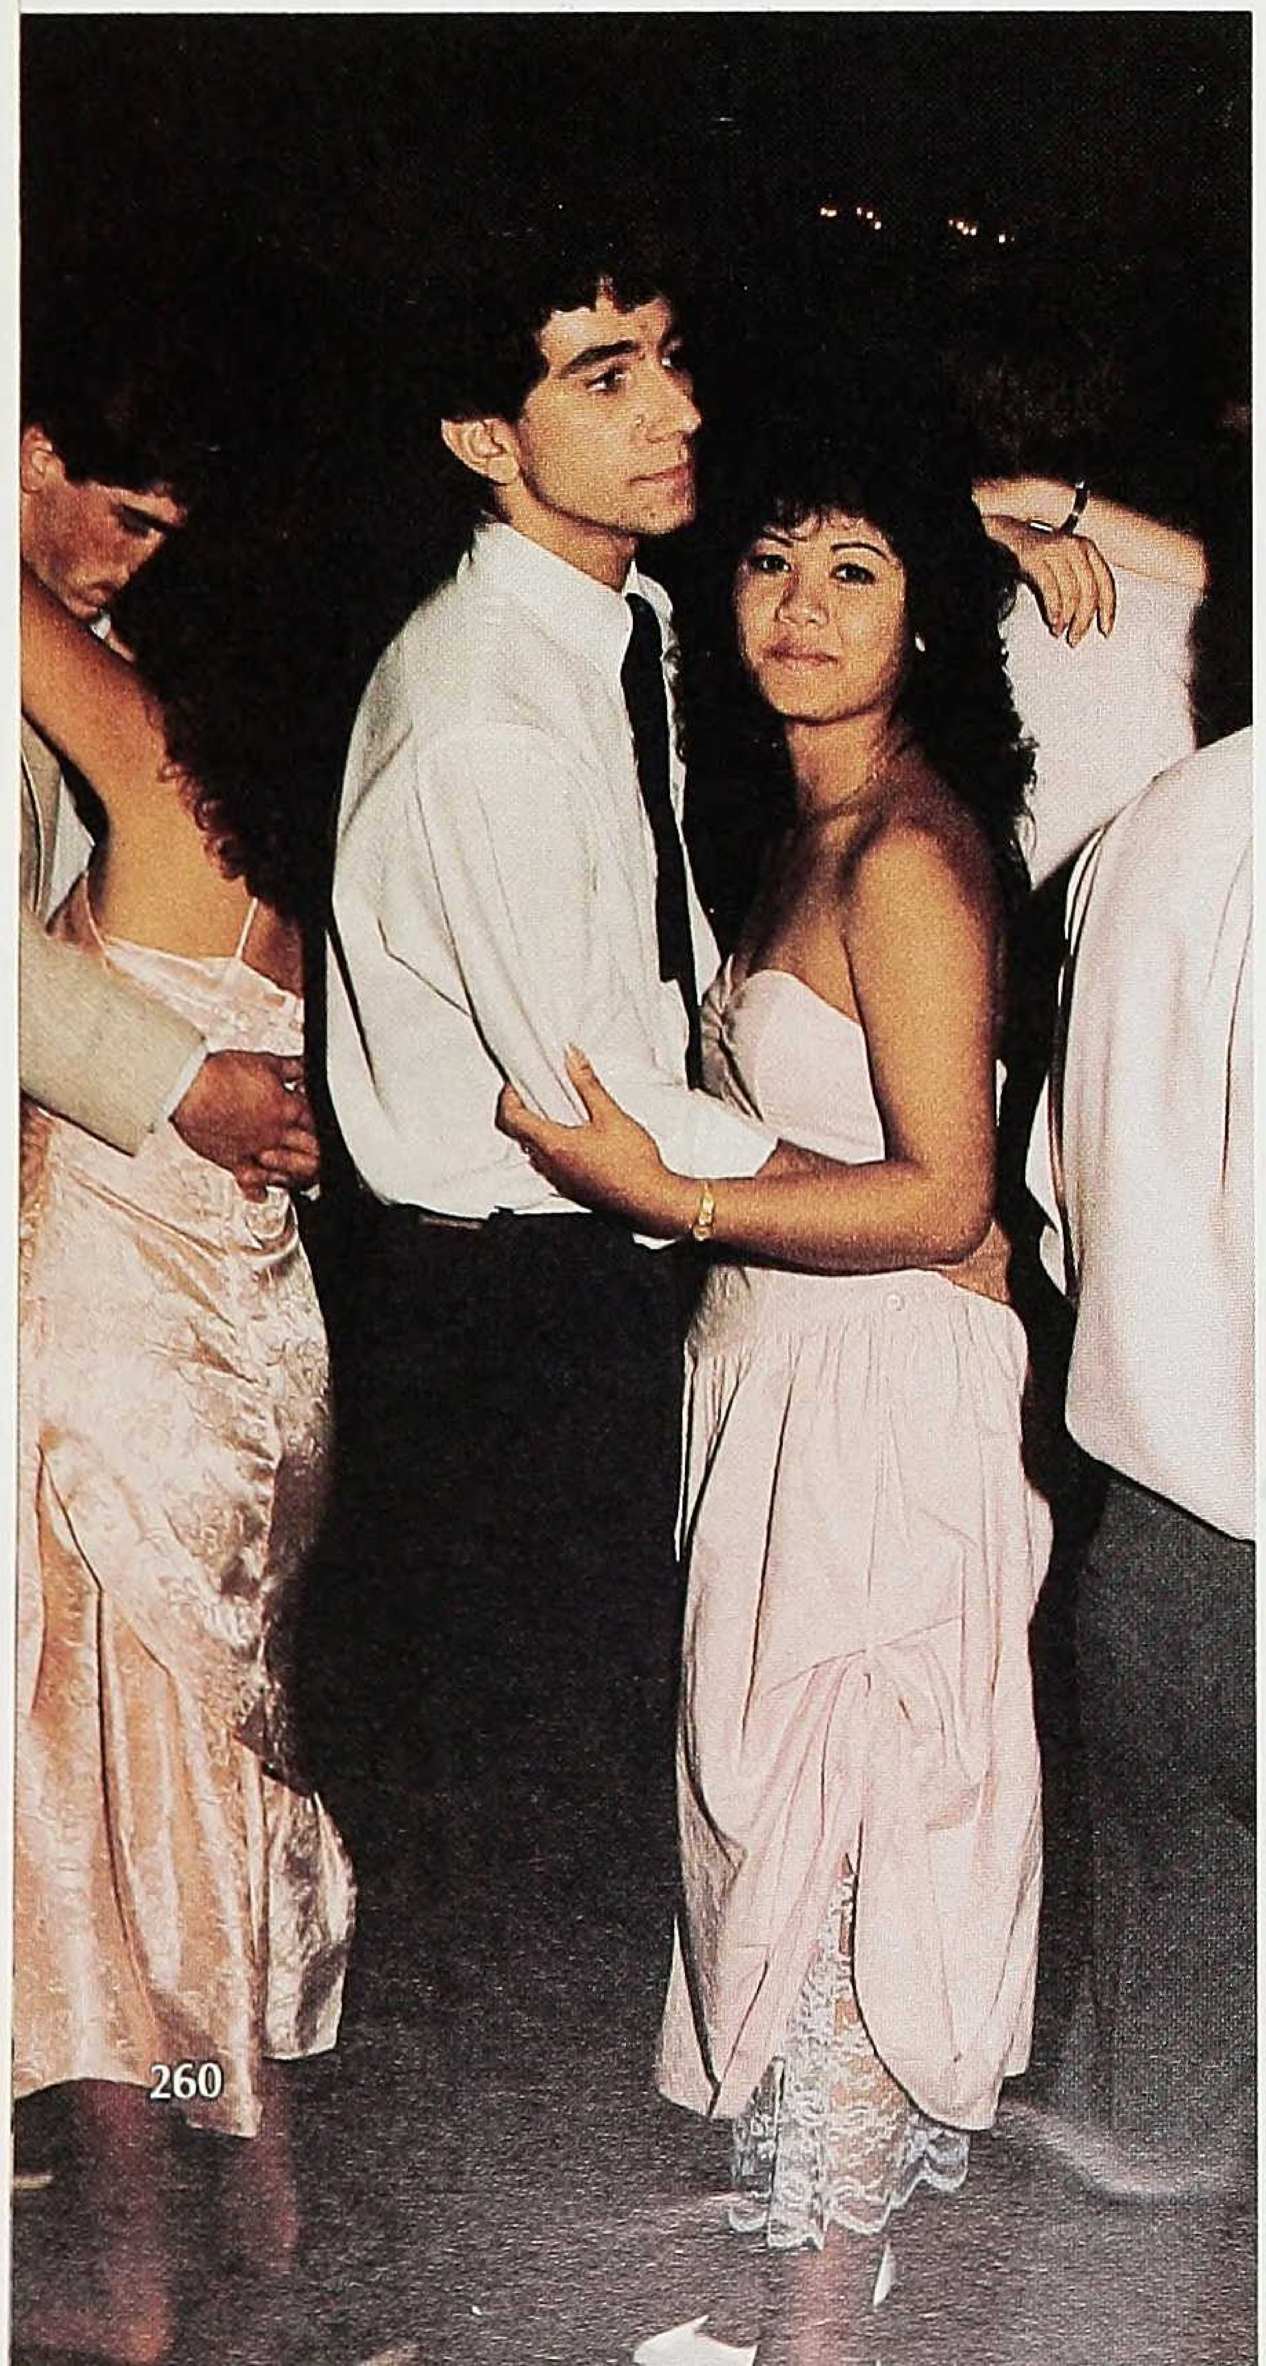

Cameraman catches Sheila Hallas and Steve Taglieri slow dancing.

Matt Pothier and Jen Procopio make a handsome twosome.

Tom Capitanio and Sophorn Nhim make dancing look like fun.

Homeroom 156 is well represented by Erin Squires, Tami Stevens and Toni Spezzaferro.

Alicia Moynihan, Leslie Cuff, and Missy Radke take a break for some touch-up.

Kelly Morrell, Andrew Schmidt and Michelle Gooch chat before the dancing begins.

Dave Laverda, Jeff Landers, Bruce Fiddes, Matt Gershoff, Nathan Weiss, William McKinon and Tom Harrison share a few laughs together.

Katie Archey says "Good-bye."

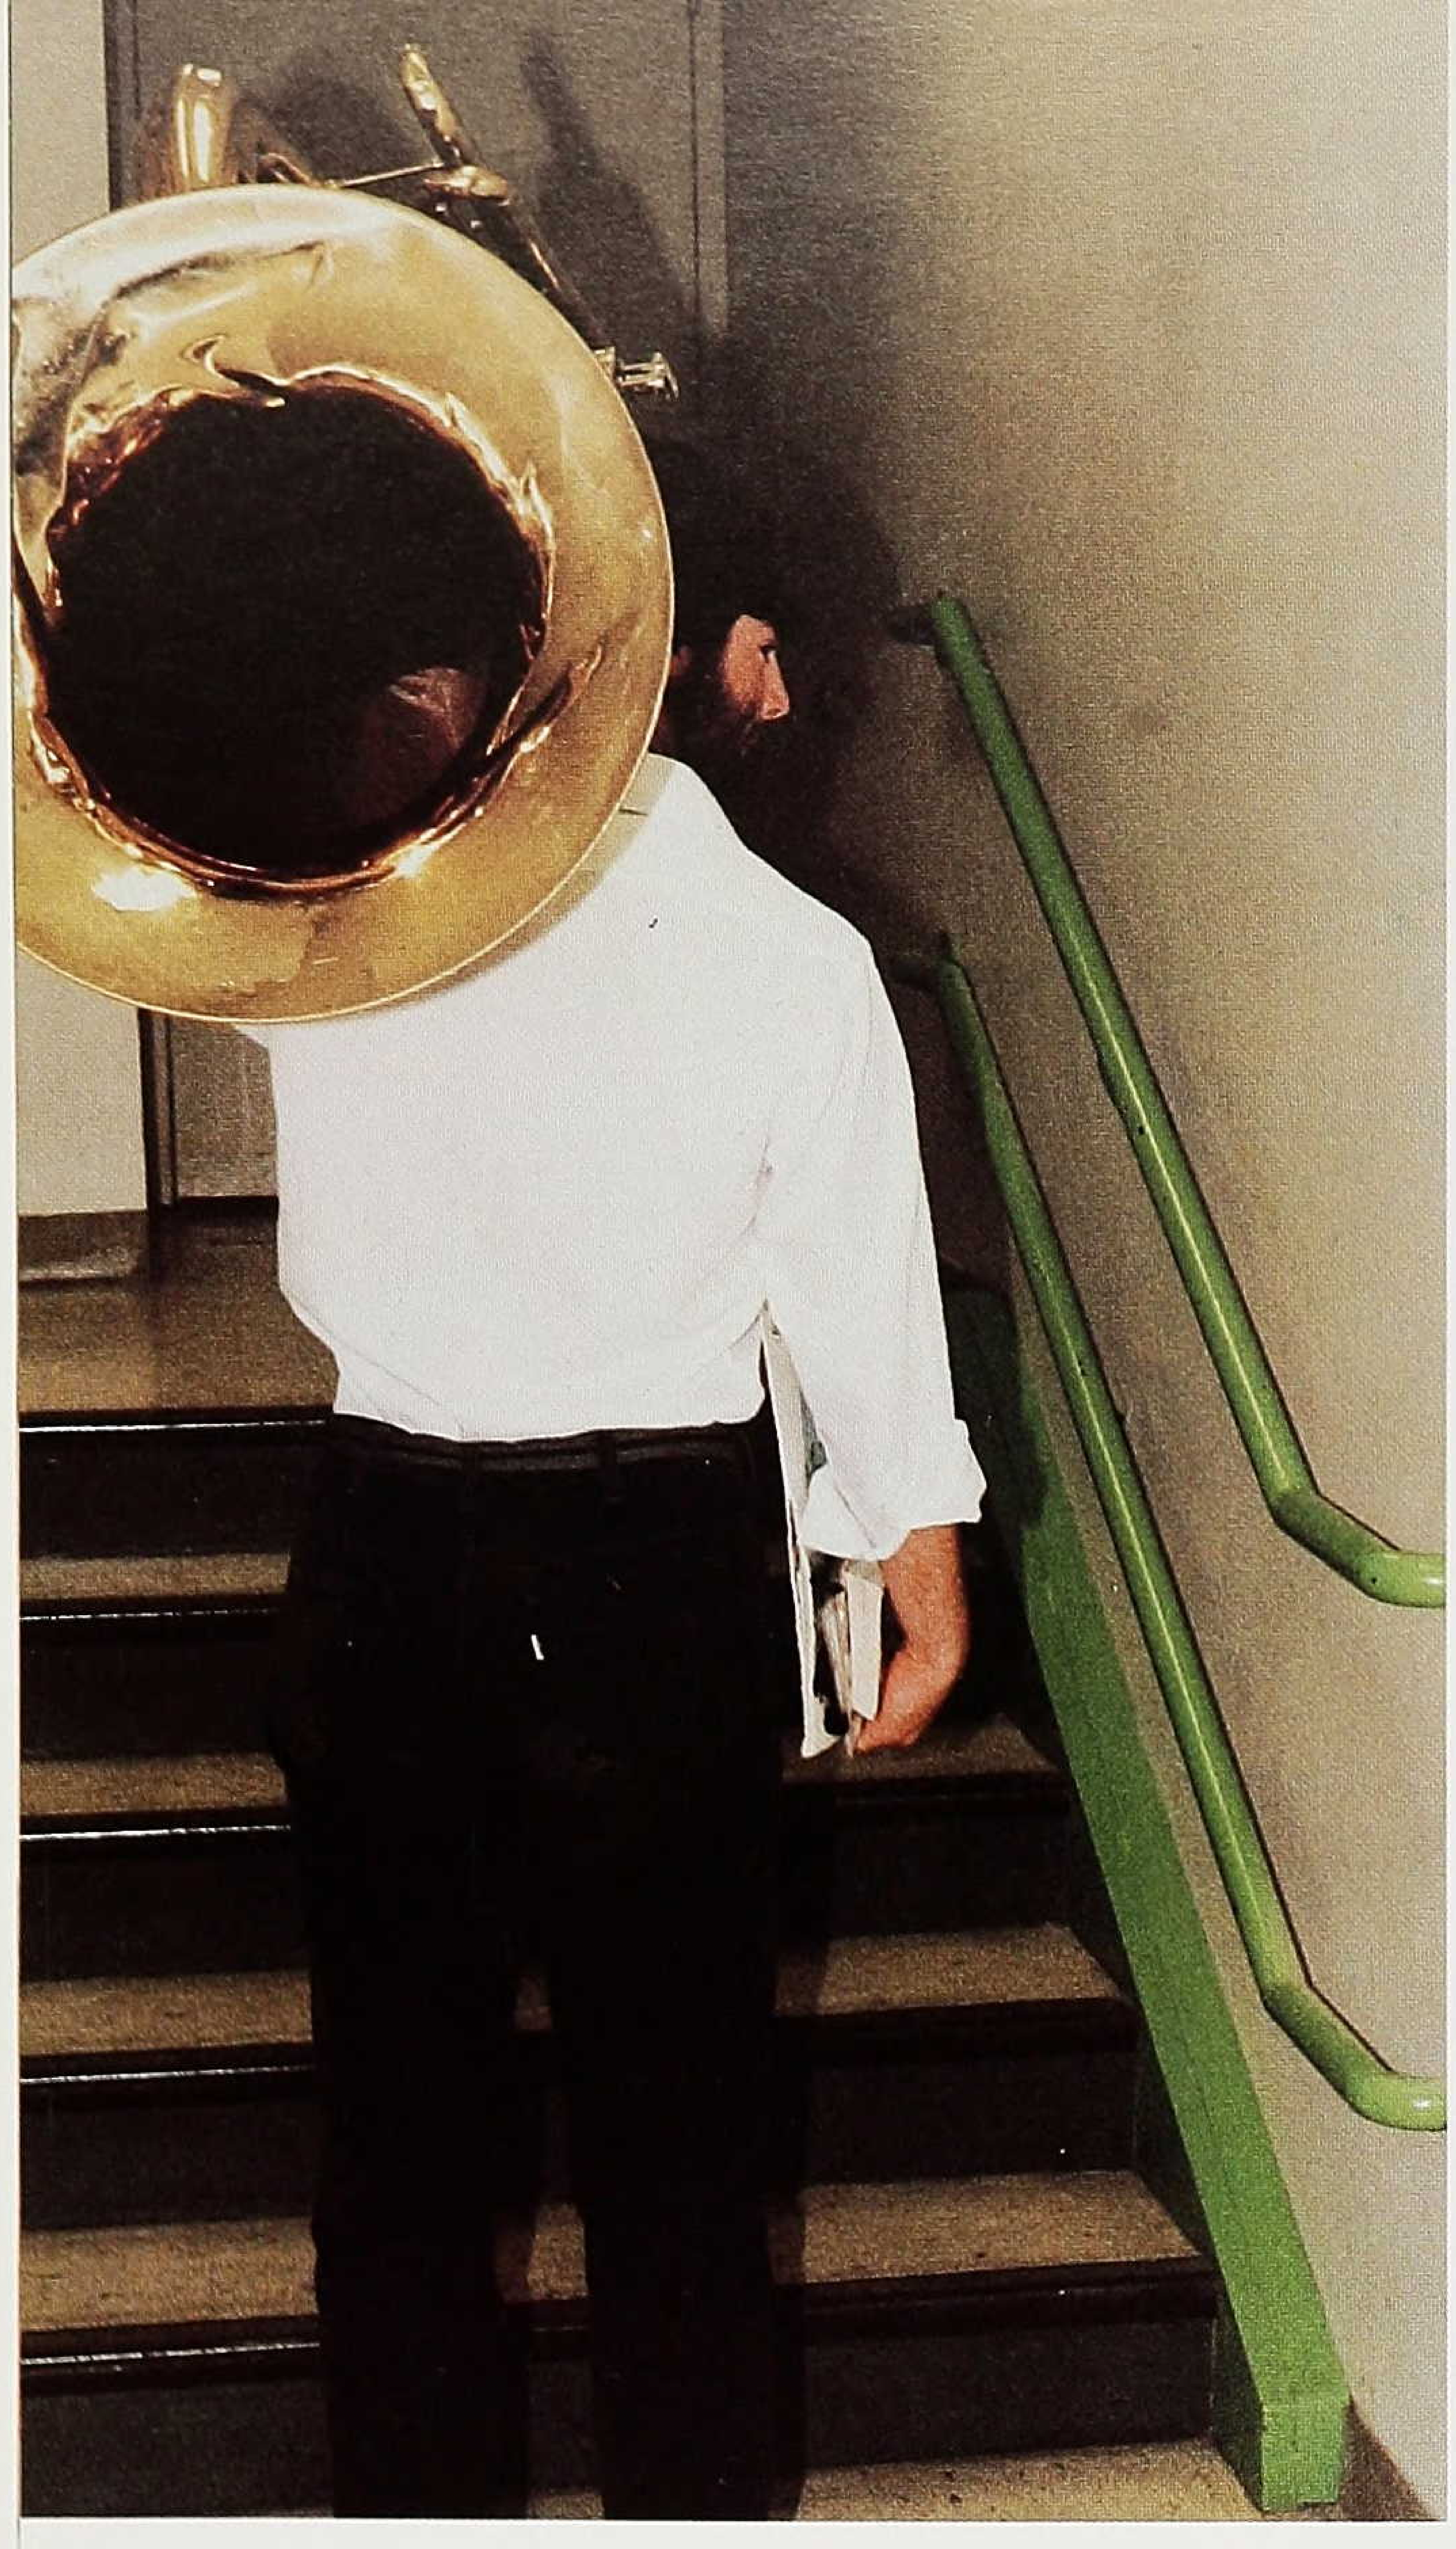

Pete Dolfis and Bill Jamross enjoy a laugh at Kevin Manzolini's expense.

Lieutenant Colonel Renkowicz presents Michael Messer with the Certificate of Appointment to the AFROTC.

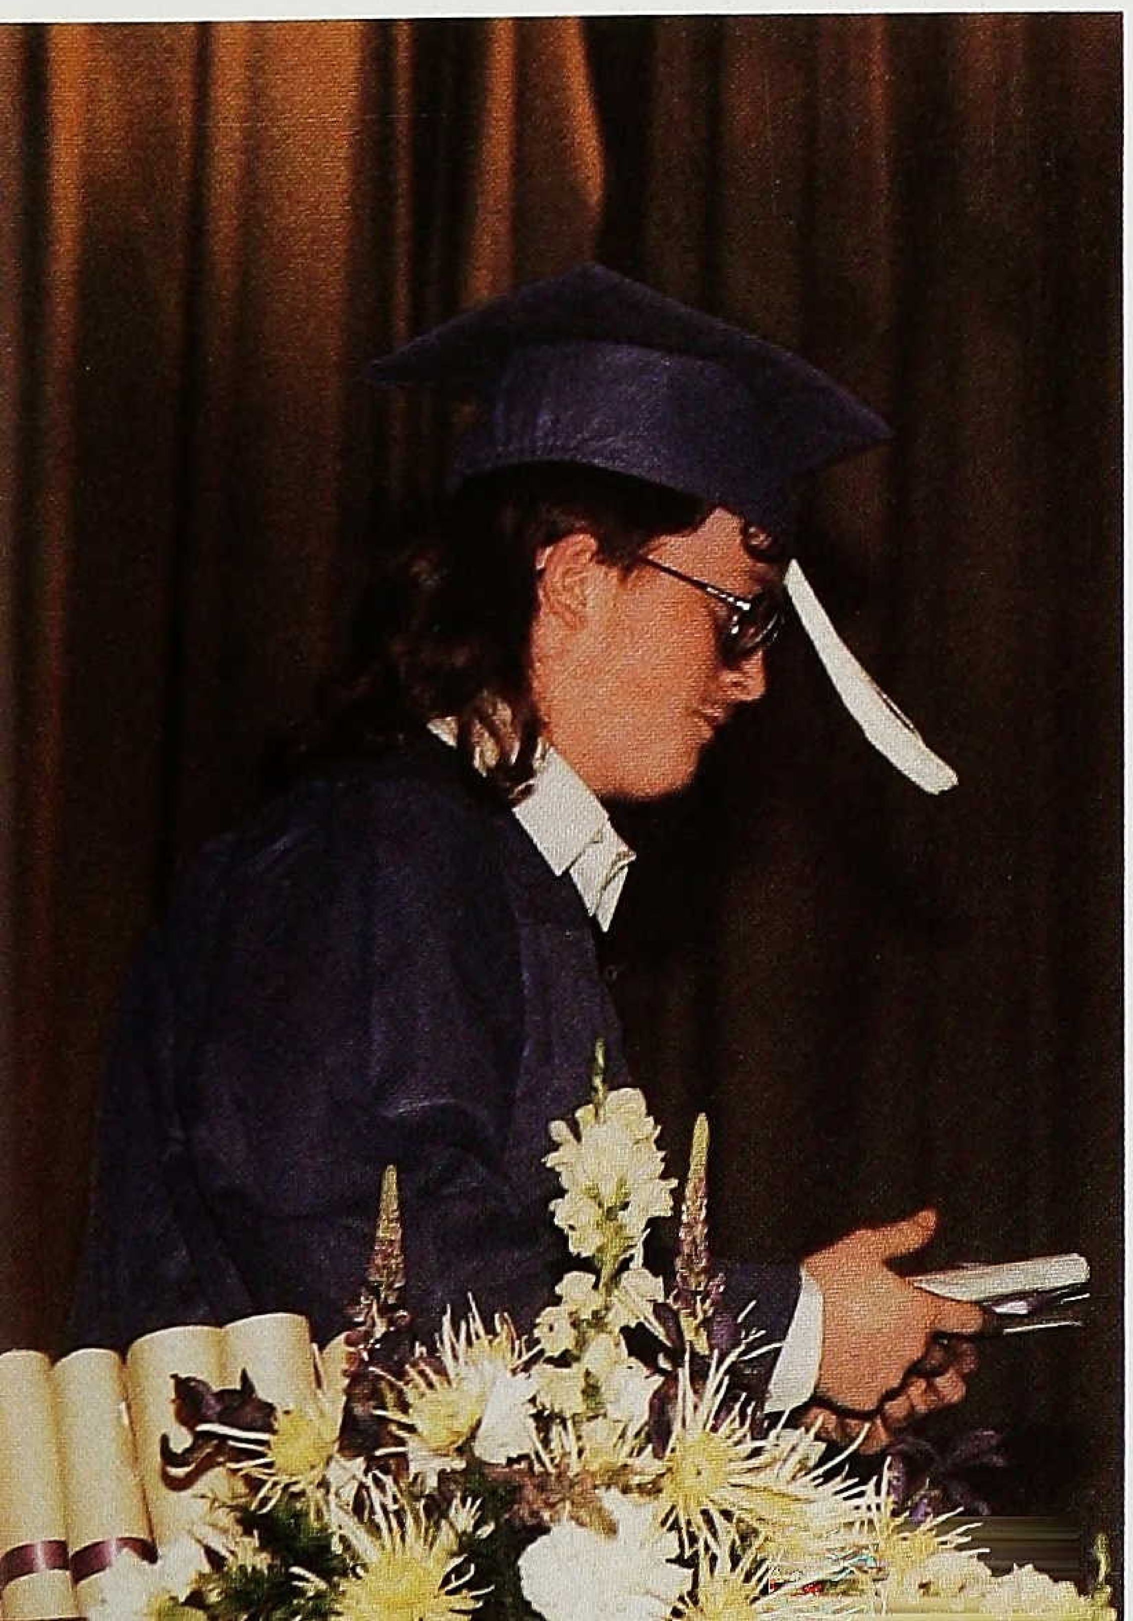

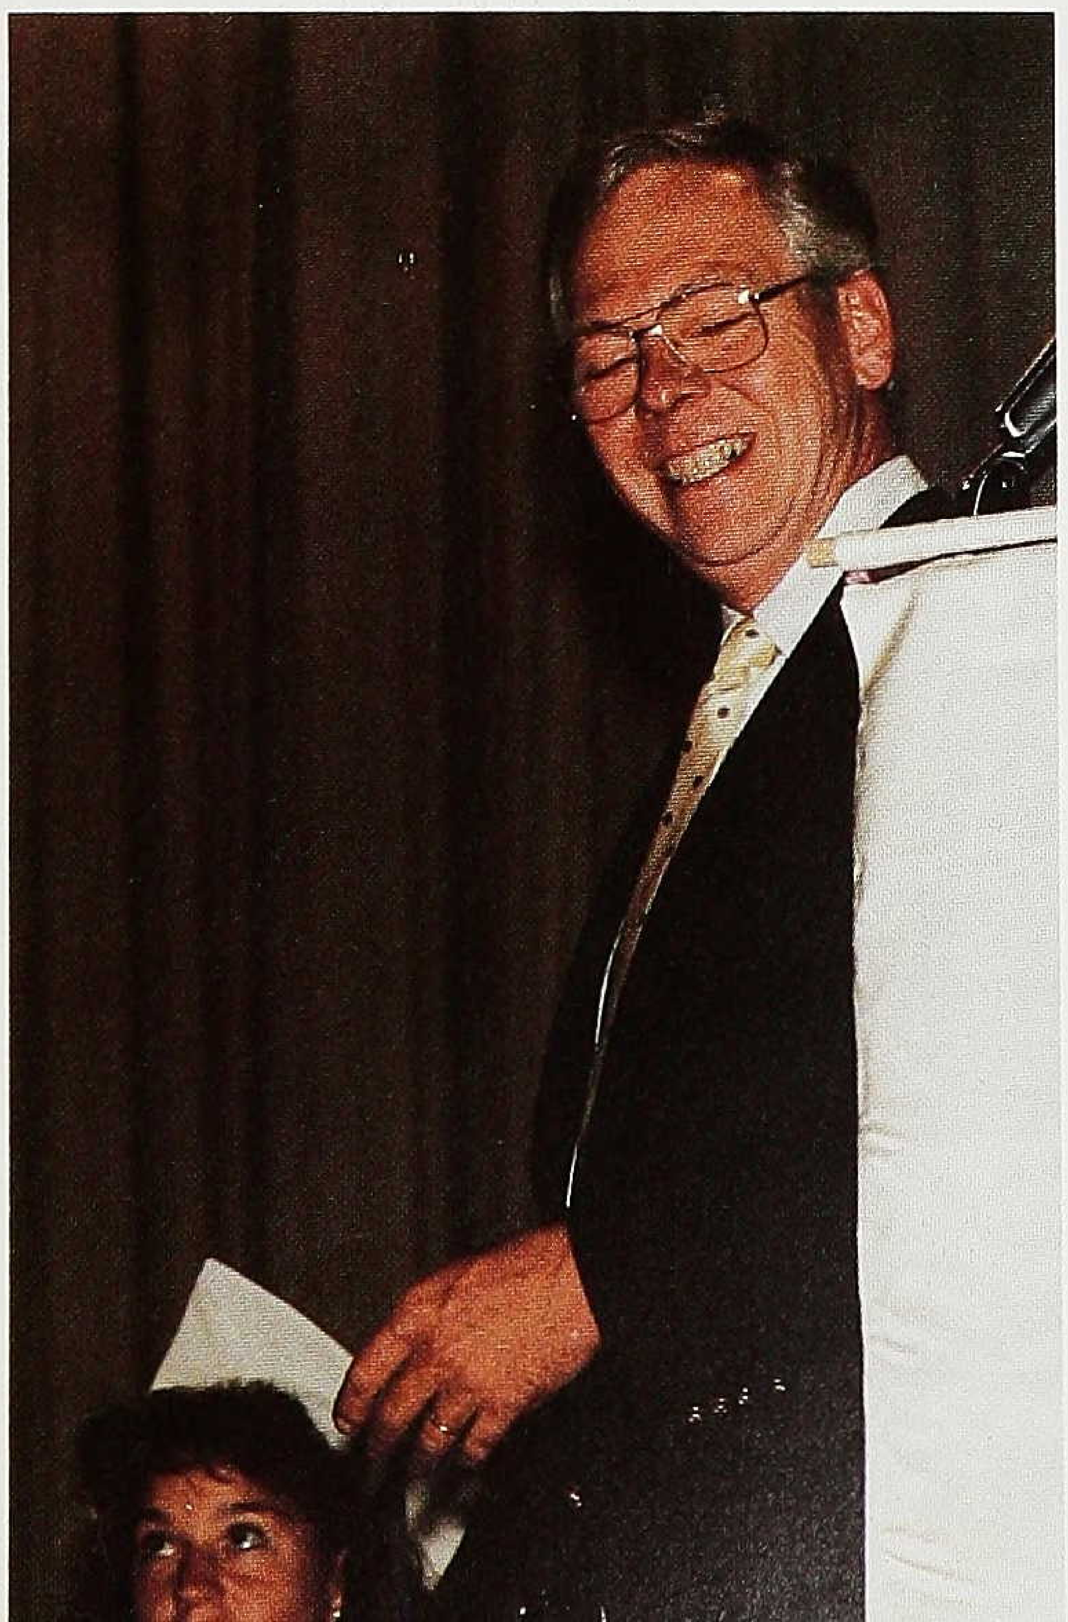

A beaming Lee Codding receives his recognition from Mr. Wilson.

Honors night was a time for seniors to take pride in their own accomplishments and those of their classmates. An abundance of scholarships and honors was awarded. Aside from the recognitions, the band provided musical selections and two senior soloists, Connie Chmura and Kellie Morrell. The wide range of honors distributed reflected a talented and versatile class.

Kevin Lampke receives the award given to the most outstanding vocational student in Pittsfield from Dr. William Dehey.

Kelly Morrell delivers a sterling performance.

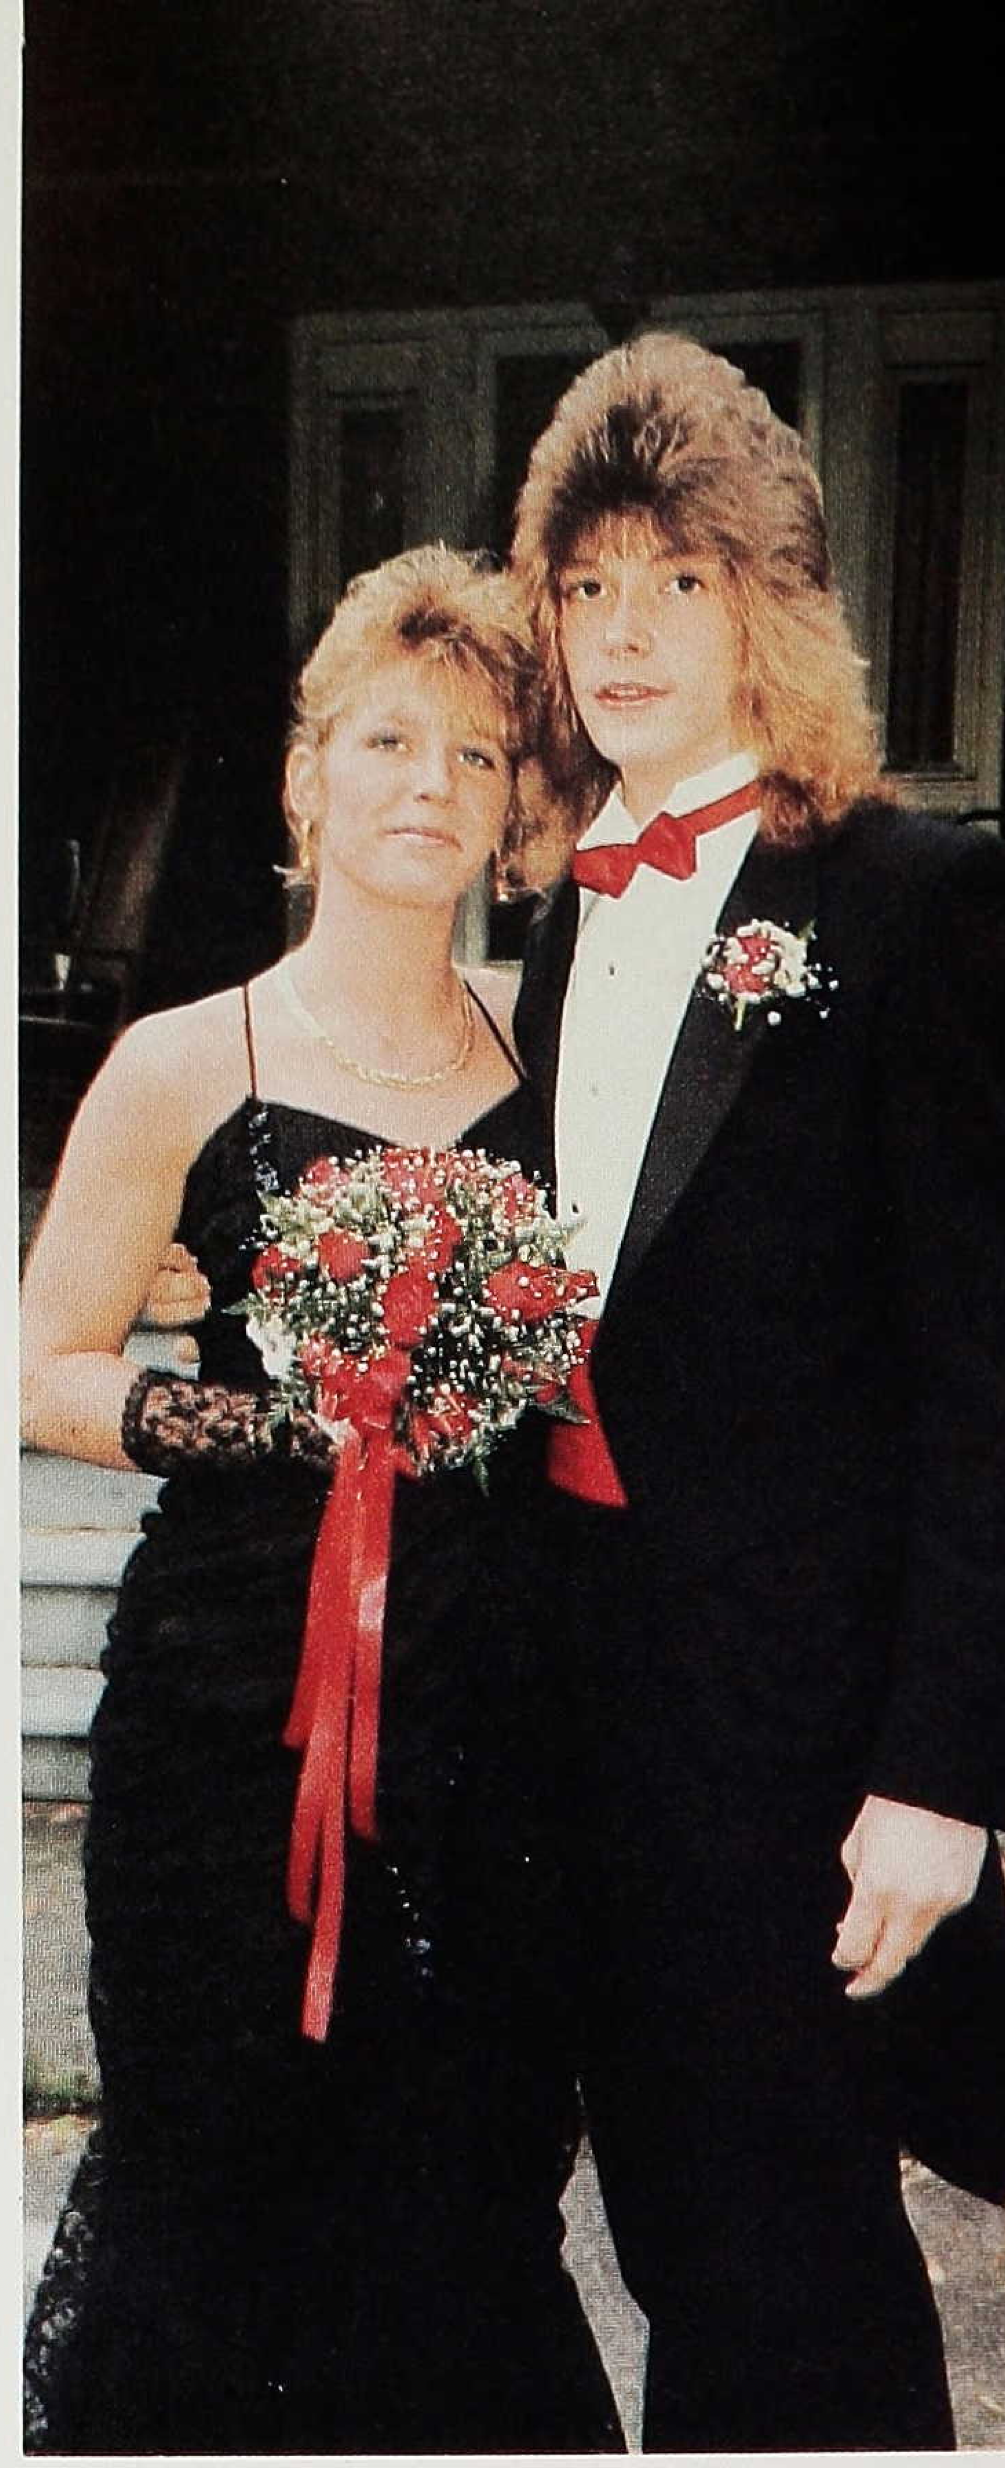

As couples adorned in brilliant colors and styles entered through the gold and black archway into the Berkshire Hilton Ballroom, an aura of sophistication prevaded the air. The night served as the start of a "New Beginning" for all seniors. The actual bands performed their hits as D.J. Micheal Morgan from FLY 92 FM played them on his turntable. The D.J. was responsive to the audience, as he played many of their requests, including the theme "Meet Me Half Way" by Kenny Loggins. The elegant affair brought the year to a close with a touch of class.

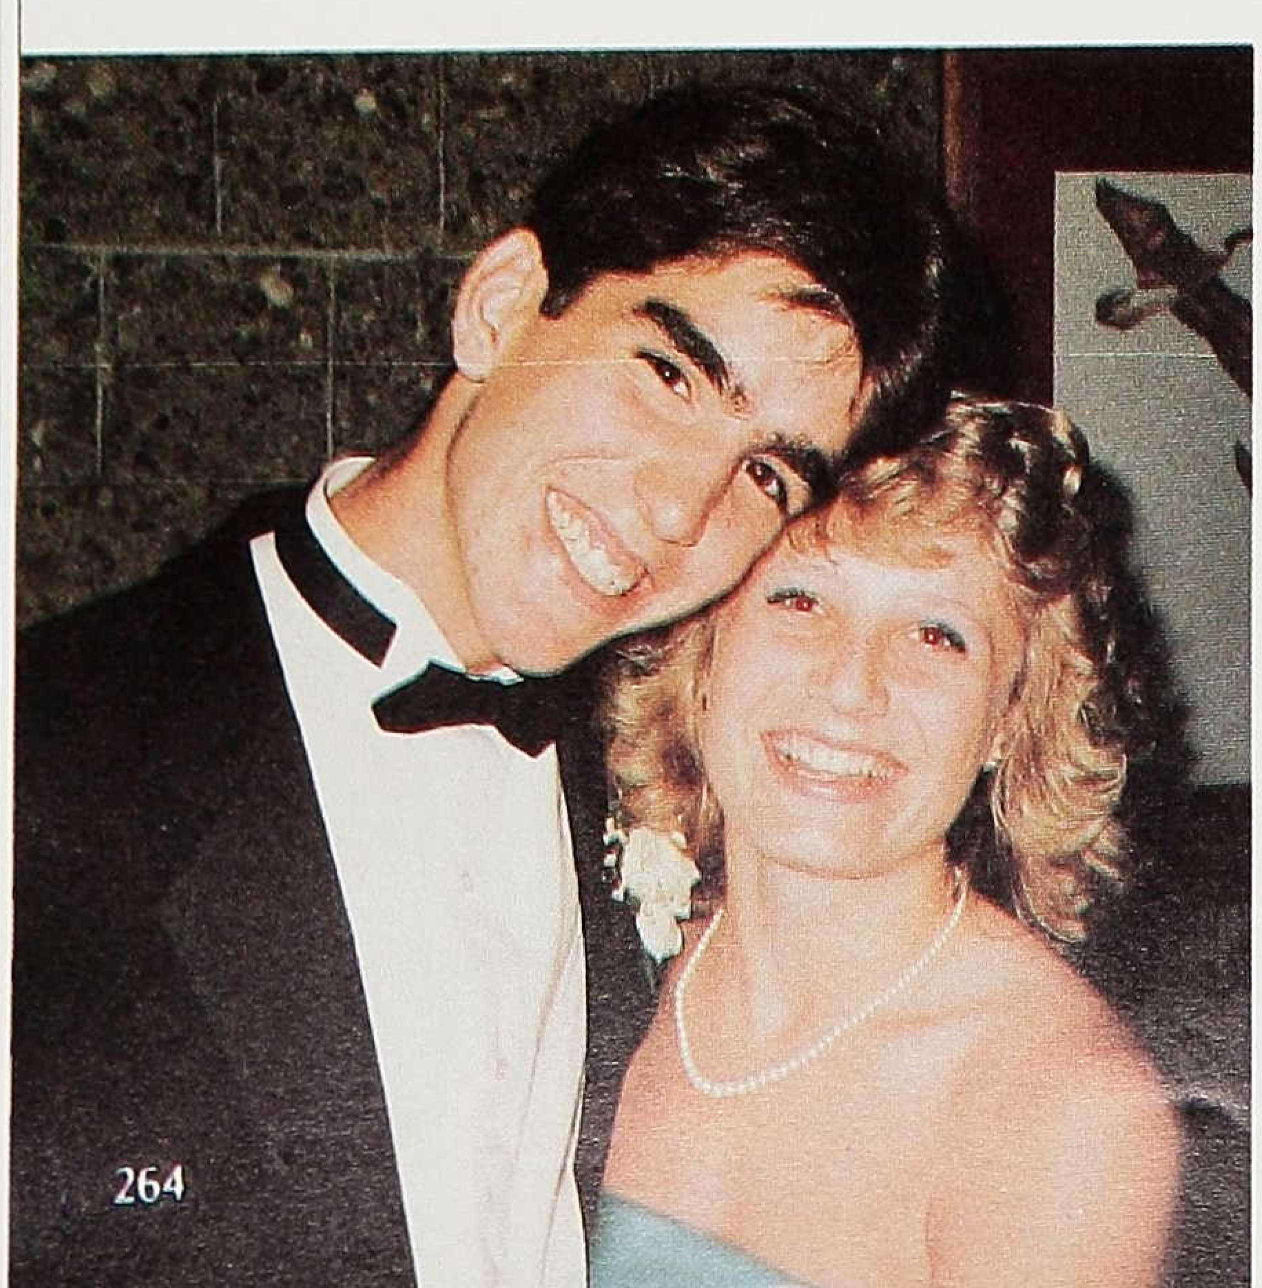

Sue Linker and Dean Martin are a portrait in black and red.

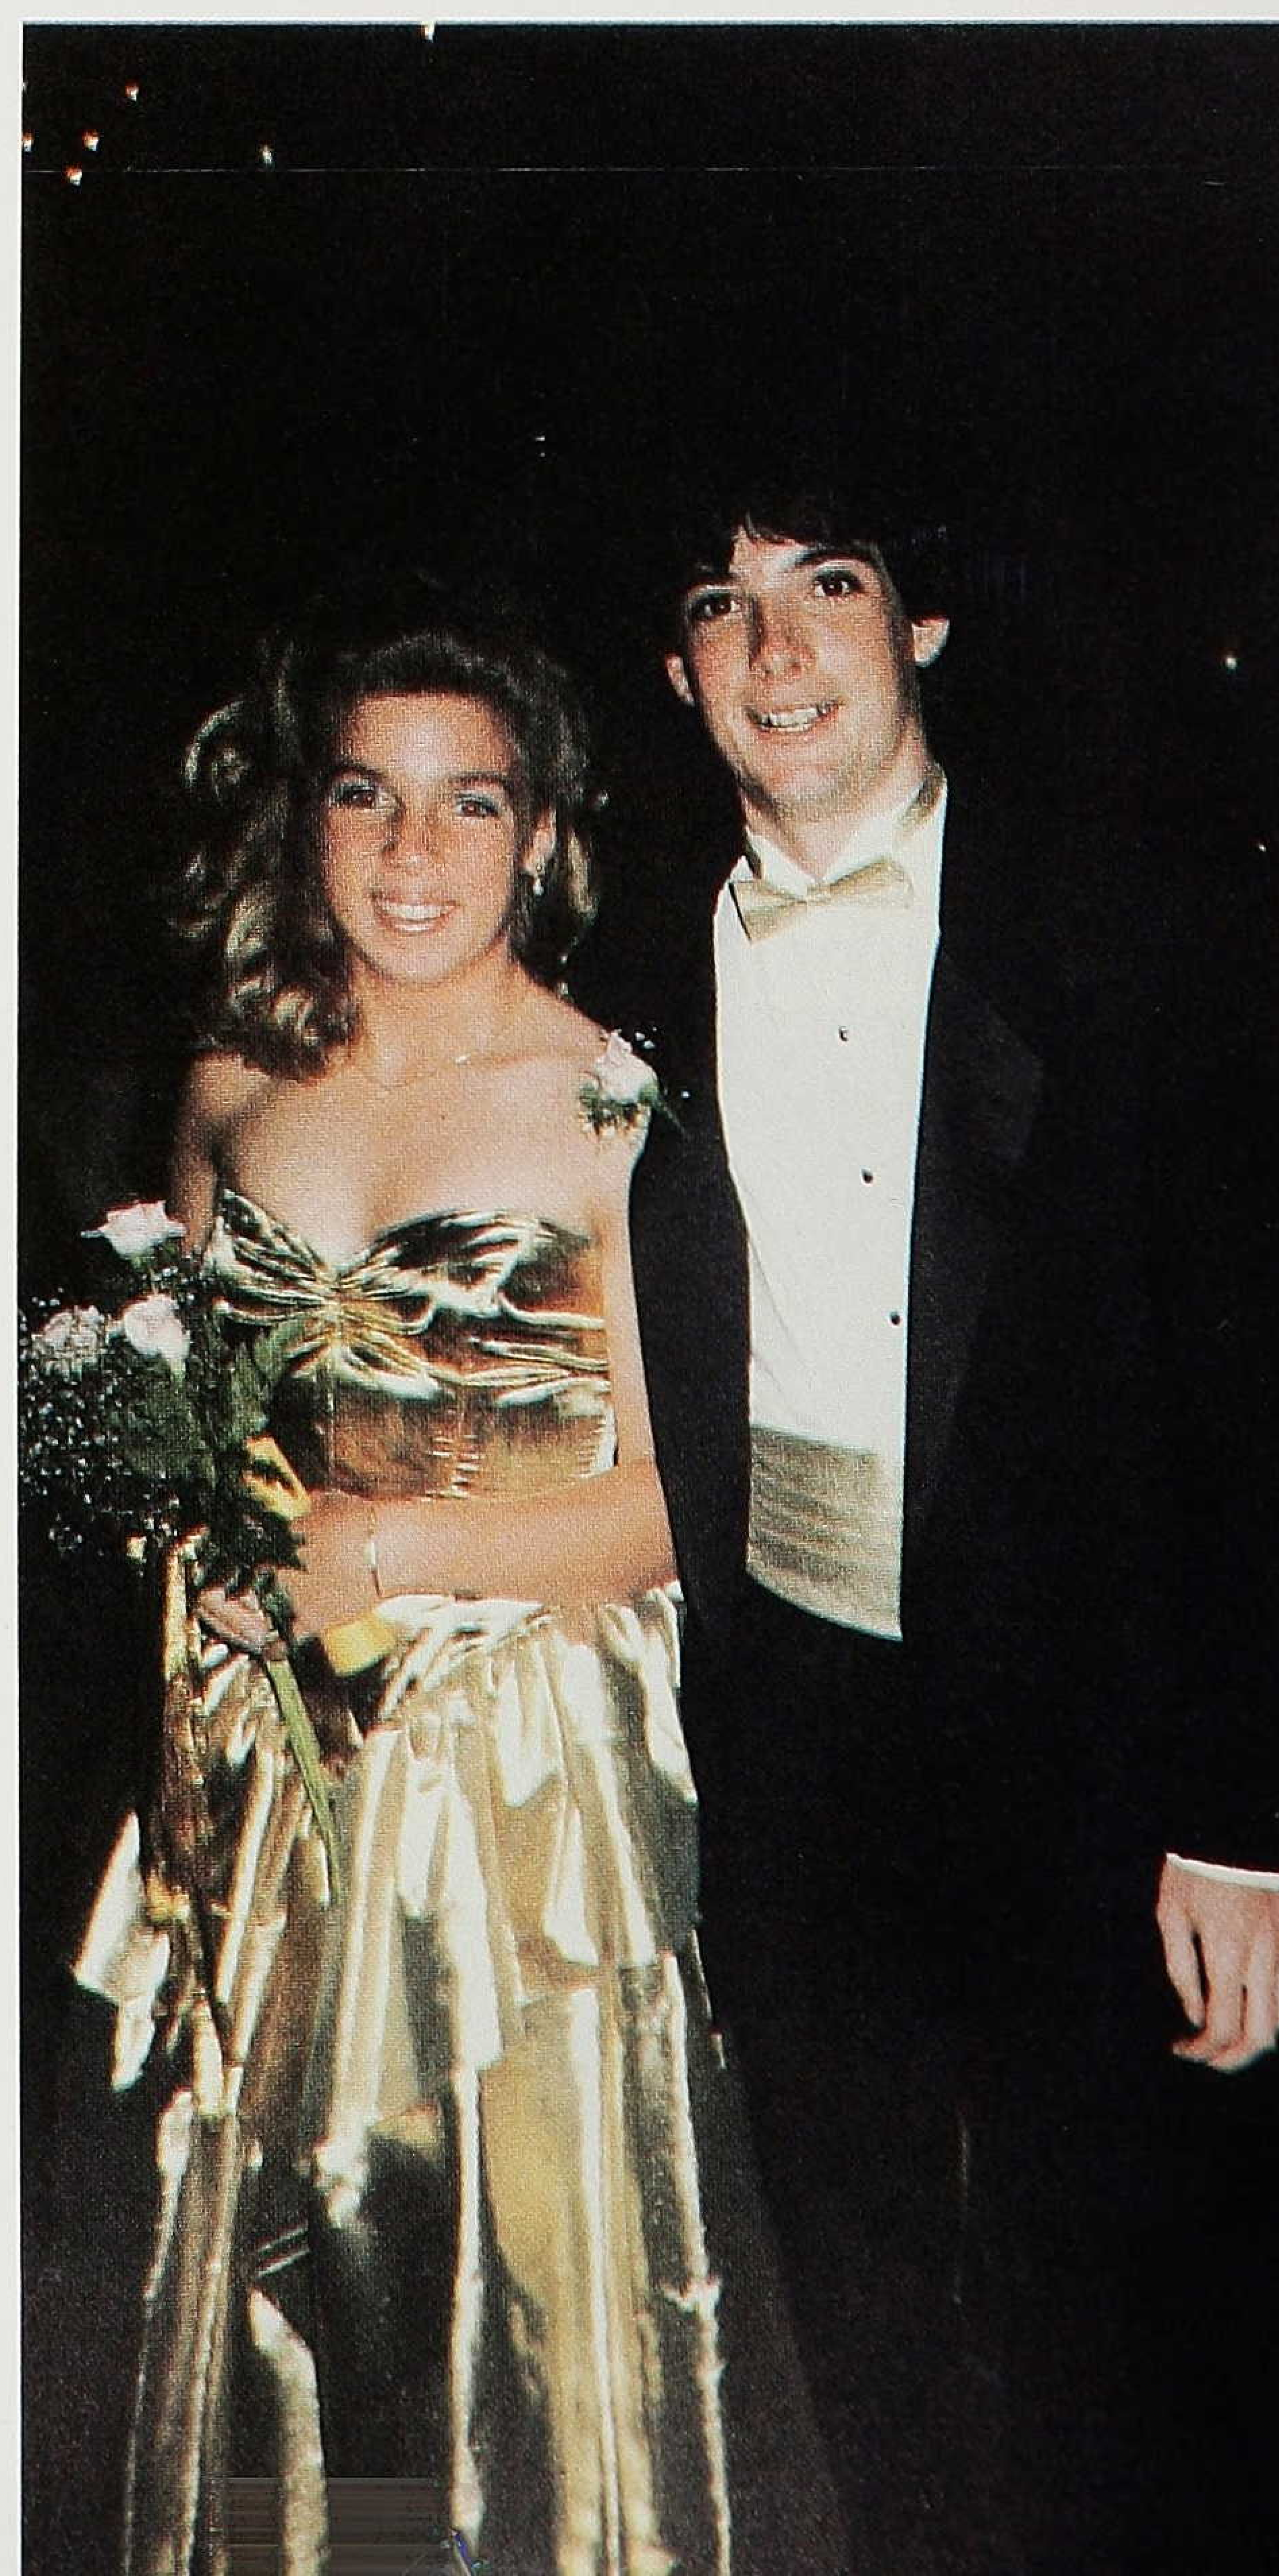

Paul Brindle escorts Andrea Pellerin in style.

Jaimie Hammerling, John Cowell, Derrick Jones and friends arrive in classic form.

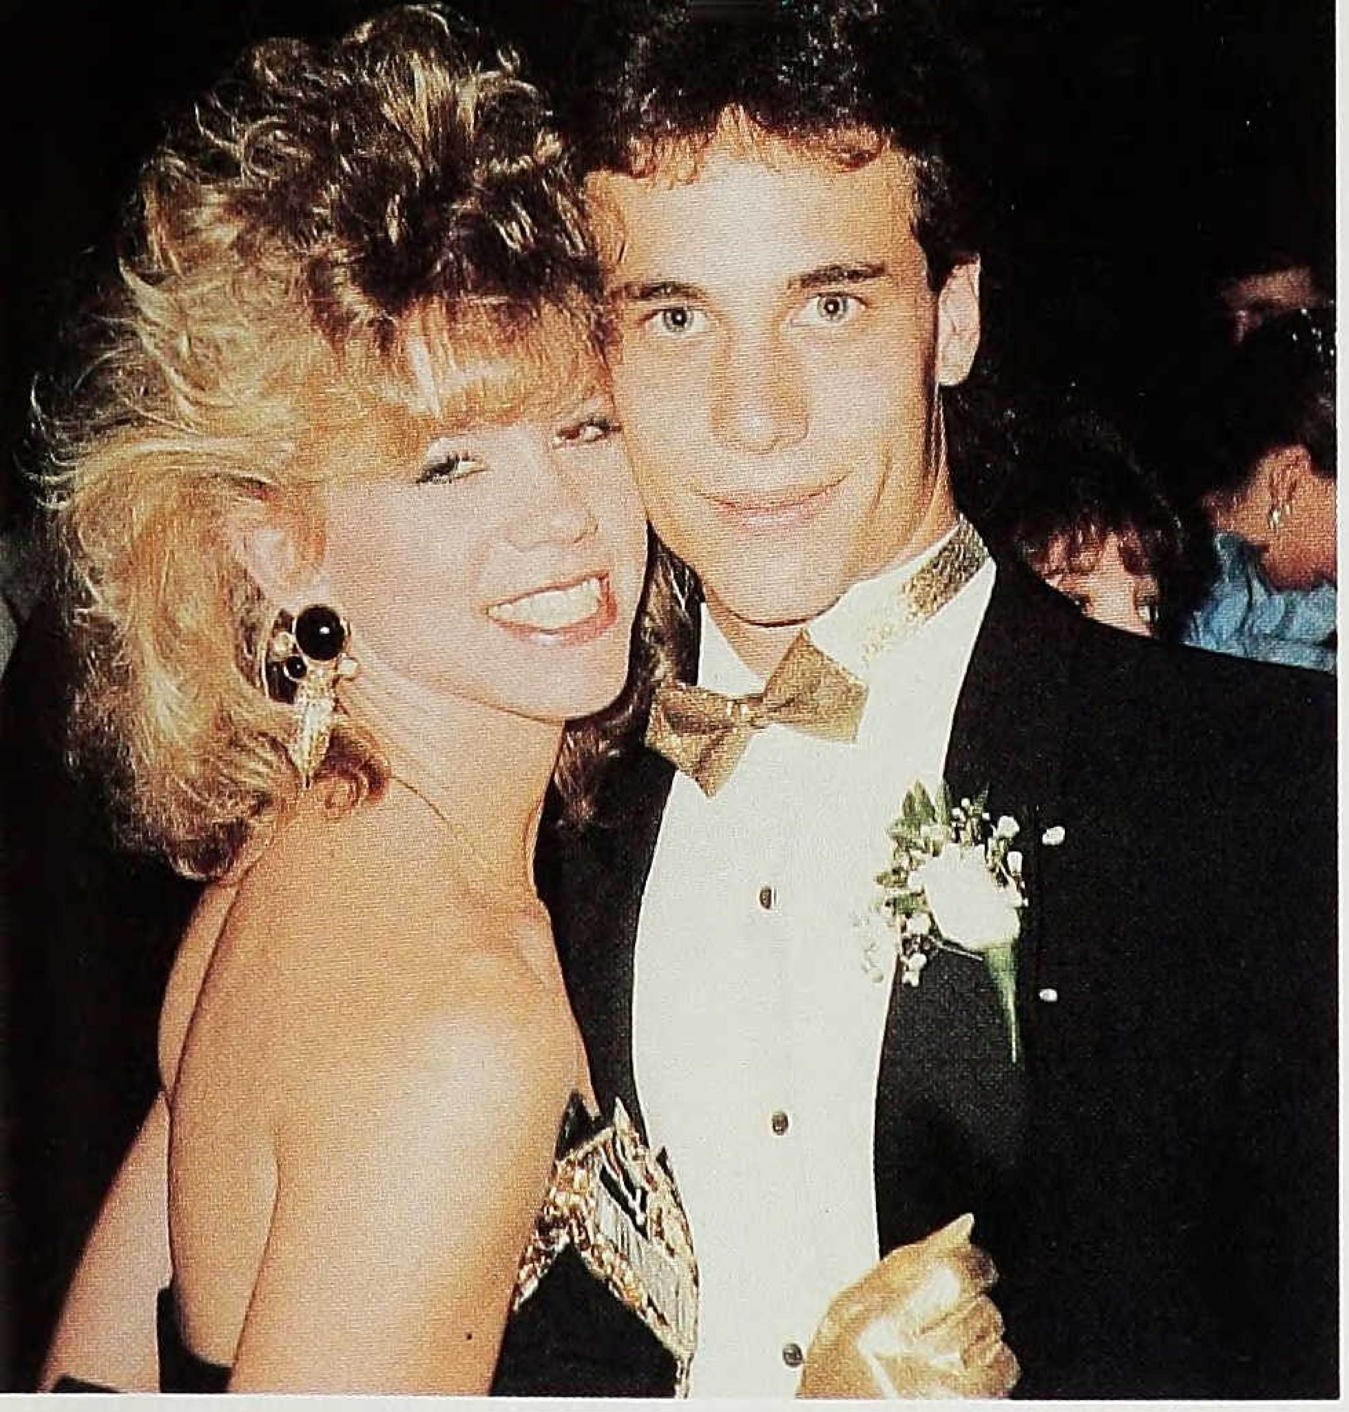

Steve Godinho and Amy Robarge reflect the mood of the evening.

The Prom's colors, gold and black, are sported by Heather Schultz and Mike Daury.

A Night on the Town

Meg Shepardson and Jeff Bellora capture the spirit of Senior Week.

Nina Kearney, a picture of loveliness, treats the photographer to a smile.

Steve Godinho, Katie Archey, Martha Vazakas, Jill Radsken, Gigi Karras and Kellie Reardon present Miss Maston, the class adviser, a gift of appreciation.

The Prom King and Queen, Ken Fry and Kellie Reardon, pose with their court, Rob Maloney, Connie Chmura, Leslie Cuff and Andy Mickle.

Chris Cassucci, Leslie Conklin, Jane Monteleone and Theresa Tatro show their L'eggs.

Katie Archey and Tim Meandro hand out the bequests.

Soothesayers Kathy Brobrovsky and Steve Decker predict the future.

Cutest, Matt Malatesta and Class Clown, Suzanne LaPierre announce the Superlative winners.

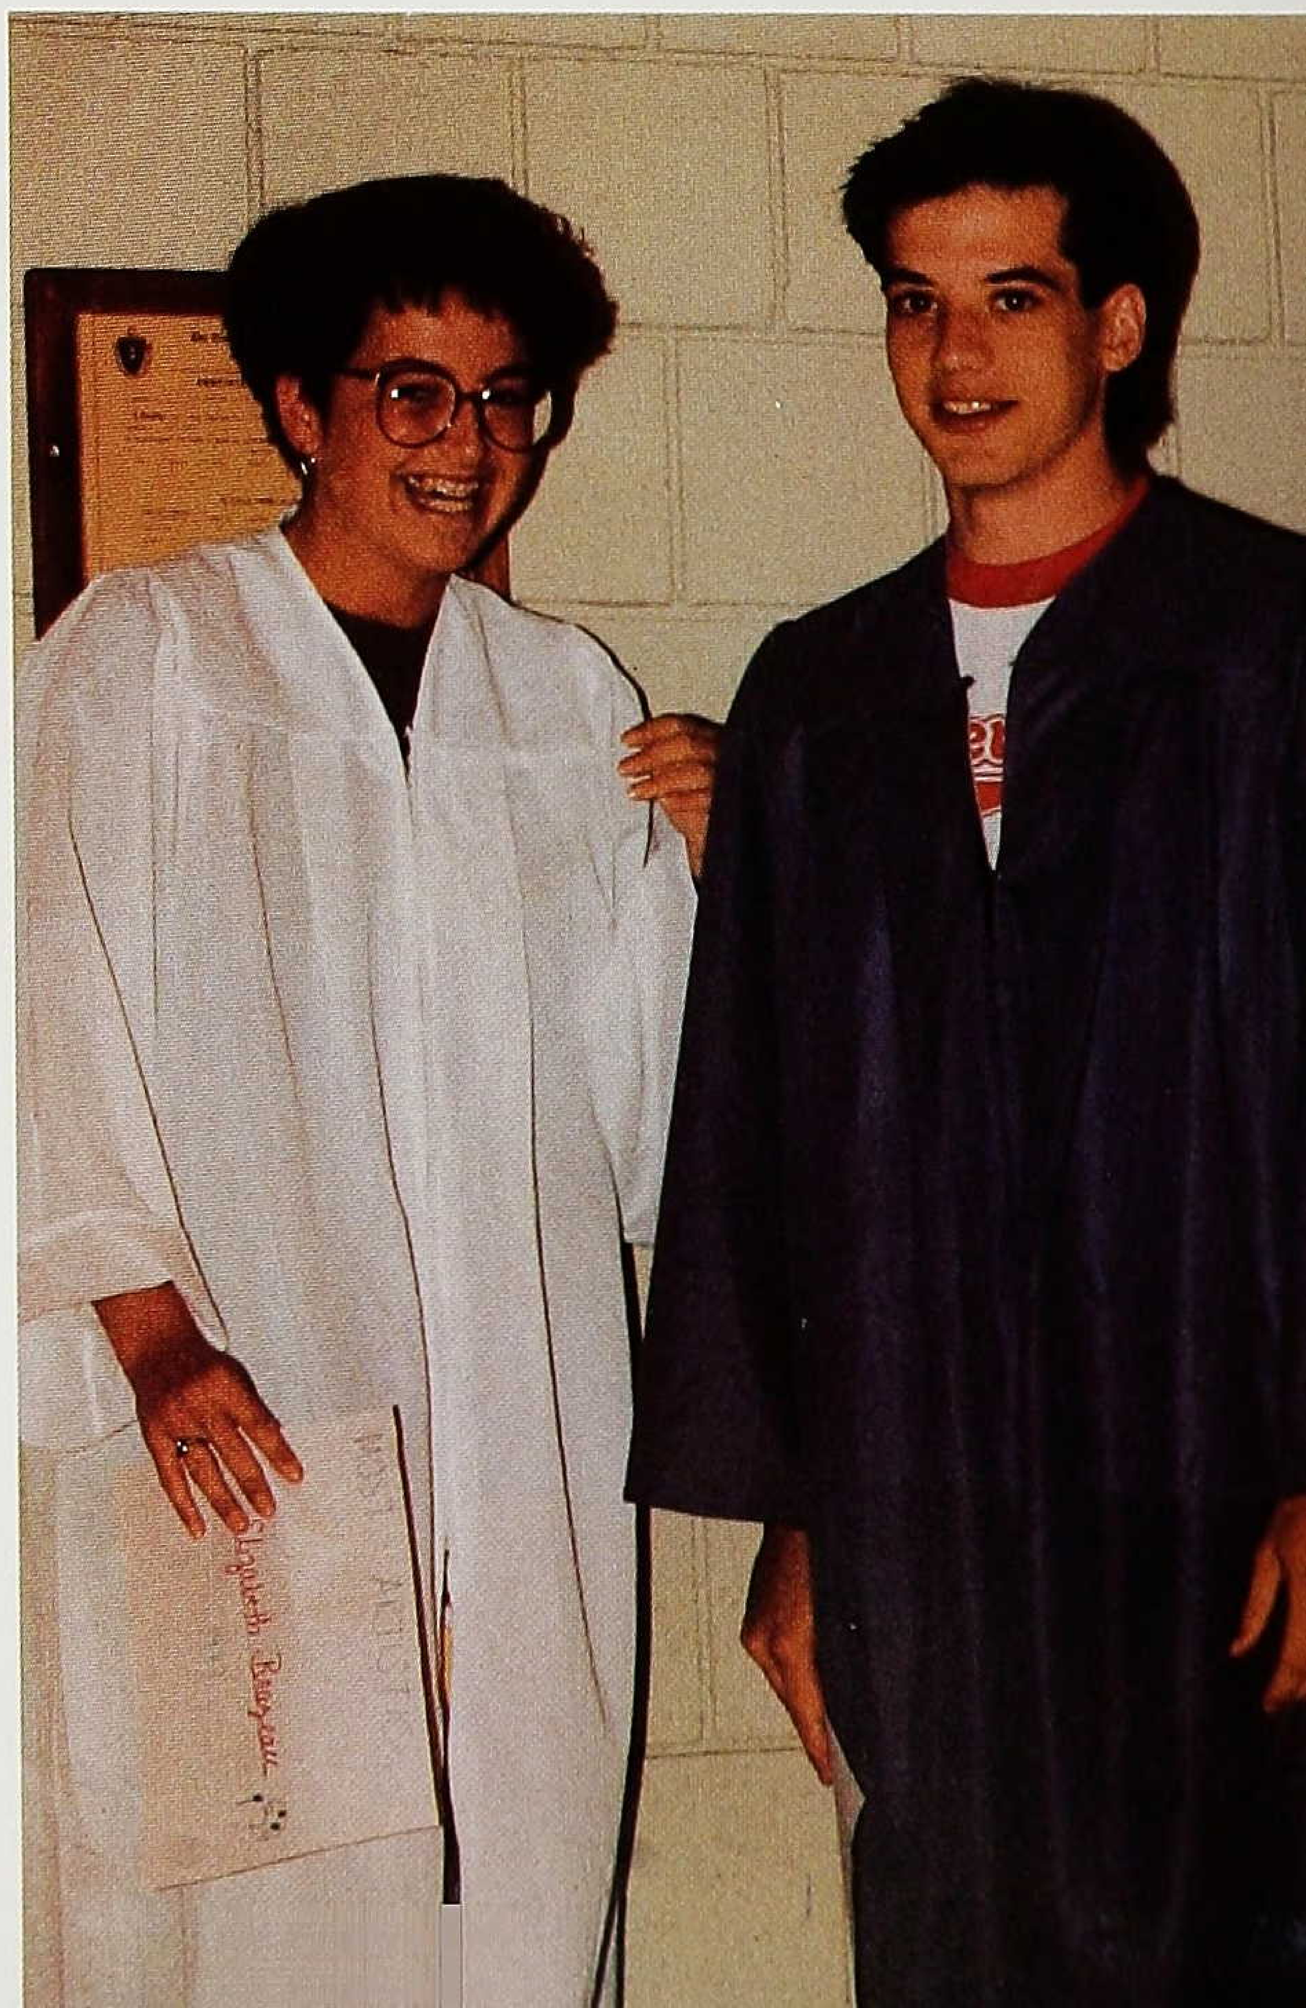

A Time for Laughter

A Time for Tears

Seniors gathered in the auditorium for the annual Class Day festivities. Scheduled were jokes, performances, entertainment and goodbyes. The highlight of the day was the reading of the superlatives and class predictions, which brought on roars of laughter and fond memories of all the good times. Dressed in the traditional purple and white robes, the entire class said goodbye. The officers passed the flame of the lighted candles to the juniors, symbolizing the farewell of the class of '87.

Liz Brazeau and Matt Pothier have just been named "most artistic."

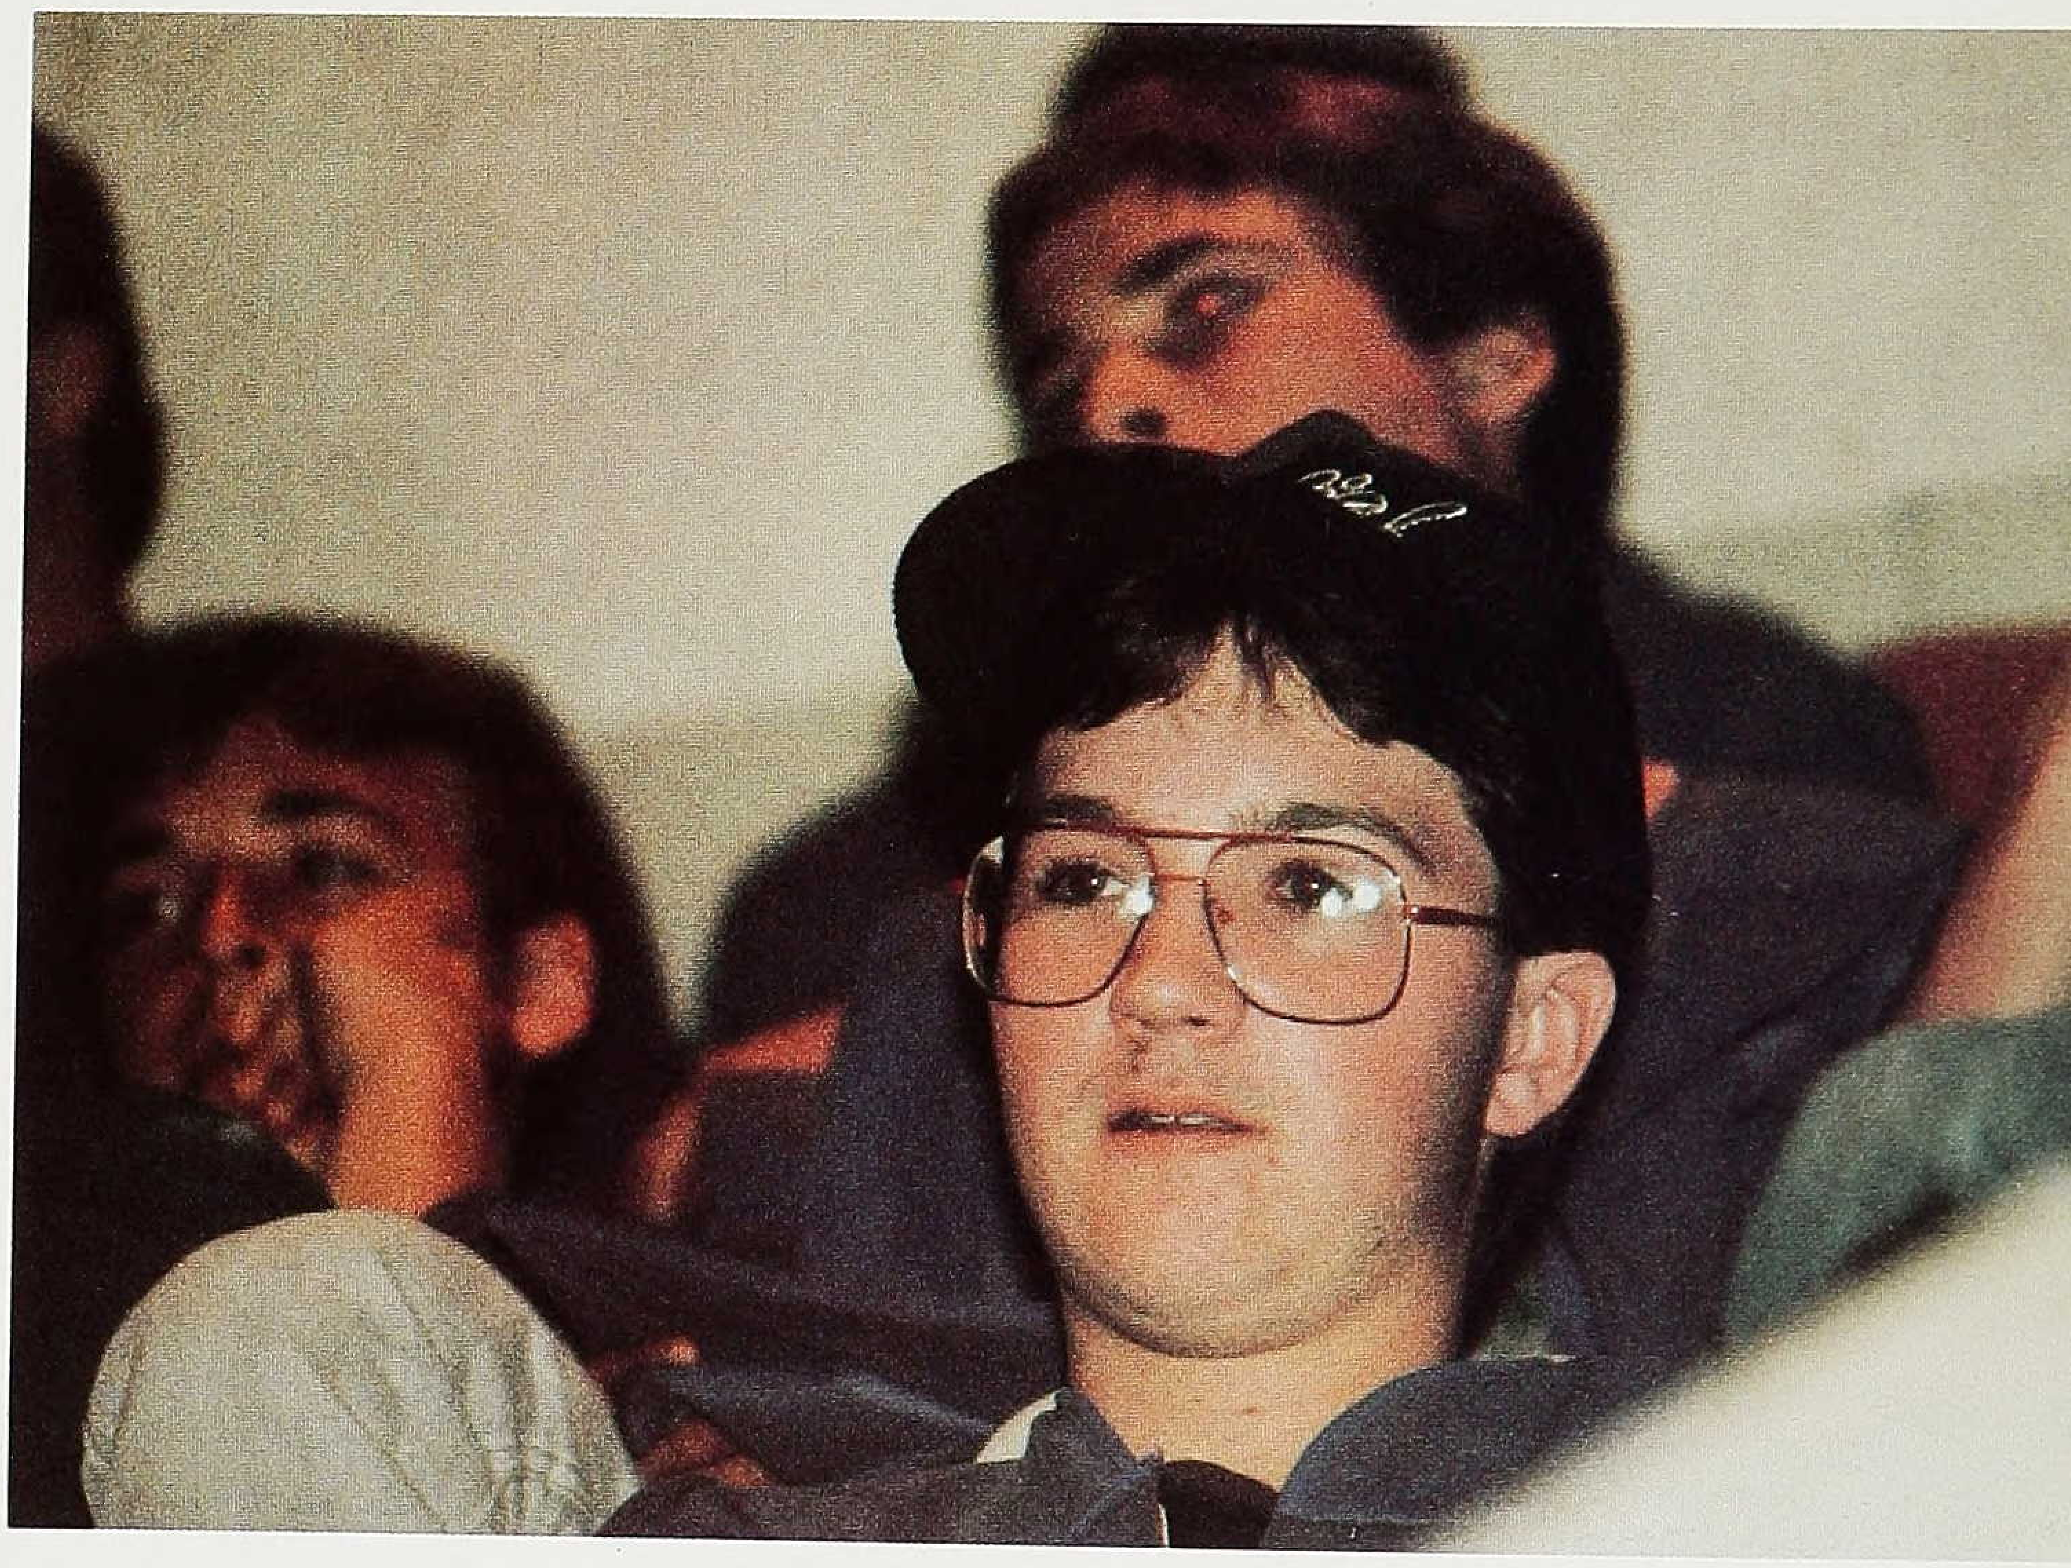

Theresa Tatro and Jane Monteleone make ready to enjoy Class Day.

A hush falls over the auditorium as the flame is passed.

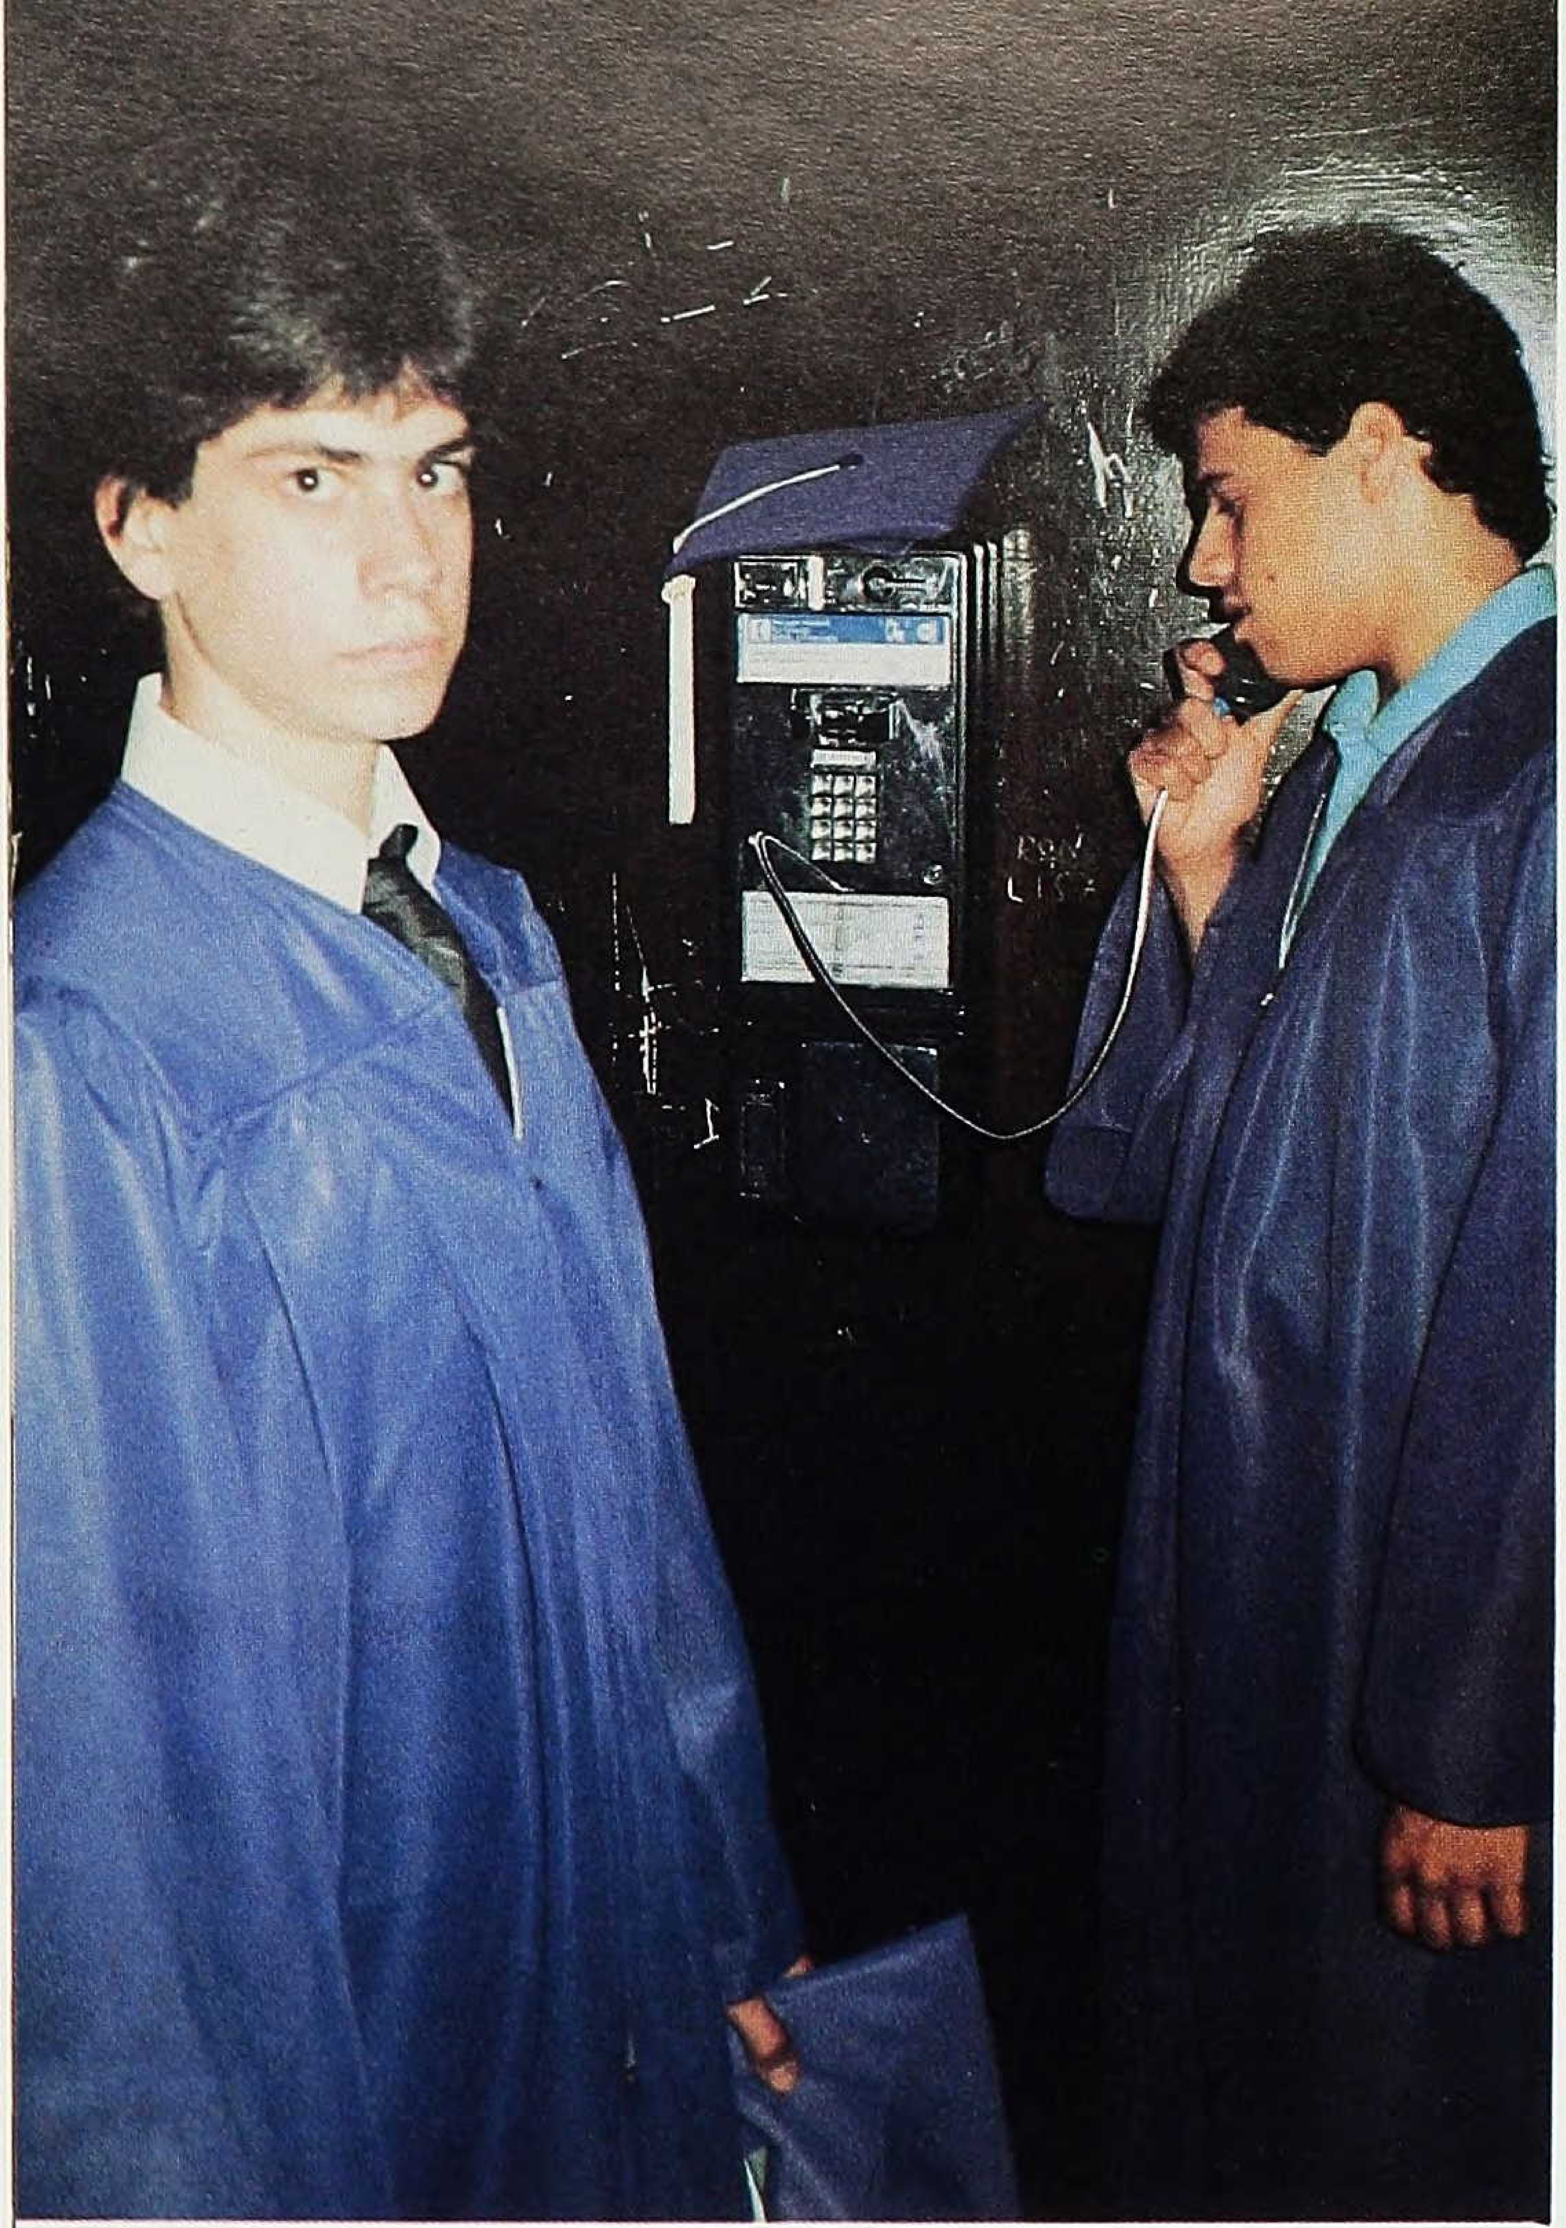

Kevin Mazolini and Scott Rousseau entertain the troops.

Tim Sullivan and friends enjoy the show.

After Connie Chmura sang the "Goodbye" song composed by Missy Quirk, emotion took over.

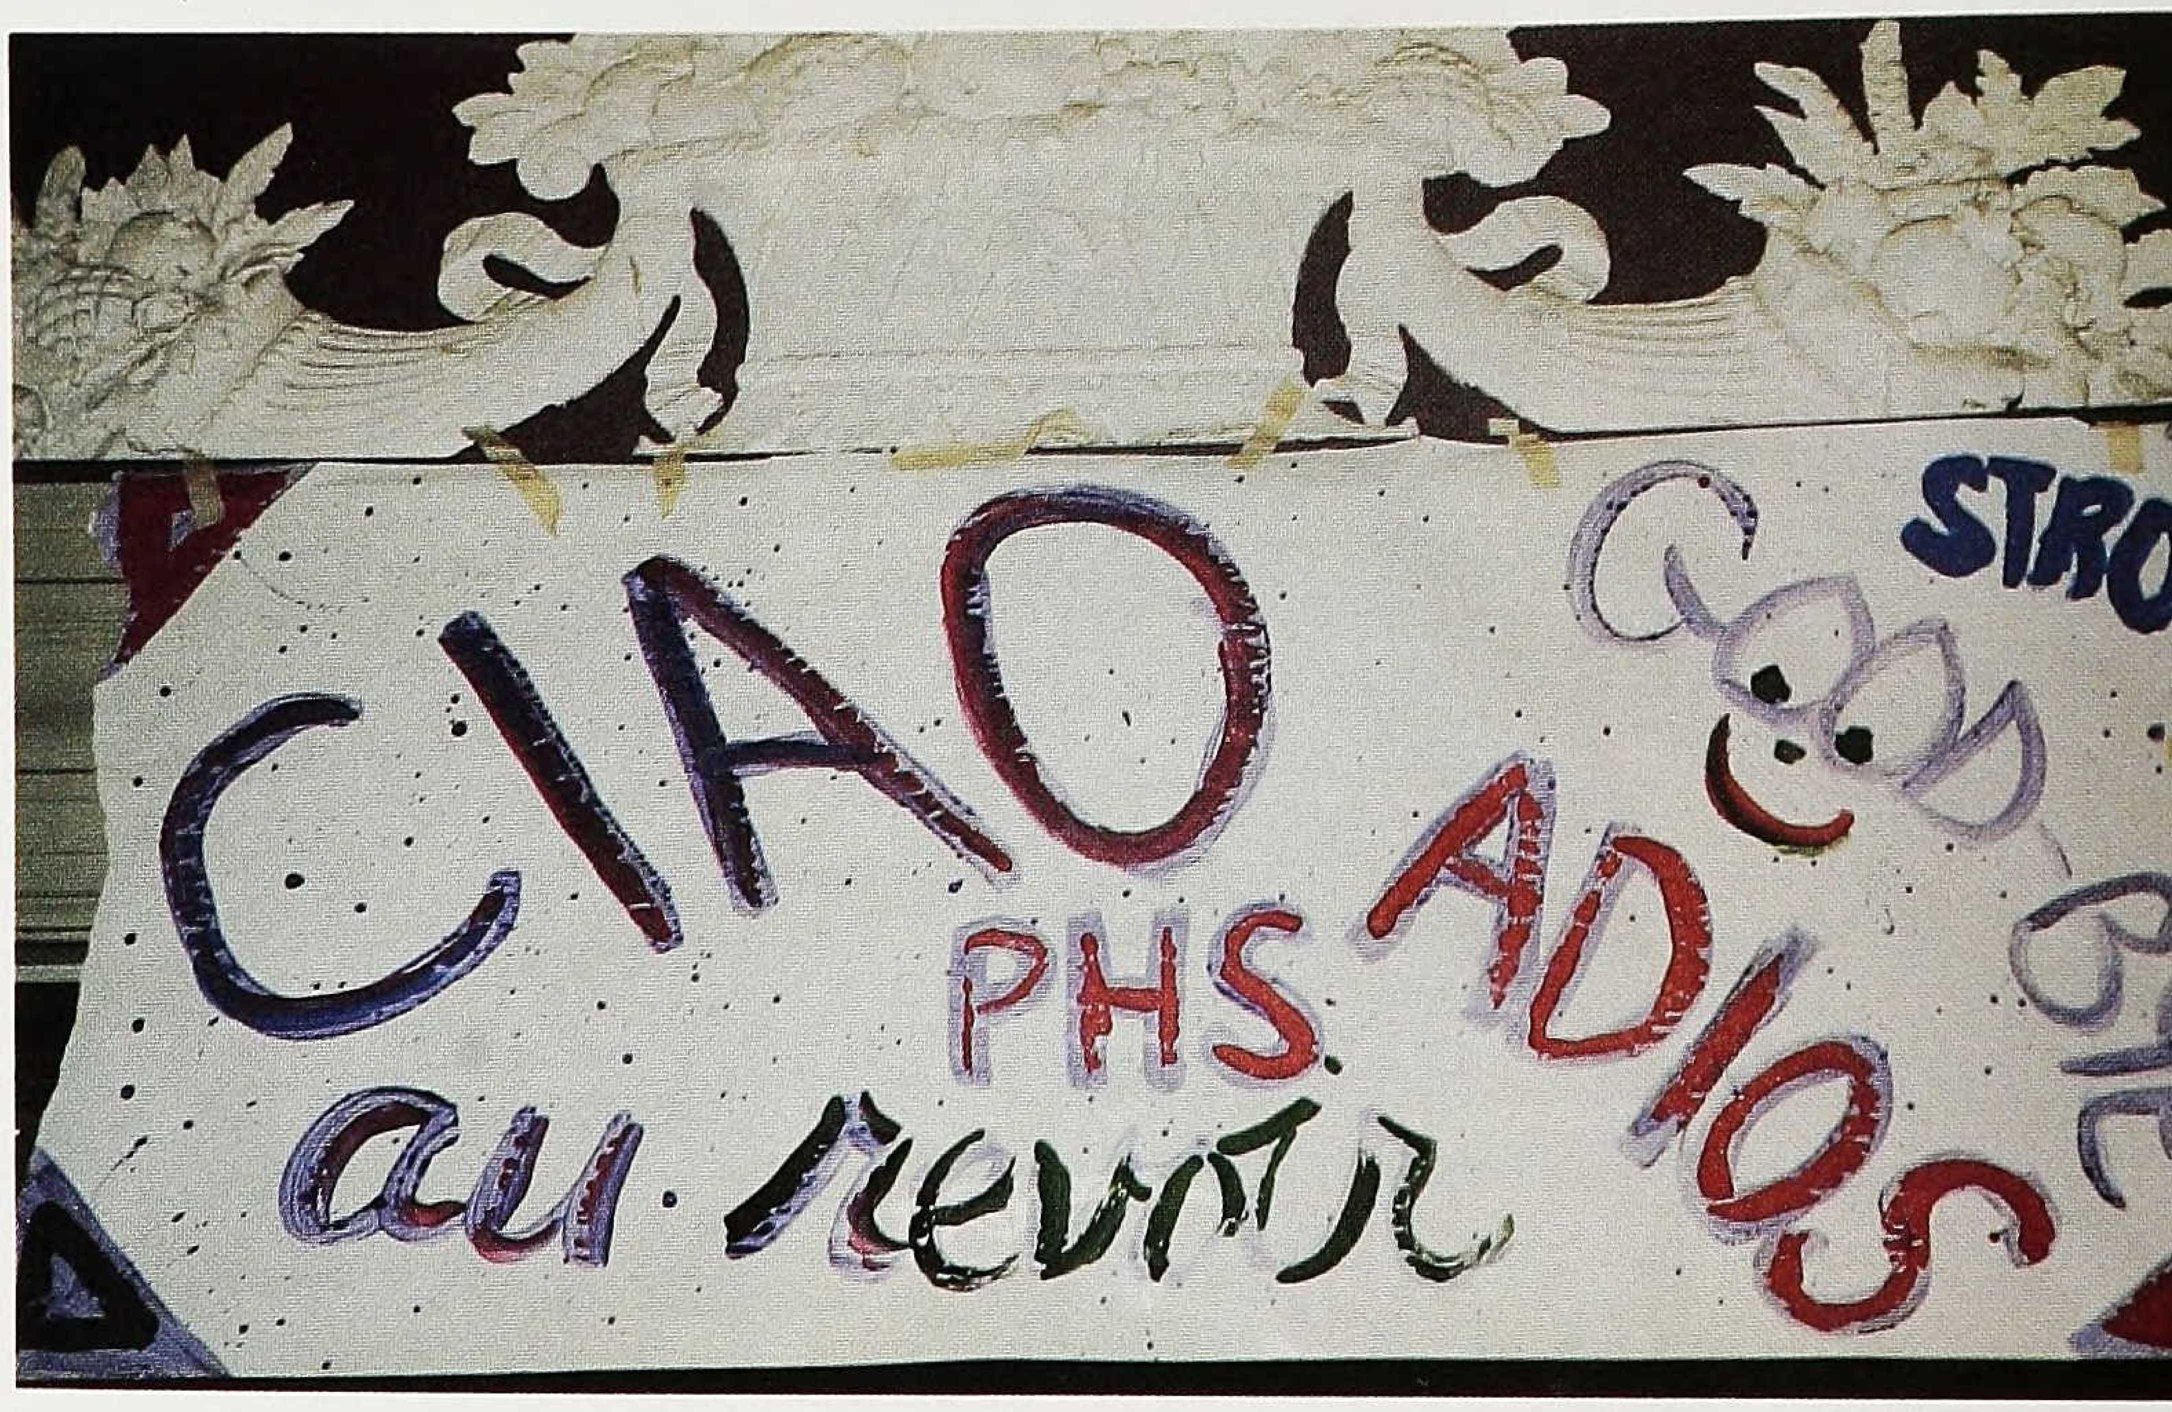

Tim Meandro phones in the change of locale as Peter LaPointe waits his turn.

Early bird parents wield colorful umbrellas hoping for the return of the sun.

Melanie Thistle seeks shelter under a friend's umbrella.

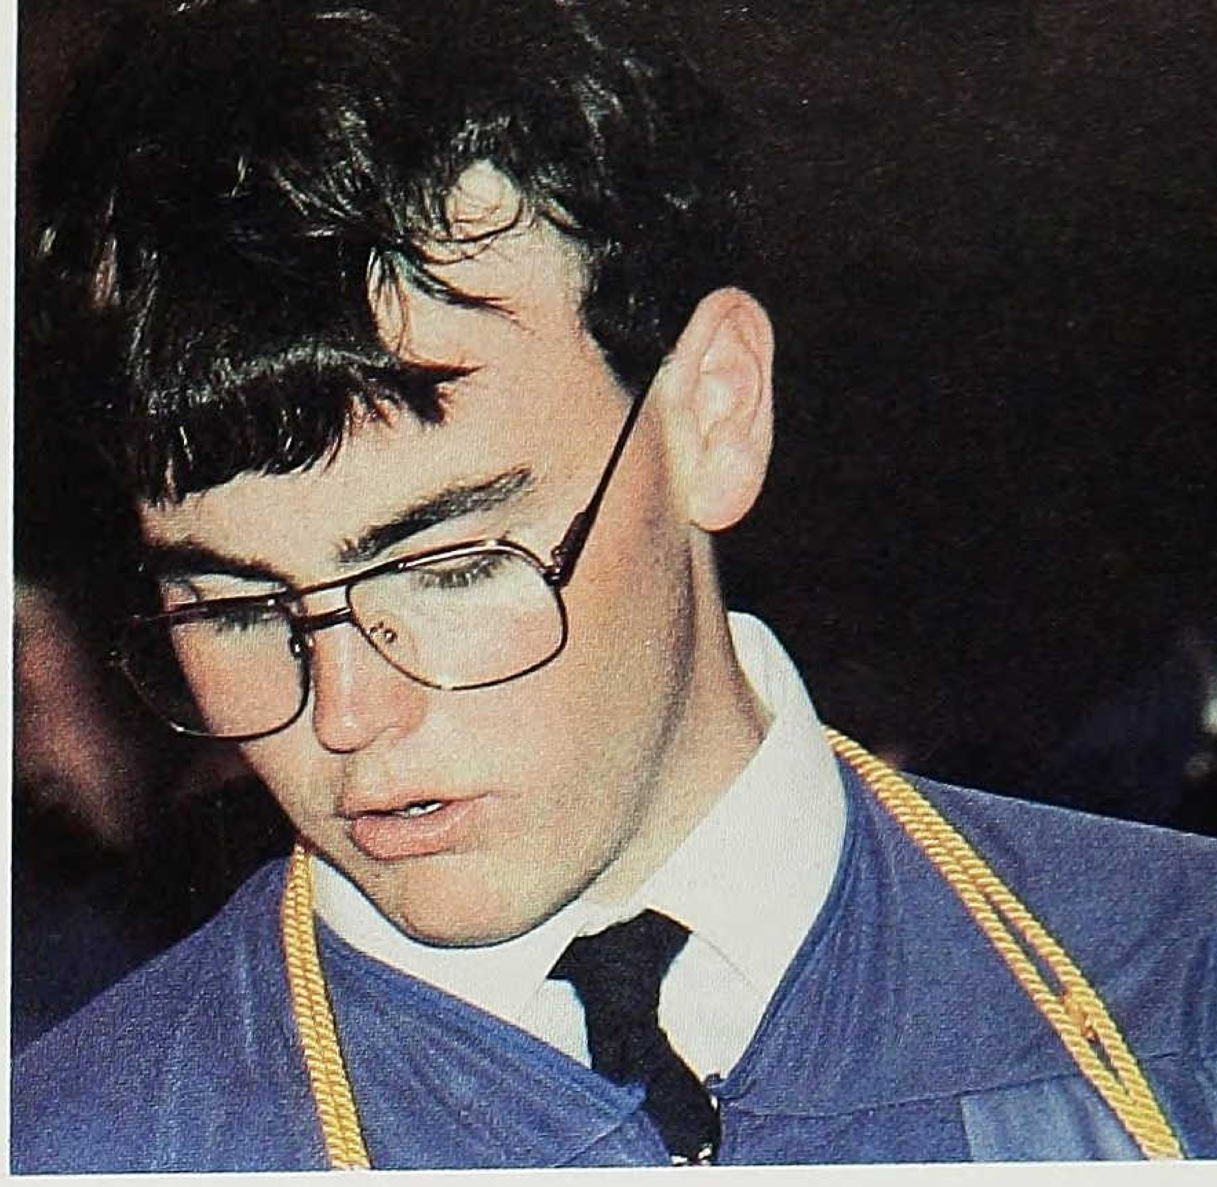

Kate Brennan, Heather Schultz and their roses wilt in the heat.

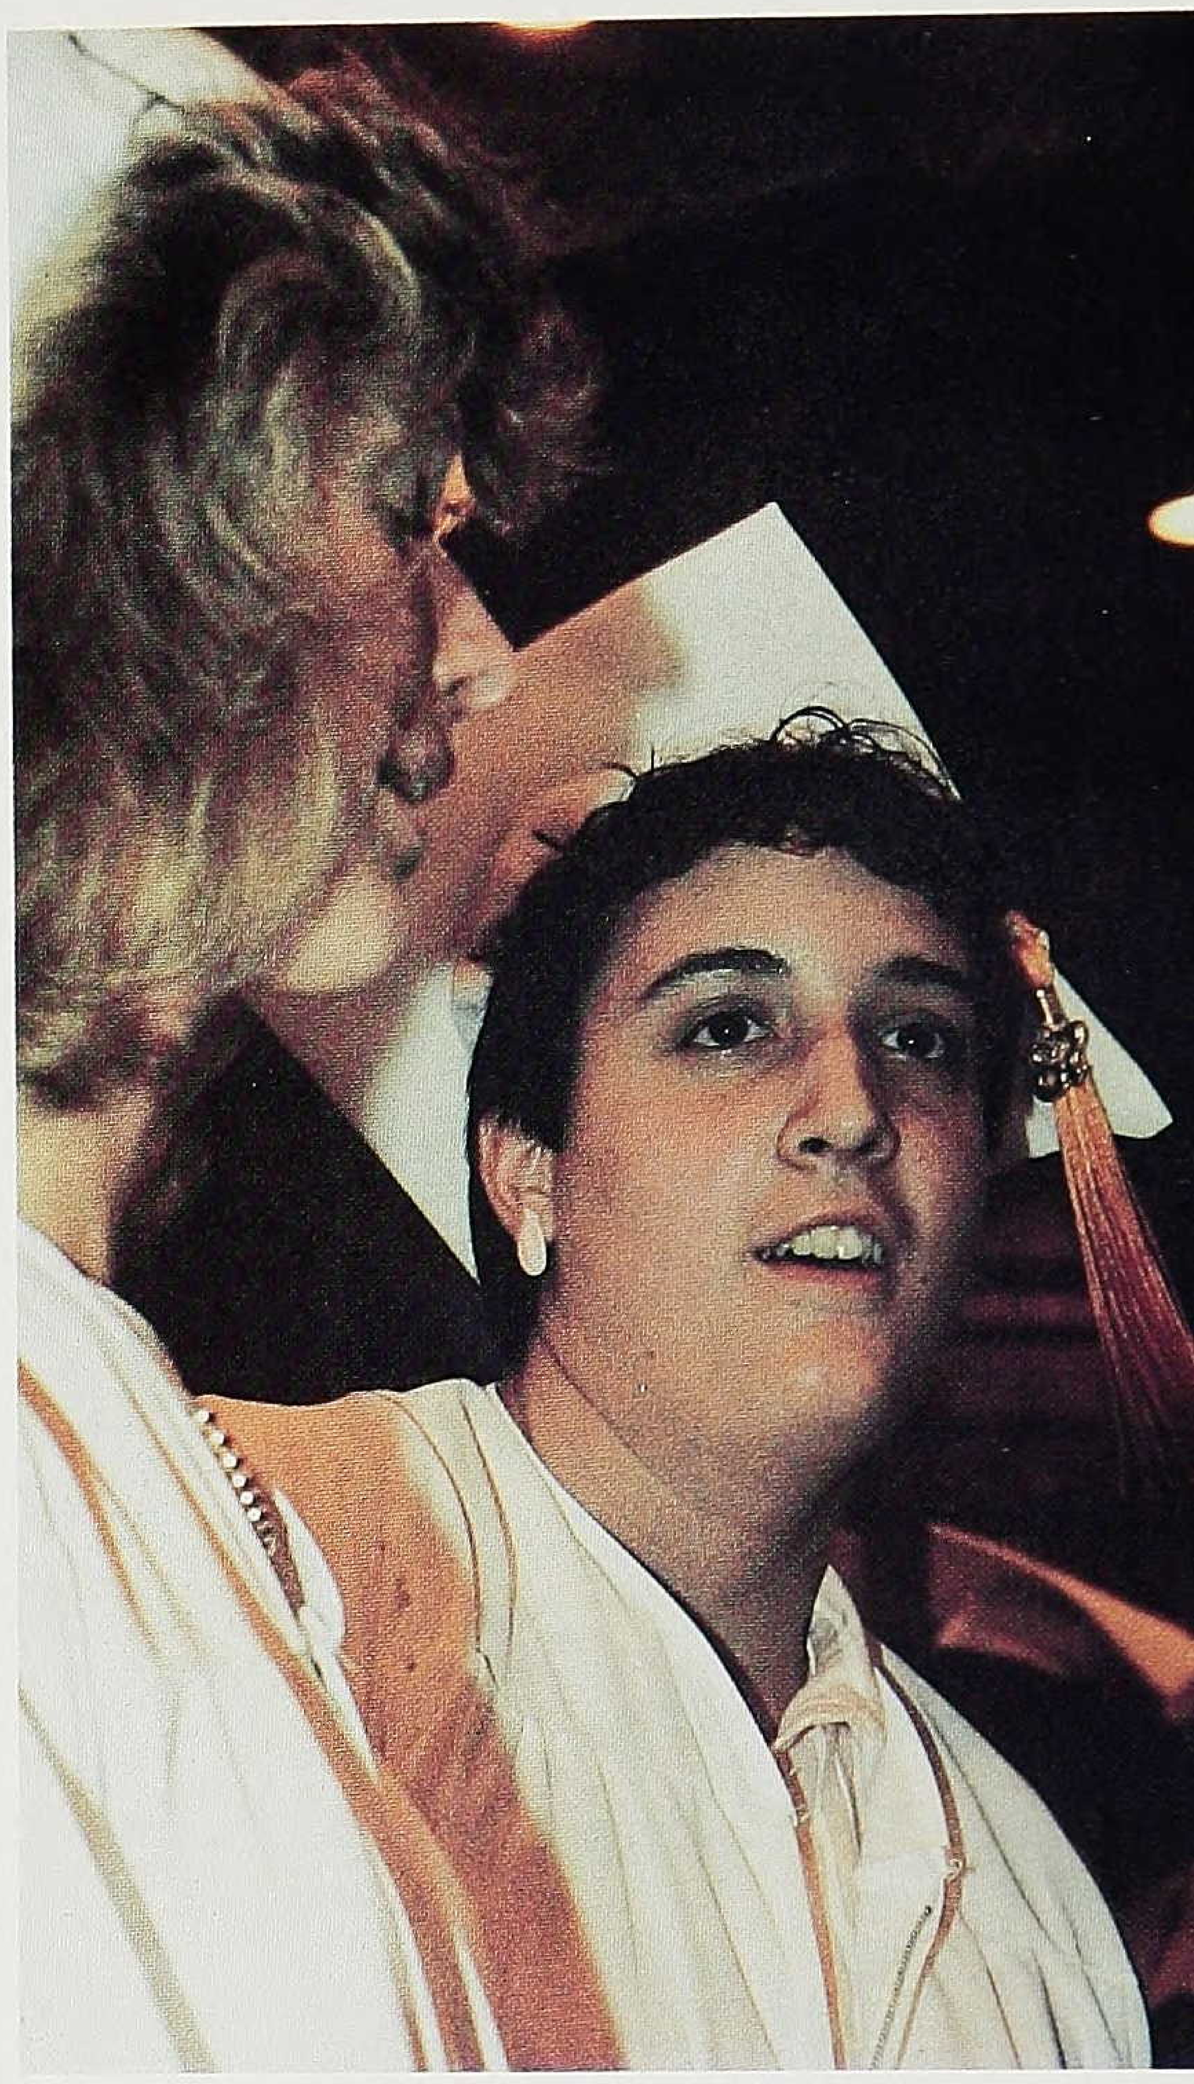

Graduation Day dawned bright and sunny. The bleachers and seats were set for the 4 o'clock graduation ceremony on the mall in front of the school. The photographers had set up their tripods and equipment ready to record the final act of the Class of 1987. As three o'clock approached, and the purple and white caps and gowns assembled, the sky became dark and the rain began, gently at first and then in a downpour. Custodians were pressed into service and the field house was quickly prepared to receive the graduates and spectators.

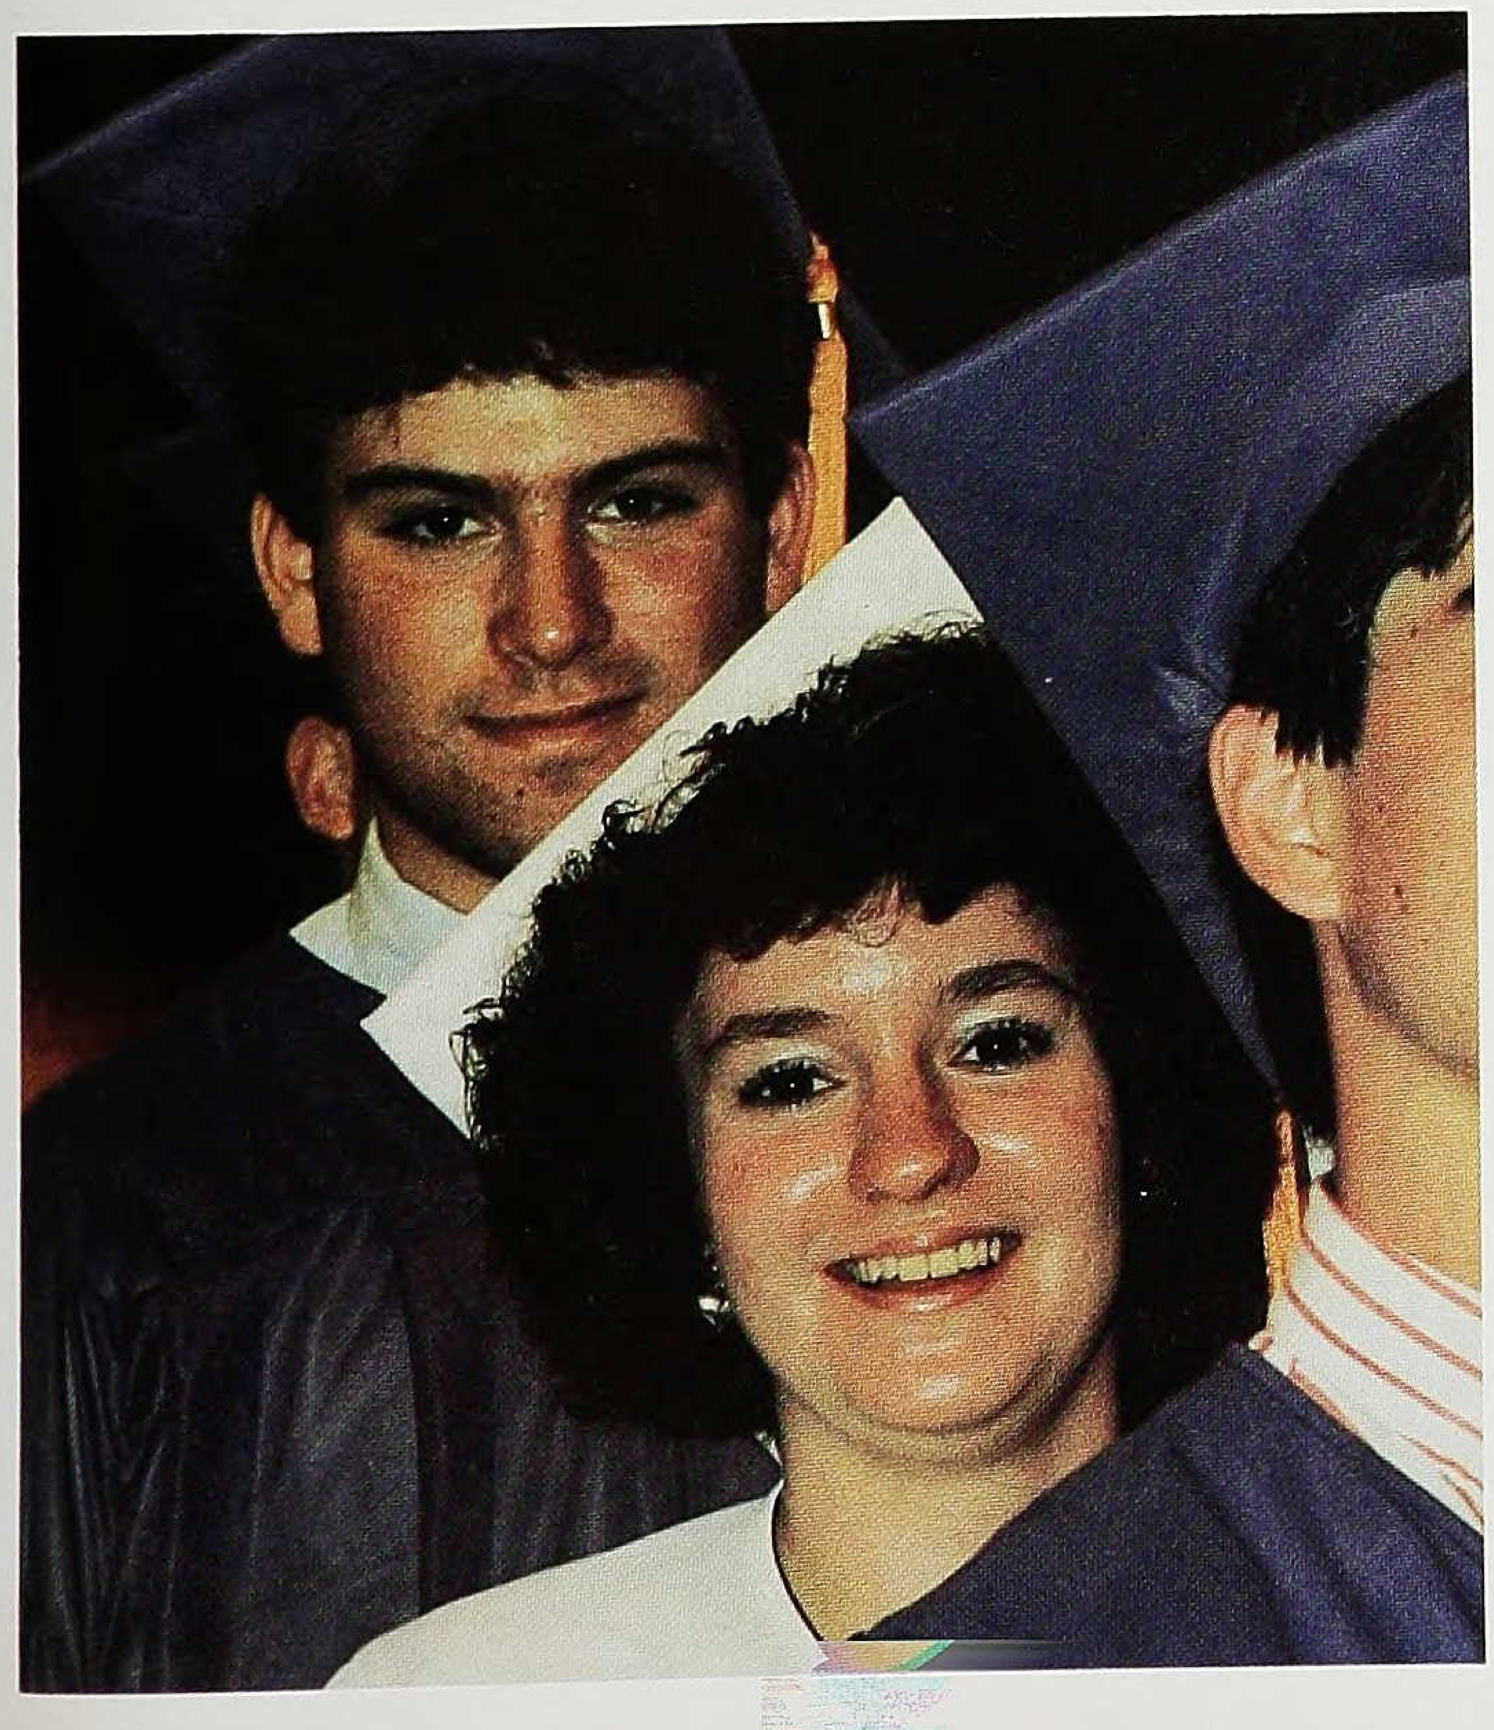

The pride that filled the field house could be felt as the band played the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" while the crowd stood in respect as the gowned seniors filed in led by class adviser, Miss Maston and Mr. Dillon.

The invocation was delivered by Bishop O'Neil and a stirring speech by class president Martha Vazakas welcomed guests on behalf of the students while Principal William Coan extended his welcome on behalf of the school.

The honors presentations and special awards were many and then came the long-awaited moment: the presentation of the diplomas. Rabbi Rulnick gave the benediction, the class sang the Alma Mater, changed their tassels, threw their mortar boards to the rafters and filed out to the recessional.

Parents and faculty took this moment to congratulate the graduates and to wish them well. It was a very special day for a very special class.

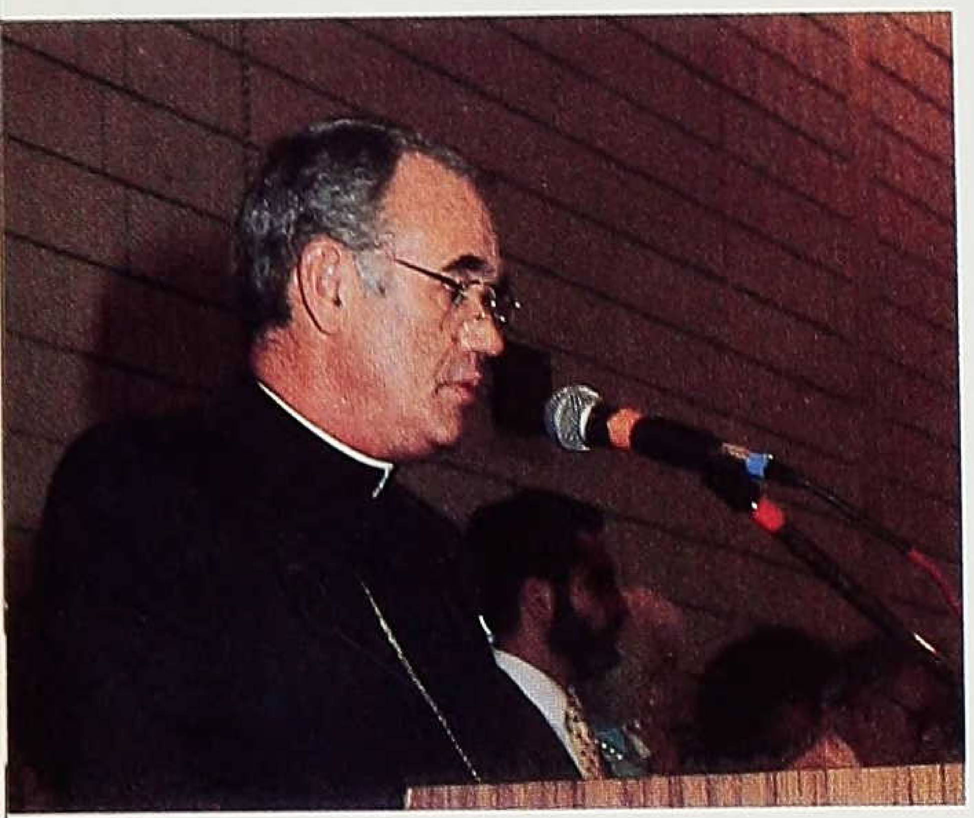

Martha Vazakas and Mr. Dillon lead the way in "Pomp and Circumstance."

Dr. LaFrankie congratulates Kellie Reardon and Steve Decker.

Bishop O'Neil gives the invocation.

Lisa Petell, Mike Ciaburri, and Crystal Teal smile for the camera.

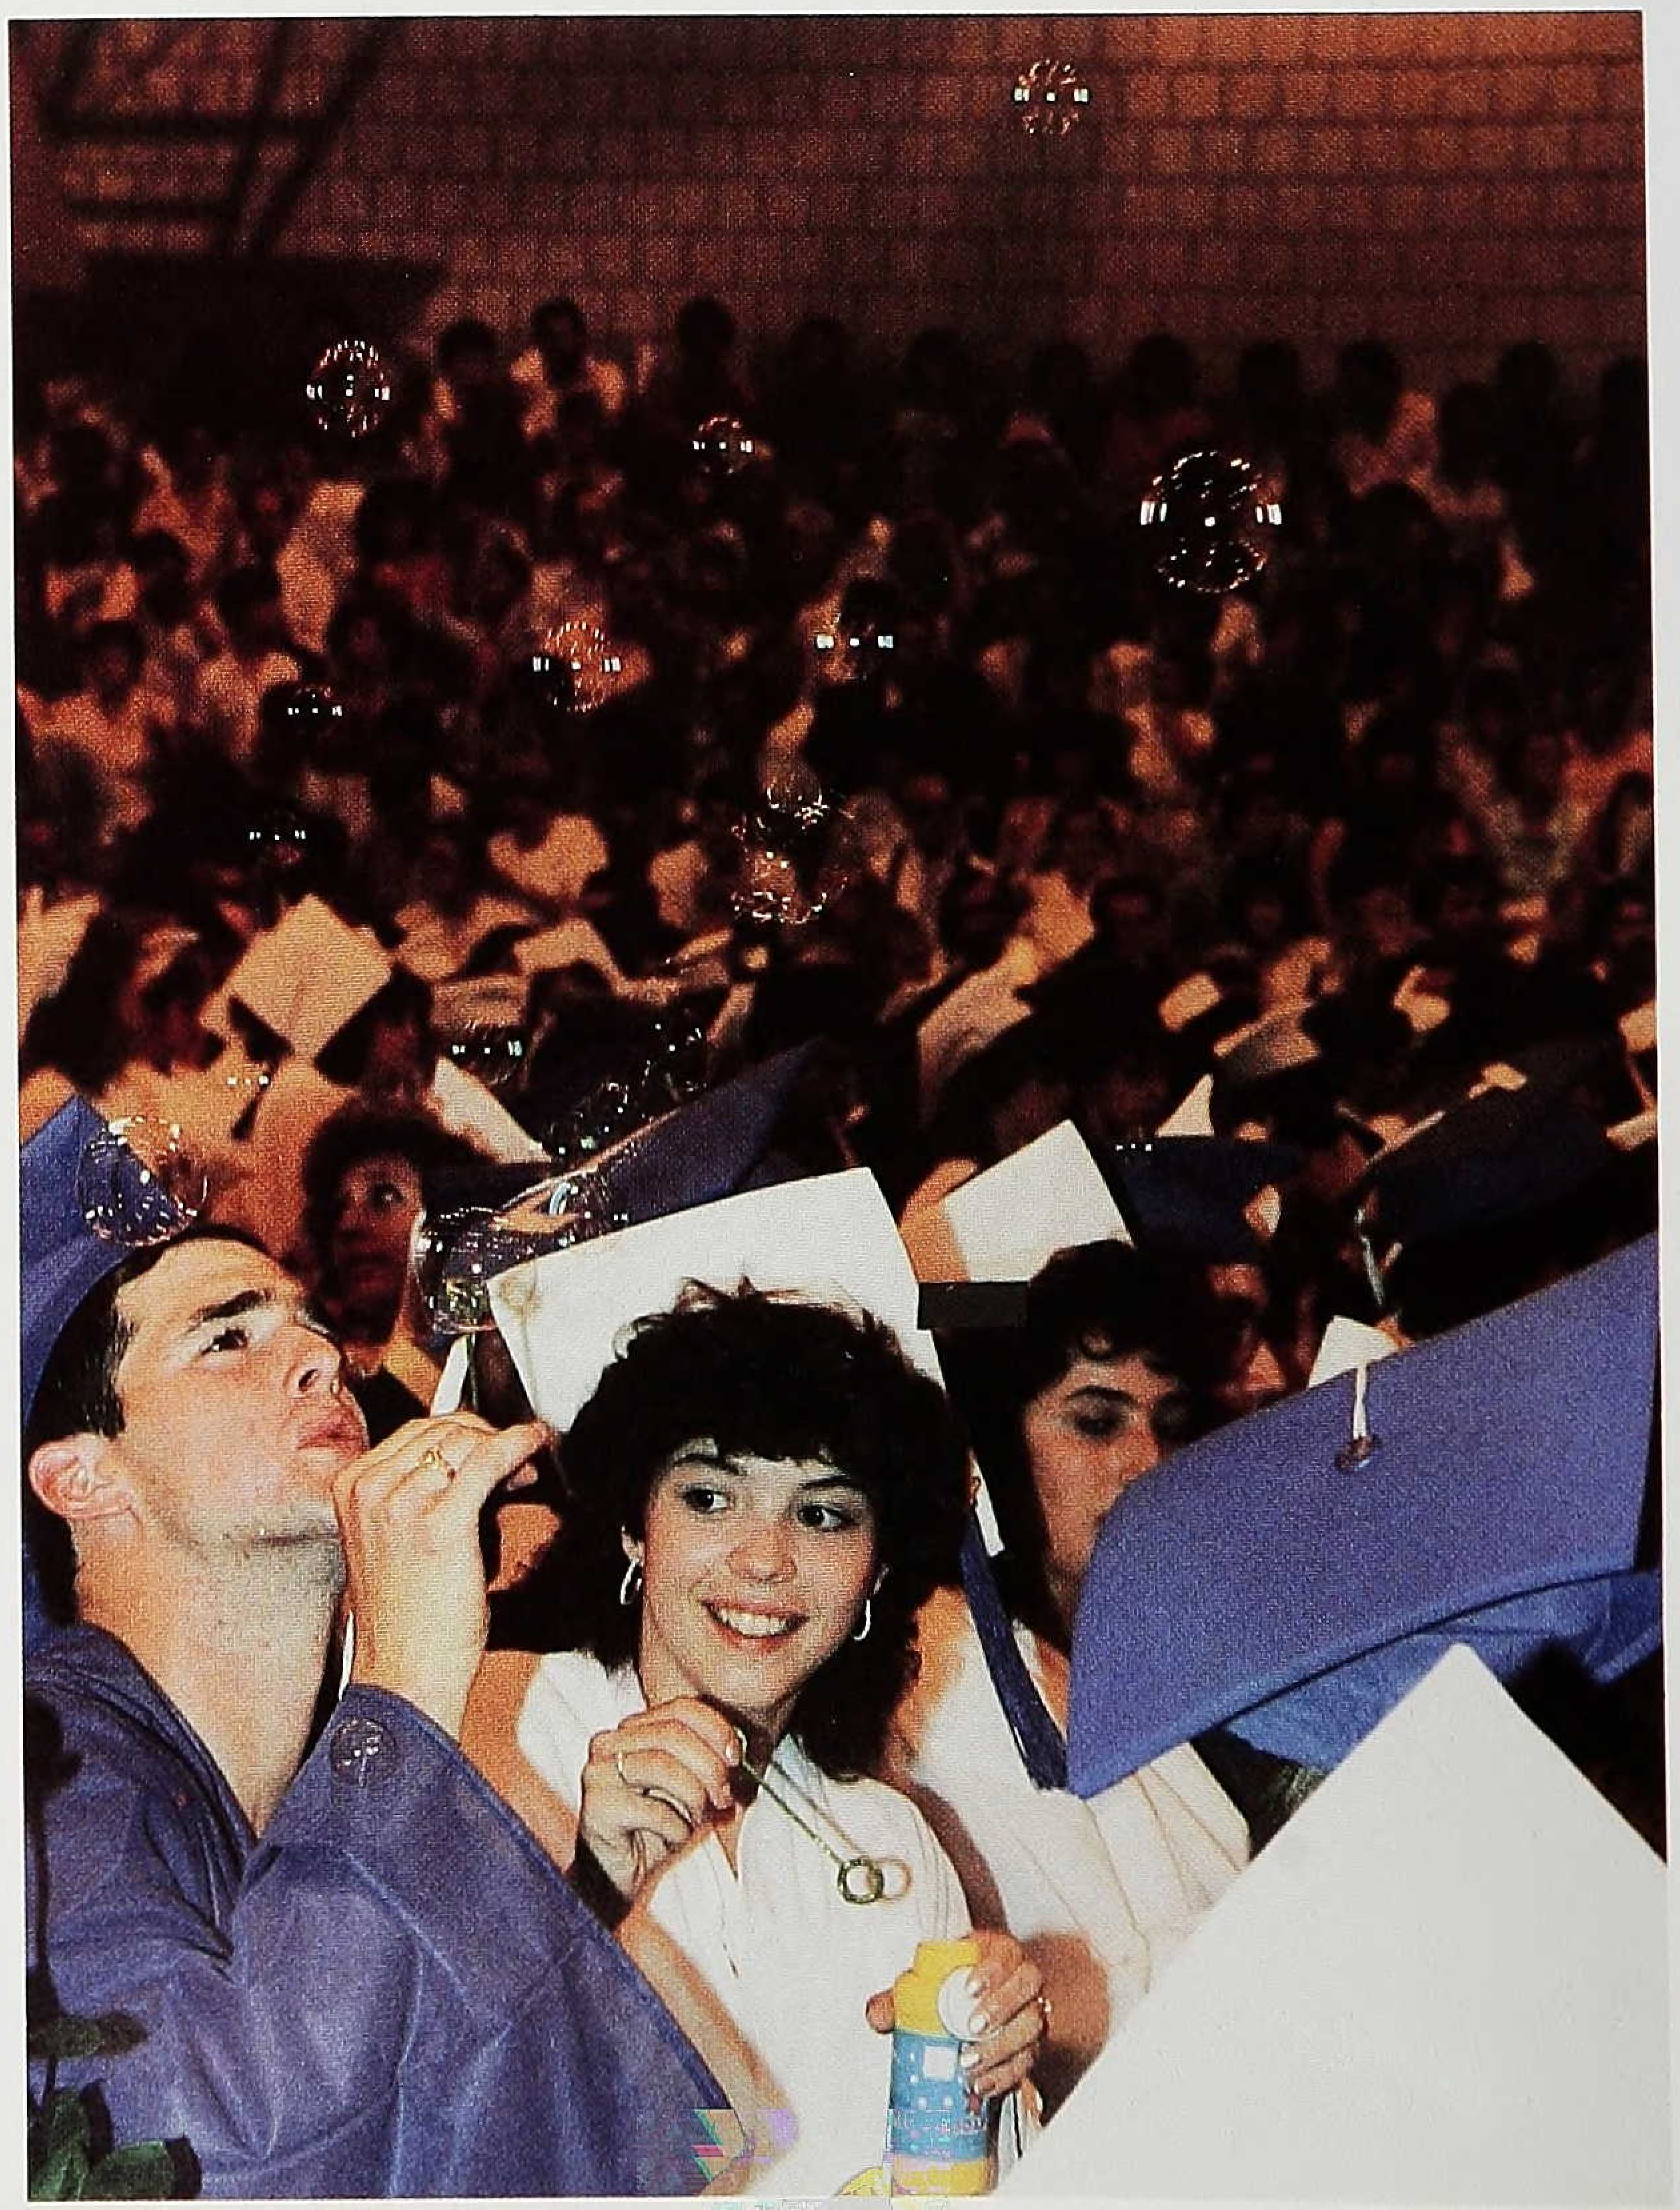

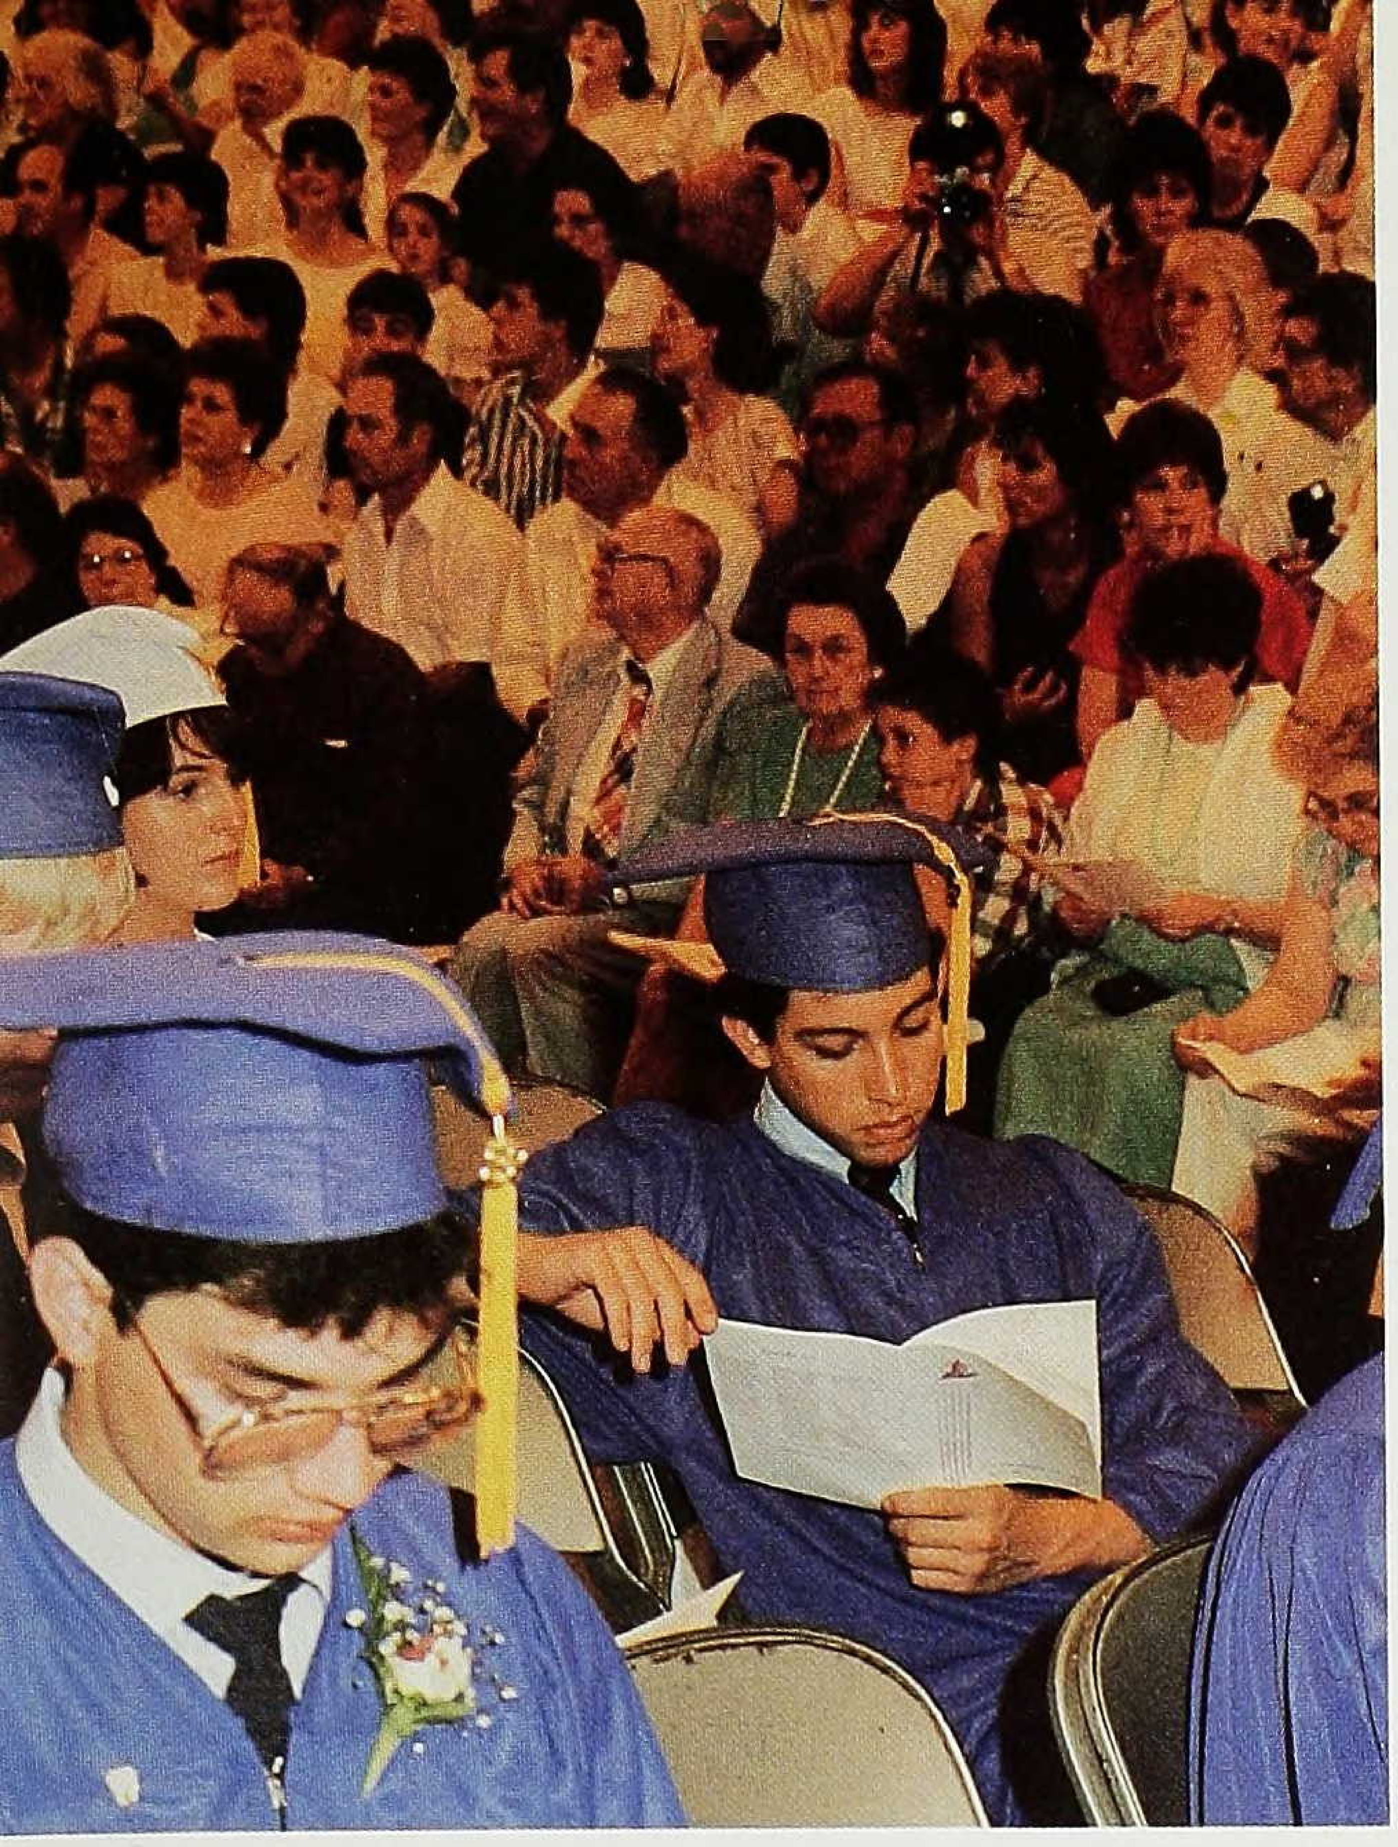

"Prize education and lifelong learning, and prize educators," advised School Committee member Leonard Paolillo.

Mr. Dillon instructs Mike McKinney, Lisa Paolillo, Peter Dolfis and Michelle Barzowskis about proper procedure.

Barry Moynihan and Alicia Monyahan carry on the tradition.

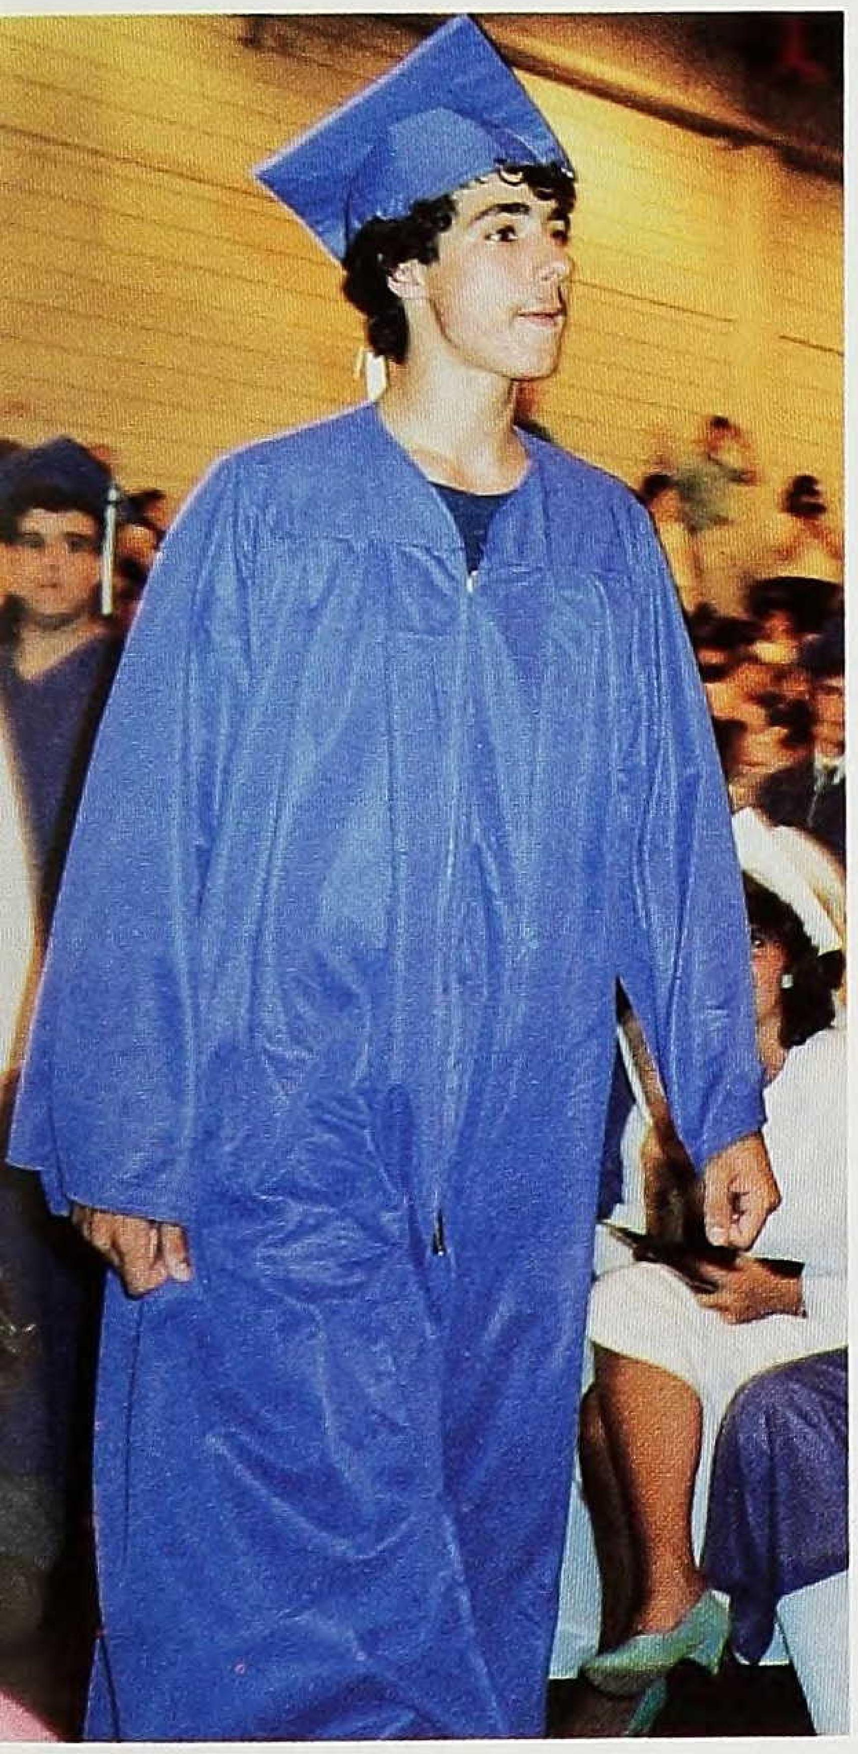

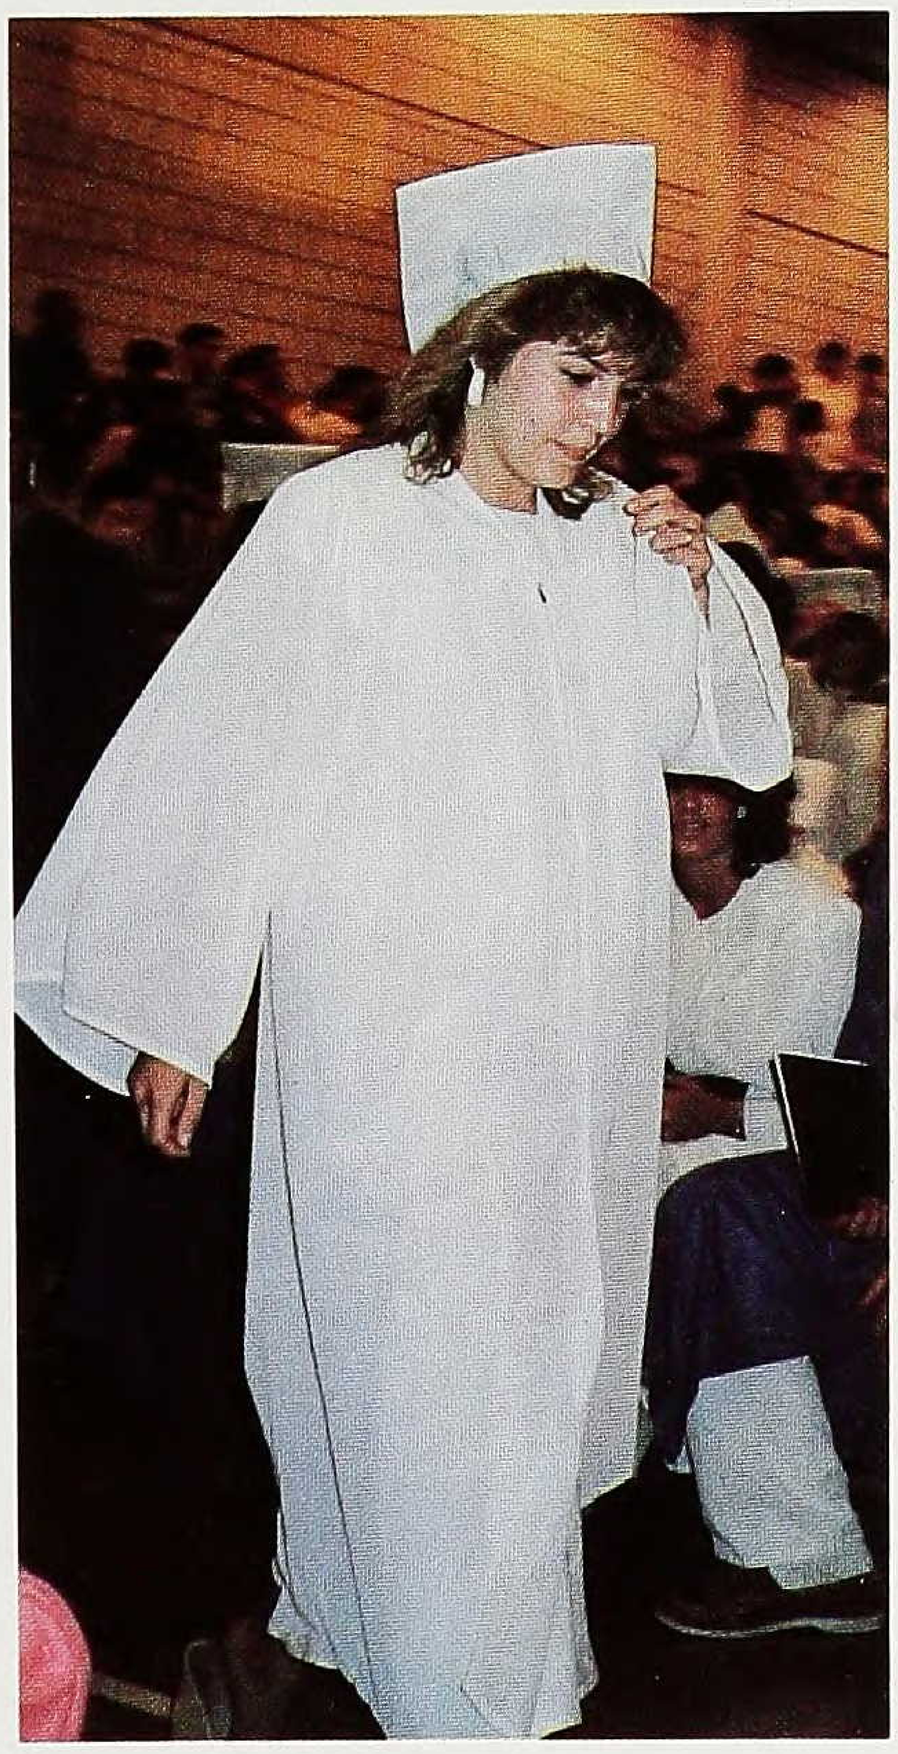

Nonchalant Ed Maynard leafs through the program.

Karen Massaro adds a touch of class to the traditional.

Joe Garzone hurries to receive his diploma.

Debbie Metivier approaches the podium with determination.

Graduates patiently await their diplomas.

Rabbi Rulnick gives the Benediction.

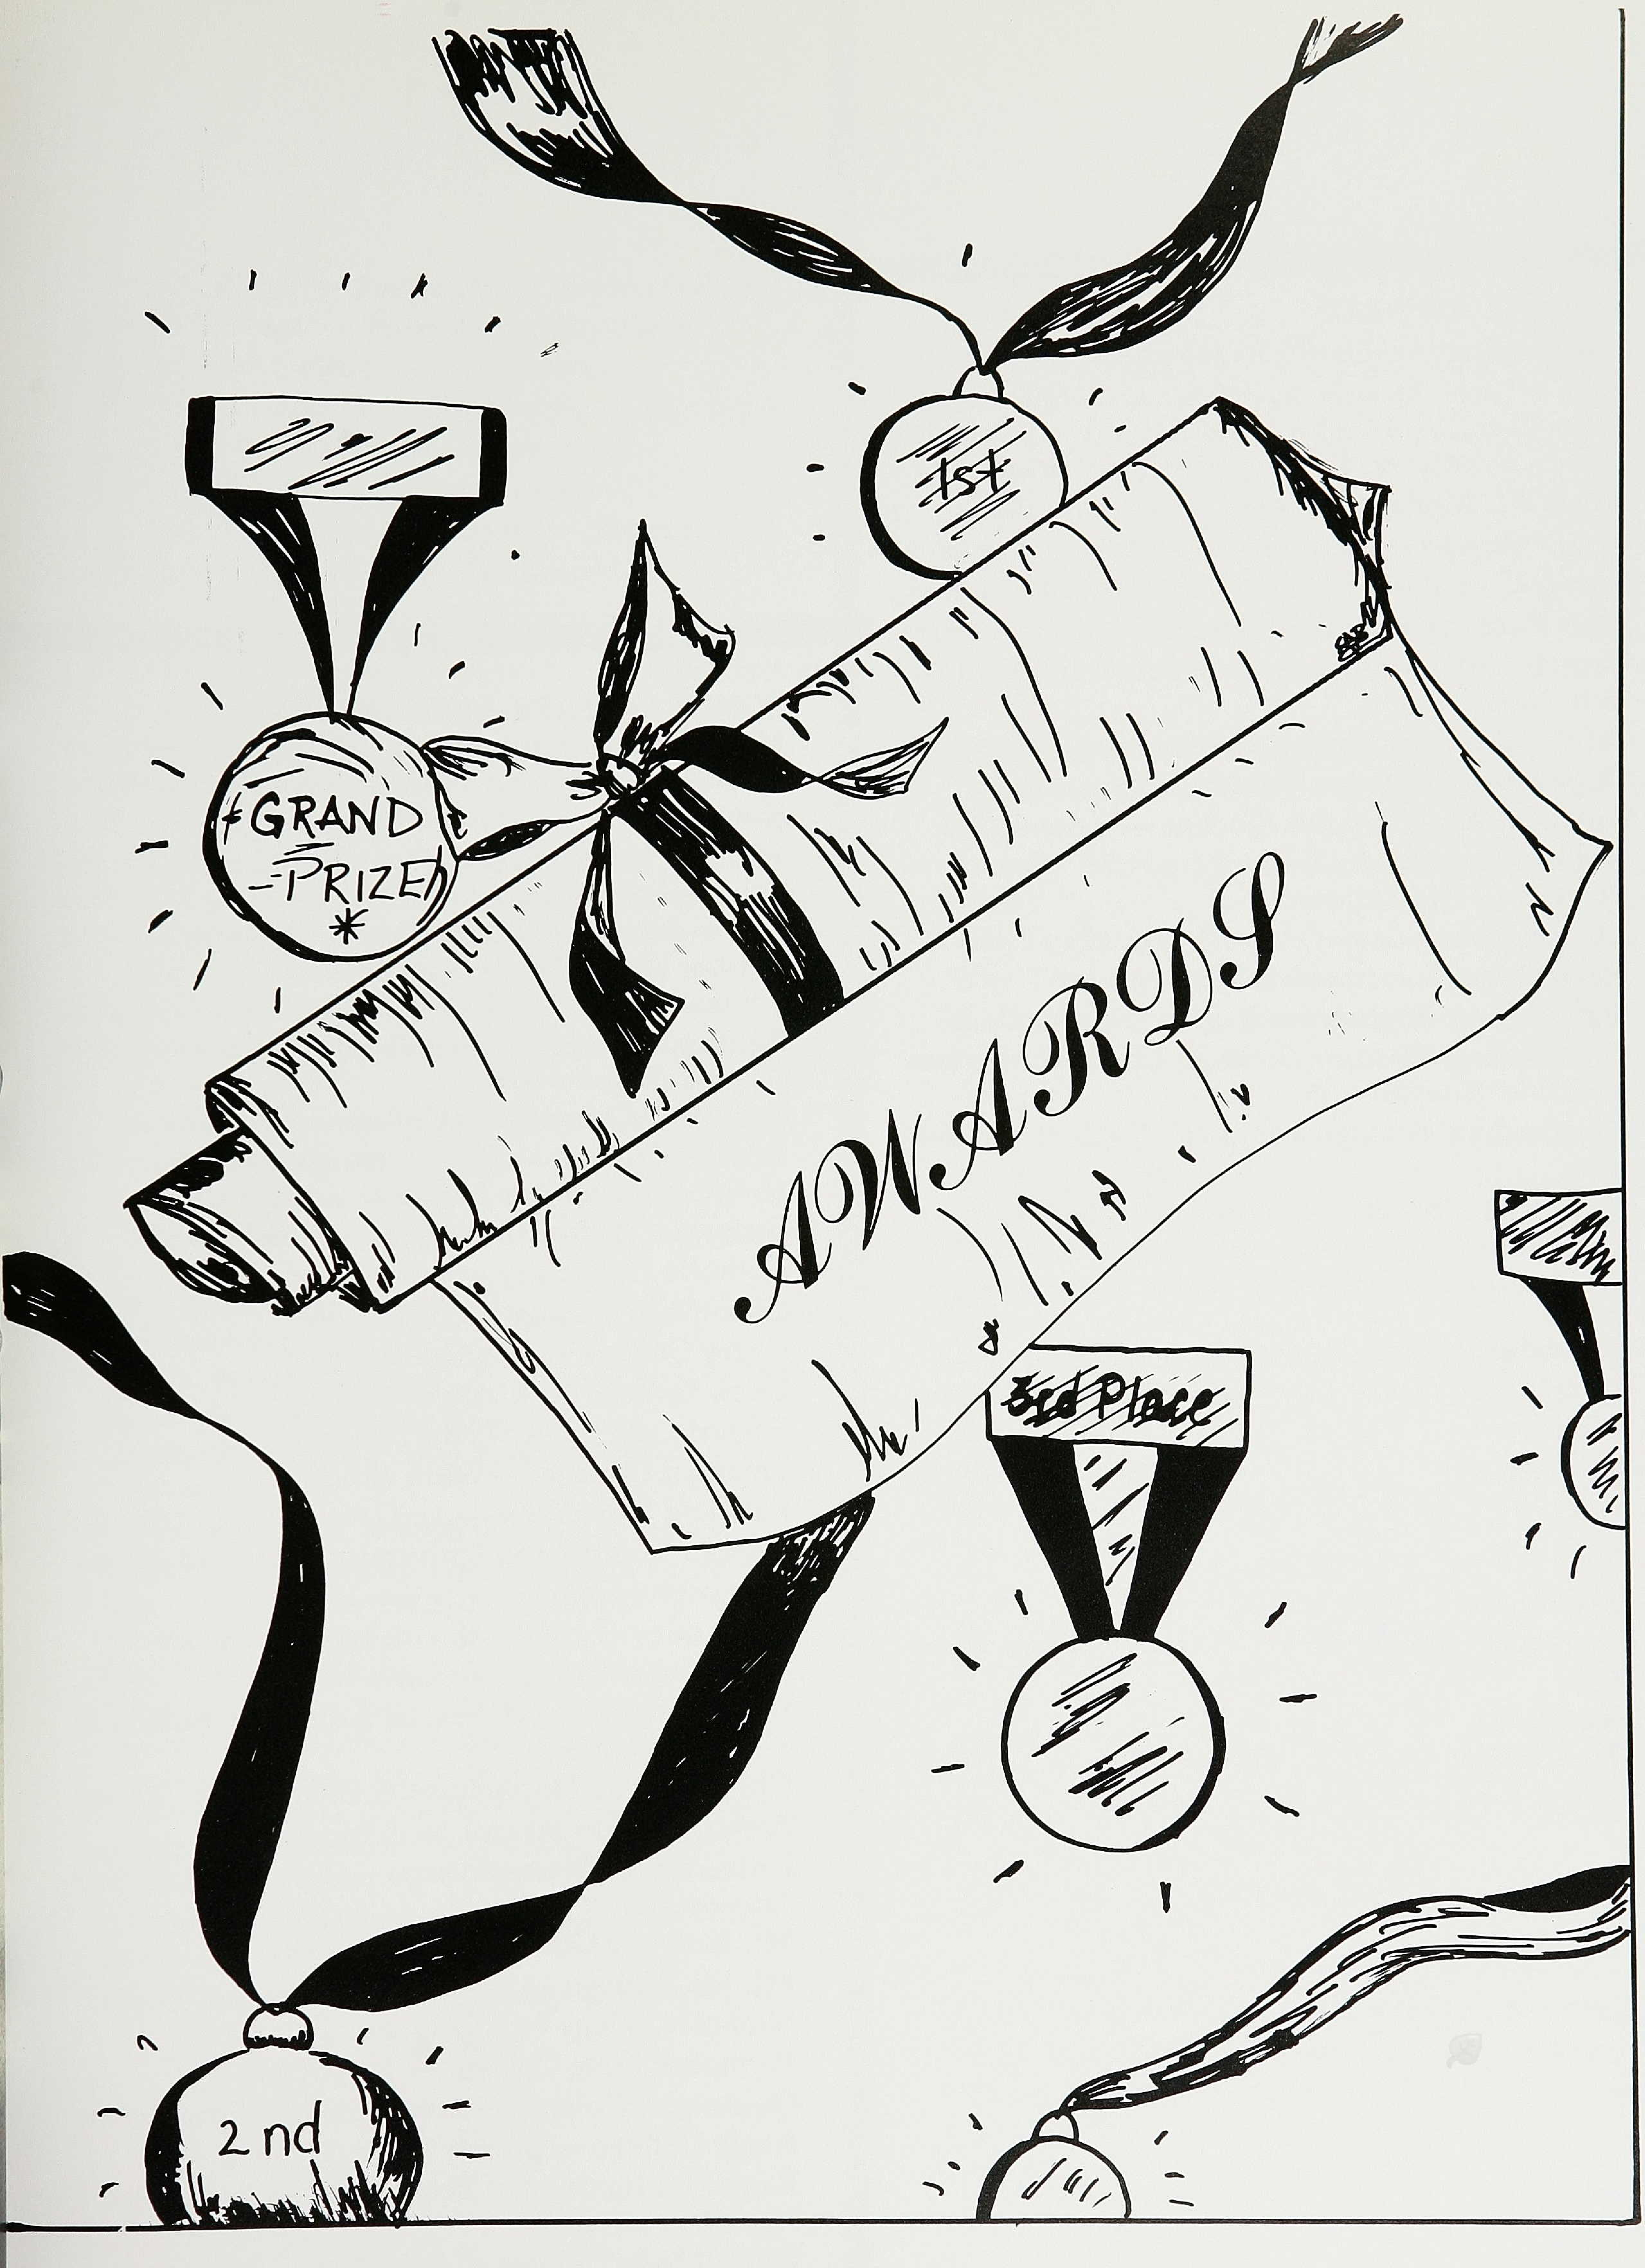

Although we have completed the first significant era in our lives, and it seems we are leaving a good portion of ourselves behind, we are now better prepared to face the road that leads us toward our future.

As we page through this yearbook in the days and years ahead, we will be able to reflect upon the happy moments we shared during our four years together as well as the sad. Within these pages we will remember being a classic unity of friends, students and athletes. Time cannot alter this.

For the Class of 1987, it's all over, yet it's just begun.

Many Thanks . . .

To Mr. Coan for taking the time to listen and for believing in our "Look of the 80's DOME."

To Miss Maston who had the foresight and courage to want her class to be the first to have the underclasses included.

To Mr. Dillon whose confidence in our ability gave us the nod to increase our budget.

To Mr. Lombard who gave us sterling advice and encouragement.

To Steve Williams of Kanter Studio for outstanding senior and faculty portraits.

To Jim Williams and Yearbook Associates who, at the sudden closing of Kanter Studio, made the transition effortless as they stepped in and photographed over 1,000 students in four days.

To Jim Slater, photographer for Yearbook Associates, who understood our needs and met them.

To Mr. Quinlin for directing all inquiries as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Beauchamp to the appropriate location.

To the many students who wrote bits and pieces, helped with typing, donated photos, gathered facts and kept us informed.

To Sue, Mary Ellen and Marty at Quality Printing for deciphering our copy and handing us the printed word.

To all the faculty members who put up with interruptions graciously and also contributed information.

To Mr. Belanger who allowed the students to leave his gym sign-ups to be photographed for our first ever undergraduate section.

To Mr. Lapore and Mr. Fritz for their help and encouragement.

To John and all the custodians who went out of their way to help us in many ways including delaying their cleaning until we left.

To Mr. Plummer who always rallied to our cause and could always be counted on to provide us with information when everybody else had already gone home.

To Mrs. George, the keeper of "the box," whose office became a valuable drop-off-center.

To all the parents who did so much in so many ways.

To the Pittsfield, Lenox and Dalton merchants who so generously contributed to our advertising campaign.

To the many professional patrons whose monetary support helped make this book a reality.

To the coaches without whose cooperation we would not have had team pictures.

To Mr. Shepardson, our Athletic Director, who provided us with timely sport's schedules.

To Mrs. Bresnehan who was often pressed into service to make copies for us.

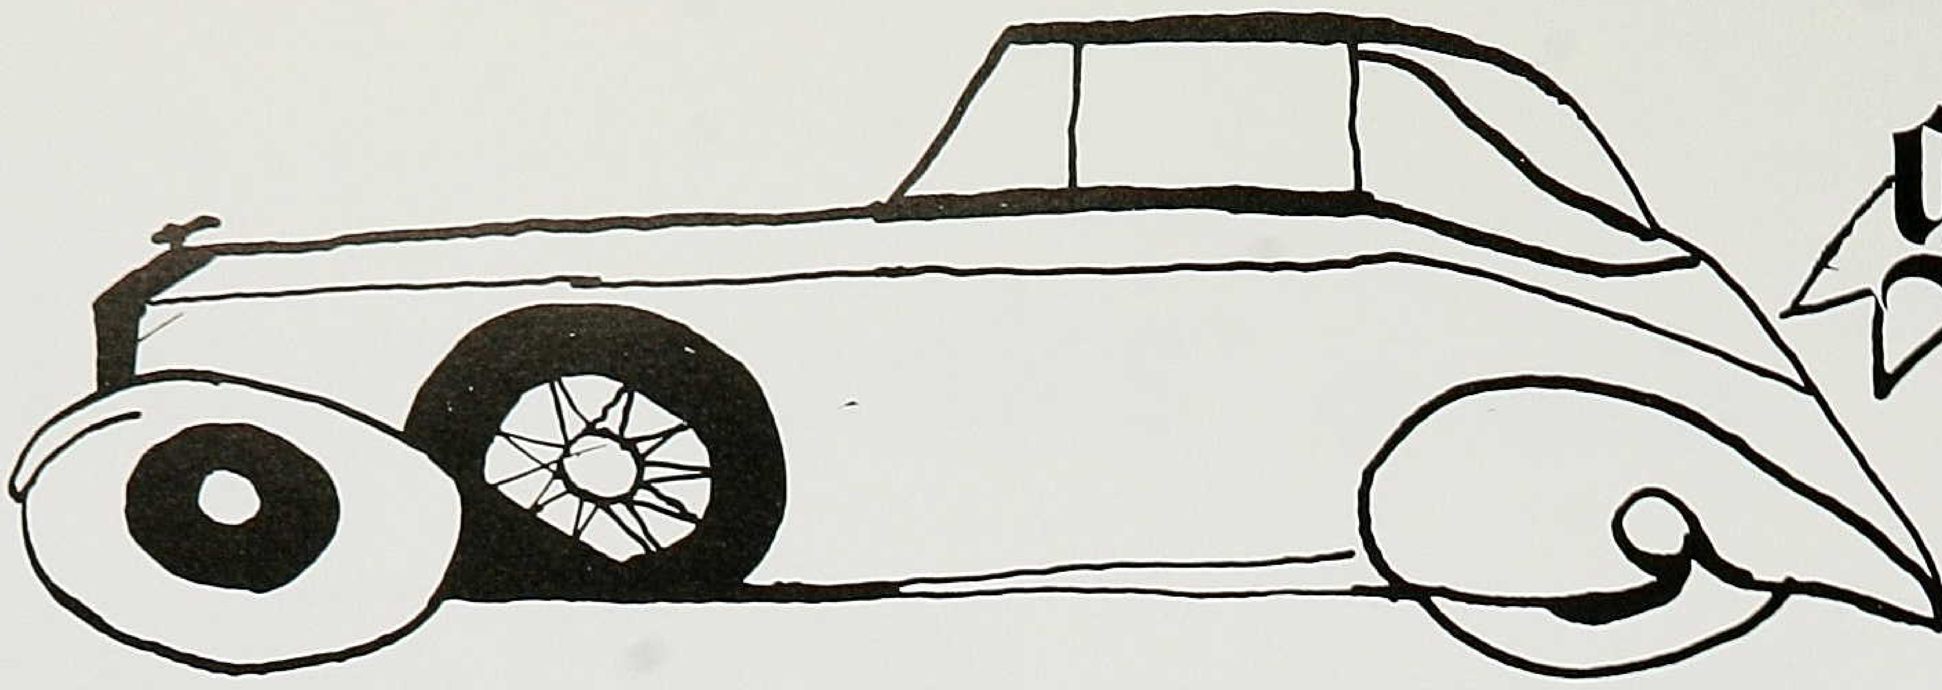

To everybody who purchased a copy of the 1987 DOME.

GOOD LUCK TO OUR CLASS!

from

The 1987
YearBook Staff
Mrs. Beauchamp

THANKS...

The kitchen staff provides a very important service. No matter who you are, the cafeteria staff is always willing to help you in a friendly manner and supply you with a good basic meal. They uphold the fundamental principle — a sound body produces a sound mind. So, we want to thank the kitchen staff for feeding us and enabling us to fully enjoy our twenty minute lunch break.

The custodial crew is crucial in keeping the cleanliness of the classrooms consistent. It is the custodians whom we see every day, but who never seem to receive a word of gratitude. Although it is a thankless job, it is a very necessary one. When guests arrive at PHS, the exemplary appearance of the school is a reflection of the custodians hard work. Pittsfield High owes this underated staff a great deal of gratitude.

It would be impossible not to be kind to Mrs. Horton who distributes the goodies at lunchtime.

Head Custodian John McHugh, Toni Jeanne Hayes, Tim Boyle and John Pruitt share a lighter moment on the loading dock.
